Edwards and Johnson Coming; Will Conduct Week of Prayer

Arrangements are already under way for the fall week of prayer, which will be October 5-13. Leading out with messages to every student and staff member will be Elder J. Earnest Edwards.

Elder Edwards is associate home missionary secretary of the General Conference, an office which he has held for a number of years. He also has had experience in dealing with young people through the teaching profession.

Assisting him will be Elder K. D. Johnson, missionary volunteer secretary of the Florida conference. He comes with a background of many years of experience in working with youth.

The week of prayer will consist of two meetings each day devoted to the study of Christ's example and practical suggestions for following Him. Besides these there will be daily prayer groups with the students and faculty meeting together in small bands.

The student committee on religious instruction, with John Hartan as chairman, as well as the corresponding faculty committee under the chairmanship of C. E. Wittwabe, will cooperate with the visiting ministers for the success of this week of spiritual emphasis.

Special messages in music will be appropriately added to the meetings under the direction of M. A. Miller with the visiting ministers for the success of this week of spiritual emphasis.

Churches Adopt Four In Fall Baptism

Pastor Horace R. Becher of the Collegedale church baptized four persons on Sabbath afternoon, September 15, at the Collegedale church.

Those baptized represented these churches: Athens, Standifer Gap and Collegedale. They were Betty Mowry, Athens; Ben Fuller, and J. Hull, Standifer Gap; and Merrill Shepherd, Collegedale.

The Athens church was represented by the Cleveland district pastor, Milton Connell, G. N. Fuller, local elder, represented the Standifer Gap church, G. R. Nash, president of the Georgia-Cumberland conference, took part in the service.

Bischof Joins CA Teaching Staff

Joseph D. Bischof, former principal of Highland Academy, has been appointed as the new director of Collegedale Academy. Mr. Bischof has had experience in the field of education both as an Academy teacher and principal.

He received an B.N. from Madison College in 1937. After graduating from the Atlantic Union College in 1946, Mr. Bischof became principal of Ozark Academy in Geary, Arkansas. During the past school year, he served as principal of Highland Academy. Mr. Bischof is accompanied by his wife, who has an B.N., and his three children: Barbara Jo, 11; Robert Wayne, 10; Juanita Jo, 6.

Founders' Day Set For October 10

Mrs. Mary Dietel, chairman of the Founders' Day program committee, announces that this year's event will take place on October 10 in the college auditorium.

The main speaker on the program will be Dr. Lynn Wood, Mr. Talge, pioneer of the early days of Collegedale, and Mrs. Tatcher, from whom the Collegedale estate was purchased, will also be on the program. The second generation students are to be featured on the program.

College Property Gets Redecoration

Mr. George Pearman, superintendent of the maintenance department, reports the repainting and redecoration of several apartments and rooms during the summer months.

Eight of the student apartments on Camp Road were redecored, mostly with grey walls and ivory ceilings. Each family had a choice of color.

In the administration building several second floor classrooms were painted. On first floor, the home economics room was redecored.

The library faculty room was repainted and the entrance corridors and reading room are still in the process of improvement.

The second floor hall and most of the rooms in the men's dormitory have received a new coat of gray paint.

A regular painting crew from the maintenance department did the work. This crew has already used between 200 and 300 gallons of paint to complete its work.

Welch Announces New MV Officers

With Willy Welch presiding, the new MV officers conducted their initial program Sabbath, September 22.

Each new officer outlined his particular work in the organization, requesting that the MV members support the year's program.

Assisting the new leader, Willy Welch, will be John Harris, associate leader; Bob McMillan and Dean Ray, assistant leaders; Jim Jane Graves, secretary; Doris Marsh, assistant secretary; Maurice Abbot, chorister; J. D. Blouss, pianist; Catherine Brown, organist; and Ted Graves, publicity secretary.

Summer Grads Find Employment

Six of the seven summer-school students, who took their degrees at the graduation exercises on August 23, have been placed in employment.

Wilbur Brass, ministerial intern in the New York conference.

Russell Hartwell, ministerial intern in the Texas Conference.

Neil Shepherd, pastor-in-charge in the Kentucky-Tennessee Conference.

Calvin Aufl, research chemist for the Dupont company in Wilmington, Delaware.

Adrian Bergman, elementary teaching.

Alex Ziegler, graduate work at Pacific Union College, preparatory to studying medicine.

500 Students Register for Fall Term; Largest Enrollment Sets Record

Seen above is a small portion of the registering group arranging programs. Dr. Shaw and Dr. Hummel are advising the students.

Classes Organize; Elect New Heads

Broomshop Adds New Machines

A broomshop rearrangement program was effected this summer, which includes the installation of two broom winders and two machines used in corn preparation.

The new machines are located in the old warehouse. A sawing machine sorts the corn according to length and then cuts it. The second machine strips the corn of its seeds and separates it into single strands.

The two broom winders were moved from the Oolihaw annex to trade positions with the new winders, which previously were operated in the Collegedale shop.

The new system provides for less labor but speedier preparation of the corn, leaving the extra workers for increasing production of the winders.

New windows have replaced the old ones on the north side of the shop. The central heating system is being installed. The broomshop has already employed 50 workers.

Students Teach in Home Ec Dept.

Teaching in the home economics department, Miss Ruby Teashey is one of the student teachers employed at Southern Missionary College this year. She comes from Newport News, Virginia. This is her sixth year here.

Ruby has ten in her academy class which boasts one boy member, Chik Salver. The first semester is to be devoted to cooking, and during the second semester clothing will be taught.

Marion Parker, also a senior home economics major, is teaching one college course. The Foods and Cookery class which she teaches yields three hours of college credit.

Marion graduated from Fores. Lake Academy and attended Southern Missionary College for her freshman year. After two years at Washington Missionary College, she has returned to Collegedale for her senior year.

After completing her college work, Marlou plans to work toward her master's degree.

Marlou, her mother, and two sisters have recently moved to Collegedale from Orlando, Florida. Nancy Parker is a junior in the academy, and Ann is in the fifth grade.

9 Countries Send Students to S. M. C.

A record mark of 500 college students enrolled last week during the registration days of September 14-18.

For the first time in Collegedale history, the roster listed 500 enrollees at the end of the fall registration. Classrooms were filled to capacity as classes began its first full year of accreditation.

Registration commenced Friday afternoon, September 14, when a portion of the incoming freshmen took their initial steps in enrollment. By Sunday, the freshman class had registered all of its members and the upper classmen had begun.

Registration continued through Tuesday afternoon when it officially closed.

Orientation for the new freshman class began Wednesday night, September 12. The orientation program included tests in English, penmanship, and psychological traits. Recreational and informal "get acquainted" meetings were conducted.

All-college convocations conducted by President Wright and Dean Rutledge, the Wednesday program included tests in English, penmanship, and psychological traits.

In addition to 39 states, nine foreign countries are represented. They include Australia, Argentina, Canada, Cuba, England, India, Jamaica, Lebanon, and Puerto Rico.

Handshake Shows 12 Missionary Families

The annual college handshake was held Saturday night September 22, in the college auditorium.

Forecasting the evening's events on the word "missionary," taken from Southern Missionary College, twelve missionary families on the college faculty related their experiences in the mission field.

President Wright revealed that the number of years spent by these missionaries total 2,697. Foreign countries reported included the Central Africa, South Africa, Alaska, and numerous other parts. Customs of the foreign lands highlighted the presentations.

An ode composed of the Adelpian and Collegiate quartets offered the evening's close.

Student Tells Missionary Stories

Miss Jessie Hawman, from Itazu training school in Tanganyika, Africa, is living in the Mary Jones Hall this school year. Formerly the matron at Forest Lake Academy in 1943, Miss Hawman is now completing her B.A. in elementary education here at Southern Missionary College.

She has revealed some very interesting facts concerning the "dark continent" of Africa. It is no longer a land of cannibals and head hunters, but a continent where the hearts are being clasp for education.

In the girls' school, which Miss Hawman has taken over, there were forty-five girls, ranging in age from nine to eighteen. Returning via New York Harbor in August, she visited her home in Colorado before she came to Collegedale.

Apartments to Accommodate Twelve Families in New Residential Area

The six south apartments are arranged above the trailer camp. The other six face them in corresponding order.

Twelve new apartments have been erected in stately fashion to a new section on the hill above the trailer camp. The apartments are completed and the families are moving in.

The light green, modern apartments are built in two parallel series of six each. These series are facing each other. As the apartments progress up the hill, each one is three feet higher than the previous apartment. The odd numbered apartments are identical, likewise the even numbered ones correspond.

Three rooms, a clothes closet, and a bathroom are built inside the 17 by 26 foot area allotted for each home. The kitchen is furnished with a "Youngs Town Kitchen" set. The set consists of a combination of metal cabinets and a double scissor sink. The top of the cabinets, along with the flat top "brown" water heater, make a workable for the housewife. A series of wall cabinets range above the workable. The kitchen is also equipped for both gas and electric cook stoves.

Each apartment is heated by an "Electrodome" heater mounted in the living room wall. The bathroom has a modern four and one-half foot built-in bath tub, a lavatory and a medicine cabinet.

Building of the apartments was done by the College Realty Improvement Company, Incorporated, according to Mr. Charles Fleming, business manager of SMC.

The cost of the building, including the landscaping, is around $3,000. It is an inside source, and a percentage of the income is paid to this source.

The plans, if the war situation permits, are to replace the two trailer camps with two similar courts. Mr. Fleming says that further building is not probable before the first of the year.

Hammill Is New SA Sponsor

R. L. Hammill has recently assumed the office of faculty sponsor of the Student Association, succeeds Chester Jordan, vice-president of the official student organization.

The new sponsor is professor of Biblical languages and religion. He received his doctor's degree in the field of Old Testament studies from the University of Chicago in 1950, after having been on leave from Southern Mississippi College for two years.

Mr. and Mrs. Hammill and son, Roger, have their home in the Valley-view subdivision.

Kennedy Predicts Good School Year

One of the best school years in the history of the Collegedale elementary school is predicted for the coming year, states Mr. K. M. Kennedy, new principal of the school. With 125 pupils enrolled at the present time, the enrollment is higher than at any other time in previous years. This great rise in attendance has come since reorganization day, which was held August 30. Twenty-eight students were registered on the first regular school day, and others have come in since that time.

The school building itself has had many improvements during the summer months. One of the classrooms has been completely redecorated; the others have all been repaired.

In addition, the third and fourth grade room is now in the process of being enlarged and redecorated, to accommodate the new high number of pupils in that room. The primary grades have begun new desk units, which are the most modern idea for seating the small children.

Only two changes in the teaching staff have been made this year. Miss Bernice Pittman and Miss Myra Bowens, who have been with the elementary school since 1948, are teaching the primary grades three and four, respectively. Mrs. Robert McMillan, one of the SMC graduates of the class of 1951, has assumed the position of teacher in grade five and six. Mr. K. M. Kennedy, recently of the Alabama-Mississippi conference, is teaching grades seven and eight in addition to his duties as principal.

Mrs. Olivia Dean, former principal of the elementary school, is still the director of elementary education and has her office in the elementary school building.

Recent visitor on the campus was Beth McKissick, a veteran of several meetings of the Kappa Delta. McKissick is the brother of Robbie McKissick, a college student.

ACCENT ON THE ACADEMY

ALEXANDER HEADS CA ACCENT WOLSEY HOLDS ASSOCIATE OFFICE

Academy Enrolls 104 Students

One hundred four students are enrolled this fall in the Collegedale Academy, reports Mrs. Roger Westland, academy registrar.

At the beginning of this school year there were 18 boys and 47 girls enrolled. Later nine more students were accepted, bringing the total to 104 in comparison with 151 of last year.

The academy enrollment has sharply decreased from that of last year. This fact is partly attributed to the large graduating class of the previous year.

Jim Alexander, senior academy student, was recently elected to the post of the academy ACCENT.

Jim is taking his final academy work in Collegedale after three years at Forest Lake Academy. His previous experience on publications staffs include two high positions. He was secretary-editor of the Reflector, school paper of Forest Lake Academy, and associate editor of the Mirror, yearbook of the same school.

Clyde Woolsey also a senior, has been selected to be the new editor-associate.

Clyde is the son of a former editor of a school publication and the brother of Ray Woolsey, editor of the Accent for 1950-51.

Brown Is Forum Prexy and Academy SA Senator

Bonnie Brown, Collegedale Academy Junior, was elected last spring to be the Prexy of the Academy Forum for the coming school year.

Bonnie claims her home state is Florida where she lived the first five years of her life. She attended elementary school at Takoma Park, Maryland, and West Virginia.

Bonnie attended Forest Lake Academy for her freshman and part of sophomore years. There she was literary editor of the Mirror, the Academy annual. The second half of her sophomore year was spent at Collegedale Academy.

Her hobbies are arranged under classification. Her interests in Poetry strike a strong note with English while speech will be her Bonnie hobby either to teach English or to be radio work.

She is looking forward to her first year. Her ideals for the forum are expressed in the following statement she made: "The academy will endeavor to arrive at a constructive opinion."

Cogs in the Wheel of Life

CAROL JEAN WHIMMEN

Our vacation from school work has passed and it seems a long, long time ago that we arrived and registered for this year of school. But though you are at school, don't they? Just like Bill Dyanzer once wrote in this column, it's the little things in life that count—the cogs in the wheel—that really make things go around. It's the purpose of this column to report some of those meekness—some funny, some commonplace, some different.

Tuesday, September 11, was Mr. Connel's birthday. His brotherhood workers were planning a big celebration for him and he found out about it. That morning he left on a business trip to Colorado. What until he comes back, though. The "celebration" will be delayed, but twice as loud!

Those flower beds on College Drive have improved because. The red, yellow, and orange zinnias lift are taller than some of the students, and you can see the bright colors for blocks away. The campus workers should really be complimented on their work this summer.

Chesner returned to school with some news about two of his former roommates. He said Duane Peterson is in the Naval Reserves and Billy Strickland is attending our Adjunct College in Santa Cruz, Cuba, where he is taking a minor in Spanish. Dr. Emma Hughes and her brother, who were on their way to the Smokies for their vacation, recently visited Dean and Mrs. Rittenhouse and family and also Miss Stoussinger and her mother.

On their way to SMC from California, Mr. and Mrs. Cole, two of our new teachers, brought their beautiful white Persian cat with them on the train. Somehow the baggage car tips for the cat were incorrectly routed and the cat came to Collegedale by way of Chicago. Somewhere en route to Chicago the cat presented three baby kittens to the conductor. Mrs. Cole reports that mother and kittens are doing fine.

Someone ought to ask Mildred Spruill and Chester Jordan what happened to the '50's clothes hangars they collected. The fact that anyone sold the hangars, they were banded in files. They said something about starting a new business.

Elder and Mrs. Dallas Young and young daughter, Rosy, from Ontario, Canada, visited in Miami, Jones Hall, recently. They brought their daughter, Mary Faye, to Collegedale to enter the secondary summer course. Elder Youngs, the editor of the Canadian Sign of the Times, and his wife are former students of Southern Mississippi College.

Beverly Dillon and Helen Braddy left early Wednesday afternoon for Pacific Union College, driving to California in Beverly's car. We wish them the best of luck, but we'll miss them this year.

Wittschibe Talks On Common Talents

"Everyone has at least five talents," declared Elder C. E. Wittschibe in the vespers service, September 14.

Each one has time, speech, intelligence, health, and strength. One's success in life does not depend upon the specialized talents such as music or art. One's future rests upon the discovery and development of the common talent.

Association Balloting Fills Vacancies In Senate

Chester Jordan was elected to head the student association in a school-wide balloting on October 1.

The vice-president-elect from the spring elections, Jordan fills the vacancy left by Floyd Matsals who resigned at the beginning of the fall term.

Jordan is a junior theology student and has been a member of the student senate for one year. He was president of the men's football and associate MV leader last school year.

Chester Jordan

The student committee on health, headed by Larry Hughes, is laying plans for the over-all directorship of the school picnic to be held October 24. Assisting will be Percy Thames, chairman of the committee on recreation. These committees are working in conjunction with their corresponding faculty committees.

Election returns from the October 8 and 9 referendum place James Joiner and Jack Price in student senate positions. The balloting was school-wide and the new officers will take office immediately.

Joiner will head the Southern Alumni staff for the current year. He is a senior business major and is a current associate editor of the SOUTHERN ACCENT.

Jack Price, a theology junior, will be chairman of the student committee on labor. This committee works with campus improvements, meeting monthly to discuss and take action on recommendations.

Millet Conducts Summer Effort

J. J. Millet, theology junior, was impressed last summer to stop his flying business and go to Plaquemine, Louisiana, to hold an evangelistic effort. It took him only a week to prepare for the effort which was a series of nightly meetings for three weeks.

These services were held in the school auditorium at Plaquemine, on the Bayou La Poudre. Banners, hand bills, placards, and newspaper advertisements were the means of publicity.

Mr. G. W. Wallace of Union College led the song services. Mrs. Wallace played the organ and was accompanied by Elizabeth Ann Lewis on the vibraphone. Miss Peggy Gardner was the pianist.

Over a hundred persons attended each night. Of these people twenty-two took their stand for Christ and fifteen were baptized.

The offerings amounted to $100 and helped to defray the expense of the meetings, which totaled $1000. The balance was donated by a Seventh-day Adventist.

After this effort Mr. Millet held a one week revival across the river in Hahoy. The little church overflowed at every meeting.

Mr. Millet has a burden for the people of the Bayou country of Louisiana. For twenty-eight years he was a Catholic in this vicinity, and while he was leading a dance band he became an Adventist. He has plans to hold an effort in Hahoy when he graduates next school year.

Improvements To Tabernacle

Pastor Horace R. Becker reports that the long-anticipated flooring for the tabernacle is ready to be laid. This is the final step between Monticello Drive and Apison Pike. This lot will accommodate about 60 cars. The area is 100 by 175 feet, and the crushed rock lanes are arranged to park the cars in four rows.

A new concrete sidewalk leads along the west side of the tabernacle and steps have been added at the rear. New spillways will divert excessive rain-water from the project.

Other improvements added during the summer include the opening of a new walkway between Monticello Drive and Apison Pike. This lot will accommodate about 60 cars. The area is 100 by 175 feet, and the crushed rock lanes are arranged to park the cars in four rows.

A new concrete sidewalk leads along the west side of the tabernacle and steps have been added at the rear. New spillways will divert excessive rain-water from the project.

Inside the building 100 new folding chairs will supplement the old ones in the auditorium. To the children's Sabbath school division 13 work and candle tables have been added to the teaching equipment.

Work supposed to have been deposited around the tabernacle where the campus department is working for a new lawn.

Seminar Expands

An increase in the seminar bands brings the total number of groups to twenty-three with more to be added, according to E. C. Banks, ministerial seminar sponsor.

Covering the territory within a hundred-mile radius of Collegedale and extending into four states, the seminar bands visit over forty per cent of the churches in the Georgia-Cumberland conference. Over half of the sermons preached in these churches are delivered by the seminar groups on their bi-monthly trips.

The leaders are appointed from the junior and senior theology classes, and the members are chosen from all curriculums. The bands are organized on a semester basis, which allows time for office-holding on the campus.

"This year," states Elder Banks, "we are placing more emphasis on personal work, visiting in the homes of the people."

Elder J. E. Edwards

SA Sends Six To Workshop

Five students and the sponsor of the student association have been selected to attend and represent SAC at the second intercollegiate workshop to be held at Union College. This annual event will continue four days from October 26 through 29.

Chester Jordan and Jack Matz, president and treasurer of SMC student association will represent the executive branch of the student association. From the publications staffs will be Dewey Urick and James Joiner, editors of the SOUTHERN ACCENT and Southern Moments. Dewey Urick will also represent the business staff of school periodicals. R. L. Hammill will go as sponsor.

Some of the main points of interest to be worked upon are the functions of the school publications, the work of the student MV societies, and various student organizations of the school.

All Seventh-day Adventist colleges of North America are invited to send delegates to the workshop. The meals and rooms will be provided by the school.

Urick Elected To Thurs. Committee

Dewey Urick, a senior business major and business manager of the Southern Memories, has been recently elected by the student senate to represent the student body at large on the Thursday committee. Two more students are to be elected, one from the women's forum and the other from the men's forum. The committee meets every Thursday with the faculty and aids on home leaves, minor disciplinary problems, and similar issues.

Last year, Dewey served on the same committee, representing the community students.

JOHNSON ASSISTS

"Focused Lives" and "Equipped" were the themes of the week of prayer services conducted by J. Ernest Edwards, associate home missionary secretary of the General Conference, Assisting during the week was Elder K. D. Johnson, missionary volunteer secretary of the Florida conference.

Tomorrow will climax the week of prayer. A special praise service will be held in the auditorium during the regular MV hour.

Opening the evening services on October 5, Elder Edwards presented the theme "Focused Lives", emphasizing that the holiness of one's life is not so important as the focus of one's influence. It is the small beads all focused together that illuminates the Christian life.

Tuesday evening the congregation filed to the microphones, testifying of their determination to maintain a "focused" life. Mike's were placed on the auditorium floor to accommodate the large group.

The chapel services were entitled "Equipped". The speaker pointed out that power is obtained through submission to a higher power. Throughout the chapel periods, the short preaching services were woven around the decisions of surrender which one must make to be equipped with the Christian characteristics. Some of the sermon titles were "Why Lock Yourself Out?" and "What's the Use?"

Elder Johnson conducted the elementary school meetings and the devotional worship periods.

Many prayer bands met daily in classrooms and offices for communion with God. These bands convened after each chapel service.

Both leaders spent hours each day in counsel and interviews with students.

Laymen Report on Congress Challenge

"Go" was the watchword at the greatest congress of laymen ever assembled in modern history at Grand Lodge, Michigan, August 2 through September 1.

Representing SMC at the meeting were Pastor Horace Becker, Deas Ray and Bob McMillan.

Thousands attending the convention were urged to go and launch a great soul-winning objective. To double the membership of the SDA before next General Conference "conquest" was the challenge to the laymen as they concentrated themselves in service to God.

A field day was held in which 2,800 home-borne vespers, 927 prayers were offered in the homes, 5,191 pieces of literature were distributed, and 738 baptisms were recorded. In the 20th Century Bible Course. All this took place within one hour, demonstrating how quickly the material can be mastered when each member becomes active.

Every delegate that attended the laymen's congress pledged to launch a definite program of evangelism by giving Bible studies, holding cottage meetings, conducting Sunday School schools, launching church or school home efforts, promoting weekly evangelism.

A procession of torch bearers led the congress of laymen in which each layman marched forward for Christ to take his place in the final movement.

A DROP OF INK . . .

As I sit here thinking of what I should put in printer's ink, I can hear my watch ticking the seconds of time away—five seconds, ten seconds, fifteen seconds—and time slips on.

Each second it ticks away is gone—lost in a mass of eternity. That second never came before; it will never come again; it is now! Did I say now? No, by now it has passed out of existence along with several other seconds.

We realize as we see these golden moments roll by that there is work to be done. There is studying to do. There are plans to be made—not tomorrow, not yesterday, but today. There is work to be done now.

Riches are not required in proving a success. But to show how valuable time is let us compare the accomplishments of the millionaire and the beggar. They both have the same time. It is use of this time that makes such a difference.

The kind words we can speak, the helpful deeds we can do, the hearts we can point to Christ—these if not done now cannot be done later. The soul that is yearning for an act of kindness, for tender words, needs these now. Tomorrow it may be too late. Tick, tick, tick. During this week of prayer I have realized more than ever that the hour is growing late. There is not much time left. It is now time to get ready. It is now time to give our hearts to the One who can cleanse us from all unrighteousness.

As the seconds slip away as you read this ink I ponder these questions: Am I using this time which God has given me to improve myself? Am I using this time to bless others? Am I using this time to glorify the Supreme Giver? Am I capturing these fleeting moments, or am I losing them forever? Is

Has There Been A Change?

Today is Columbus Day. Four hundred fifty-nine years ago a demoralized, disconsolate, disappointed crew of Spanish sailors landed on an unknown island. Four hundred fifty-nine years ago an unknown hemisphere opened its shores to a new civilization, a new era, and a new life.

From this single voyage exploration spread north, west, and south, pushing steadily, searching continually, and establishing a new heritage in a new land.

Our patriot land has grown since then. Four hundred fifty-nine years of progress have developed this land into a continent-wide, hustling nation of 150,000,000 people. But it was not in the explorers' attitude of greediness for gold and glory which caused our principles of democracy and freedom to be established. Their greedy hearts could not conceive of love and equality.

It was the cluster of self-denying, self-disciplined men of lofty ideals of nearly two centuries ago that laid the fundamentals by which we live. And now it seems that the greed that characterized the early explorers again has seized the first place in the citizens' hearts. At the close of this week of prayer, it may well be remembered that the best citizen of America was—and always will be—the one without greed—the Christian citizen. lg

Choir Organizes Under Cole

The chapel singers, the college capella choir, have re-organized with a membership of approximately fifty. Under the direction of Mr. Glenn Cole, the choir has already begun its ministry of music in the Collegiate church, a service which it will render throughout the year.

Besides its duties in the worship services, the chapel singers will serve as a nucleus for the Glee Club, which the choir has already begun its ministry of music in the Collegiate church, a service which it will render throughout the year.

The choir also looks forward to a concert tour of many of the churches of the Southern States which will probably come in the spring.

A large variety of musical numbers have been selected for the choir by Mr. Cole. Some of these are "Lo, God is Here," by Mueller; Brahms' motet "O Saviour, Throw the Heavens Wide"; "Beautiful Saviour" by Christiansen; "The Bach motet," "Jesus, Prince of Peace"; the spiritual, "Were You There?" and such traditional Advent hymns as "Never Part Again?"

A Dash of Spice

CAROL JEAN WHITTON

Maude Jones Hall is such an interesting place in which to live that it would be difficult to describe all of its activity, but we'll try to record a few of the highlights of the past few weeks.

DOMS CELEBRATES

Miss Stonebriener thought she had concealed her birthday quite well when the day passed without anything but her usual. When she had dismissed worship and was ready for us to leave, we sat down instead and sang "Happy Birthday" to her. Robbe McKinstry, DORM CELEBRATES

South Hall has at least one "aggressive" young resident. Not long ago a girl took tied with white ribbons. Miss Stonebriener tried to guess how he had found out about it, but no one would tell her. Her birthday ought to come after eleven because our lights stayed on fifteen minutes later that night.

South Hall has at least one "aggressive" young resident. Not long ago a girl took tied with white ribbons. Miss Stonebriener tried to guess how he had found out about it, but no one would tell her. Her birthday ought to come after eleven because our lights stayed on fifteen minutes later that night.

Lynn Jensen was concocting something in our closet a few nights ago. It smelled like a mixture of ale-garlic and ketchup. She and some other girls have combined the most fascinating ingredients to make some sticky mess that they faithfully plaster their faces with every night.

Ruthie Christensen and Norma Desmond seem to have topped the list for having the largest collection of animals. Every now and then they miss a batch of rodents in their apartment.

Margaret Richardson is continually talking about hypogeological specimens like fossils and bugs. I guess a science like that is all right for a pre-medical student like Margaret, though!

Maude Dubblerly leaked a little too freely about the hamster on the third floor and went completely through the railings up to her knees. She wanted a long time before anyone came around to help her out and her knees are still a bit wobbly.

Jo Anne Rook, Lillian Wynn, and Benita Wynn, among others, have had birthday parties in the past two weeks. They were all very much surprised when everyone sang "Happy Birthday" to them. Benita's party was held down at the Harg's house.

APPLANE TRIP

Virginia Boykin and Ruby Teuchey are getting rather up-to-date in their traveling. Just last week they went down to the pasture and set their suitcases down among the crows to watch the handling motion when Mr. Gardner's airplane would be ready for the take-off. Mr. Gardner was going to be stopping in Paducah, Kentucky, over their homes. He was taking a regularly-scheduled business trip, so that's why Ruby and Virginia were the "chosen ones."

IN FACULTY CIRCLES

ELAINI HICKON

Over one hundred thirty faculty and staff members enjoyed a bona fide role on the Chickamauga Lake on Sunday afternoon, September 30. Elder V. G. Wright gave the worship talk, and Mr. Wayne Thurber led in an old-fashioned hymn-sing. Miss Ruby Lea, former registrar of the college, was a special treat.

Mr. and Mrs. George Pezman have gone to Florida for their vacation. They will stop in Georgia to visit Mr. and Mrs. Fred Veltman, who are assisting in the Brunswick effort.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Olmstead have gone to New York for their vacation. He will attend the furniture convention while he is there.

Mrs. K. A. Wright, Mrs. F. O. Ritterhouse, and Mrs. Stanley Brown entertained the ladies of the faculty at the Wright home, Tuesday evening, September 23, honoring the new members. Mrs. Higgins gave some very interesting reports and Mrs. Cole sang for the group. The house was decorated with beautiful bouquets of dahlias, given by Mr. J. T. Whitaker. He has won many prizes for his dahlias this year.

Dr. and Mrs. Sabrie visited Martha Berry School in Georgia, last week. Dr. Sabrie was guest speaker while there and appeared in the first layman number of the year on October 1.

COC Introduces Campus Clubs

Bobby Bowen, president of the Club Officers' Council, introduced eight clubs in the October 1 chapel hour. The clubs he introduced were selected by voluntary membership.

Several clubs were planned to enrich the program. A new club was introduced. Mr. Miller introduced the I.R.C. Francis Murley and Ed Brice presented the Officers' club, and Jo Anne Rook and Ferdie Wutke introduced the nurses club. Club elections were held during the continuation of the chapel hour.

ELMIN HICKON

4. He presented a lecture-reading on "Edwin Markham, Poet and Philosopher."

Best wishes are extended to Grandmother Mattie Bowen who celebrated her ninetieth birthday on October 3.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Japerson were recent guests of President and Mrs. Wright.

Elder Wirtschke and the Collegiate Quartette attended a Youth's Rally at Mount Pisgah Academy last week. President Wright spoke in chapel at the Fletcher Academy on Monday, October 1, and at Mt. Pisgah Academy on Tuesday, October 2. He met in a special session with the seniors at each place.

Mr. C. G. Bowen, assisted by Mrs. Kuhlman, conducted nursing classes in Chattanooga the last half of September. The purpose of these classes is to teach graduate nurses to care for cast patients in the event of an atomic explosion. Lectures were given by Dr. William Johnston and Dr. E. L. Mohr, and Mrs. Roscoe Mizelle conducted similar classes in the morning. There were probably one hundred attending both sessions.

Recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Sanborn were his mother, Mrs. E. S. Sanborn, Mrs. George Wells, New York, and his aunt Mrs. Tessie Wood of Miami, Florida.

Down South

JAMES JOINER

The Triangle Club held its election for first semester officers and our new officers are making plans for boys' open house which is scheduled a few weeks hence. Bob Ammons is president, Lester Riles, vice president, Bob Nafso, secretary; Paul Stein, treasurer. Bob East, pastor; Jack Hanson, parish moderator; and Wayne Krummer, sergeant-at-arms.

We will have more athletes this year. Mr. Kuhlman and his health and recreation committee have arranged to have the fellows to organize teams in football, basketball, baseball, and possibly other sports. The softball games last spring were a success, and we hope the program this year will provide recreation for all.

UNCLE SAM CALLS

Uncle Sam has beckoned towards South Hall again. Marshall Johnston is the latest one to be called into the service.

Maybe they want to get in shape if anyone, or maybe they want to reduce or gain weight, or the case may be. Anyway, some of the boys in the bus must have been doing a lot of weight lifting exercises. I think second and third years are doing the most. They are lifting a lot of weights. They are lifting a lot of weights. They are lifting a lot of weights.

PRICE, NEW MONITOR

Jack Price is the new monitor on first and second floors and in the bus building. He is also the new bus monitor. I wonder if Chat's new job as president of the student association is any harder than that of leaving the fellows alone.

The memo's furnished completed in the office of officers for the first semester. Glenn Cook is pastor; Lester Kida, parish moderator; and Harmon Brown, sergeant-at-arms.

Harold Opens New Dairy Outlet

A new dairy but, owned by SMC and operated by Haro Harold, is located at the corner of Le Highway and Brainerd Road. According to Mr. Charles Fleming, Jr., business manager, the bar opened for business on Monday morning, October 8.

The cost of the building was approximately $4,000. Mr. George Fenniman, head of the maintenance department, and his skilled workmen put up the 20 x 40 foot structure. It is a fairly well equipped with a concrete floor, a front window and two end windows. A four-foot concrete curb runs around the building. The building has a walk-in cold room ten feet square and a ninety cubic foot ream cooler. An eight-section ice cream dispensing cabinet has been built in the building.

This bar is another outlet for the products of the SMC farm and dairy. Only package products are sold. Mr. John Harold rents the building for the college, buys the products, and is in itself.

Mr. Harold came here the last year. He is living in Austin and has three children attending the College. He is also the manager of the three children school. His farm home is near Spring Lake, Tennessee.

The college dairy has employed Mr. Harold this summer on a salary commission basis on a dairy and egg truck route.

On his way to White Mountain Hospital, Doctor Harry Bowen visited the club and to Anne Rook and Ferdie Wutke, for a few days. Also guests of the Bowen were another son, Dewitt Bowen, and his family.

Trophy Night Climaxes Field School; Entire Family of Trophies Presented

These are the "trophies" from the Field School of Evangelism who visited Collegeville September 28. The summer effort resulted in twenty-two charter members of new churches.

The field school of evangelism came to a climax Friday night, September 28, when the students of the field school conducted the traditional "trophy night."

The Adolphus Quartet made the typical introduction of a night at the effort, with interviews and testimonies of the workers and "trophies" following.

Douglas Bennett, class of '51, displayed six trophies that he had won during the summer effort. He gave Bible studies each day to a lady who invited her two sisters and brother to share them with her. The result of this personal evangelism was the baptism of six people: Mrs. Fred Deeren, Carol Deeren, Mrs. Hubert Brooks, Mrs. Edith, Mrs. Thomas, and Mr. Hoskins.

The summer effort also resulted in bringing a student to Collegeville Academy. Sixteen-year-old Odell Johnson, now valedictorian of his school, and was impressed to come to school. This week he joined the sophomore class of the academy.

Fourteen students testified of the benefits of field school. One said "The greatest thrill I got from the summer was seeing someone for whom I had worked baptized." Another recommended the field school for everyone, regardless of his curriculum.

During the program colored slides depicting the summer's activities were shown by Hugh Leggett.

Those attending field school were Charles Meade, Alvin Gahleit, Virgil Beauchamp, Arthur Price, John Harlan, Kline Lloyd, Harold Armstrong, Harley Davidson, Tom Stone, Jack Martz, Richard Sloan, Hugh Leggett, and Sherman Peterson.

"The man who wakes up to find himself famous has not been asleep!"—Lord Dunsun.

Dear Field Student:

By this time of the year you should be well acquainted with the functions of the students' association. If you are a new student, you have observed only a few of the many activities and projects that are now being carried through by your fellow classmates.

From the viewpoint of the student association, the outlook for the present school year is very bright. There are many things to think about and formulating plans for this school year. We are anticipating this to be one of the best school years for Southern Missionary College.

Various student committees have already begun their functions. The faculty-student parties of last Saturday night are but one example of cooperation in which faculty and students joined hands to provide pleasing recreation for the many who attended these parties.

There are many major projects now being carried out. Among these is the soon coming school picnic to be held at Harrison Bay on October 24. Another major project is that of the student association benefit program which will take place the latter part of November.

If totaled up, the number of projects under way would soon surpass fifty. These projects are being ably directed by the various standing student committees. Other projects under the supervision of the entire student association will soon be introduced.

Several vacancies have occurred in your senate offices. In the next few days elections will be held. Here is your opportunity to exercise one of your privileges as a member of the student association. Give your student senators suggestions as to whom you want as your officers and then VOTE! If it is your prerogative to suggest and opinions that will make this a successful year for our student association. Your officers stand ready to serve you. If I, or any other of your officers, can be of assistance to you, do not fail to call on us. We are at your service.

Welch Reports On Congress; Students Relate Stories

The first report on the Paris Youth Congress was given in MV meeting, September 30. Wally Welch, Collegeville delegate and MV leader for the first semester, gave a short outline of his experience while attending the congress.

He described the trip across the Atlantic in a Constellation airplane with other North American delegates. Speaking of the conditions and arrangements at the congress, he told of the two hanger-like buildings where 6,000 beds were set up in barracks style.

Welch closed his talk with an account of the voyage home and a promise to report later on the details of the accomplishments of the youth session.

A Sabbath program of special music and conversion experiences was directed by John Harlan on October 6.

Nona Jane Ahrend told of her experience in the world of dancing and then related the facts of her conversion. Lonan Adams spoke of the faithfulness of his Adventist wife, who, by her life and prayers, brought him to the life.

Harmon Browlower, who until this year was preparing for the Baptist ministry, gave a report of his experience with and acceptance of the Adventist message.

Sabbath, October 13, there will be a special praise service at MV hour to close the week of prayer. Welch reports. He further stated that there will be an MV rally here October 19th, at the Nelson of the Southern, Underwood and Ward Scriven of the Georgia-Cumberland conference will lead out.

Mitchell In Charge Of Veterans Office

Alfred Mitchell, junior business major, is in charge of the veteran affairs office for the current school year.

Mitchell served over three years in the air corps during World War I. None of his assignments included overseas duty.

Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell make their home in one of the James apartments on Camp Road. Mrs. Mitchell is completing her course in elementary teaching and will graduate in June in the professional senior class.

School Sports New Playground

A new playground in the valley behind the administration building has been cleared for the grade school.

The new location was made possible by a change in course of the creek bed. Although the new play area is not near completion, equipment has been moved and is being used daily.

Mr. Kennedy, elementary school principal, states that additional equipment such as swings and a jungle gym will be installed. It is hoped, he says, that the tennis court area may be docked and used for skating, shuffleboard, and tennis ball.

The plans are to cover the playground with fresh rock and provide a grassy area for playing games.

New Typewriters Purchased

Just recently the secretarial service department has purchased eleven new Royal typewriters to take care of the large enrollment in the typing classes.

This additional equipment brings the total number of new typewriters purchased within the last year to thirty-three, making a total of thirty-eight which are in use in this department.

Miss Brickman states that it is hoped that some twenty $1,000 worth of new equipment will be added to supplement the increasing needs of this department.

On Other Campuses

Lancaster

AUCS scope of knowledge has been widened to a new head. Recently Mrs. Charles L. Kilgore, the head of the English department, returned from a four-month tour of Europe. She took nearly 1,000 Kodachrome pictures. Her students will enjoy becoming better acquainted with their neighbors across the Atlantic.

Clark Tower

The students of Union College will enjoy the comforts of a new building. Construction began last week on a well-equipped Sabbath school building. Here they will be able to worship in a truly relevant atmosphere. The cost of the project, along with renovations in the church, is $100,000.

Student Movement

Before long a bigger and better school paper will be rolling off the EMC press. The student body voted to double the frequency of publication. Headquarters of friends and leaders will be kept in closer contact with the student and know what they are doing.

College Criticism

La Sierra College is making a sacrifice in behalf of the mission field. Dr. O. K. Gunt, home economics professor has accepted a call to Philippine Union College, where he will teach chemistry. Miss Gant is a former teacher at SMC.

Campus Chronicle

From the campus of Pacific Union College comes the report of a new house on the campus. The new dormitory accommodates ninety-six residents, with a workshop room and a SMC.

The fire alarm system includes two automatic alarms, sprinklers, and a concrete stairway which is an inside fire escape.

SS Organizes Peterson, Spiva Head Divisions

R. W. Crawford, general superintendent of the Collegeville Sabbath school announces that all the offices of the Sabbath school for first semester have been backed.

E. C. Banks, R. M. Craig, Paul Hout, and E. L. Mohr are assisting Mr. Crawford as assistant general superintendents. Margaret Motley is taking her duties as general secretary, with the aid of Ruthen Lopez, associate general secretary, and J. T. Davis and Roger Woodland, assistant general secretaries.

The tabernacle division is in the charge of Sherman Peterson, superintendent, and Hugh Leggett, associate superintendent, and Adolph Skender, assistant superintendent. Mrs. Van McGowan is the secretary of the division, and Richard Sloan is associate secretary. The assistant secretaries are Aubrey Liles and Ada Ruth Woolsey. The director of music is Jack Price, who will work with Rose Schroeder, organist; Ruby Lynn, assistant organist, and Elaine Gregory, pianist.

The chapel division is in the charge of Wesley Spiva, superintendent, and Lester Fowler, associate superintendent. Albert Whit and Joseph Keems are assistant superintendents.

Buretha Coffey is the secretary of the coffee division, and Martha Schmidt is her associate. The directors of music are Ben Young and Ben Armeson. The pianist is Doris Harsh, who is assisted by Virginia Boykin. June Phillips is organist.

Students should faithfully attend their respective Sabbath schools.

IF YOU'RE MARRIED

BOB HUEY

Hello there, married friends. Another school year is here again and quite a large number of students have enrolled. Not a few of these are folks with the categorical title of non-single.

As you newcomers probably noticed in the last issue of the SOUTHERN ACCENT, we have a married couple listed in the last issue of the SOUTHERN ACCENT, we have a married couple you have seen in your column and we want your names in it. At any time you have news, interesting incidents, or visitors, etcetera, and you are a contented, just see me and it will help to make this article more representative.

I was trying to tell a skirt for the film to be shown on October 13 to the library to Don Fillman the other day and he said that he was broke. I told her to talk his wife into advancing his December allowance and Carol Jean Whidden just laughed and laughed. We didn't think it so funny because there is some truth to our money problems, isn't there?

After eating a full meal, Dewey Stear told his wife that he was a little fool (maybe that was spelled full). Anyway the agreed.

Have you sampled any of those good cinnamon rolls in the College Store that Harley Davidson's wife, Bernice,

Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Clough, of Madison, Tennessee, visited their son, Lester, a college sophomore. Accompanying them were Lester's grandfather and aunt, Mr. J. C. Rogers and Miss Edith Daniel.

MY PRAYER

Direct, control, suggest this day All that I think, or do, or say; That all my powers in all Thy might In Thy sole glory may unite.

is making? Take some home to the husband, ladies, for a treat. They're all-right!

I noticed there are some married folks in the gym class who Roy Balise is teaching. A couple of them are Roy, Crawford, and Lorry Marvin. Which those muscles grow!

How do you like those new three-room apartments above camp one? I see the McGlowsers carrying groceries over to a new car on the way to the Danny Lewis, Waldens, and Younce's live up there also.

It surely is good to see Glenn Beckow in the broom shop office again these days. He just returned from Florida, where he has been on vacation with his family.

There are a lot of new babies as well as new couples this year. The Petrikos have a boy, William Brian, and the Taylors have a baby boy, also. Dr. Steen is quite perturbed that the Taylors' baby won't stay on his stomach part of the time.

Well, I guess this is enough yarn for one issue so long, and remember, now, let's have your news in the next issue.

Pastor Stresses Responsibilities

Each one is individually a member of the church. Pastor Beckow stated in his Sabbath service of September 29. One soul can not lift another. We must do our own part. Pastor Beckow stressed the responsibility of personal attendance of religious gatherings, regular payment of tithes and offerings and observance of ties connected with church membership and responsibilities.

Local Residents Raise Price Dablis; Win State-Wide Awards

JAMES JONES

If you love flowers, drop in at Mr. J. T. Whisker's home on Tallant Road, one and three-fourths miles east of the college. There you can see the 20 varieties of dahlias that have won many prizes and honors for Mr. and Mrs. Whisker.

This is the third year that the Whiskers have raised dahlias, and they now have over three thousand hills of flowers. Last year, in their first entry in a flower show, they won nine first prizes, four second, and two thirds.

In the North Georgia Dahlia Society contest this year, the Whiskers won forty-eight first prizes, twenty-two second, five thirds, six special awards, and seven trophies. In the Southern States Dahlia Society contest, including the states of Alabama, Georgia, and Tennessee, the couple won third highest honors with twenty-two first and two second prizes. Also they won first prizes on seedlings in both contests.

Mr. Whisker, known to his friends as "Uncle Jimmy," operated the commercial bakery at Southern Junior College from 1929 to 1932, now drives a truck for the Wisconsin and the Dutch Baking Companies three days each week, and spends the rest of his time caring for his beautiful grounds and flower garden.

Music Staff Adds Two Teachers

Two new teachers have been added recently to the staff of the music department. These are Mrs. Frances Curtis, instructor in piano, and Mr. Ernest Marinikow, instructor in violin.

Mrs. Curtis comes to SMC from Colorado Springs, Colorado. She attended Union College, where she studied piano with Mrs. Mary E. Wilder, and did some student teaching. She took her B.A. in music at Colorado College, and began her career at her mother's direction, which she is continuing at the University of Chattanooga at the present time.

She will accompany the Oratorio Chorus at the piano. Mrs. Curtis is also an organist. She is making her home with the Knudsen's.

Mr. Marinikow has received his education in the Adventist college in Chile, where he also taught and served as dean of men. Since coming to this country he has been active both in teaching and in musical performances.

During the second semester he will be a student at SMC, completing work on his degree, at the same time continuing the teaching of private students in violin.

Anderson Joins SMC Staff

Mr. Albert L. Anderson from Emmanuel Missionary College has joined the teaching and industrial staff of SMC.

Mr. Anderson is the teacher of printing and linotype and is also foreman of the composing room and managing editor of the Southern Tidings at Emmanuel College Press. Prior to his coming here he spent four years teaching printing and linotype at EMC. For three and one half years he was manager of the College Press at EMC.

He received his B.A. degree at Emmanuel College in 1928 and has since then spent many years in SDC college print shops. He has been a printer for 30 years and has a thorough knowledge along this line.

Here at Collegedale with Mr. Anderson are his wife and two children. His wife, Mrs. Marjorie Anderson, has graduated from a two-year elementary teaching course and has taught for several years. His daughter, a member of a sophomore in the academy and his son, Marvin, is in the first grade.

Berry Coming For Pattern Review

Miss Olive Berry, fashion advisor for the Simplicity Pattern Company, will present a fashion and pattern review entitled "Autumn Plumes," on the evening of October 22, in the Lynn Wood Hall chapel.

The new colors of the outfits are keyed to the plumage of American birds, since this year is the observance of the Centennial Anniversary of John James Audubon, the renowned artist and naturalist. Each costume has been given a name that is associated with birds, such as "Migration," "Wing-Spread," "Woodland Hunt," and many others.

The young ladies in the clothing course will have opportunity at the review to see Simplicity Patterns made up and modeled by girls from the home economics department and others from Maude Jones Hall. The pattern numbers of each garment will be recorded by each member of the audience.

Miss Berry, who brings the review to the campus, has been visiting college for several years and is well aware of the clothing needs of college girls. She styles a wardrobe for an odd lot of gowns with an eye toward suitable clothes for careers after graduation. She is a graduate of Teachers College, Columbia University and has received her master's degree in home economics from the New York University. During her visit she will talk on opportunities for home economics and the making of Simplicity Patterns.

Fruits and Garden Department Grows

James Sinclair reports that the fruits and garden department is growing. With acreage in four campus locations, the crops are divided in plots green, brown, orange, olive, corn, green beans, and sweet potatoes.

"This year's tomato crop will exceed that of last year," states Sinclair. 183 bushels have already been harvested. A crop of 240 bushels is predicted. The tomatoes are a well-resistant Southland brand.

125 dozen cases of sweet corn have been harvested from the half acre plot. The corn is an Iowa sweet corn.

The crops are sold to the Chattanooga market, college store, cafeteria, and canteen.

The crops are sold to the Chattanooga market, college store, cafeteria, and canteen. Each acre is divided into three crops, strawberries, boysenberries, and raspberries.

Sinclair plans to maintain the same acreage for next spring's picking. Already 1,000,000 plants have been set out. Most of these will be sold, however, and old plants will be retained for bearing purposes.

Academy Makes Attendance Record

September 13 was a Red Letter Day at Collegedale Academy. Every one was present and on time for every appointment. At the end of four weeks there are forty-six students with a perfect record, which is 97.7 per cent record. Mr. Higgins was wondering today if any academy could beat that record.

Higgins Is New C.A. Principal

Among the new academy faculty members this year is Mr. Higgins, the new and very capable academy principal. He received his A.B. at Emmanuel Missionary College and his M.A. at the University of Maryland. He took all his academic work at South Lancaster, where he worked his way through school by exercising carriage horses belonging to a millionaire who lived there.

In 1925 he married and stayed at South Lancaster as a teacher for three years.

On December 21, 1928, Mr. Higgins, his wife and oldest daughter left the United States for Africa. Mr. Higgins served as principal and director of Lofthill and Malabulo, two of our training schools in Africa. The principal states that in Africa they have no trouble with students being absent from school. It is a punishment to be kept away. Africa had many exciting and interesting experiences in store, which included leopard hunting and herding a stream which proved much too deep.

When he came back from the mission field, he again taught at South Lancaster and then came to Southern Missionary College. His oldest daughter, Shirlene, is private secretary for one of our workers of the Review and Herald. Dorcen, the younger daughter, who was born in Africa, is a sophomore at Walls College. Mrs. Higgins is head of the home economics department this year.

Chapel Adds 41 Chairs

Because of the heavy enrollment for the folding chairs have been temporarily added to the chapel in Lynn Wood Hall. This brings the seating capacity up to 432.

The back row of seats on the restroom is also being used to seat students during chapel periods.

Another school year has begun. How it will end depends on the pupil and his relationship to the school and his fellow students.

Our school can be compared to a ball team. A ball team consists of a number of members who work together as a unit. Every member of the team is extremely important. Without a pitcher, his contribution, the team is bound to lose. Just as it takes a pitcher to win a ball game, it takes students who are willing to play in and do their part to really have a school that has plenty of fun and pep.

Not only does this apply to the school, but also to the college paper. As most students know, a large part of the news at Collegedale is taken by the college. This should inspire us to work as hard to collect news and also to make news. Those knowing news that should be in the Academy Accent, please notify one of the reporters.

Academy Sabbath School Effects Changes; Barbara Thompson Is Leader

The Academy Division Sabbath school, located in the basement of the normal building, has undergone many improvements since the previous year. Last summer, Mr. P. J. Hour, Sabbath teacher.

Academy Students Spend Active Year

The campus is once again bustling with activity as another school year gets under way. Any afternoon about one o'clock if you should happen by Lynn Wood Hall, you would see students gathered on the steps gossiping and chatting about the latest news and events.

Grindstone Mountain is becoming a very popular place. Several of the fellows are making it a project to hike to the top.

If you have never seen Jerry Cornwell with a red face, you should have seen him in the dining room a few days ago when he dropped his tray. That's all right, Jerry, accidents will happen.

We are glad to have Betty Nipper back with us after a few days in the hospital. How does it feel to be among your apostolic brethren?

When Mr. Hear, in physics class, asked what would happen if one took a mercurized barometer up in an airplane and started dropping it and barrel rolls, Eugene McClain came up with this answer, "You'd get sick."

He might be right at that. There is one more bit of news I must tell about Grover Cobb. Early one morning he was aroused from his sleep by something cold and mysterious on his face. When he attempted to remove the substance, he found a good half of his face was covered with hater.

I believe Ben Cobb was responsible, because I heard other dorm boys plotting vengeance.

From The Principal's Desk . . .

Four weeks of the new school year has now history at this writing. During this time from an enrollment of 117 there has been one withdrawal. While the number of pupils enrolled is below that of last year, the quality of character of the school family had in no way lowered.

We are grateful for the spirit of cooperation that exists between parent, teacher, and student. This is reflected especially in the matter of class attendance. Never does the writer recall a group of academy students that has had better attendance at all school appointments. The attendance for the first month has been little short of phenomenal. On September 13, just one school sponsor, and Pastor Beth succeeded in building a new planter Curtains for the front of the new building. A new pulpit, made by H. Beckner, lends an added touch of service to the church.

To curb tardiness, the time for instruction has been changed from 9:20 a.m. The seating is arranged for the convenience of those who are unable to arrive on time. The new center without disturbing the old of the Sabbath school.

The weekly program as well as the auditorium has been improved. What the mission stores are talking about inaugurated. Each person attending a birthday will be given a card by people who appreciate the experience of the year.

Enough to tell them a thing experience were their own. The position has been enlarged and a system for celebrating birthdays inaugurated. Each person attending a birthday will be given a card by people who appreciate the experience of the year.

Barbara Thompson, leader of the Academy Division, has as her assistant, Mrs. E. W. E. Beth. Mrs. Beth, the secretary, is led by Julie Brown and Manly D. These officers are striving to make the Sabbath school a place where something that will be especially helpful to young people.

Men's Home Named John H. Talge Founders' Day Program Unites Old Staff; Dr. Lynn Wood is Speaker

By recent action of the college board, the men's dormitory was renamed John H. Talge Hall in honor of John H. Talge, longstanding benefactor of Collegedale. Official statement of the action was announced during the Founders' Day program, October 10, by V. G. Anderson, president of the college board.

The floor of the Maude Jones Hall was donated by Mr. Talge. The entire furnishings of the boys' and girls' respective dormitories were contributed by Mr. Talge when they were first completed.

Mr. Talge was born in Louisville, Kentucky, August 19, 1867, the son of Pictured immediately after the Founders' Day program are some of the speakers and former staff members who visited the campus: Left to right, Miss Maude Wood, D. C. Lindington, Layton Sutton, Mrs. D. an upholsterer. Through his father he became interested in upholstery and established the Talge Lumber Company. Later he founded the Talge Mauborg Company and was its president and general manager when Southern Junior College was being organized.

The Talge Wood products became nationally known. In caring for his warehouse business in Chicago and Nashville, he made frequent visits to Europe and other places of the world. He imported woods from tropical countries.

Two years before the school was organized in 1914, Mr. Talge and his wife became Seventh-day Adventists. Through Elder S. D. White, president of the Southern Union at the time the college was founded, he became interested in the establishment of the school.

Mr. Talge was not able to attend the Founders' Day program because of his present health. He resides in Indianapolis, Indiana.

Standing in front of their former residence are Mrs. Grace Thatcher and her son, Mr. Paul Thatcher. Mrs. Thatcher appeared on the Founders' Day program telling of early days on the Thatcher farm.

The Ground Out of Which SMC Grew

"A great many wonderful memories are here where I came as a bride in 1895. I am always so glad to tell my friends that we had a starting point in these wonderful grounds and college and that a great work is being done here.

I am always so much interested in the work carried on here in my husband's corn field where he would gather 100 bushels of corn to the acre.

We did not think of selling our farm when we took our sons to Chattanooga for the school months as high school was close. Our daughter had finished high school and was in college. We intended to go back to our beloved home and happy farm life. One day some men came to see my husband about buying our farm, but we did not intend to sell the farm. In a few days, they came back and made my husband an offer. Since my husband's health had failed and he was not able to do the hard work—and it was hard those days, and help scarce—with much thought of the future we decided to sell. By so doing, Collegedale was started in 1916, in memory of which this Founders' Day is celebrated.

I am always so proud we had a part in these wonderful buildings and science grounds, and I am interested in the work carried on here—of training young people. Our country is greatly in need of education in spiritual things. Last year my son gave the details of the farm and the life we lived. Our home had always been a gathering place for enjoyment, so much could be said as we led a full life with much hard work and some play. But the gladdest words of tongue or pen is "This farm is what it should have been and with God's help this wonderful work will carry on."

SMC HAD IT'S FIRST BEGINNING AT A GRAYVILLE STORE

Seventh-day Adventist work in Tennessee began in April, 1892, when two Oregon educators established a school in the J. W. Close store in Grayville, Tennessee. Elder G. W. Colcord and his nephew, J. C. Colcord, began their instruction in the upper story of this store, containing their work for two years. Growth and efficiency soon produced an extension, thus Southern Training School was born. Southern Training School operated until 1916 when it moved to the present site of "Collegedale."

Dr. Lynn Wood, former president of this college in 1918-1922, was the main speaker at the second Founders' Day program that took place in the tubercular auditorium of SMC October 10, 1951.

"A Vision Through Faith" was the speaker's subject. He recalled the appearance of Collegedale in 1916 with the "yellow house," as the prominent building. A few shacks and tents completed the housing situation.

The first permanent building, as recalled by Dr. Wood was the girls' dormitory. A saw mill was brought to the new school to make lumber with which to build. Money was needed, and help was sought in the central states.

A malingering man came from Indianapolis, Indiana, John H. Talge, furnished flooring and furniture for the girls' home.

Williams Helps College

A Mr. Williams in Greeley, Colorado, was known to put his entire earnings into the Lord's work. Dr. Wood stated that the Williams home had a "deep influence of Christian atmosphere."

On being asked what he could do toward the growth of Collegedale, Mr. Williams and his sons decided to finance and build two schools. Charles E. Williams, a SMC staff member, has long standing and an elder in the Collegedale church, is one of the sons.

Dr. Wood recalled that a little magazine, Talge, was published by the school to tell of its progress and needs. Funds came in Brooks Fletcher, an editor of a paper, after a lecture at Southern Junior College, asked to have the students write the story of how they came to college. These he published in his paper, acquainting his readers with the new school.

Staff Meets Crisis

A deficit of $4,000, according to Dr. Wood, had caused the school board to consider giving the school up. Dr. Wood, in capacity of president of SMC, asked if he might meet with the faculty before the vote was taken. The faculty members raised the $4,000 out of their salaries. The business manager agreed to work for nothing if only gasoline would be supplied in order for him to get to and from Chattanooga to carry on the school's business.

Sacrifice on the part of students, faculty, staff, and the parent at home has contributed toward the establishing of the present Southern Missionary College.

Letters Read

Forty-two second-generation students from eighteen of the first accretions were featured on the program.

Letters were written by the former students of SMC who had a son or daughter now attending SMC. Each letter related the most outstanding incident that took place while the writer was here at school.

Memories of Friday night vesper services, with the tone of the service and the spiritual atmosphere, were mentioned more often than any other factor in the letters. Mrs. Ruth Fisher, mother of June Neely, attracted her conversion to these services, as well as to the presence of Dr. Wood. Mrs. Mary Young, mother, Fayette City, Smith-Yong, emphasized that the leaders were spiritual. A. W. C. Carter, mother of Mrs. Young, mentioned a seminar trip in McGill's 1920 Dodge.

LETTER FROM W. H. BRANSON

"Many times have I lived through the experiences we had in the days when we were trying to establish a suitable training school for the Southern field. I have never doubted that the Lord guided in selecting the present location near Oxford, and I am sure that the wonderful success that has attended this school in that place is ample evidence of His leadership in this undertaking. It seems to me that Southern Missionary College has one of the finest locations of any of our schools anywhere in the world.

Lopez Submits Sub

Ruben Lopez submitted the first ACCIS subscription in the current campaign. The subscription came from Felix Luis Garcia, who is an active day in Korea.

Garcia is a former student of SMC, coming here from Puerto Rico in 1949. He plans to return to Collegedale after his term of service is over.

There who have, in later years, borne the responsibility of the development of this institution are to be very highly commended and congratulated upon their splendid achievements. It has grown through the years until it now stands as one of our leading educational institutions. Surely it brings a great deal of satisfaction to the hearts of those of us who had to do with its founding to see the wonderful development and advancement that has been made through the years. Hundreds of young people have been educated there and many of them have found their way into our organized work and a considerable number into missionary field service."

(Editor's note—This is an excerpt from Elder W. H. Branson's letter to the Founders' Day audience. It was read by President Wright during the program.)

A DROP OF INK . . .

It has been said that "a little learning is a dangerous thing." It can be said with equal truthness, that "much learning is also a dangerous thing" unless it includes spiritual knowledge of God and His plan of salvation. Knowledge, plus God, is power for good, but knowledge minus God, is a dangerous thing.

At Southern Missionary College the hand, the head and the heart are trained to function in unity for the glory of God. Your college is the result of hard work, much prayer and great faith in the God of all good gifts. The founding fathers had great vision and by the grace of God the enterprise is progressing grandly. My prayer is that this progress shall continue, widening and deepening as time goes on.

(Editor's note—This is an excerpt from Judge W. Alexander's letter to the Founders' Day assembly. It was read by President Wright in the judge's absence.)

On the Faculty Side

ELEANOR HIGDON

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Boynton entertained the members of the faculty at their home last Sunday evening. President and Mrs. Wright and Elder Beckner have gone to Fall Council.

A very cordial welcome is extended to Mr. and Mrs. Norman Kroppstad. Mr. Kroppstad will teach in the music department.

Recent guests of Elder and Mrs. Higgins were Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Crocker, who were missionaries at Malawi while the Higgins were there.

Members of the faculty enjoyed an "outing" in the gym last Tuesday evening. They hope to make these games weekly ball a weekly affair.

Mrs. Higgins' father, mother, and her sister and husband visited her at her home recently. Their home is at Berrien Springs, Michigan.

Mr. Leif K. Tøbbesen, instructor in international relations and problems of world politics, was the speaker at the United Nations Day exercises in Chattanooga, sponsored by the Women's Woman's Club Tuesday, October 23.

MCC Trains 32;

Promotions Coming

The Collegiate medical club is in full swing again, according to Second Lieutenant Roy Rutledge, corps commander. Starting training with 23 cadets, the corps has now expanded to 32. The one platoon is divided into three squads, each with its leader.

On Sunday permanent ratings will be issued to Curtis Orr, George Webb, and Tom Mikes. They will serve as squad leaders in the capacity of corporal. Heber Voten, Charles McClellan, and Donald Polan will be assigned to the assistant squad leader position. Charles Harris will be promoted to assistant platoon sergeant, and Harmon Brownlow will receive a staff rating to first sergeant.

The cadets will be instructed in an overall view of Army organization, first and first aid are taught in the course which allows two hours of college credit.

Nelson, Servin Lead MV Rally

A Missionary Volunteer rally was held here at Southern Missionary College Friday and Saturday October 19 and 20. Elder Ward Servin of the Georgia-Cumberland conference was special speaker at the Friday evening services and Elder L. M. Nelson of the Southern Union was speaker at the church service on Sabbath.

Sabbath afternoon Elder Nelson led out in an MV quiz which featured many sprits of prophetic suggestions. A signification, led by Elder Nelson included several special medical numbers.

On October 27, J. J. Miller will be in charge of the MV program and will present the temperance work. It was decided in the MV council Thursday night, October 18. The council further voted to devote November 3 to the temperance program with a presentation of "The Prisoner at the Bar."

A Dash of Sweet and Old Spice

CAROL JEAN WHEEDEN

Maudie Jones Hall is just an average dormitory, I suppose, although it doesn't seem that way. Sometimes birthdays and parties come and every-one moves to different rooms and all the improvement began to take place about the same month. Maudie Jones Hall is finally beginning to pleasantly "take life easy" after an exciting rush of activity that is usually gone.

Our prayer bands have been organized and everyone is cooperating in making our dorm one of the most enjoyable activities in the dormitory. We girls feel for need of a closer walk with the Master, for isn't the whole plan of our education to "walk in His steps"?

The first meeting of the women's forum has been completed. Margaret Mealey, our forum president, initiated us in the organization by asking us to elect a girl from our dormitory to represent us on the Thursday government committee. The result of our election was that Ruby Teasby is our representative. Ruby declares that our dorm is just coming out of the green carpet with a week.

The late study hall in the parlor didn't usually have many attendants, but one night not long ago there was what you may call a "fire circus" going on. Donna Weber and Rube Christensen were performing acrobatics for the benefit of all while Anna Glenn and Mary Kay Ansley were chatting in some foreign tongue. Norma Deacon was the emcee while the audience (?) observed.

I'm beginning to wonder about Mildred Winkler. She has been making some remarks and reading some articles that lead us to think she is seriously interested in concentration. For instance, the other evening she read "Would You Rather Be A Mide?"

Ann Glenn's birthday present from some of the girls at the end of a "treasure" hunt. She went around looking up the rags in the parlor and bookcase in left green shoes and everything. After two hours of hunting, she finally found . . . a box of ginger snaps.

It's fast approaching 10 p. m. and you know what happens then. Goodnight.

MASS WHITE-JAMISON

(Founder's Day Letter)

When I first came to Collegedale, I stepped from a local train, which stopped in front of the yellow house. I was welcomed by our good-natured preceptors of the yellow house. Mrs. Thorne. During this first year of the school, we girls carried wood and water to our rooms, built our own fire and used kerosene lamps. When the spring was finally over, we walked upon the boys to bring water from the cave.

On the first New Year's eve six of us girls decided to celebrate by having a feed in one of the girl's rooms. We got up at midnight, ate our little snack, rang a bell, or blew a whistle, but went quietly back to bed. When the faculty learned of this we were promptly suspended from school.

During the second year of the school it was necessary for some of us girls to work at the printshop one night. At that time the printshop was a little located. Some of the girls made dates with boy friends to walk over together. As I started down the stairs from the girl's dormitory, I slipped and fell in the snow. One of the boys whose girl friend didn't show up, picked me up and walked me to the print shop. I was campus proud for this.

In those days, we girls were required to wear dresses no shorter than 12 inches from the floor, sleeves that covered the elbows, and necks no lower than 2 inches from the hollow neck.

All in all though, I believe the students of those early years were so happy as the ones who are here now, that they missed the modern conveniences and privileges they enjoy.

IRC Organizes Wood is President

The International Relations Club was organized for its first session, Eugene R. Wood, elected president and secretary. Emergency members of the organization are Sherman Peterson, vice-president; Ruby Jean Lyran, general secretary; Emory G. Taylor, secretary; Larry Hawkins, sergeant-at-arms; John Butterfield, publicity secretary; James McKinnin, treasurer; H. J. Hays, Hays, assistant general secretary; Glenn Cook, assistant treasurer; John Kilgore, assistant secretary; and Leif K. Tøbbesen of the department of social sciences acts as sponsor of the club.

The club will conduct monthly meetings. Several projects are under way the various members take their place in the club's program for the fall semester.

What could SMC students be doing relief to the material needs of suffering mankind in overseas lands? This problem will be studied by special committee sponsored by the IRC. Maurice Abbott is chairman of the committee. The first project which is in this study are Johnny Wiley and Richard Sloan.

President Wright has invited Dr. C. H. Brown of the department of international "broadcasts" in chapel as Friday morning throughout the year. Sherman Peterson has been appointed director, assisted by Everett Edley and Ed Bruce. Others will join "speakers." The script will be prepared each week by Maurice, Abbott, Richard Sloan, Sherman Peterson, and Ed Hoyt, students in the class in problem of the world.

A band is being planned by James McKinnin, social secretary of the club.

Down South

JAMES JONER

This column is still called "Down South," but south has no longer exists. Tall Hall is the new name of the boys' home. V. G. Anderson, president of the Southern Union, is the official production at the Founders' Day program. The new name was given in honor of Mr. John H. Talge, of Indianapolis, Indiana, who furnished back the men's and women's residence halls and gave the flooring for the girls' home in the early days of the school.

The fellows vacated the dorm faster than in a fire drill after thirty-four cars on a 113-car freight train went off the rails and created an ugly pile of metal between the yellow house and the woodshop. Almost immediately, most of the boys were at the scene of the wreck. One of the cars was loaded with peanuts, which didn't remain untouched by human hands—and teeth.

These of our track men are developing their running abilities. Bill Harris, Harmon Brownlow, and Nat Halverson are working out three times a week.

Doag Buckner and Paul McCallum, who lived in south hall last year, were up from Atlanta for a week-end visit. Doag is attending the University of Georgia, and Paul is working on a master's degree at Emory University.

The A & M grill—Jim Alexander and Charles Morgan, proprietors—held its grand reopening on October 13, after the Saturday night program. We hear that Jack Hanson may provide the competition for their grill.

Billy Mack Reed has been coming in late every night, but it is because he's doing a swell job on the chairs for the ACCENT campaign. That's a lot of hard work. By the way, have you turned in your pads?

David Henriksen, Al Evelyns, Bruce Pierce, and Lon Dillon, former SMC students, are all stationed at Camp Meade, Maryland. David, Al, and Bruce were in the military dorm until the service just after the fall semester began.

GEORGE W. FULLER

Mad the scratching of broken the grinding of wheels, train No. 113 on the 13th of October, 1948. The conductor opened the door and I looked out on great piles of railway ties. On great piles of rails, about a hundred yards, stood a yellow house, some in need of paint. I said to the conductor, "I want to get off at Collegedale." The answer, "This is Collegedale, this is the place."

A quarter mile up the hill the "Toll Village," stood the shell of a house built by "Nath Hays" and "Tom Jones Hall." Doors and floors as at least were missing, but a large group of girls called it home. Their living room was in its basement, class rooms and offices on the first made it also the administration building. I thought, "It is Colledale that is to send its message and singers around the world?"

This introduction to the equipment of the place raised the question whether a school which really depended to exist could give us an education.

But after registration and I had come acquainted with the teachers and their self-adoring air, the question, doubts left, and at the moment by and I saw and felt the content transferred to the heart of the place. All the students, I say with others, "It is good to be where the way of life is not preached but lived."

Store Front Gets New Awnings

In accord with the completion of the new building, the store front of the first floor, the college store, just recently received new awnings. The new awnings were given to new green and white ones brighten up the College Store building. The awnings were installed on October 13. They match the Post Office

L. A. Jacobs, first student of the Greysville school, poses in front of the library. Mr. Jacobs attended school in 1838-39 and later taught in Greysville church. He is now a local officer of the Genevieve church.

Dr. Suhrie Awarded Anniversary Gift

In honor of his completion of 25 years service in the educational field, Dr. Suhrie was presented with a gift during the Friday chapel service October 12, by Chester Jordan, president of the student association, in behalf of the student organization.

Dr. Suhrie began his teaching career in New Baltimore, Pennsylvania, his hometown, where he taught for ten years before returning to school. In 1914, at the University of Pennsylvania, a master of arts degree was conferred upon him, and the following year he earned his doctor of philosophy. He has taught in seventeen colleges and universities in America.

Along with publishing two complete sets of English textbooks, he has written and edited seven volumes on teacher education, and one volume on "New Possibilities in Education." He has written many articles for the American Year Book and professional journals.

For seven years Dr. Suhrie was principal of the Cleveland School of Education in Cleveland, Ohio, and for four years he was executive secretary of a college co-ordinating committee in New York City. He organized an association of one hundred eastern professors of schools, colleges and universities, serving many years as president and editor of its journal.

He appeared annually for ten years on the program of the American Association of Teachers College as consultant for its earlier work on summer schools for executive education. He was consultant for the American Council of Education in its national study on education. He presided at a national council on teacher supply and demand in 1934.

One of Dr. Suhrie's outstanding contributions to American education is the promotion of faculty-student cooperation.

Dr. Suhrie has been resident educational consultant at SMC since 1946. He is responsible for the establishment of the student association and the system of student participation in the daily administration of the college.

Parker Leads Home Ec Club

The home economics club has completed its organization and announced the following officers: Marjorie Parker, president; Martha Schmitz, vice president; Euntha Coffey, secretary; Betty Young, social secretary; Rose Schneider, treasurer; and Catherine ... public secretary.

Miss Parker, who besides graduating this year with a home economics major, is assisting Mrs. Higgins by teaching some of the classes in this department. She has many interesting experiences that many interesting projects are being planned by and for the club this year. The first of these is the Simplicity Fashion and Beauty Show, held last Monday evening.

Charles Bryan Coming Tomorrow Night for Second Lyceum of Year

To Present Program Of American Song

"When Mr. Charles Bryan opens his mouth to sing, his audience is inspired. The people are swept off their feet by his vibrant voice of quality," according to N. L. Krogestad, assistant professor of music of SMC.

Mr. Bryan, who is giving the lyceum program tomorrow night, November 10, is professor of music at George Peabody University. Mr. Krogestad became acquainted with him at North Western University this summer.

"American folk music is the specialty of our guest artist," stated Mr. Krogestad. "He goes out into the mountains among the people. While they sing the old ballads, Mr. Bryan writes down the words and the music. He is a composer and arranger, and a recognized authority in folk music."

From Mr. Bryan's past performances, he is described as having a personality that attracts people. He acquits his audience with the background of his traditions. Old instruments are displayed and played upon. Mr. Krogestad is especially glad he would play softly on a dulcimer while giving the background of some arrangements chosen from the atmosphere of complete informality, making one feel at home.

"My idea of this program," continued Mr. Krogestad, "is that it will be educational and entertaining. He quotes Dr. R. L. Hamill, who has also heard Professor Bryan, as saying that he was completely inspired by his performance."

Shroyck Speaks:

Meets Pre-Meds

"Skill is at a premium," asserted Dr. Harold Shroyck, dean of OME, in his November 2 chapel address.

Skill is admired, sought after, and prized, but skill is not sufficient. Judgment and insight must accompany skill in order to meet the problems of life. Dr. Shroyck emphasized that a Christian must have a deeper and more forceful evaluation of life than anyone else.

Dr. Shroyck interviewed pre-med students from his visit to Collegedale. Five pre-med science students, hearing applied to the College of Medical and Ecological Studies, took the Medical School Admission Tests at the University of the South, Sewanee, Tennessee, last Monday, November 5. These students were Joyce Cabl, Larry Hughes, Victor Jeyaraj, Walker Sutherland, and Lynton Setton.

Accent Drive To End Wednesday; Harris Leads Sub-Getting

Helen Jackson Sends 560 Letters In Day

The SOUTHERN ACCENT subscription campaign will enter its final week Sunday. It will close Wednesday when campaign statistics will be tabulated and press-women verified.

Campaign spirit rose as the subscriber on October 29, when the ACCENT business staff agreed to supply postage for subscription mail. Both the college and academy rallied behind the call, and for the 24-hour period allotted, correspondence flooded into the publications office.

The student forces sent nearly 3,000 letters through the Collegedale post office in the mid-campaign rally. Helen Jackson, college freshman from Tynes, Kentucky, was responsible for 560 letters.

As the campaign entered this week, the competition among the leading sub-getters shifted upon Sam Cooil, Mrs. Mary Dietz, Ruben Lee, and Dick Harris. During the first week of the drive, Harris mailed out 320 letters. Charles Harris, business manager of the SOUTHERN ACCENT, leads the group with nearly 35 sub-getters. Harris attributes his success to personal contact and solicitation.

From Collegedale Academy Mrs. Blevins, Academy campaign manager, reports a continual feud between the "Martins" and the "McCoy's" for the lion's share.

As to date, the hands of the goal device have moved slowly around the dial, but Wally Welch, campaign manager, believes that although a large per cent of the goal is yet to be reached, the large number of letters so recently sent into the field will yield good results.

Wentland Ordained: Called to Mission

Rankin H. Wentland, Jr. was ordained as the thirteenth of the Sabbath church service, November 3.

Elder Wentland has served in the Kentucky-Tennessee conference, where he has had the experience of the 1952 camp meeting. Because of his appointment to Indo-China he was ordained at this time.

Elder and Mrs. Wentland, with their two children, will sail for Indo-China next month.

Elder V. G. Anderson, president of the Southern Union, in the ordination service stated that the two greatest honors that can be bestowed upon an Adventist worker are to be ordained to the gospel ministry and to be chosen among the thousands of believers to represent our work in the mission field.

Ushers Show Film In Benefit Night

"Captain Eddie" was the film presented by the Ushers' Club Saturday night, November 3.

The film presented the experience of Captain E. R. Riker and his crew who were adrift for days in rubber rafts on the Pacific. Interviewed by the press, the appointment of an official U.S. Navy diplomatic representative to the denomination headquarters of the Roman Catholic church at Vatican City, Rome, Italy.

Improvements Made In Girls' Home

The trunk room, in the basement of the girls dormitory, is being entirely renovated. There are racks against the walls for all the linens and boxes. The extra room to be put in place is being prepared for a laundry room. The new benches washing machine and laundry tubs are soon to be put in place. Some more ironing boards and inside clothes-line will be added.

The trunk room located in the third floor bathroom has been moved to the central porch room on the third floor. The extra space that is left is for the new showers which will be installed.

A lounge-parlor has been put in the infirmary for the benefit of the girls who may be ill. They will not miss the blessing of the Sabbath rest in the infirmary chapel, and various other programs.

ATS Presents Court Scene

"The Prisoner of the Bar," a representation of a 1930 New England trial, was presented by the Collegedale Temperance Society at the MV hour.

The trial dealt with a husband's murder of his wife resulting from a quarrel. It displayed the evils of alcohol in ruining the happiness and security of American families.

My dearship played the part of the prisoner and his daughter was one of the witnesses. Dewey Kirk was the state attorney.

The sheriff was played by James Foster, the judge, by Danny Lewis. Dick Wright was the clerk. Ruth Carter and Newton Meeks were witnesses.

Dick Noorthrop was foreman of the jury. The other jury members were Richard Stone, Euthett Coffey, Madge Karsick, Fred Sorenson, Dr. R. L. Hamill, Bob Hucey, Mrs. Bob Hucey, Earl Salby, Eugene Wood, Roy Battle, and Klara Jester.

The program was well attended. The balcony was filled and many persons were standing. State Tel-Grams, publicity secretary of the MV.

This group is arranging an itinerary around the local schools where they will present the same court scene. The group is under the direction of J. J. Millet.

SMC Students Voice Against Clark Appointment

In the IRC chapel program, October 31, the students and faculty members unanimously voted in favor of a resolution which struck against the nomination of an ambassador to the Vatican.

Sherman Peterson, addressing the audience, declared that such a nomination would not strengthen, but weaken, the anti-communist program of western nations.

Another recommendation was that the Vatican be declared as an ineffective defense against communism, he pointed out. In the normally Catholic camp of Europe, communism has a substantial following whereas in the Protestant nations communism has little following. He stated that such a situation is not due to Soviet Russia, is a possible exception to this.

It is, in fact, reports Peterson, produced through the Vatican would be placed

Dear Fellow Students . . .

"While many of you were enjoying yourselves at the annual school picnic, your delegates to the Intercollegiate Workshop held at Union College were riding down the road in the Southern Memorial business manager's car. We drove approximately 1,000 miles.

The workshop began Saturday evening with introduction speeches and the adoption of the agenda. Sunday morning discussion and the exchanging of ideas were the two main objects of the meeting. Standardization of policy was not the aim of the talks, although a number of recommendations and resolutions were approved.

Democracy, the goal we all strive for, has many different connotations. Many ideas were expressed with which we could not all agree. It is only by knowing what the other person believes that two can come to any agreement. After discussion and comparison by all, a number of resolutions were made. Among these were that all major offices be held for one year; that the choice of sponsors for different organizations be left to the nomination of the particular groups involved; and then the college administration should confirm them according to the recommendations.

Another recommendation was that an exchange of annuals be made by the various annual officers each year.

Peterson continued, because of censorship. This was evident, he declared, when the pope complained of incomplete reports on the German concentration camp atrocities. "Thus, as Catholics are so totalitarian as communism itself, democracy has nothing in common with it. History shows an unfavorable reaction to such alliances of church and state."

The Vatican has no population and no army to warrant diplomats relations. Gerald H. Haug declared "Roman Catholicism is an ecclesiastical organization. Thus, the appointment is unconstitutional."

The assembly voted the following resolution to send to senators McKellar and Kefauver:

"Resolved, that the proposed appointment of an ambassador to the papal court of an exchange among the association secretaries is to be effected, telling of the good films shown on the campus of each college. This will give each school an idea of what the others are showing and many good films to be used by all the colleges will be discovered.

The relation of the MV Society to the student association was clarified. Each is to operate in its own sphere of activities—the MV with church missionary projects, and the general religious activities with the student association.

Each section was well attended. Nine of the thirteen North American SDA colleges were able to meet together. Plans were made to have another next year with Union College as host. The meeting will be held in October. It is hoped that our sister colleges on the west coast will be able to attend this convention, for we understand they have much to offer.

In short, your delegation feels that our trip to Union was well worth the time and money involved. We have learned that success in any organization depends on cooperation. This is our goal—cooperation between students and faculty.

Sincerely,
Cliff Jordan
President, Student Association

Appointment

would mean a violation of the constitutional principle of complete separation of church and state.

"Hence the Vatican has proved a 'herring' post of only doubtful value, and . . ."

"It seems the Roman Catholic church in Europe has demonstrated its inability to combat communism effectively."

"If four hundred students and professors at Southern Missisippi College, at ending a meeting of the International Relations Club, resolve to make known to our senators that we trust they will oppose vigorously any attempt to confirm the appointment of an official U.S. Navy diplomatic representative to the denomination headquarters of the Roman Catholic church at Vatican City, Rome, Italy.

A DROP OF INK . . .

As we entered into November we entered into a month that traditionally is cold, dreary, and bleak—in weather, surroundings, and spirit.

October brings us with its bright leaves of red, orange, and yellow the beauty of old age, the beauty of death. But we see in November the leaves dying, turning into drab colors of brown and grey, falling off, being trodden under foot and beaten by cold wind and rain.

A fringe of melancholy settles down upon the world of College-land. Those friendly smiles turn to frowns as the routine of school life inherits a bit of monotony and the fears and doubts of mid-semester examinations loom up now and then in the minds of those of foresight.

As the cold wind whistles through the skeletons of once lavishly-clothed trees, it gives a message of discouragement and foreboding.

We wonder: "Where are we going, anyway? Have we done the right thing in coming to Southern Missionary College? Are we going to get through the year financially, intellectually, and spiritually?"

Three hundred and thirty-one years ago on a cold, dreary November day, a small band of common people seeking religious freedom landed on the bleak coast of Cape Cod. As they looked out over the barren shore thicketed, troubled thoughts, no doubt, came to their minds that they dated not after.

"Where are we going? Have we done the right thing in leaving the mother country just to worship the way we want? Maybe our beliefs are peculiar and fanatical after all. Are we going to be able to provide for our families? Are we going to get through this year physically and spiritually?"

But a spark of hope lit up the scene. With perseverance and determination they did get through the year, thank God, in appreciation of God's care, they initiated the first Thanksgiving, yes, in November.

Let us cheer up. With the courage and faith of the pilgrims we can get through Thanksgiving vacation will soon be here. Let us smile and by so doing rise above the discouragements of our troubles of worry that have never come and put our fellow man in line direction. L. S.

On the Faculty Side

ELAINE HUDON

President and Mrs. Wright and Elder Becker have just returned from the Fall Council.

Ladies of the faculty were very graciously entertained at the home of Mrs. R. G. Bowen last November 1. Mrs. George Parramore and Mrs. Paul Hour were co-hostesses.

Mr. and Mrs. P. T. Moachon were recent guests on the campus. Mr. Moachon was the former engineer for the college and is now engineer at the Florida Sanitarium and Hospital.

Mr. Wayne Tharbert, the Adickson Quartette, and Elder Winkler went to Highland Academy last week end and to children's rally there.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Woodall and two youth leaders visited the faculty and other friends here on the campus recently.

Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Pender and daughter have returned from their vacation. They went to California by the southern route, going over the Mexican border to Juarez. Traveling up the coast to San Francisco, they visited our schools, sanitariums, hospitals, the Voice of Preaching headquarters and the Pacific Press. Their way home they visited Mrs. Fendley's parents in Kansas.

Recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. Roger Westland were Elder and Mrs. R. H. Westland, Sr. and Mrs. and Mrs. R. H. Westland, Jr. and family. Mr. R. H. Westland, Jr. was ordained for the ministry in the Collegedale church at Nashville.

Miss Ruby Lee, former registrar of the college, visited Mrs. Mary Dietl, Saboths, October 27.

Mr. and Mrs. Higgins had at a recent visit his brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Higgins of Nashville, Tennessee.

Dr. Ambrose L. Sahrle, Resident Educational Consultant, recently gave a lecture—essentially as a layman number 28. Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Collier, Mr. Berry, Georgia. His theme was "Elwin Markham, Poet and Philosopher."

Mr. Sahrle has just returned from his former home in San Francisco Valley, California, where she attended the funeral of her mother, who died at the age of 102.

Leif K. Tobiasson, instructor in religion and social science, will conduct a new survey services at Highland Academy November 9 through 11.

A. L. Tucker, secretary-treasurer of the Southern Conference of Seventh-day Adventists, recently visited the SMC campus. His visit followed a meeting of the Inter-American Division. He also visited his parents who are located at Madison College.

A load, pressing stream echoed Jones Hall one night recently. It seems that Hilda Burt was so excited at having received a postcard from some candy company. She had written to a well-known candy company, asking them for some special information. They sent her a large box of candy bars and products with their compliments, as well as the data for which she asked.

Bachelor in Dorm
Did you know we have a bachelor living in our dormitory? Nearly everyone knows about it, now, although some may not know that her name is Janet Bitchelor. You should get her to tell you about having to go to jail twice a whole afternoon last week. She had to identify a man she recognized while working in the college store.

Robbie McKissick, the head monitor, was getting some supplies out of the second floor supply closet and she unwisely left the keys in the door. The door slammed with a bang and someone in the lock and ran away, leaving Robbie to her doom. Jeanette McWhorter, all the commotion, finally found where it was coming from, and freed Robbie, who has declined reward on the matter.

Did you have anything to do with the distributing of all the confetti now adorning Maude Jones Hall and the surrounding campus? Halloween night was the time for tricks against Robert Blankenship, whose bed was short-stuffed, saddle-downed, and wide-matted up. Jessie Hamman, Laura Powell, and Myra Lee had their share of tricks, too. Billie Jean Marble wanted someone to "help" her one night. It is that the reason that Alice Rappell and Sharon Stinson wanted to run up and lock their room so fast?

Crime Doesn't Pay
Delores Speece has proved to herself, anyway, that Crime Doesn't Pay. Delores was eating some grapes and threw one in the middle of the floor, even after Jean Seage told her seasons after seasons that she shouldn't pick it up. Suddenly, the washing-bell rang and Delores took a tumble, and we saw the grapes were forgotten. A moment later, she took a tumble, and we saw Delores sitting in the middle of the floor, saying, "... and my grape goes, too!"

We have been wondering if Maude Ockeberry and Phyllis Price below the Sign Painter's Union (You should see the resulting improvement in the Press because of their labor!) were to forget to turn in your Southern Missioner snapshots before it's too late. Get some pictures while the leaves are still on the trees—you won't have much time!

Hour Leads in Evening of Games

Saturday night, October 27, the social activities were planned by members of both the faculty and student social activities committees.

The tabernacle floor was cleared of chairs. To begin the entertainment of the evening, Mr. Hour led a group in the lock and ran away, leaving Robbie to her doom. Jeanette McWhorter, all the commotion, finally found where it was coming from, and freed Robbie, who has declined reward on the matter.

While the volley-ball net was being adjusted, Billy Burke played respect numbers on his vibra-tone. Three ping-pong games were in progress. The girls played an eleven-point volley-ball game while the men practiced for the next basketball competition.

On the sidelines there were children's games, horse-races, acrobatics, and dodge ball.

Students Speaks In Seminar

Maurice Abbott, senior theology student, spoke on "Now is the Time" at the ministerial seminar meeting Friday evening, October 27.

After questioning the urgency of the situation in which we live, he left the emphasis, "Are you ready for the closing hour?"

"Will we be accused of not telling others about Christ's love?" was the question asked in Arthur Price's seminar talk, Friday evening, November 2. "Sated Price," many will say to us when it is too late, had we only known, it would have done some different. If we had been told, we could have changed our ways."

Committee Plans Safety Measures

Mr. George T. Gott, chairman of the traffic safety committee, reports several steps to make SMC more safety conscious.

His committee has recently issued a "safety drivers' permit" for all regular drivers. This new permit is a good substitute for a state license and is valid unless it supplements a state license.

The committee has placed four new stop signs in traffic congested areas. One stops the traffic from the elementary school drive and the other three direct traffic at the north point of College Drive.

The committee plans to incorporate new parking regulations and enlarged parking facilities at the college store. New parking lines leading from the garage to the store and one for the elementary school are also in the committee's plans.

Mr. Gott reported that one of the major weaknesses of Collegedale drivers is failure to signal. Provision of hand signaling is one of the committee's projects.

Doxy-eight tickets were issued in October," the chairman stated. "The offenses were not serious, but we plan to do something about it."

Alumni Active in Mission Work

A recent letter from Elder J. A. Johnson, publishing secretary of the Southern Asia Division (an SMC college graduate from 1917 to Mr. Leif K. Tobiasson, since success greetings to all Collegedale and other Southern Adventist graduates from 1917 to Mr. Fuller (1950 business administration graduate) and his wife have now arrived in India and have assumed upon their missionary duties. Three other SMC graduates are missionaries in Southern Asia at the present time. They are Mrs. Marcella K. Ashlock (member of the first SMC senior class in 1946 and later director of the college health services), Mrs. A. Verneison (who received an elementary teacher diploma in 1950), and Thomas Fuller (a religious graduate of 1950).

The general secretary of the Southern Asia Division, J. Franklin Ashlock, writes two letters here as a member of the SMC Faculty. SMC's Finance manager, Mr. John Pierson, is a brother to Robert H. Pierson, Southern Asia Division. His new permit is a good substitute for a state license and is

JAMES JOINER

We are sorry that Dean Winters has been ill for several days. The Triangle Club presented him a bouquet of flowers, and we surely will be glad when Dean is well and with us again. Secretary Boyd Johnson will be in community, 8-0, in their annual football game at the school playground. The Triangle Club will be down on an intercollegiate pass, blocked kick rolled out of the zone for a safety.

The Triangle Club and women's forum gave a program of marches in movies in the tabernacle. Halloween night, the making of Halloween, and Hughes received a pumpkin pie from Mrs. Kuhlman.

We'll miss J. D. Bledsoe, who has to leave us for the rest of the summer for health reasons. Bob East missed one of the dorm too, but he must have liked our company for he moved in four days later.

The senior pre-med students will busy their schedules. They received Dr. Shryock of Loma Linda on Friday and on Monday they went to the University of the South in Seawater, Mississippi. The students of the Medical School Administration Club Jordan, Floyd Greenleaf, and I gave first aid fine Southern Hospital has applied to the State Board. They really treated us at the recticologal workshop. Louis Starn and his mother took last year as a student at Union, showed us around the campus. Dewey Urlick's new Buick Chevrolet convertible, in which we go to Lincoln, really represented the South.

"I'm finishing this article about to buy late sections. It's a good idea. I'm who never sleeps. Bill Treats."

ETS to Give Teacher Exams

The National Teacher Examination Board and ministers are sponsoring by Educational Testing Service, will give a 200 testing centers throughout the United States, February 16, 1957. At the one-day testing centers, candidate may take the common examinations, which include tests in professional knowledge, reading, English expression, and moral reasoning; and one or two special optional examinations designed to demonstrate mastery of subject matter to be taught. The college which candidate is attending, or the institution in which he is seeking employment, will advise him whether he should take the national teacher examinations, and which of the optional examinations to select.

Application forms and a bulletin of information describing the multiple-choice questions may be obtained from field officials, school superintendents, or from the nearest State or State Examinations, Educational Testing Service, P. O. Box 592, Princeton, New Jersey. Complete application forms, accompanied by appropriate fees, will be accepted by the office during November. Dates for the January 1957 tests as they are received before January 18, 1957.

Strickland Tells Faith Experiences

W. E. Strickland, president of Kentucky-Tennessee conference of the Tennessee Synod at the present evangelist service, November 9, 1956.

Elder Strickland, having spent some time as a missionary in China, from his experiences lessons of faith and answered prayer, both of which he emphasizes as being essential to the Christian.

Collegiate Baker Relates Experiences In Europe Where He Learned the Trade

TED GRAVES

In the warm, pleasant bakery room of the College cafeteria, Rudolph Stuber still works at the same trade which he learned years ago in Europe.

He was born in Goswiller, Switzerland, and lived there for about twelve years. His family moved to the Adventist town in 1914 and he lived there at that hope ever since.

After leaving Goswiller, Rudolph spent a little time in Germany in the vicinity of Munich. Back in those early days of his life his father owned two houses and a grocery store. With the coming of the World War I, however, and with the positive preaching of Christ's triumphant return, his father sold one house and later the other. The father was unable to find work because of his Sabbath belief, so from necessity, he was deported for many years.

In Switzerland there was not the freedom of religion that he had in Germany. For many weeks, every Sabbath morning at eight o'clock the police would do everything they could to prevent the free Sabbaths by bringing a teacher to school. Finally, after moving to another community, they succeeded in securing free Sabbaths by hiring a teacher for Monday night which kept them up with the rest of the class.

Rudolph is Drafted

A nineteen years of age Rudolph was drafted into the Swiss Army School for Recruits for thirteen months. From that time forward until his thirtieth birthday he was required to spend two weeks out of every year in the army.

Previous to his marriage he spent some time in Paris in 1929 and speaks French as well as his native tongue, Swiss-German.

He has lost all of his relatives in the first and second World Wars except one brother. Before coming to the United States the last time he saw this brother for twenty-five years. He is Alfred Vogel of Altmont, Tennessee.

Mr. Stuber learned to bake at the Seventh-day Adventist food factory in Glend, Switzerland, about thirty miles from Geneva.

It was there that he met the woman whom he married in 1931. She was raised in training at the nursing school and sanitarium in Glend.

The real reason for the Stuber's coming here was not the glorious opportunities of the New World, for Mr. Stuber sold his own textile business in the United States and then moved to the United States to be with the woman whom he met in Altmont.

They came to Alton, Illinois. After landing in New York, and then last summer went to Minnesota to visit with their friends, the Stuber's twenty cousin who lives there.

As our baker friend took sweet-scented loaves of bread from the oven and lined them up in rows on the bread rack, he told of some experiences he had during his two years in the states. He likes our country very much and especially he enjoys the freedom he finds here.

He talks on correspondence with his father, four sisters, and one brother who are still in Switzerland.

Krogstad Organizes Oratorio Chorus

J. D. BLEDSOE

The Oratorio Chorus of SMC has gotten well under way for the rendition of George Frederick Handel's Oratorio, "The Messiah," according to N. L. Krogstad, director of the chorus.

The program will be given in the tabernacle auditorium on December 15. Mrs. Eleanor Krogstad will accompany the group at the piano, and Miss Madie Wood at the organ. Both are teachers here at the college.

"The Messiah" is traditionally given at Christmas time in harmony with the season. It portrays, by setting to music many of the favorite Bible texts concerning Christ's life. His birth and triumph on earth.

For the solos included in the Oratorio, the emphasis will be placed mainly on local talent. Several of the members of the group will join the Chattanooga Civic Chorus and the Chattanooga Symphony Orchestra which will present the same Oratorio at that city on December 23.

Mr. Krogstad states that he plans to have a minimum of seventy-five in the group, which will be made up of not only students but also of members and residents of the community. Several choruses which have not been used in past years will also be performed this time.

Harlan Outlines Committee Action

A close fellowship between student teachers and campus workers is the spiritual burden of the college church, asserted the plans of the religious interest committee at their meeting Sunday, October 28.

Student and faculty committees will meet together on all religious interests, according to John Harlan, chairman of the students' religious interest committee. A program for each Wednesday period during the school year has been provided.

Prayer bands, preceded by a "prayer chain" of leaders and ways to cooperate, will meet twice a month.

Also on schedule is a series of talks to be presented by the different divisions of the college, all on the theme "Christ the Center." This is already under way with the topic "Christ and Science" given by G. J. Nelson, chairman of the division of natural sciences on Wednesday, October 17.

"The Hand of God in History" is the topic to be given by the division of social sciences.

The subjects being discussed by the committee at present are the possibility of having a monthly meeting of prayer chain leaders and ways to organize the weeks of spiritual emphasis more effectively.

Questions are urged to get in touch with a member of the student religious interest committee, stated John Harlan, chairman of the committee. Other members are Janet Batchelor, James Nick, Elaine Hugdon, Wesley Spay, Robert East, and Ted Graves.

Outlook

Collegiate made an affectionate adieu to the two rows of red and yellow canvas ladders bordering the College Drive sidewalk.

The campus, indeed, seems less beautiful, and no longer do the hummingbirds frequent the canvas blossoms. The disaster occurred last Friday night.

Whistling down from a cold north, with the two rows of red and yellow canvas, bringing rain, wind, and snow. The canvas bills shuddered from the wind, and sought to shelter their delicate petals. Carrying their broad green leaves in anguish they gently dropped in the throes of a silent death.

Tobiasen Urges Temperance Work

It is now two minutes to twelve, was the theme in Mr. Leif K. Tobiasen's sermon before the Collegiate church, October 27. Referring to current statistics of prohibition violations, the speaker gave a survey of national and local present-day conditions, discussing the situation of his audience to the alarming moral condition caused largely by increased consumption of alcoholic beverages.

"Almost two out of every three families in the United States today serve beer. Seventy per cent of all American men indulge in liquor. Forty per cent of all women are drinkers. The number of drinkers is increasing," stated Tobiasen.

The speaker reminded the church members of the situation in the local county where the majority of citizens attend some Christian church. Yet two years ago the "wet" forces succeeded in influencing 15,883 voters to cast their ballots in favor of either while only 14,281 voted against the issue.

The speaker pointed out that if all 60,000 Seventh-day Adventists in the county and all the other Christians would get their duty two years ago, the country would be dry.

"It is two minutes to twelve. What the members of the Collegiate Society will do to prevent this war to win for the world and the community must be done now. We must let our light shine. The stage is set for the final movement. Decisive action is urgently needed now," emphasized the speaker.

Australian Student Finds College Life Relaxed and Pleasant in America

Like his brether, Americans are getting smaller. Ronald Jensen, after his fourth week at SMC, has written his first letter home. A seventeen-year-old freshman, from Australasia, Missionary College, is at the relaxed, informal atmosphere of Americans. "I hope I learn the secret someday," he added.

An Australian center, in the Taylor Hall residence, was born in Ceylon and came to America for secondary schooling. He returned to Australia to complete his secondary work.

"College is same," "College is practically the same," is asserted in comparing American with Australian methods of education. However, he thinks that "book learning" is emphasized stronger in Australian than in American schools, whereas here more attention is directed to the practical side.

Australasia Missionary College, where Jensen began his college career, has an enrollment of about 425 and has recently become a senior college. The institution is fully equipped with a farm and dairy with sixty head of cattle, large acreage, orchard of apples, oranges, peaches, and pears. A food factory as large as SMC's Maule House, Hill library, and administrative building, manufacturing health foods. Connected with the factory is a line-type printing press.

Four Curriculums Offered

Four curriculums are offered in the new senior college, Jensen relates. They are: bachelor of science, which continues to the four-year courses here. They are bachelor of science, bachelor of arts, bachelor of ministry, and diploma in theology. The testing, except for the denominational degree, comes from Sydney University. The same institution confers the Avonville Academy.

Stiffer Social Roles

Social regulations at SMC are more stringent at AMC than at SMC.

IF YOU'RE MARRIED

BOB HUBY

Halloween is past for another year and I didn't see one spark, black cat, or any other of the traditional things that go with the holiday. Roy and Hannah Kettle did have a party though. The Wayne Thurbers, Liss, Crook brothers, and wives, and several others were there. Don't ever speak his dog along.

Relics' Plays Spook

The only real excitement I heard of going on Halloween night was Relics' attempt to scare Relics Walden. Ruten and Delpha Lopez went up to Relics' trailer and knocked on the window. After several times of this, Relics caught on, so out he went to investigate. After looking around several times, he spied two feet. Finally he came peering into the glow eyes of one other who was Mr. Spook Lopez.

Lewis is Confident

Now that it's November, the sub campaign will be winding up soon. Wonder if the married students will get all the prizes? Dan Lewis knows and he's the six-car man. He'll give each of his group picnic him a dime's worth of ice cream if they will give him five sub-cakes. The first two record albums were given to Dick Harris and Charles Hughes for writing the most letters during any one week. Dick wrote over 300 letters the first week and Charles wrote over 80 the second week. Good work!

One outstanding feature of Australasia is the military training system. Everyone is lawfully required to serve a "pre-army" term. This is the army basic training. No deferments except grandfather are permitted to interrupt this procedure which lasts about four months.

Takes Training Jensen took his training between school terms during the summer vacation which is a popular custom among students. All classifications are tested following the "pre-army" service.

Jensen is a pre-medical student. He will be continuing studying at CMU after he completes his entrance requirements. To serve God in the field of medicine is his foremost desire.

On Other Stages

The Campus Chronicle staged a campaign with a 3,000-sub goal to be ended November 9.—Campus Chronicle, Atlanta Union College.

The Collegian opened its campaign with an hour letter-writing contest which 8000 letters were written.—The Collegian, Walla Walla College.

EMC students took in $5000 for fundraising.—Student Memorial Emmanuel Missionary College.

Twenty-eight students requested tuition after devotional week.—Clock Tower, Union College.

Elder George C. Vandeman held elder of prayer at Walla Walla College, October 28 through November 5.—The Collegian, Walla Walla College.

Miss Mabel R. Barlett, instructor in art at Atlantic Union College, recently received her masters degree from Boston after devotional week.—The Lutheran, Atlantic Union College.

Plans for the November 10 field day have reached completion. The goal set for the Collegiate church is to have 500 students respond and 100 cars to transport them.

Lady Lottie Mower (son of Joe Mower) has been out of the hospital for some time now.

Say, have any of you been contacted by Harry Mason here at the new Virginia area running competition with Southern Mercantile. The other day he was one of 14 like a pond, bear, and I could have had my choice of a red or blue ribbon around its neck. Now what would I do with it, you'd say?

I think some of you folks need a little commendation on your missionary zeal. I'm especially thinking of Ernie and Dora Moore. When they couldn't make it last Sabbath on the banks, they bailed their car so others could go.

Roy Builds Cruiser

Here it is only fall, and Dean Roy is thinking about spring anyway. You see, he is building a 13-foot cruiser. He has it well started, too. It will have a cabin, bunk, and all the trimmings. All-steel hull.

The men's gym class had a visitor the other evening. Fred Sabin, Denver drummer. She should be able to make up my mind whether he had it needed the exercise or just came to show us his old skin.

Cross, "Al" P's Sherman Cross and the "ark" are still pals, although he thinks it's a little late for the ark. Dick's been to his broom sales. Seems to be doing pretty well at it, too.

Only one of the new babies got the only one I've seen is the Dave Dyer. Won't be long before you're telling him how to play soft ball, Dave.

See Beatty is in Michigan where her parents are celebrating their fifty-first anniversary. She should be back in Collegedale soon. Other folks are traveling, too. Joe Poole moved all the way to the States. Dick's still thinking up before '52? Good! Good!

Wittsiebe Warns Against Satan

C. E. Wittsiebe, head of the Collegiate religious department, spoke on "The character of Satan as the vesper service, October 26.

The speaker used quotations from the writings of Ellen G. White depicting the character of Satan in his present state.

Three Win Prizes In Safety Contest

In the November 2 chapel, the Collegiate safety committee awarded prizes in a safety contest held the previous month.

G. T. Gott, representing the campus, won first prize, a full tank of premium gasoline; Wayne Thirber, second prize, an oil can; and Helen Wittsiebe, third prize, a complete grease job. All prizes were awarded Tuesday, November 5.

Bill Brown and Mrs. Nellie Ritzenhouse were recognized on the honorable roll of the Sabbath church.

"Our next prayer," stated Mr. Gott, "is a pedestrian safety program."

Anderson Speaks In Church Service

Elder W. G. Anderson, president of the Southern Union, preached on faith gave a brief report on the progress of the recent fall council and a report on the progress of the Southern Union.

ENDS WEEKS DAY

Adelphian Quartet to Give Lyceum; To Present Travelogue of Song

Olson Mills Studio

The tabernacle-auditorium stage will appear as the deck of a ship which will carry the residents of Colledgeville around the world Saturday night, November 17, under the auspices of the Adelphian quartet of SMC.

Launching out with the theme of "Sailing! Sailing! Over the Bounding Main," the audience will be transported to England where they will hear "The Song of Jolly Roger." Next

Life's Decision

It was in the jungle of New Guinea when a native carried him several miles to safety that Virgil Beauchamp learned what real Christianity is. Virgil, along with twenty-six other scouts, had been searching for escaped Japanese aviators when they were attacked by a regiment of the Japanese Army. It was during this battle that Virgil was wounded.

Virgil had grown up to manhood aware of religion. His mother and father were God-fearing and tried to teach their children that love was. He wanted nothing of this idea so he left home at seventeen.

First Contact

He found his way to New Mexico where he secured employment with a nominal Adventist. After a time he married. Little favorable impression was made on Virgil's mind except that this man seemed to know his Bible very well.

Antonia was soon to become Virgil's temporary home as the Army needed his services. From Australia he was sent to New Guinea and it was here that Virgil became a member of a scouting party. Two members of this party, natives of New Guinea, belonged to the Australian Army.

As they entered a seemingly deserted village, Virgil found an old man sitting in front of one of the houses. It looked strangely familiar. He remembered that his old employer in New Mexico had had papers like this. To his surprise one of the native scouts explained that this was Adventist literature and that there were Adventists living in this village. He was further declared that he was an Adventist.

Is Wounded

Soon the Japanese attacked. Wounded and bleeding, Virgil rested in the care of the Adventist native who carried him to safety.

During the three months Virgil spent in the hospital there was much time to think. If he ever walked again and got back to his family he would be a Christian.

Virgil was discharged but things never went as he had planned them. It was hard to live a Christian life. After some time he and his wife resolved to start over again and really try to live the way he had planned.

It was decided that they would go to New Mexico and find the man who had once employed Virgil. Perhaps he could tell them more of the religion that had helped the native in far off New Guinea to be a Christian. After securing a home and job, Virgil settled down to learn of this new religion.

As the days went by he began to lose interest in religion. At first he attended church and went to the Bible studies. Then he became tired. Then he became tired. Then he became tired. Then he became tired. Then he became tired.

Crisis Comes

One evening their Adventist friend whom they had come so far to see walked to their home. His car had broken down. He asked Virgil if he could possibly drive him to his Bible study that evening. God was directing, for that evening Virgil had not planned to go. The coming crisis was presented and God's Spirit was there. Virgil made his final test and accepted God's word.

He and his wife were soon baptized. Virgil was directed to South America to study and to be graduated and came to our school here in the Southland.

Virgil is now a member of the senior class. His goal is to be of service to the One who sent him to find him. With John the Revelator he can say, "Great and marvelous are thy works, Lord God Almighty."

Business Students Will Tour Chicago During Holidays

Between twelve and fifteen upper division business majors will make an itinerary study of Chicago's prominent business concerns during the Thanksgiving vacation, reports George T. Gott, sponsor of the trip.

They will visit the Chicago Board of Trade and the Federal Reserve Bank of the Chicago District. A two-hour tour will take them through the Sears and Roebuck Mail Order House, where they will follow an actual order from its receipt through its mailing.

The group also plans to visit the Chicago Tribune newspaper press and the Hawthorne Plant of the Western Electric Corporation.

The group will be hosted at Broadview Hotel during the winter trip and will be back for school in the vacation.

Fuller Shows Slides In Academy Chapel

JOHN McKEE
On October 18, Colledgeville Academy had a very interesting chapel program. Mr. Fuller, the postmaster, showed some colored slides of Southern Missionary College before it was even Southern Junior College.

All could see the progress the school has made and it was interesting to note the contrast between the one building the old-timers had then, and the numerous buildings now existing. The first building was the yellow house, which is now the college land-mine.

A parking lot wasn't necessary because only one man, the business manager, was the proud owner of an automobile.

CA Forum Features Film on Program

Monday, October 22, 1964, the academy forum presented a picture that depicted the ideals of true Christianity. The picture, entitled "Beyond Our Lives," contrasted two lives, one of selfishness and another of self-sacrifice.

A brilliant young lawyer, wealthy in all this world has to offer, was brought face to face with the deficiency of his inner strength in his own life. He learned the secret of true happiness from his brother, a doctor who was poor in class, but rich in love. He found the secret in service to others.

The theme was received with intense interest by the students and all enjoyed the final scene of the selfish man at last came to realize the true purpose of life. Love for God and man is the foundation of all Christian living.

400 Participate In Annual Picnic

Four hundred persons attended the annual school picnic at Harrison Bay State Park, Thursday, October 29. The preachers included college, secondary, elementary, high school, faculty and staff, and other community members.

The picnic opened at 8:00 a. m. as the picnickers gathered in front of Lynn Wood Hall to list the cars. The committee on social education organized the transportation.

Football, softball, volleyball, horse-shoes, and boating highlighted the sports activities. The students, young and old, swung on the eight park swings, slid on the two slides, and re-cessed on the eight tees.

Larry Hopkins, who, with the help of his committee on health, planned the overall picnic activities, said that the college enjoyed these elementary facilities as much as the children.

Dinner was served at 12:00, supper at 6:00 P. M. The menu was prepared by Mrs. Williams, the cafeteria manager. The committee on religious activities, headed by John Hansen, arranged the food transportation.

After the picnic the participants returned to the campus.

A film was shown at 8:00 p. m. in the Colledgeville auditorium. The committee on recreation, Paty Thomas, chairman, organized the evening entertainment.

After this year, it has been the tradition to have the picnic in the spring. Because of the numerous club and class picnics in the spring, the time was changed to the fall by action of a referendum of the student association.

OPINION POLL

Two per cent from the grade average is deducted if the student rests three days for the purpose of attending class.

Question: Do you think this system is the best one?

I believe that the two per cent plan would work on unexcused absences, but in my opinion there should be allowances made for reasonable excuses.—Mary Estes

In my estimation this system could be improved because there are other excuses besides sickness, such as death in the family.—Alice Edgmon

I don't think the two per cent plan is as fair as it could be. A student earns and gets his grade no matter how many days he attends. I like the idea of a small amount to be paid if you are absent over three times without a good excuse.—Wynne Sudduth

I think that the deduction of two per cent for one absence or three tardiness is rather unfair as they may have short absences. I think they should have excused absences.—Clymora Anderson

I don't think it is good to cut two per cent off your grade if you are absent one day.—Lee Mae Wood

I believe that there should be excused and unexcused absences, it is not fair to cut two per cent off the grade of a student who is absent for a good reason. We never always like to get what we want, but we worked for, and this is taking away something we have earned. How do there should be some way to control unexcused absences.—Bill Hawthorne

I think that a student ought to be excused even if he is sick just one day. Also he should be excused if he has any other good excuse. A person just slips class. I think he should then have two per cent deducted from his grade.—Lester Smith

People usually don't get sick for the purpose of getting out of class. I also think it is possible to be sick one day just as much as three or four days. Therefore I am not in favor of this plan of cutting the average grade two per cent.—Janet Smith

If your excuse is good and can be verified the two per cent should not come off.—Barbara Williams

I think that if you are sick two per cent should not be deducted from your grade.—Charles Cooper

A Letter to Home

Dear Mother,

Here is another letter about dear old SMC. I want to tell you about our academy Sabbath school this time. Everything seems to be going well. Especially after attending public school and not having a Sabbath school or church, everything here seems like a little taste of heaven.

I'm so very thankful that you Christy Dad into letting me come to this school instead of making me attend public high school another year. I tremble when I think of some of the things you were happening in our high school and what a dangerous ground I was on.

I just can't keep from writing all about such things. Mother, as I know how interested you are. Here is a description of our Sabbath school for Sabbath, October 29, 1964.

First on our program was our theme song, "The Beauty of Jesus Be Seen in Me." Mother, that is my daily prayer—that others may see Jesus in my everyday life. Tom Mahn offered our opening prayer and Made Dobry told the scripture's report. Our Sabbath school is so interesting and means so much to us because it is conducted by young people in our academy. We feel that it really belongs to us.

Howard Kennedy, our superintendent, gave an inspiring talk in our meeting which reminds me of something I'd like very much to do. I have been thinking of my pet at home. You know how happy she is when she is allowed to have a brood of her own. I would like to write to see if you and me and let me have the chicks investment? I wish I were your mother but I will be praying for you and I'm sure God will bless you.

To get back to our program—longer to one of the things we had the college division, brought special music.

Our mission story was read. Mr. Riffl, who has lived in Agnes showed some beautiful pictures of take his own life. He said that country, but the best part was a story of a poor, old blind man, one of the church members, found money to take his own life. He said the poor man of Jesus, and soon man is a preacher winning many souls.

This is all I have time to write today. Please let me know what you think about investment plans. Oh I forgot to tell you we had 45 members present last Sabbath, 149 and our offering was $87.71. We could improve on our offering. Many of the students are working way through school and do not mind to work hard for themselves for a place in God's and that is the most important thing.

I'll be waiting to hear from you will write you again later in the month.

Lovingly,
Bea

GRAD FROM THE PRINCIPAL'S DESK

Good grades in high school are important. Figures show that students with high grades on their report cards only one makes a D or lower, while average grades succeed three times to one failure. Students with low grades fail in their life's work in the ratio of four failures to one success. Of course, character plays a large part in the successful life. Character building successes in life for those low in grades and poor in character are rather slight.

During the first two years of high school there were nineteen whose grades placed them on the scholastic honor roll. The following persons received no grade below "C":

James Alexander
Donald Latta
Paul Adams
George Fuller
DeLo Yount

There were twice that number who were "B" average, with none below "C":

Ramiro Alonso
Ray Evans
Clymora Anderson
Lynne Joyce
Joanne Antherman
Janette McCall
Hazel Beckner
Elise Strick
Julie Brown
Carol Seab
Grewer Cobb

These students bring honor to our school. We hope there will be more on this honor list the next year.

M. V. Society Distributes Literature; Wraps 2500 "Gospel Bombs"

Over 2,100 pieces of literature were given out last week by the Collegedale M.V. Society, Wally Welch reports. The literature invasion of Chattanooga began on Sabbath afternoon, November 10, at 2 o'clock. The group met in the chapel and were led in a song service by Maurice Abbott while the final preparations were made, then the cars started for the section to be worked.

Of approximately 600 contacts made, over 200 signed up for the 20th Century Bible club. On Sabbath, November 17, the second invasion was carried out. The group covered some of the same territory and others spread out to the surrounding area. Twenty-three cars were used to transport the group. There were approximately 1,000 pieces of literature distributed with over 200 signing the Bible club cards.

From 4:45 P.M. on Sunday, over 2,500 "Gospel Bombs" were made by the students, faculty members and community folk. The M.V. society sponsors this "Gospel Bomb" work just before Thanksgiving and Christmas vacations. The bombs are pieces of literature rolled in brightly colored cellophane and tied with ribbon. The students take dozens of them with them as they go on their vacations and toss them to people they see on their way home.

New Band

In an M.V. chapel hour, November 14, an M.V. questionnaire resulted in a program of organization improvement and general suggestions.

At the M.V. council meeting last week a new band was organized. C. L. Beeson was appointed leader and Joe Maldome his asst. It is to be called the Christian Service Band.

Mr. Beeson reports that the band has already given over five dollars worth of food to a needy family and plans are being made to carry on a larger work.

According to Wally Welch, Dean Roy will be in charge of the M.V. activities during Thanksgiving vacation and a picture will be shown on Sabbath afternoon.

330 Thanksgivings Bring Recipe for Pumpkin Cake

MARYLOU PARKER

It was just 330 years ago this month that fifty-five of the original one hundred pilgrims celebrated their first Thanksgiving. The Pilgrims had suffered cold, hunger, and disease since they first gathered together the stones around the lantern Plymouth. Many of their grief and sorrow and heartaches and they watched tenderly over the grain which they had planted, all the time breathing a prayer to their heavenly Leader to give them a bountiful harvest. Surely they were not disappointed, for all around them their little plots were just bursting with pride with the bountiful harvest it would give in return for good, honest sweat.

You can just imagine the beauty of the forest at that time of year girded in colors from bright gold to deep crimson. Think of the joy of the workers as they bustled about cutting into each different dish the secrets that only a woman knows. Think of the excitement of the children as they saw the twinkle of fun in their father's eye and the happy smiles on the face of their mother, who would be glad to give them a piece with the woolly, yes, was the first Thanksgiving that had ever been celebrated in the New World.

Thanksgiving season is here again! That brings thoughts of home, brothers and sisters, fathers and mothers. Oh, yes, mother brings thoughts of a good Thanksgiving dinner, Harry!

What shall we have this year, mother? Well, my hot like turkey a few favorite dishes that will prove to be the best Thanksgiving dinner you ever had! Of course, you can use mother's favorite recipe for "pumpkin pie." I wouldn't even suggest a mother, for hers always is the only one.

- But did you ever think how you could eat the remainder of the pumpkin that is always left over after the pumpkin pies are made? Just you try this delicious recipe. All I ask of you is you don't blame me for the extra ten pounds you gain during vacation!
1/2 c. chopped walnuts meats
3/4 c. cake flour
3 t. baking powder
1/4 t. salt
2 t. cinnamon
2 t. ginger
3/4 c. cake flour
1/2 c. shortening
1/4 c. sugar
2 eggs
1 c. pumpkin
1/2 c. milk
1/4 t. soda
1/4 c. sliced walnut meats
1. Beat shortening, add sugar and lightly beaten eggs.
2. Blend pumpkin and milk; stir in solids.
3. Add flour mixture and milk mixture to the shortening mixture alternately.
4. Stir in nuts.
5. Place in buttered tins; bake at 350 degrees for 45-60 min.

Over 25 Apply For Comm Deferment Tests

Over twenty-five students have applied for comm-deferment tests which are to be given December 13 under the direction of Dr. T. W. Steen, college director of the testing and counseling service, reports Dr. J. C. Birtcher, dean of the college.

Another series of tests will be given April 2. Applications for these tests should be in no later than midnight, March 10. Sixty-three per cent of the students who took the tests last spring and summer received a score of seventy or better. Major General Lewis B. Hershey, Director of Selective Service, reported.

General Hershey stressed the importance of all eligible students taking the test, and indicated that those who do not have test score results in their cover sheets may have a "very difficult time indeed" in convincing their local boards that they should be deferred as students.

Impairment Stressed To be eligible for the test, "general health impairment" is a minimum (1) intended to record deterioration as a student; (2) be satisfactorily pursuing a full-time college course; (3) must not previously have taken a selective service College Qualification Test.

The Congress, in the 1951 Amendments to the Universal Military Training and Service Act, declared that adequate provision for national security requires maximum effort in the fields of scientific research and development and the fullest possible utilization of the talents of our citizenry.

The Congress authorized the President to provide for the deferment of students from military service whose activity in study is found to be necessary to the maintenance of the national health, safety or interest.

Objections Frustrated General Hershey remarked that when the selective service college deferment act was first announced, many objections were heard that the spring office preferred treatment to the summer office. This objection, says Mr. Birtcher, who could afford to go to college.

It can be believed that virtually all of the opposition on this ground has been eliminated, since there is now general understanding of fact that the purpose of the plan is to select those most fitted to pursue college education and that a large proportion of college students are working their way through college, either partly or wholly.

Students are faced with an emergency where many experts predict will last perhaps ten to twenty years. General Hershey said "We must, therefore, think in long-range terms, in developing plans to provide an adequate supply of highly skilled men and women to believe the country is aware that

Adelphian Quartet Sings in Lyceum, Musical Travelogue Sails Across Sea

RUBY LYNN

The Adelphian quartet presented a program of semi-classical and religious music Saturday evening, November 17 in Lynn Wood Hall. Because of limited space it was given twice. The quartet consists of John Thibier, first tenor; Dan Crook, second tenor; Waverly Thibier, baritone; and Jack Yealey, bass. The quartet was assisted by the Southerners (two composed of Marzilyn Dillow, Mary Ellen Harris, and Frost Conroy who spent last semester in the announcer.

The theme of the program was a trip around the world which was depicted on the ocean as a background they started out for Europe singing "Sailing." They carried the audience to England by singing "John Bull." Next, a jaunt over to Ireland led to "When Clancy Loved the Boy." "Viva I Annour and Victory, My day of Dreams" took them to France and Italy. By blotsch they shot behind the Iron curtain giving a short concert. "Salim's Lullaby." Gerny brought out "Johnny Schmoek."

Boys' Home Gets New Floor, Showers

The John H. Talge Hall is being improved so that it will be in shape for the opening of school in December. Mr. George Pearson, superintendent of the maintenance department, reports the floors of the basement hall and rooms are being tiled with brown floor-inch met-glass tiles. The lobby is being painted ivory as well as the walls and ceilings as are the stair cases. Three-fourths of the rooms are receiving paint jobs including the married couples' apartments. They are being painted either ivory, cream, or grey.

Grade School Has Band, Music Class

"Fifteen music students in the grade school comprise the beginning music class," states Mr. N. L. Kroegel, instrument instructor. The new students take lessons on instruments ranging from the violin to the guitar. The other instruments are the clarinet, saxophone, flute, cornet, alto horn, trombone, and bass horn.

Ruby Lee Gregory, a native student, assists in the instruction of this group and also helps in the direction of the grade school band. This is the first secondary school band numbers 16 instrumentalists, who have been previously trained, on instrument. The first group has appeared at the college band in past appearances. Another feature of the elementary school musical instruction plan is the pre-band group which consists of 31 tonette players. They are all third and fourth grade students. In this class they learn the fundamentals of music and finger co-ordination. "A definite influence is noted in that of the group who later take instrumental training," declares Mr. Kroegel. "By the second semester the effects of their early training will be felt by expansion of the college band."

The next group of songs were sacred. Tunes of trip to Palestine, they sang "My Pretty Little Love." "Have You Been in the Garden With Jesus?" and "Swing Low, Sweet Chariot" with Marzilyn Dillow singing the obbligato. The Southerners sang "Thanks Be to God." The quartet and trio combined in singing "Angels Are Always Singing. Sometime, Someone."

During the intermission Mr. Kroegel played "Stars of the Velvety Sky" on his baritone, and sang for the children "Sing a Song of Six Pence." As the quartet were sailing back to America they sang "The Ship's Barbershop." With lively ship's music, mustaches, and wigs they came in to entertain the barber, Mr. Nelson, in singing, "Te Me Call You Sweetheart" and "Harmonize." Mr. Nelson left the shop to the boys and promised to be back at an hour. When he was away, Larry Mison came for a shave, and the quartet finally accepted the challenge to sing "The Ship's Barber" in the barber chair they sang "Last Side, All Around the Town" while singing, "Te Me Call You Sweetheart" and "Harmonize."

Their next problem was to wake Larry up. They decided on "Let's Wake Up, Wake Up," and they sang to accomplish this task. Johnny Harris was the shoe-shine boy. As Larry woke up Mr. Nelson returned, and the boys took off. As they approached the statue of Liberty the quartet sang "America" which was well within them as they sang "This is My Country." They certainly are all patriotic. Marzilyn Dillow as the Statue of Liberty. The trio then joined the quartet in this concluding number.

Alumni Activities

Mr. and Mrs. Jamnie Jacobs announced the birth of a son on November 15. Jamnie graduated in the class of 1951.

Wesley Waller, a pre-med graduate of SMC is now medical secretary for the Carolina Conference. He is also a member of the faculty at Mt. Airy at Candler, North Carolina.

Bonnie Anne Evans, daughter of Elder E. W. Dunbar, was born on October 2, 1951. The Evans' are located at Bridgeport, Connecticut.

Dr. James Hamilton, graduate of SMC in 1938, has been in Triesenberg, Germany since April 9, 1951. He is dental school work at Marzilyn Dillow as the Statue of Liberty. The trio then joined the quartet in this concluding number.

Dr. F. J. Moore, former graduate of SMC, is in medical practice at Pikeson, South Carolina.

Dr. and Mrs. George Tolliver were on the campus for a few days. Dr. Tolliver graduated from the pre-med course here in 1942. Forrest L. Weaver Fuller, son of George Fuller, arrived in Ponna, India. He graduated from the pre-med course of the class of '50 and was in charge of the Southern Mercantile Agency at Ponna. He has finally left here on August 28.

Despite freezing weather at Collegedale reports of snow and cold weather in most northern regions, Mr. George Long compared 21 severe winter months, toured to Chicago on November 20. There they visited some of that city's large business concerns.

Beason, Spiva Conduct Series of Bible Studies With Local Family

A Bible study began last July, by Mr. C. L. Beason and Mr. Wesley Spiva, both religion majors, has resulted in five new papers for the church school and regular church attendance.

The study was put forth last summer through after camp meeting, by these two sponsors, to aid students to whom they could give Bible studies. They found quite an interest on the Blair road, which is north of Apopka and about three miles from Collegedale.

They immediately began holding

"open-air" meetings with a projector. These studies were faithfully carried on each Saturday night. As a result five children of the Blair family were entered in the church school here at Collegedale at the beginning of the fall term.

Mr. Beason and Mr. Spiva found interest quite widespread in this particular locality and are at present conducting Bible studies with several other families.

The whole Blair family, according to Mr. Beason, is expected to be baptized for Christ and be baptized into God's remnant church.

Charles Bryan Brings Dulcimer Music And Ballads in Lyceum Program

Band Purchases New Instrument

The college band has added another instrument to its ranks, announcing N. L. Kroglstad, band director. It is a baritone saxophone and completes the saxophone instrumentation for the band. The new instrument came during the Thanksgiving vacation.

Mr. Kroglstad states that this new addition opens up the possibility of a new saxophone ensemble which consists of the two alto, one tenor, and one baritone.

"We hope this will be a standard ensemble," he said, "forming a permanent musical group on the campus."

Butterfield Elected SA Vice-President

In a school-wide election held on November 14 and 15, Arthur Butterfield was elected vice-president of the student association to fill in the vacancy left by Cher Jordan, who was elected president of the association.

Butterfield has in the past held other offices in the student senate. Up to the time of his election to the student association to fill in the vacancy left by Cher Jordan, who was elected president of the association.

Committees Report Student Projects

In the student senate session of November 7, the recommendations from Pay-Thru's special activities committee were approved.

The committee recommended that the annual handmaking be eliminated and that this tradition be replaced by an outstanding system which will not be a lecture.

Even the student labor committees with Jack Price as chairman, came the recommendation that a safety poster contest be sponsored. This contest will be in collaboration with the work of the corresponding faculty committee.

IRC Presents Resolution

The International Relations Club brought to the academy chapel a program on the appointment of General Mark Clark as an ambassador to the Vatican. They suggested that we write our congressmen and newspapers about our views of the appointment.

A resolution was drawn up opposing the appointment and voted on by the students. A copy of the resolution is to be sent to our representatives in Congress.

LIBRARY BUYS BOOKS

The bases of all learning, I feel that no $600.00 has ever been better spent for our new library. Now that the urgency of language study as never before, the Advent just people should fill over diligent in preparing for positions of leadership. If there is anyone who does not believe that language study makes leaders, he should ask the librarians for the October issue of the Modern Language Association which contains many investigations covering thousands of students have shown a secondary school freshman college grade in subjects in direct proportion to the number of years of study, while the length of study devoted to this subject has no effect on freshman grades.

Languages, because of demand for close observation and correct statement, have a practical value in keeping a college freshman in college. Language study may be our key to life here or elsewhere.

THE THANKSGIVING SPIRIT

Well, folks, Thanksgiving is here again. That isn't so far to forget when you are going to school. I am afraid all it means to most of us is a vacation from school.

But let's think about the real reason we have a Thanksgiving day. When the harvest was over and all was stored away for the pilgrims set aside a certain day of the year when they could count all their blessings and set just how much God had blessed them. To this day this is just what we have been doing.

Every year we stop for a moment and consider how well we are. But is this really enough? There are many people in the world and even in our own neighborhood who scarcely have enough to eat. We should find these people and share with them. Here at Collegedale Academy our forum has thought of a plan so that each of us can help. Each class is preparing a basket to give to needy families at Thanksgiving so they can be happy, too. But unfortunately our efforts aren't enough. If only one would help in some way to make someone else happier, real Thanksgiving spirit would manifest itself.

Academy Forum Discusses Revisions In Two Per Cent Absence Plan

From the Principal's Desk

It is good to own as one's country a land which is not too busy about money making and the hurrying of life to take time out to be thankful. The spirit of the thanksgiving, that forced expression in the lives of the Pilgrim Fathers has not entirely died out of our land and lives during these centuries.

While it is true that festivity will play a large part in the lives of perhaps most Americans on that day, there are too many who are unthankful of the scanty board of some in their community. The sharing of what we have with the less fortunate will bring to our own spirits rich returns in joy and satisfaction.

May the spirit of Him who shared with the human race the most precious Treasure of heaven be reflected in our own lives during this Thanksgiving season, and let us be thankful for His spirit of giving.

Summer Activities of Academy Students

For the most part the summer was very exciting for us, but about two weeks before school started I had to go to Washington. This trip was very interesting because it gave me a chance to go through some of the finest natural beauty in our country—Plymouth Manor.

I spent the summer working in the College Book Factory. This provided me with enough money to buy a car—Tom Moberg.

I was in two weddings and helped another girl get ready for hers. For about six weeks I worked from 2:30 until 11:00 in our bookery, and then we took a trip to New York and on over to Niagara Falls and spent the night in Canada—Beth McKee.

I worked with an interior decorator, painting and doing other decorating work. I worked on five different houses, one in Texas and the others around the school here. This gave good training as well as a good sum of money for my school expenses—Wayne Sandlett.

Last summer I helped my father build a house—Donald Silver.

My father and I worked in a wood shop all summer—Max Long.

Since Kenneth Scott graduated from the Southern Missionary College in 1951, he has been wandering where his call would be. At long last it is settled. It will not be here—for his Uncle Sam needs him. Good luck, Ken!

The academy forum meeting held during the chapel service, was held in Lynn Wood Hall. The president, Bonnie Brown, presided during an open discussion of the plan. Should the two per cent of absences be abolished completely?

The opinions from the faculty were:

- All allowances should be for absences due to illness, not death in the family, etc.
- Parents or resident deans should be permitted to write absences.
- The attendance record in the bus school spirit is lower than present plan is in effect.
- Two unexcused absences should be permitted per semester.

A motion was made, seconded, carried, to the effect that a large question period regarding the plan permit.

The discussion period was held on chapel the next day and the voting plan was proposed for the first of the two per cent plan.

Excused absences, sign of parents, guardian, dead, or should be allowed for illness, etc. or death in the family.

Two unexcused absences should be permitted per semester.

Two per cent should be deducted from the grades for each unexcused absence exceeding two.

Absences should be permitted for illness, etc. or death in the family.

The academy is now waiting for approval of this plan from the Board.

News From The Academy

Hallowen has been again quite gone with its vandalism. Mr. Hallowen was a victim of one grand. All games in the gym on Hallowen were went to his car and football.

A flat tire. Instead of being walked home in the rain.

Masde Duberry has returned after a week in Park View Hotel where she had an apartment. We're glad you're back, Masde!

Ken Cobb was a little behind a few days ago when, paid before she had an apartment at a paper dated August.

Elise Simmonds and James H. Moore were always getting rid of their old clothes. Mr. Moore says he never changes to wear to dispose of it.

Edward Polen, a new student joined us. He hails from Florida.

January Seniors Organize Class; Leggett Announced As President

A new precedent is being set by Southern Missionary College. A class to graduate in January has been organized. The officers are: Hugh Leggett, president; Andres Riffel, secretary-treasurer; and Sherman Peterson, pastor.

Commencement exercises will be held Saturday night, January 26, at 8 o'clock in the chapel. Elder J. M. Evans, president of the Alabama-Mississippi conference, will be the speaker.

A banquet is being planned for the members of this new organization, their wives, and some special guests (not yet named). The festival is to be on January 6.

Members named thus far for the class are: Andres Riffel, Hugh Leggett, Lester Parks, James B. Davis, Harold Armstrong, Kline Lloyd, Virgil Beauchamp, Bill Jones, and Sherman Peterson.

Department Adds New Typewriters

The secretarial service department has added eleven new typewriters to its equipment, reports Miss Theresa Britton, associate professor of secretarial science. They are standard electric-type Royals.

The school purchased the typewriters from the Royal Company in Chattanooga last August. The typewriters were delivered in the latter part of the month and will be used in the secretarial science room by the advanced typing students.

The department has also added twelve phonograph records of simplified Gregg shorthand dictation. They are to be used outside of class by those students who wish to increase their speed. Miss Brickman feels that the records will be a great aid to the "industrious students who wish to do better work."

Library Buys New Furnishings

The library is enjoying the first fruits of its benefit program sponsored several weeks ago, for it has purchased new curtains, three chairs, and a floor lamp to furnish the browsing room.

The library staff hung the new browsing room curtains November 23 during the Thanksgiving holidays. They are of a Grandmother Moses design with a multicolor and green print pattern. New England colonial homes and scenery. They hang in the three browsing room windows.

The browsing room lounge chairs, appearing last week, are red and green. They are plastic covered and are the same type that furnish the parlor of the boys' home.

The floor lamp is bronze with a maroon shade and maroon trimmings. To match this is a small bronze flower pot is hanging from the wall above the browsing desk.

The fireplace has added a set of bronze fire iron and a bronze frost screen. Mrs. Watrous, assistant librarian, said that fires would be built in the fireplace on cold days to create a cozy atmosphere.

The girls lounge acquired a green pleated curtain. The table is made of a walnut finish. Chatterbox green is the color of the three modern styled lounge chairs. The curtains are white with a yellow flower design.

Mr. Brown has a new green plastic lounge chair in his office.

Plans Materialize For Benefit Event

Plans for the student association benefit program are materializing successfully, according to Chester Jordan, student association president.

Larry Hughes, the program chairman, promises an eventful evening. Four hundred eighty producers and manufacturers have been contacted to donate their commodities for prize awards. Out of sixty replies there have been over twenty positive returns.

Among the gifts are razors, hats, a chess set, a plate setting of sterling silver, and other prizes.

Sutton Lectures On Home Relations

"The foundation of a society is the family," declared Dr. Willis A. Sutton, an Atlanta educator. He made his first appearance in an SMC chapel period on January 6.

"The family is larger than a nation," he continued. "Out of the family development nations."

Lecturing on the responsibilities of the student to be domestically true, he stated that the importance of the family, one third of American families are divorced and deserted.

Being true to one's family is the first requisite to being domestically true. Being true during the courtship period and being true to one's future family is the second requisite necessary to stable home building, declared Dr. Sutton.

Laundry Improved In Girls' Home

The new laundry room in Maude Jones Hall has been finished now by the addition of a pair of scales. The white-washed walls and the ceiling of beaverboard give it the appearance of a modern laundry.

Five long drying lines, a ventilator, and four soap-stone laundry tubs enable the dormitory students to launder conveniently.

The trunks previously occupying the room have been moved into the furniture room. The racks that were previously made by the maintenance department. The ironing boards have been moved closer to the trunk room, so that the new cold room could be added to the cafeteria facilities on the other side of the building.

Beauchamp New ATS President

Virgil Beauchamp, the new president of the American Temperance Society chapter at Collegedale, announces that the play "Prisoner at the Bar" is being staged in different nearby locations.

Beauchamp is assisted by Wesley Spivey, vice-president; Mary Gowdy, secretary; Wilfred Paul, treasurer; and Walter Wright, assistant treasurer. The faculty sponsor is H. H. Kihlman.

The ATS presented a chapel program on November 26 requesting the aid of the college constituency in fighting the liquor traffic. Betty Collins gave her reading "Tommy Tucker" was

Francis R. Line Coming Tomorrow Night; Will Show "The Columbia River"

This is a scene of the Columbia River district where Mr. Line spent three years in preparing his film "The Columbia River". Mr. Line's program is a regular feature in our hands.

Handel's "Messiah" Scheduled for December 14; Soloists Announced

It Happened at SMC

One Year Ago—The Collegedale Academy presented for its annual talent program the Longfellow play "Courtship of Miles Standish." Sherman Cross played as Miles Standish and Helen Watschnee played as Priscilla.

The first Adventist intercollegiate workshop was held on the SMC campus with seven colleges represented.

Two Years Ago—The student senate organized a 70-mile historical tour for the college and academic students to Lookout Mountain, Chickamauga Park, and Missionary Ridge.

Three Years Ago—Students held talent program as bynum number November 28.

Four Years Ago—The student senate was formally presented to the student body December 5 with Dr. Ambrance L. Schrie as sponsor.

Five Years Ago—Pictures for the 1947 Annual were all taken by December 6.

Six Years Ago—A sacrifice offering amounted to $1770.01.

The organ was moved from the left to the right side of the chapel; the piano was moved from the right to the left.

Church to Launch Ingaathering Drive

The Collegedale Church will launch its Ingaathering campaign Saturday night, December 8, according to H. R. Becker, pastor of the Collegedale church. Plans are being made for solicitors to work the city of Rome, Georgia, on the nights of December 8 and 15, and the city of Chattanooga on December 15. Christmas cantatas is scheduled for Sunday night, December 16.

The date for the annual college field day has not been set, but will be announced later. The goal has been set this year at $8,000.

Film Shows Atomic Bomb Development

On Saturday night, December 8, Francis R. Line will present his famous color-tone "The Columbia River." Mr. Line spent three years to make this moving picture of "the life of the greatest rivers of our country."

So important is the Columbia River, according to Mr. Line, that were it not for this river, the atomic bomb might still be a theory. The river furnished the power, many times that generated at Niagara, for the bomb's development at Hanford.

Mr. Line and his wife and daughter have traveled the entire length of the river and have secured many "shots" of the wild country with his cameras mounted on the deck of a stern-wheeler.

One of the many humorous "shots" is that of Mr. Line being "tired" by another bear in his attempt to capture her cub.

Also included are photographs of the latest giant glacier at Hanford, the Douglas fir, the fish ladders of salmon, the Lake Louise area of glaciers, snow-capped mountains, fields of flowers and floodplains.

Band Organizes Plans Concert

"A thirty-piece band has been organized again this year and meets twice a week for an evening of hard work, fun, and an invaluable musical training. They spend these periods preparing for a concert which is scheduled for the first or second week of February," revealed N. L. Krogsrud, band director.

For the last three years Mr. Krogsrud has been building up the supply of instruments, to be rented. Recently a new baritone saxophone was acquired. With the use of this new instrument, Mr. Krogsrud is establishing a saxophone quartet. Donald Weber will appear as soloist using the new instrument with band accompaniment at the new concert.

Mr. Krogsrud says that a considerable amount is being invested in literature for the band.

The high school band, which represents the future college band, is working along with the college band in the new concert.

"The band is off to a good start. A successful year is ahead," said Mr. Krogsrud.

Ex-Students Capped At Loma Linda

Two ex-SMC students were among thirty-three students of nursing who were capped recently on the Loma Linda campus of the College of Medical Evangelists. The two, Bonnie Clyde Evers and Leona Mae Chew, are enrolled in that medical educational center's School of Nursing.

They will finish their nursing course in 1953, and are the fifth class of the college program recently instituted by the CME school of Nursing—an accredited program of the Graduate Nurses Board (R.N. recognition) and B.A. degree.

W. F. Widdell, Seventh-day Adventist medical missionary to Siam, addressed the group on "Love, the Activating Motive of Service."

Fawzi-Abu-El-Jah Studies Pre-Med After Coming Here From Jerusalem

Fawzi-Abu-El-Jah has been in America one month. Fawzi is a native of Jerusalem, the son of Turkish parents.

It was during the first World War that Fawzi graduated from Jerusalem, Turkey to Palestine and settled there. As Fawzi's father grew up, he developed a business, which now includes the operation of the National Hotel and a restaurant.

Fawzi took his schooling in American schools in Jerusalem. These schools were sponsored by the Friends and Teachers, using American textbooks and speaking English in his classes.

After completing all but one year of his high school education, he transferred to Sarda College in Cairo, Egypt. There, Fawzi found school was similar to the Jerusalem school. But here there was not a congradational system, and he spoke Arabic in his classes instead of English.

Serves in Army

In 1948 when the Jews and Arabs were battling for the supremacy of Palestine, the government called Fawzi to the army. He spent one and a half years in the service, assuming guard duty at night and attending school during the day. In this way he did not interrupt his schooling.

"I didn't wear a uniform," he said, "because if the enemy caught a man formed man, they would kill him." Fawzi's military career was spent with the section of the army composed of schoolboys. This "student" army did not fight on the front lines, but remained behind and patrolled at night while the battle-weary soldiers slept. "I guarded people on my home," he said.

After graduating from high school in Cairo, Egypt, Fawzi returned home for a month and a half preparing to return to America. He had become acquainted with Southern Missionary College through a Seventh-day Adventist missionary in Heliopolis.

"My father accepted this school because of its standards," he related. "Here no one drinks or smokes and my Moslem religion forbids these things."

Flies to America

Fawzi left his elder sister and four younger brothers and flew to Jerusalem, Beirut, Cairo, Athens, Paris, Santa Maria in the Azores Islands, and New York. He came by bus to Chattanooga and Collegeville.

"I like America very much," he smiled, "but I like the people best of all. Here it is talking biology, chemistry, freeman English, and book survey. Next semester he plans to add trigonometry. For his life work, Fawzi has chosen medicine and hopes to enter Louisiana State.

Thirty-two Spanish Speaking Students Coming to SMC From Southern Nations

Collegeville has never before been favored with so large a group of Spanish-speaking students. Perhaps one reason for this trend in Latin-America toward Southern Missionary College is that seven members of the faculty and staff speak Spanish fluently.

Dr. Rittenhouse, dean of the college, is the first to make the newcomers feel at home. His history classes are popular with them, also.

Dr. Stoen treats out their problems whether in the role of counselor or psychology professor. Mrs. Stoen entertains them in her home because she has met many of them somewhere in South America. Mr. Withnabe explains the difficult portions of the Bible lessons in their own tongue and corrects the first papers which come to him in Spanish. Dr. Mohr makes physics easy for them with his impeccable Spanish interpretations.

Mrs. Dietel is always ready to respond to SMC calls from students in whichever other department Spanish is not understood. When in their spare time or trailers they need a carpenter, plumber, or "trouble-shooter," Mr. Smith rushes to their aid from the maintenance department.

This is a list of thirty-two Spanish-speaking students and their families:

Dora de Drachenberg, wife of Elder F. G. Drachenberg, president of the Antillan Junior College in Cuba; professor of Spanish and literature at that college; now assisting in the instruction of Spanish in SMC; senior in 1952.

Rolando Drachenberg, son of Elder and Mrs. F. G. Drachenberg; senior in 1952.

Andres Riffel, ordained minister, MV department secretary for the Argentina conference; treasurer and teacher in our schools in Chile, Uruguay, and Cuba; president of our junior college in Costa Rica; senior in 1952.

Ruth de Riffel, elementary school teacher in Uruguay and Argentina; normal director in our schools in 1952.

Ludington's Spend Eight Years of Mission Service in Burma

Two well-loved persons at Collegeville are Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Ludington, who, no doubt, are loved by many in Burma where they spent eight years of missionary work from 1914 to 1922.

Mr. Ludington was the educational secretary of the Burma Union, superintendent of the Upper Burma mission and superintendent of the Meiktila Technical School, bookkeeper and secretary.

The school was primarily for boys and of the 150 students who were enrolled, nearly all of them were Buddhist. During the Ludingtons' stay about forty boys were baptized, and a host of whom returned to their own native villages to work.

One Christmas Eve while the Ludingtons were eating supper the superintendent of police came to inform them that the Mohammedans were planning to kill all of the English in a uprising that night. He cautioned him to tell no one of the plans, particularly his wife. Mrs. Ludington watched all night but nothing happened, making it unnecessary to flee to the fort as was planned if trouble arose.

Makes Trips

In his work Mr. Ludington had to make a number of trips. Once he and two others went into the Southern States to check the prospect for a mission. It took two weeks for the trip, three days of which were spent with the native chief who offered them a mission site wherever they wished. While returning home they ran out of fuel except for rice and pork so that Mr. Ludington said that by the time he returned home fuel was practically used up from his car.

Twenty-eight Youngsters Find Preschool Activities Varied and Interesting

CAROL JEAN WHIDDEN

"Midlith Pender! Mishah Pender! Look at the snow!"

"Whakes make it golden?"

"My I feel the snowflakes?"

"Let's sit down and have our mid-morning fruit juice. What kind would you like—orange or apple?"

You have just come with me to the preschool department of Collegeville. The sitting in the preschool booth where we can't be seen by the children, who are spreading out their personal rags for the rest of the year. "Share with me," the little boys and girls are sharing books. Yesterday they shared dolls and tomorrow they share toys.

Mrs. Vivian Nelson, Mrs. Lorzaine Pender, and Mrs. Pauline Woodward are the three teachers and managers of the preschool. Twenty-eight boys and girls are sharing twenty-four little desks for the entire time of which Mrs. Woodward is in charge today.

"Look at the nice things that have been made this morning! Look at these whistles. Who made this little snowman out of modeling clay? What is that that you have made, Butchie?"

"It's a water pump and here's the house they keep it in."

"Connie—no, Candie—no, it's Connie—no, I never can tell you, twins apart!"

Wright Speaks In Vespers

Burton Wright, dean of boys at Mount Pisgah Academy, asked the question, "Are you thankful?" at his open session Friday evening, November 23.

The speaker brought to the minds of the audience the many things for which to be thankful.

Burton graduated from SMC last spring receiving his B. S. in religion. He has been dean of boys at Mount Pisgah Academy, of the Carolina conference, since September.

Committee Selects Church Officers

The Collegeville church nominating committee, with Dr. R. L. Hammon as chairman, has convened several times and is preparing a list of nominations for new church officers.

The committee consists of co-congregators, faculty, and student church members. They are N. L. Krogstad, Miss

"Why did you make this little boy, Andrea?"

"It's time for our stories, now. Does anyone have a nice story to tell? Terry I have been asking for two days to tell his. Are there any more who have one?"

"Me!" he "to" "Me, too."

"My doggie crawled under our trailer and he hurt himself bad and I asked Joyce to make me a cast. Well, she said, 'I have a little blue wagon and every day I take my little things up from the trailer.'"

After circle time is over there is another short play period, during which the teachers are always busy trying to find out who belongs to which boots and gloves.

During good weather the children play on their playground. Several of them are going to ask Santa Claus for a slide and a sand pile to add to the swings that they have. When they come in from their play the newly-installed heating unit is appreciated more.

Collegeville's preschool is a growing department. Lectures are needed every since a new toy, doll, book, boots, gloves, caps, scarfs, coats, books, and rug for rest period. More floor space is needed because the children are growing so fast. Ten for whom there is no room.

Gonzalez to Lead New Spanish SS

During the first quarter of 1952 the entire Sabbath school program will be conducted in Spanish in the parlor of Maude Jones Hall. The services of a good number of experienced workers will be used. The new Spanish will be very much appreciated in this typical Spanish Sabbath school. Song services will be conducted every week by Mrs. T. W. Sees as song leader.

The other officers will be Rene Gonzalez, superintendent; Newell Ludington, assistant superintendent; Lulu Chazan, secretary; Ernesto Marinovich, orchestra leader.

Committee Reports Project Work

Helen Baker of the school nominating reports that they are studying the class absence system. Promotion of greater reverence in our campus has been planned by the student committee on health with Larry Hughes as chairman, and the faculty health committee with John Harlin, chairman. They have also been working in conjunction with the faculty committee of religious activity on plans whereby to prepare band leaders for next fall Friday evening services.

Numerous suggestions for the improvement of health conditions on our campus have been made by the student committee on health with Larry Hughes as chairman, and the faculty health committee with John Harlin, chairman.

In the publications committee, with Lulu Sauls acting chairman, progress has been made on plans so that in future years the ACCENT program can reach the complete support of all the students, faculty, and staff.

Whidden Receives Essay Award

Carol Jean Whidden reports that her long-awaited cash prize as co-winner in the world-wide essay contest has been received. The contest was sponsored by the Research Trust of London, England.

Carol Jean was awarded through her home town bank in Orlando, Florida. The £25 British money exchanged to dollars for the money amounted to nearly seventy dollars.

Open House Takes Audience Back to Civil War Days; Visitors Tour Dorm

The bicentennial men's open house program, sponsored by the Triangle Club, was given in the Lynn Wood Hall chapel Sunday evening, December 2. Ish Ammons, president of the Triangle Club, welcomed the members of the Dawsonville Club, and other visitors to the event. Calbertus Brown, president of the Dawsonville Club, accepted the welcome and then Miss Jones, the Collegedale waitress, was presented with an orchid, a traditional event of the men's open house program.

The play for the evening was written by E. T. Watrous with a setting in the home of a retired plantation owner somewhere in the Carolinas. The scene was a discussion by the plantation owner and Senator Turnbridge from Washington about the Camp-

THANKSGIVING HOLIDAYS ARE HAPPY EVENT AT COLLEGEDALE

Of all the days of the school year the most delightful ones spent on the campus are the days during Thanksgiving week. Every year is filled with a touch of routine, the days spent at Collegedale are varied.

There are three week-end Sundays (leaf-day Sundays to many) during which some department, industry, club, outside reading, or the monthly statements call you to faithful service.

Monday strikes a blow shade to many as they begin the week with those difficult, three-hour courses.

Tuesdays and Thursdays are favorites to some who have a few two-hour courses. But then to others they are killers. The romantic students find Tuesday dinner a joyous occasion. Dating is permitted, and the monthly statements as occasion with one's pride and joy goes on at all times. But on Tuesday, it is permitted.

And aren't Wednesdays long? In the middle of the week they come when energy is low and the peak of efficiency is beginning to drop.

Friday carries with it the feeling, "Ah, at last! I got through another week; happy, healthy, wise, and alive."

Sabbath, with its religious services and slower than ordinary pace, gives an opportunity for rest—rest, physically, rest, mentally, rest, spiritually.

Christmas vacation brings a catastrophic change over Collegedale. It appears as if a plague had suddenly wiped out its smiling faces by the way.

But Thanksgiving at Collegedale is delightful. Enough students remain to

Quinn Advises on Fire Protection

"The best time to fight fire is before it starts," stated Chief Quinn, in his talk at the abated November 22. The chief, a first-time member of Chattanooga, spoke to the students on fire prevention. He said that Collec-

Students Vary Holiday Activities

One of the academy's student reporters, curious to report what some of the academy students did during Thanksgiving week, has asked several to speak for themselves.

Jenny Shepherd

Joyce Rowe and I spent Thanksgiving vacation in the Blue Grass State. We visited "My Old Kentucky Home" and the state capital in Frankfort. On the way to Kentucky we passed by the home of Frank and Jesse James. In Louisville we visited the Veterans' hospital. It was a nice vacation but it is good to be back in the wing of school again.

Georgene Fuller

During Thanksgiving vacation I went to visit my brother, George Verley, in Madison, Georgia. After a big dinner my brother, who is a dentist, filled some of my teeth.

Barbara Tompkins

This Thanksgiving marks the end of my vacation in GMC. I celebrated by getting my driver's license.

Peter Duvick

My vacation was spent working in the woodshop.

Betty Boyer

I visited my aunt in Cadottown, Georgia. I had a wonderful time just taking a vacation from the old routine of school.

Kathryn Gordon

Over Thanksgiving vacation I went to Nashville to see some friends. On Thanksgiving day a friend and I walked to Shelby Park. I had a wonderful time.

Form Donates Food Baskets

Two basket loads of food were donated by the academy. Taking the baskets to needy families on the campus, Clark Salzer delivered them on Wednesday morning just before Thanksgiving. This project was sponsored by the academy forum.

Campus Preserve Bulbs, Build Steps

The china lily bulbs, survivors from the winter blist which struck the lilies a month ago, have been removed to a cool cellar near the prev. according to the campus department.

The bulbs will remain there until after the cold weather when they will be replanted.

The campus department is also working on the walk leading from the elementary school to the playground.

The walk is formed of wood and filled with gravel. It will be laid down the hill to the playground.

Committee Directs Religious Program

An invitation to "stop and consider" was the central theme of Wednesday's chapel program under the direction of the student religious interest committee.

John Harlan, chairman, reported that those who assisted in making that program a success were Ted Graves, James Burdette, Bob Lett, Wesley Jones, Jack Elkins, Higgins, and Miss Mable Wood who accompanied the meditation with appropriate music at the organ.

The short quotations were directed at making the audience remember the blessings God has given those who live in the United States of America.

ACCENT ON THE ACADEMY WHICH IS WHICH?

Another Thanksgiving is now history. All the students are back to the old grind. Going back to the old routine is the same, but with only a few days until the Christmas holidays isn't so bad.

Almost every student of Collegedale Academy has at one time or another had a remark something like "Oh, he's just kidding" or "What can the academy do around a Thanksgiving from what I see it, it looks as if those statements will be proved to convey the true meaning. After all, in the last year who has done more work, who has shown the most school who has reached their goal in raising subscriptions for the paper?

With all the facts presented let the reader be the judge, decide whether the academy or the college has more school who works the harder or simply which is the better of the two.

Academy Surpasses ACCENT Sub Group Martins Defeat McCoy's in Close Race

The Academy ACCENT sub group closed November 28, with a victory for the Martins and the McCoy's.

The Martins won a close against their opponents, the McCoy's. The Martins were won by surging up with subscription spirit they landed on top. In the future the losing side will entertain the Martins.

Not only was it a victory for the Martins but for the whole ACCENT group. The group's goal of the year was to reach with the "121." As a result of the total defeat will get an extra day Christmas vacation.

Music Club Gives Chapel Program

A Thanksgiving program by the Music Club was given in the forum November 19 during the chapel period.

The church program was a drama review of the sprawling colonies branches of autumn leaves and golden pomegranates.

Wesley lived out while stood and sang "America," "My Saviour," "Thanksgiving," "Marche Edgemoor," was followed piano played by Miss Max Lengley, accompanied program gave a vocal solo of Nipper decorated in "Yes, He Did," played the part of the piano dressed up with a huge veil on the back of her head and a selfish little girl. Bona was given by Miss Allen. A piano given by Paul Dicks. To accompany the program was the "America the Beautiful" and Thanksgiving hymns.

Lyone Jensen directed and Jim Alexander the accompanist. The program was behind the scenes efforts of the Music Club and the program was the work of the Music Club which works with the Music Club.

Paul Allen, Clayton G. Johnson, Asherman, George Beckner, Leavona Dennis, Evers, Jerry Boynton, Don Calhoun, Goodman, Donald S. Smith, Suddith, Alvin Williamson.

It will be noted that the program was given by the Music Club. Those who gained the honor were list for the second year.

John Bagwell, John Carter, Donovan, Mary Estes, Gwen Gardner, Owen Higgins, Eric Meyer, Bob Meyer, Nancy Jane Parker.

There are three boys on the list. The boys are performing better than the boys. Who will let's show the girls going to take all the honor.

From the Principal's Desk

Two-thirds of the first semester is now in the past. There remain six weeks to go. There is good number who have ended the first period on the attendance honor roll. This number has dwindled to fifteen. In addition there have been eleven who gained the attendance honor roll for the second period. So far there are good attendance rolls now. Those who are on the honor attendance list from the beginning of the year are the following:

IRC Collects and Sends 500 Pounds of Clothes to Pakistan Needy Eight Students to Appear in Who's Who Six Seniors Are Among the Group

The International Relations Club sent forty boxes of clothing to the needy in Pakistan as a result of the clothing campaign staged November 17 to December 6, reveals Maurice Abbott, chairman of the executive relief committee.

The campaign opened when Eugene Wood, president of IRC, announced its purpose at the Sabbath church service, November 17. The club gave out 1,200 mimeographed sheets asking for clothing.

The people of Pakistan are of two classes," reports Mrs. B. Stuewebury, wife of a seventh-day Adventist missionary doctor. "They are either rich or poor. There are very few rich."

Mrs. Stuewebury said in her letter that patient calls are 30 cents while hospital beds are 16 cents a day. The cost of medicine comes from the doctor's pocket. The people are not even able to pay these costs.

Posters and collection boxes were placed in Maude Jones Hall, Talge Hall, Lynn Wood Hall, Collegedale Post Office, and the wash houses of the two dorms.

The collected clothing weighed 500 pounds. They went through a process of sorting and packing. Deans Richard Sloan, Sherman Peterson, Eugene Wood, and Charles Harris sorted and packed the clothing into 40 boxes for shipping.

The Collegedale church members at the church service December 8 gave $56.33 in offerings to help pay the postage. The balance will come from the club treasury.

Parlor Receives New Coat of Paint

About fifteen gallons of paint coat the walls of the Maude Jones Hall parlor with a pale green shade, reports the maintenance department. A crew of painters from the maintenance department painted the walls, ceiling, woodwork, and pipes last week, finishing on Friday. The woodwork is a deeper shade.

The maintenance department plans to continue their work through the Christmas vacation, painting the first and third floor halls a green color.

$500 in Prizes to be Given at Student Association Benefit Event

SMC Group Attend Association Meet

President K. A. Wright, F. O. Ritenhouse, Charles Fleming, and Mrs. Eiva Gardner represented Southern Missionary College during the annual meeting of the Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools, December 2 to 6 at St. Petersburg, Florida. Since Collegedale Academy is accredited as a separate institution, W. B. Higgins represented that school. This association embraces all the accredited schools in eleven Southern states stretching from Virginia to Texas.

On Sunday afternoon the Commission on Higher Institutions heard a report and made inquiries about Southern Missionary College. The members of the Commission were gratified at the report of an increased enrollment and were cordial in commending the institution on its creditable progress," reports Dr. Ritenhouse. "President Wright has since received written notice from Dr. Gardner, the executive secretary, that SMC continues on the accredited list." Although several suggestions were made to improve the work of the Collegedale Academy, that school also continues to be approved by the Regional Accrediting body.

MV's Manufacture "Gospel Bombs"

Fortteen hundred "gospel bombs" will "blast" Good News bulletins and 20th Century Bible Course enrollment cards again this vacation, according to Wally Welch, Missionary Volunteer leader.

A group of approximately 50 people prepared these "bombs" during the December 8 MV program.

This is the same program sponsored just before the Thanksgiving vacation. These "bombs" will be distributed by students traveling home over the vacation period.

The student association will present its benefit program in the Collegedale auditorium January 12, reveals Chester Jordan, president of the student association.

The association will conduct the program using the stage as a radio station. Students will furnish the talent.

The four quiz shows will give $100 worth of prizes to the winning contestants. Among the prizes are a Royal Typewriter, two Lux Minute Minder Clocks, a red beach umbrella, a Crowley radio, a Monarch bicycle, a 16-inch window fan, a Hoover electric iron, and one place setting of Oxford sterling silver.

Over 32 large manufacturers donated these prizes. "Prizes are still coming in," said Jack Martz, treasurer of the student association. As each contestant receives his prize the announcer will give a commercial for the manufacturer of the product.

Track Added To Ball Field

Charles Fleming, business manager of SMC, reports the addition of a 200 yard track to the ball field.

Ray Battle, instructor in physical education, is working with the campus department superintendent, A. W. Spalding, Jr., to make the track. As the campus department finds need of top soil for their gardening, they dig it from the bird out track. The cinder from the boiler plant are disposed in the remaining space.

Battle is expanding the physical education program further. A put for high jump and breast jump will be laid out at the northern end of the field.

"The track facilities will be completed by spring," said Mr. Fleming. "They will enable those who don't put ball to get physical exercise through this means."

Juniors Patrol Traffic Area

Fifth, sixth, seventh, and eighth graders in the Collegedale classrooms are regularly patrolling the danger point at the north end of Talge Hall, according to Mr. K. M. Kennedy, principal of the grade school.

Three times a day, before and after school, and during the noon hour, the junior patrol directs traffic, allowing pedestrians to cross the safety zone with less danger. "The patrolmen award their badges on a scholastic basis and retain them on their own adherence to traffic regulations."

Fifteen-year-old Jack McKee is captain of the newly formed patrol which consists of five patrolmen besides himself. Captain McKee is in the eighth grade and has direct charge of his safety force. The patrolmen are awarded their badges on a scholastic basis and retain them on their own adherence to traffic regulations.

Six weeks ago Lieutenant York of the State Highway Patrol in Chattanooga organized the new group who have been working about four weeks. The only project is sponsoring the Collegedale traffic safety committee.

Sophs Entertain Brayton Orphans

Orphans from the Brayton, Tennessee, orphanage were entertained last Monday night by the sophomore class in the tabernacle auditorium.

The sophomore class members played host to the children during the regular supper hour in the cafeteria. Following supper the students took their guests to the tabernacle for the program. Members of the class formed a girls trio and male quartet, and with other class members, supplied the musical selections.

The students had a gift waiting for him on the Christmas tree. Other gifts included candy, fruit, and other foods collected in the cafeteria December 12, 13, and 15.

Madge Cazalis, chairman of the program committee, worked in coordination with the class officers to make this event the class project.

Students Carol Chattanoogaans

Approximately 200 students, organized into ten bands, caroled Chattanooga residents as they collected for tag-teaming on Tuesday night, December 18.

Each group was composed of 15 singers, four soloists, a director, and a faculty sponsor. Chorus sheets were provided for the singers.

Among the institutions caroled were East Brainerd, Lookout Mountain, and Signal Mountain.

Ensembles, such as the Collegian Quartet made up a group of their own. The overall plans were organized by Wally Welch, MV Leader. Mr. Abbott, MV song director, prepared the singing activities.

Tabulated reports of the student and faculty surveys ballots indicate that eight students will appear in the forthcoming Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities.

The eight students were judged by leadership, educational and religious standing, participation in extracurricular activities, service to the college, church, and various organizations, and promise of future success. Each must have an enrollee of SMC for at least one semester, earning a minimum of twelve hours with a 1.5 grade point average.

The faculty and student senate members voted individually. Wally Welch, Bob Hauge, Layton Sutton, Margaret Motley, Chester Jordan, Floyd Greenleaf, Dewey Urick, and James Joiner received the highest votes.

Wally Welch

Wally Welch is a senior theology major, having attended all four years at SMC with three years on the student body. He is the current Missionary Volunteer leader and senior class pastor. Last summer he represented Southern Missionary College at the First Year of Congress.

Bob Hauge

Bob Hauge is also a senior theology major. He is president of the senior class with four years of Collegedale. He has managed the Collegedale Store for nearly three years.

Layton Sutton

Layton Sutton, whose ambition is to become a medical missionary, is graduating with a major in religion and minors in history and biology and has completed the entrance requirements for medical school. He is now serving as secretary of the student association and is serving his second year as associate editor of the Southern Messenger.

Margaret Motley

Margaret Motley, the only girl in the group, is now president of the Maude Jones Hall forum. She has been elected to the student senate, Club Officers Council, general Sabbath school, and MV society. She is a second-year science senior.

Chester Jordan

Chester Jordan, theology junior, and president of the student association, is completing his second year in the student senate. He has previously been associate MV leader, boy's home forum president, and associate superintendent of the chapel Sabbath school.

Memories Fill Staff Vacancies

James Joiner, Southern Messenger editor, reports that the two remaining members of the Southern Messenger staff have been selected. The Pre-Press and circulation manager, assisting Dewey Urick on the business staff, Richard Christie is the portrait editor, taking over the duties of the editorial staff.

Joiner states that those students who failed to have their pictures made by the end of the year have another opportunity to do so at the beginning of the second semester.

A DROP OF INK . . .

A new surge in traffic and safety precaution has marked this year from the preceding ones. Whereas a few "no parking" signs and yellow lines reminded drivers that safety was something desired; the new regulations, brilliant stop signs, and pedestrian lanes remind Collegiate residents that safety is not only desired, but is desperately needed on our campus.

The latest addition to the growing list of precautionary measures is the junior patrol, composed entirely of grade school boys. These boys, who have complete control of the intersection at the north end of the men's dormitory, work cooperation and courtesy in their work.

When the pedestrian lane is congested with grade school children, and adults fail to recognize the authority of the junior patrolmen, it naturally follows that the children will also become negligent. Perhaps a stronger public interest can be manifested in this area, for a safety-conscious adult public can go far towards stimulating safety among these younger students. If my save your child's life.

A Dash of Spice

CAROL JEAN WHIDDEN

Remember how you were in the sixth grade and thought you just couldn't get any older or leaner any more? That was a long time ago and yet we think back over those years, wonder how we could be approaching 1963 and be in college. How time flies!

And nobody knows any better how fast time flies than the girls of Maulee Jones. Her Christmas vacation is almost here and we aren't even ready for it!

Our big parlor, at the south end of our dormitory, has been painted a color green. We've got those new drapes at the windows; it'll be a real improvement in our home. It's well-appreciated, too.

We are getting so accustomed to hearing Mrs.'s voices in our bathroom that we're going to miss them when they have finished installing the new showers.

Ruby Teashey and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Sarnburn have lost a total of 22 pounds to date. They're having a contest to see which one can lose weight the fastest. I wonder if they need any other contestant?

Well, we need another pair of scales. The other night when I was in the gym, I broke the ones we had. Her mother shouldn't be sending so many good cookies!

Wasn't able to cook in a kitchen, Ana Glenn and Mary Kay Arnsley made a big pan of fudge in January. Her fudge is the best. The ingredients they used came from the Laboratory supplies; powdered milk, cocoa, cream, and sugar. The fudge cooled in three of the entreeology stannic trays. It surely was good, though!

Lorena and Mable attended to the brothers and sisters, so the only way they can afford to get Christmas presents for all the nieces and nephews and all their in-laws, is to draw names. We were down in Lorena's room last week and Mable typed up all 24 names and mailed them. She's chairman of the family name committee this year.

The exhortatory theater training class is at again! If that, we mean that they're having to learn to play tonight. At 4:30, on one morning we heard this weird sound coming from somewhere and several of us came out into the hall. If you've ever heard a cross between a fog-horn and the one o'clock whistle, then you know what a tootling sound it was. We went in Carolee Bopwood's room and found her hiding in the closet on the floor, trying to learn a song. We feignly persuaded her to practice somewhere else.

Dianne Matthews has been rushing the Christmas season. She and Joy Sinclair have put up in Joy's room a Christmas tree with lights on it, and presents, and everything.

Don't forget to take some pictures over the holidays—turn them in to the annual.

We girls have helped to make a really Merry Christmas for about 25 little boys and girls around the college community. We were divided up in groups to "adopt" one of the children for the evening.

Merry Christmas and Happy New Year!

Down South

CHARLES MORRIS

With "Old Man Whinn" around the corner and going history, most of the fellows filed back down to studying in eager anticipation of Christmas vacation to begin.

Our promising young class has been using our dorm as a laboratory for their experiments with brainstroms (using the name of the famous inventor of the self-willed Sifter) upon Van Littel.

Young Loves Approves.

Benny Young is accepting a sudden and unannounced resignation. We are glad he will be able to attend the tant event taking place at the West Park Beach, Florida, beach.

We were very happy to see Wilbur, the publishing student, at the school conference and Eldon, the president of the Arkansas conference, visit us while the help they gave to us while in Florida. We had a very good live over the dean's apartment having difficulty with the big sign, in the middle of the room. This big sign and Bill Bopwood's help, the dean's apartment.

Bob Ammons, our dorm no longer having trouble keeping the things. It seems that in taking things, down the stairs to the door.

Repentance Brings Sleep.

Paul Stern has repeated all deed of leaving us, and has to be a student conference and Eldon a snuggly experience at the last day be returned. This is big, large, hole in his trousers.

John Bedford, who has celebrated their birthday night with a party. The boys in the hall, had a party for the night.

This is the last "Down South" before Christmas. The "Down South" is no longer in our life, but we will be with you in a new and more enjoyable year.

New Thermometer For Hackman Hall

A new thermometer, on the floor of Hackman Hall will tell the day's temperature.

The new thermometer indicates temperatures—the highest, lowest, and average temperatures, at the time of setting.

The new instrument, a minimum type, was purchased by the physical department for the public. It will also be used by physics classes in their study. Her instructions in their study.

MY Society Gets Recommendation

In a recent special session church board passed 62 resolutions concerning University of Mississippi Valley. The recommendations were formulated by a committee headed by Dr. W. L. Welch, President K. A. Chappin, Pastor H. B. Beckner, and the Board of the General Conference, as well as the M. N. Nelson and Ward.

Union and local confederation of MY department, as well as the studying the problems of college MY society.

On the Faculty Side

ELMINE HILSON

The annual faculty Christmas party was held Thursday night, December 13, in the tabernacle auditorium. The members of the religion and music faculty planned the entertainment. Each person brought a suitable gift for children and they were given to the children of the Vins, Street Orphanage in Chattanooga.

President and Mrs. Wright had Mr. Jimmy Ashlock as guest in their home last week. Jimmy was a student here last year.

Some members of the faculty were guests at the Appollo Golf Christmas supper last Monday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Leif Kay Johnson spent last week at Highland Academy. Mr. Tobason conducted the week of prayer there.

Last week end Joe Ramwater, former chief at SMC and whose wife was a former nun, visited Miss Jones, Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Metzler, and children on the campus.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Oswald, their son Eugene, their daughter, Mrs. E. Parrish, and Mrs. Madge Carlisle visited on Western Georgia at Elvadi, Miss. Miss. recently they also spent a day in New Orleans.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Anderson have a guest, Mr. and Mrs. Walter E. Bolander from Lynwood, California. Mr. Bolander is Mr. Anderson's sister. They will remain until after the holidays.

SA Elects Three Student Senators

Young returns from the student association balloting on December 10 and 11 show the election of three new student senators.

Filling the three vacancies are Glenn Combs, chairman of the publications committee; Kerry Hawkins, chairman of the social education committee; Roy Battle, chairman of the recreation committee.

Students Give Piano Recital

Twenty-eight elementary school students presented a piano recital in Lynn Wood Hall chapel, December 15. The young musicians are piano students of Mrs. Mable Wood, Miss Frances Curran, and Mrs. Margaret Stoen, and range from beginners through the fourth grade of music.

A Christmas Bit

ELBERT A. GUSTY

*I'd like your Santa Claus, you know
I'd change his method to my own
I'd give to you all the children here,
But then, you'd change I'd take one here.*

*I'd take every thing to steal,
I'd bring I'd give his content
I'd put the heart in his own soul
And take things with me, how I want.*

*I'd take the annual of poems,
I'd take his good sense, his weight of care.*

*I'd take his promise, his hand and chain
And every thing which you had here.*

*I'd take the mother's jeans away,
I'd double your jeans first, too,
I'd double take on Christmas day,
With happy heart and shining eyes.*

*For old and young this is my prayer,
God bless us all this Christmas Day,
And give us strength our tasks to bear,
And take us into your gift.*

Forty Pre-Nursing Students Visit Florida Sanitarium on Two-Day Tour

At present forty pre-nursing students in the midst of a two-day visit to the Florida Sanitarium and Hospital, Orlando, Florida.

The students left SMC in eight cars Tuesday morning. De Cuba left 11 and will leave the sanitarium Thursday morning, December 20, revealed Miss Stonebraker, director of the pre-nursing students.

"The purpose of the visit is similar to that of the SMC college days," said Miss Stonebraker. "The trip aids the pre-nursing students in choosing the place of their training by affording an opportunity to become acquainted with the Florida San."

The following students took advantage of the trip:

Barbara Allen, Joyce Allen, Ruby Allgood, Barbara Andrew, Robert Beard, Tina Benson, Evelyn Bradford, Neza Carris, Betty Cayde, Ruth Chambers, Lester Coughlin, Doris Dianne, Judson Field, Rhea Goggans, Marlene Haney, Ellen Hendricks, Lawrence Johnson, Iva Karmen, Colleen Knight, Myra Lee, Billie Jean Matzke, Doris Marsh, Harry Mann, Ernest Moore, Carolyn McCarty, Robb McClenahan.

Barbara Nelson, Ted Nofco, Carlece Owenby, Anne Phillips, Jane Phillips, Marlene Rodriguez, Jo Anne Runk, W. Bessie, John Selinger, Helen Sherrill, Sharon Sisson, Shirley Smith, Marjorie Stacey, Marilyn Sparks, Helene Witschietzky, Lydia Wynn.

Wednesday morning the students will visit many of the beauty spots of central Florida in and around Orlando.

The students will see the department of the sanitarium and hospital Wednesday afternoon. Among others they will be the hydrotherapy, physical therapy, electrical therapy, x-ray, outpatient, operating room, and the nursery.

The cafeteria will be frequented throughout a day. The students will also inspect the nurses' dormitories.

One of the highlights of the trip is the inspiring exercise of the nursing students who have passed the first lap of their training.

A number of the students taking this trip are on the Florida San scholarship plan. The San pays $75 per semester taken at SMC and $75 upon entrance at the San, a total of $225, to those who meet the requirements for the scholarship. These funds are given to the applicants who will complete their training at the Florida Sanitarium and Hospital.

Senate Proposals

Staten W'SMC

The Student Senate organized the campus broadcasting service committee for 1951-52 to complete the work started last year by a similar group. Harry Rolino will act as station manager and station W'SMC. Assistance will be provided by the president, Benning as associate manager is Ed Bick. Frank McMillan was named as business manager. Technical operations will be handled by the direction of Everett Erkan. Ernest Moore and Lloyd Satter will aid Erkan.

Blood Heads

The student senate plans to secure the Blood Mobile unit in March so that students may be helped supply blood to be used for the armed forces overseas.

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Johnson of Orlando, Florida, were guests at the Pearson home last week. Mrs. Johnson is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Pearson and both are former students of Southern Missionary College.

Donesky Elected to Lead Colporters; Bischhoff is Sponsor

The Colporteur Club began its organization for 1951-52 by electing as president, Barbara Donesky, locally called, and Mrs. Joseph Bischhoff, faculty adviser, December 1.

Peter Donesky, a theology student who was awarded five student body tickets, elected president. Bob East, a theology sophomore, will assist him as vice president. Barbara Donesky was named as secretary. She is planning to canvass this coming summer. Wilfred Fattel, a senior theology student, will fill the position of treasurer. Homer Brownlow, a junior theology student, will be poster for the club. The publicity is to Lynn Baker.

The Colporteur Club will present W. A. Higgins, publishing secretary of the Southern Union, at the January 11 chapel hour. He will award the scholarship certificates to those who conducted a successful summer of evangelistic canvassing.

The club will hold its first organized meeting Sunday night, January 13, in the Reynolds Hall lecture room.

Plans have been made, reveals Donesky, several of the club to conduct a series of lectures on gospel subjects.

"It is the purpose of the Colporteur Club," said Donesky, "to help spread the gospel of Jesus Christ. We are planning to canvass a fundamental knowledge of gospel principles to the masses of men, women, children, and to aid all students who are to serve God, whether by giving themselves or by selling books."

Line Gives Second Lecture at SMC

"The Columbia River" was the name of the moving picture given with lecture by Franco R. Line Saturday evening, December 8.

Mr. Line traveled the river from its source to its mouth for three years with his wife and daughter. He observed its terrain and its people, securing kochinche pictures to illustrate his findings.

In presenting the Columbia, Mr. Line depicted it as a personality, and he emphasized, "The story of the Columbia is the story of its people."

The pictures included scenes of the atomic energy center at Hanford, the lumber industry, the salmon industry and the Indian reservation of Salina Falls; also included were scenes of sunny, happy, mountain valleys, colorful falls, the Lake Louise area of glaciers, forests of Douglas firs, and fields of wild flowers.

Dr. C. B. Wickham, SMC's second time. Mr. Line has visited the Collegedale campus.

Senior Sketches, 1951-52

This issue of the ACCENT brings the first in a series of introductions of the members of SMC's class of '52. In this issue four of the future graduates are presented.

Two of the "future business leaders of America" are William Edward Jones of Andale, H. Buford

William Jones

Jones, a community student, was a freshman here in 1947-48 and returned this June to complete his work with a B. A. in business administration. He has attended both Springfield College and the Extension Division of the University of Alabama in Mobile, Alabama. In addition he took special training for one year at the Medical Technicum School, Fitzsimons General Hospital, in Denver, Colorado.

While attending the University of Alabama, Jones worked as a junior staff starter and generator repairer at the Brookley Air Force Base in Mobile. Since last June his work in the College Press and preparing for Mr. Jones' classes have consumed most of his time. His hit spots as a special instructor.

Jones looks forward to the time when he can operate his own business.

Andrew Ruffel

Ruffel, before coming to SMC last January on his furlough, was the principal of the Central American Vocational College in Costa Rica. After leaving his degree in business administration he will be the Home Missionary and Sabbath school secretary of the First Baptist Church of San Diego, Union.

Ruffel is the grandson of George Ruffel, who in 1890 went from Kansas to teach in South America as the first supporting missionary to that field. He himself has spent seventeen years in graduating from a business curriculum in 1932. He finished the two-year course offered at the River Plate Junior College in Argentina. He became a registered accountant in Chile in 1940 and since coming to SMC has been employed in the college as accounting officer. This year he is the secretary-treasurer of his graduating class.

Mrs. Ruffel, the former Ruth Mangold, will graduate from SMC in the spring with a B. A. in elementary education. Having become a registered nurse in Argentina, she has been employed at the Children's Hospital in Chattanooga since her arrival at Collegedale.

Joseph Jordan

Joseph Jordan, president of the student association, presented an address on December 10 a summary of the activities of the student association as an organized group and what can be expected from it in the future.

In answering the question, "What has the student association accomplished this year?" Jordan told of the organization of the clubs, classes, and prayer banks in the dormitories and on the coffee shop.

Looking to the future, he told of the coming Quiz Parade, January 12 when over 500 members of prizes will be given to contestants.

In explaining what the money taken from the benefit program will be used for, Jordan told of the needs of several campus organizations. One of the most important of these is the student Christian camp, broadcasting service.

Virgil Beachum

A Texas who really likes Texas—Virgil Beachum. He is a graduate of Southwestern Junior College and also graduated from that college by enrolling in SMC in September, 1950.

During the year, he spent in the army, both in the United States and in the Combat Infantryman's Badge, individual citation, and the Purple Heart. Much of this "experience" (one word) was spent in New Guinea, where Beau Champ met Seventh-day Adventist as well as who, he states, definitely influenced him later becoming an Adventist.

Beachum, with a theology major and minors in history and education, has a special interest in temperance work and is president of the Collegedale chapter of the American Temperance Society. Other offices he has held are: president of the Texas club, a "booster" club in the Texas conference; leader of the Testimony band and junior deacon of the church at Kerens, Texas; leader of the jail band here in 1951, and teacher in the Sabbath school.

Before coming to school, Beachum worked as electrician, plumber, mechanic, and teacher and he has worked in the maintenance department here. This year he is one of the men at the College Press who will show you where to find the pollt eggs and will save your groceries up for you.

Mrs. Stonebraker reports that he can also sack up a few groceries at home. The Beachums have two children—Virgil II, and Rockell, 8.

When asked what he wants to do after graduation, he replied, "Anything that will help finish his high school has to be done."

Hugh Leggett

The president of the January '52 graduating class is theology major Hugh Leggett. He is from Bossburg, Mississippi, as his home town Thirtytwo months of army life, a purple heart, running his own mail business, and serving in the army, preceded his coming to SMC in 1948.

His Leggett has become well acquainted with the lanes on Bank's office and has done work ranging from grading personal evangelism papers and organizing the seminar groups to serving as office secretary and file clerk. By means of the colored slides taken by Leggett last summer, Collegedale residents have gained a glimpse of the college field—hool of evangelism in action, for photography ranks highest on his list of hobbies. He has spent some time in the colporteur field.

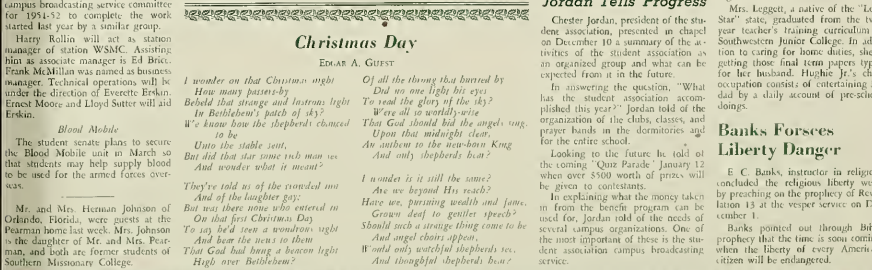

One of the offices which he has filled here are: pastor of the Veterans' Club, associate Sabbath school superintendent, Sabbath school teacher, assistant MV leader, seminar band leader, president of the '51 junior class, and president of the January graduating class of '52.

Mrs. Leggett, a native of the "Lone Star" state, gave the first of the two year teacher's training curriculum at Southwestern Junior College. In addition to caring for home duties, she is getting those final items paper typed for her husband. Huhph Jr.'s chief occupation consists of contenting his mind with a daily account of precise-logic slips.

Banks Forces Liberty Danter

E. C. Banks, instructor in religion, concluded the religious liberty week by preaching on the proselycy of Revelation 18 of the vesper service of December 1.

Banks pointed out through Bible study that the purpose of the religious liberty of every American citizen will be endangered.

Christmas Day

EDGAR A. GIPST

*I wonder on this Christmas night
How many passionately
Behold that strange and loveliest light
Of Bethlehem's babe of sky?*

*Who know how the shepherds' choiced to be
Upon the stable, snare,
But that that some tame man deen
And wonder what it meant?*

*They've told us of the stabled one
And of the laugher joy,
But you have never entered no
On this Christmas Day,
To say how true a wonderlight
Upon him, how true to them
That God had hung a heaven light High over Bethlehem?*

*Of all the things that burst by
Did one eye light his eyes?
To read the glory of the sky?
Was he not as worldly-wise
Than God should had the angels warn,
Upon that midnight clear,
An angel of peace, peace, peace,
And only shepherds' horn?*

*I wonder is it still the same?
Is my dream had true?
Have you, pursuing wealth and fame,
Grown dead to gentler speech?
Should such a strange thing come to be
And thought about appear,
Would you wish wealthy shepherds here,
And thoughtful shepherds here?*

SPRING NEW YEAR

OPINION POLL

By ANNI ROKK

In connection with the recent issue of class absences which confronts the student community on scholarship, board class sets? Should the student's grades be reduced, or a small fee imposed? Or do you disagree with both?

I'd Doubt I don't think credit could be taken from your grades, but small fee might keep people from skipping too many classes.

Justi Doubt I don't agree with either one, because I think it is the person's hard luck if he is not someone in class a that is important.

Marine Albert—I don't think it is wrong in class, I do not think they should be on, but do I approve of charging fee.

Dorothy Dutech—Ditto.

Bahad's Andre—I definitely do not think you should take a away from your grades.

John Pickett—I disagree with both because if you give a grade that is lower than you deserve it should not be in class; you may make it without being in class.

Margaret Abell—I think some regulations should be made and I would rather be a cut in grades than in hours of college credit.

Rhoda Goggans—I don't think they should do anything, because if you are in class; you will not make good grades.

John Tucker—Neither one!

Allford Spauld—I don't think either. If you must your class, it is your loss, not the school's—and you are already paying that fee.

Tabernacle Gets New Maple Floor

The tabernacle flooring project is well under way, according to Horace Tucker, pastor of the Collegedale Church.

The work was begun last Fall. The work first started in the rooms to the rear of the platform and worked toward. During the summer, the visiting workers laid the sub-floor covering the entire surface of the audience and raising it over three inches. Beginning from the eastern floor a layer of asphalt was first put down; the sweepers treated with no-dust and tennite; readings were then fastened to the floor. After another coat of asphalt the workers laid the rock wood insulation. Over this was laid the sub-floor in log-cabin fashion. Before beginning the laying of the maple hardwood, a layer of 30-pound felt was placed.

Pastor Beckner expects the floor to be finished before the end of the year. The 1,000 feet of maple, the materials, and the labor will cost between $8,000 and $9,000, revealed Pastor Beckner.

IRC Week Coming January 14-19

Elmer James I. Robinson, associate secretary of the General Conference will be the guest speaker for the International Relations Week here January 14 to 19.

The International Relations Week is sponsored by the International Relations Club and is directed by Eugene R. Wood, president, and Sherman Peterson, vice-president.

In chapel on January 14, the speakers will be Maurice Abbott and Maxine Peterson in the evening, January 16, Emory Hoyt and Richard Shan will address the student body and faculty.

Friday and Saturday, January 18 and 19, Elder Robinson will address the ministerial seminar, the student body and faculty at 8:00 p.m. The church will have a breakfast, Sabbath morning, and the Missionary Volunteer society Sabbath afternoon. Elder Robinson will be available for individual interviews with students who are interested in overseas missions service.

MV Band Prepares Christmas Baskets

C. L. Beason and Joe Malcolm report that Christmas baskets consisting of fruit, nuts, and candy, are being prepared to send to the Chattanooga City Jail. This program is being prepared by the month-old Christmas service band, which is working in coordination with the jail band.

Beason stated that the baskets will be delivered about December 23. There will be one basket for each cell.

Students Play In Academy Chapel
 "Merry Christmas" These were the huge bright red letters that greeted the eyes of each student of the Collegedale Academy and their visitors as they assembled in chapel for the academy formal meeting on December 10 at 3:15.

Since filled the room when Jim Alexander came out to read Luke 2:1, 3, 7, the scripture reading. This was immediately followed by "Oh, Holy Night," a vocal solo by Mary Ellen Carlen, accompanied by Marilyn Dillow. Beth McKee offered the opening prayer.

The program began with Bill Bailey singing "Christmas in Killiney." A Donna Weber, was followed by a guitar duet played by Harry Davenport and James Marshall. Harry played an electric guitar while James accompanied him on the organ.

While Christmas music was being played on the organ by Marilyn Dillow, Rhoda Goggans was busy drawing a snow scene of a white Christmas vocalized by Frances Farby, "You'll Never Walk Alone," and Janet Batsch, choir, "I'll Be Home for Christmas." They were directed by Gene White as he played a solo on his trumpet.

Marilyn Dillow sang "Christmas Island" and Betty Nipper gave a vocal interpretation of the song "My Two Front Teeth." The Southmettes Trio, consisting of Mary Ellen Carlen, Marilyn Dillow, and Frances Farby, sang "Winter Wonder Land" to conclude the program.

THE CHRISTMAS SEASON

It's Christmas again! It's in the air, it's everywhere. The season almost everyone of us likes best of all. Maybe it is the Santa Claus is coming and everyone is trying hard to be the old gentleman won't pass him by; but whatever it is, you can't help but feel that friendly spirit around. After Christmas, the New Year with all its happy celebrations, its resolutions, and its opportunities for starting over, year after year. Hear the Christmas carols? Sure, its all part of the clean page. Hear the Christmas carols? Sure, its all part of the home, have a good vacation, and when you come back to school ready to hit it twice as hard.

Merry Christmas!

EPISODES . . .

As a project in a literature unit on Latin America, the English I students, working in pairs, have made original illustrated booklets dealing with an assortment of topics. Donna Dietrich and J. B. Thomas made a booklet on Latin-American culture. Gwen Gardner and Myrna Nelson, a booklet on the countries of Central America; Jenny Bayton and Don Silver, a booklet on illustrated booklets dealing with an assortment of topics. Donna Dietrich and J. B. Thomas made a booklet on Latin-American culture. Gwen Gardner and Myrna Nelson, a booklet on the countries of Central America; Jenny Bayton and Don Silver, a booklet on the Spanish-speaking countries of Latin America; and Dale Vance and Leonard Mahan, a booklet on the countries of South America.

Thirteen academy students and two academy teachers joined the 82-volume choir in the presentation of "The Messiah" Friday, December 14 at 7:30. The students were: Parker, Betty Nipper, Doris Dale, Bonnie Brown, Alexander Eskridge, Peter Durichke, Gloria Witt, Marjorie Parker, Joyce Banks, Lynne Benson, and Shirley Jones. The teachers were Mrs. Koudale and Mr. Hoar.

Six practice teachers are getting experience in the classroom as they meet their various classes each day at Collegedale Academy.

Miss Ruby Teachey has been teaching grammar in the English I class. Miss Elaine Higdon has had a literature unit on animals in English II. Mr. Vezel Bernhamy is teaching American history. Mr. Johnny Ryals, world history. Mr. Lester Parks, New Testament history and Bible doctrines; and Mrs. Mary Goswaly, a unit on birds and insects in biology.

To provide a laboratory for budding news reporters of the SOUTHERN ACCENT, Mrs. Koudale is teaching a unit in journalism in English IV class.

The students of Collegedale Academy will be interested to learn of the recent tour of visiting American history. Mr. Johnny Ryals, world history. Mr. Lester Parks, New Testament history and Bible doctrines; and Mrs. Mary Goswaly, a unit on birds and insects in biology.

Two students, taking an extra long time going up the stairs of Lynn Wood Hall the other day, were after.

They moved to let him pass, and he laughed. That all right, you might say. But when I'm old and gray, I move slowly, too.

A basketball game was being played in this arena being written. The editor enthusiastic over the game, he forgot to come to the board meeting. He requests money to the gym and met him madly in the general direction Wood Hall the other day, was to find Mr. Shirre publicly was after.

When Floyd Mohr was in Spanish, one word was stamped him. Mrs. Allen told it meant "to marry." Floyd seem to remember it, and adding it again. Mrs. Allen had him that he wasn't not seen to the meaning in the past, perhaps. I wonder if he's right?

Mrs. Esther Allen, a class teacher from Brevard County, Fla., is teaching Spanish in the Spanish classes. Mr. and Mrs. Alberto and their two sons, are in charge of the program for about two years. Mrs. AB taught Mrs. Dietz's French class in W. H. Higgins attending Collegedale Academy, attended convention of the Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools at the school in the South at Petersburg, Florida, along with other educators, representing that are accredited by the State. Such educators as George G. Columbia University and formerly of Pasadena, California, at the convention.

Collegedale and Forest Hills are the only two schools in the area.

Mr. Higgins stated that the first time he saw the South.

10 Seniors To Graduate Next Week I. M. Evans Will Be Guest Speaker

Commencement exercises for the January graduates will be held January 26 at 8:00 p.m. in the College chapel. Elder I. M. Evans, president of the Alabama-Mississippi conference, will be the guest speaker.

The Adolphus Quartet; Janet Bakholer, soloist; and Ernest Matinkovic, violinist, are scheduled for parts on the commencement program.

The members of this first January graduating class are: Hugh Leggett, president; Andrew Ruffel, secretary-treasurer; Sherman Peterson, pastor; Harold Armstrong; Virgil Beachamp; James Davis; William Jones; Kline Lloyd; and Lester Palk.

Three of the graduates have already made post-graduate plans. Ruffel is going to Cuba to serve as home missionary secretary. Hugh Leggett will be a pastoral intern in the Alabama-Mississippi conference; and Kline Lloyd plans to go into the home-trainer business with his brother-in-law.

Rasmussen Speaks On Power of God

LORENT MITCHELL

Elder L. Rasmussen, assistant educational secretary of the General Conference, was the guest speaker for the Friday evening vesper service January 11 and the church service January 12.

Speaking on the subject, "The Power of God," Elder Rasmussen illustrated that God can transform hardened war criminals into "lovable and loving Christians."

His sermon at the eleven o'clock hour Sabbath was along the same topic of "The Power of Prayer." He told of the great faith of our believers in the war-torn countries of Europe and Asia where communism is making such serious inroads. Elder Rasmussen recently returned from a trip to these countries.

Also the speaker in chapel Friday, January 11, Elder Rasmussen revealed what of the impressions he received while traveling through twenty-five countries of Europe and Asia.

Floor Completed In Tabernacle

NORMAN EZZELLE

The flooring of the Tabernacle-Auditorium, which was begun approximately two weeks before Thanksgiving, was completed January 2, according to Pastor H. R. Beckler.

The church started raising money for the flooring a year ago last September. Three to four thousand dollars were raised by the church by Pastor Beckler's careful buying of the lumber used and the free labor received. The total cost of flooring the Tabernacle was approximately $10,000.

To cover the 11,000 feet of floor space in the Tabernacle, it took 14,600 feet of hardwood maple. It was estimated that the men who sanded and finished the floor walked between 350 miles of maple. Most of the maple was backwards. Also they spent several hundred hours on their hands and knees.

Skating, along with basketball and volleyball, will be one of the supervised gym activities made possible by the new floor, states Pastor Beckler.

Kitchen Plans New Checking System

BARBARA ANDREIS

In a special committee held on January 9 a new plan was formulated to aid in the checking of trays in the dining room. This plan will be carried on for one week, beginning with the new semester, on a trial basis.

The object of a new checking system is to make the checking more accurate. By the use of an automatic adding machine the possibilities of mistakes will be eliminated, thus safeguarding the students as well as the cafeteria.

Instead of the present setup, there will be two tables. After the student has made his selection of food, he passes by the first table where his purchases will be totaled on the adding machine. He will then be given a ticket which he is to give to the recorder at the second table. The amount will be recorded and the ticket returned to the purchaser.

The special committee delegated to study the problems of the cafeteria included: Mr. Charles Fleming, cafeteria business manager; Mrs. C. A. Williams, director of food services; Dr. R. L. Harmell, co-ordinator of student activities; Margaret Morley, women's forum president; Dr. H. H. Nelson, forum president; and Chester Jordan, student association president.

20 Species Seen In Bird Census

A covey of Horned Larks of the species Eurostoops has been observed by the nature class as it made a census of the bird population on the Collegedale campus during the Christmas holiday. These larks, although plentiful in other parts of the country, are rarely seen in this area. Other birds listed in this survey numbered over 750 and included 20 different species.

The excursion started Christmas morning at Mr. George B. Dean's home on Morningside Drive. There, checklists, cardinals, wrens, juncos, and even red-bellied woodpeckers were seen and enumerated. The walnut trees by the Brown House yielded a flock of blue jays, while many starlings and sparrows were flitting about the dairy and farm buildings.

Down in the pasture, there was almost impossible to count the myriads of meadow-larks, so an estimate was made of their number. There was also found the ring-necked plover with its plaintive cry. At the old quarry near the wood shop a meadow lark was seen, and the area beyond Lippman's house contained a flock of white-throated sparrows.

One return trip bluebirds were perching on the wires by the railroad track, and a flock of blackbirds fed nearby.

Mr. Dean, the campus bird specialist, led out in the survey and was assisted by Mrs. Bernice Beck and Alvin C. Beck, students in the nature class.

This survey was made in connection with the Audubon Society of America and is a yearly, non-wide event. The invitation to participate was extended to the biology department of SMC by Mr. Robert Sparks Walker, head of the Chattanooga chapter of the A.S.A.

Over 1,000 Attend "Radio Varieties"; $800 in Prizes Given at SA Benefit Program

ANNE PHILLIPS

"Radio Varieties" featuring "Truth or Consequences" and "Stop the Music" were presented Saturday night, January 12, at the Student Association benefit program. The central theme of the program was the giving away of $800 in prizes furnished by over 35 manufacturers and advertisers.

Danny Lewis was the over-all master of ceremonies. He introduced the program to a crowd of over 1,000 people by giving away three door prizes to children. Following this he introduced Truth or Consequences with Wayne Thayer as master of ceremonies.

Truth or Consequences was highlighted by the first contestant, Jimmy Davis. His consequence was to secure five-dollars from some resident of Collegedale valley. He was to do this without telling that he was from the program. His story was that his car was broken down and he needed the money to have it towed in to a service station. Davis was back shortly with the five dollars that he had secured from a Mr. Housley who lives near the college. Davis and Housley each received gifts for giving such good sports.

Following the Truth or Consequences program, Dan Lewis conducted a drawing for a Royal portable typewriter. Charles Morgan was successful in answering Lewis' question and was awarded the $50 prize.

Stop the Music continued the program with J. J. Miller as master of ceremonies and Johnny Harris assisting him. The very first contestant, Sue Broarty, was not only successful in stopping the music but indicated the mystery melody tune in a matter of seconds. Her inquiry melody reward was a Mantel Silver King Bicycle.

Mrs. J. B. Thomas, the second contestant on the program, was also successful in stopping the music and identifying the new mystery melody. Her mystery melody reward was a Chelsea Spin-Air window fan.

Compassing prizes are Carol McClure and Chester Morgan, top prize winners in the Student Association benefit program. Carol won an Air-Way Semiarium vacuum cleaner with several accessories. Chester' prize is a portable Royal typewriter.

Freshman Class Donates $150 To Unfortunate Academy

Duo-Piano Concert For Tomorrow Night

MARY YOUNG AND CAROL MCCLEURE Nelson and Neal, the Australian-American duo-piano team, will appear January 19 in the auditorium, where they will present one of the most outstanding recital programs of the year.

Mr. Neal, a native of Tennessee, was at one time a radio announcer. He also held an executive position in Philadelphia and produced television spots for the local stations. Along with these achievements, he accomplished much in the field of music by winning a coveted scholarship to the Curtis Institute of Music. Here he met and fell in love with Allison Nelson, whom he later married.

Allison Nelson, now Mrs. Harry Neal, was at one time Australia's leading child prodigy. In 1938, when Nelson and Neal first became a two-piano team, they began a year-and-a-half series of television programs in Philadelphia. This was the only known television program devoted exclusively to classical music.

Since last May when they returned from making a concert tour of Australia, Mr. and Mrs. Neal have been on the road almost constantly during their specially built truck which carries their matched grand pianos.

Assisting a self-supporting Seventh-day Adventist academy was voted unanimously as the freshman class project at their meeting December 17, according to Ted Dorick, president of the class.

This institution, whose source of income is wholly dependent upon the sale, has had the misfortune of wrecking the tractor with which all the work in preparing, caring for, and gathering its crops was done. The steering apparatus and block of the tractor were damaged in its accident and the school had no means with which to repair the tractor. The freshman class came to their rescue by voting to pay for the amount of $150, votes Dorick.

Election Places 70 in Church and MV Offices for '52

The annual election of officers for the Collegedale Sabbath school and Missionary Volunteer society has now been completed and the seventy church members are ready to take over the duties for 1952, according to Pastor H. R. Beckler.

William B. Higgins will take office as general co-ordinator of the Collegedale Sabbath school system, assisted by Mr. George I. Gott, Mrs. Roger (Continued on page 4)

A DROP OF INK...

To say that one has good character usually means that he has good social qualities. One's character is made up of the little things he does or does not do, or the way he acts in emergencies.

Often one's character is merely a reflection of the social attitudes and tendencies of his family and himself at home. Many great men are known by the big incidents in their lives, but truly great men are known more for the small, seemingly insignificant things.

A man once approached Dwight L. Moody and asked for his definition of character. Moody thought a moment and then replied "Character is what you are in the dark."

Character is certainly important wherever one goes, and whatever one chooses to do. "Reputation is what people think you are; character is what you really are."

On the Faculty Side

HELEN WITSCHECH

In spite of their many duties the faculty seem to find time to live, even if they must do it at the vacation time. At such times the workload seems to effect all, for many teachers left Colgate during the Christmas holidays.

Mr. and Mrs. Steen headed west to California where their daughter, Mrs. Frank Jobe, lives.

Mr. and Mrs. Hour, Barbara Hour, and Mrs. Hour's sister, Miss Ethel Bowen, visited Florida.

Not to be outdone by their gypsy neighbors, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Wain, who, Helen, Jeanette, and even the family dog spent Christmas with Elder Witschesch's parents who live in Alhambra Springs, Florida.

Miss Edna Stonebraker remained in Florida for her vacation after taking a number of the premarital students down to attend the capping exercises at the Florida Sanitarium and Hospital.

Perhaps the briefest vacations are the Southern States were spent by Mr. Gott and Mr. Bichhof, who drove down with the premarital students on December 18 and returned to the college on December 20.

Mr. Mizelle also went to Florida with the premarital group, and brought back his mother a few days later.

Not all the faculty members wandered to warmer places however.

Dr. and Mrs. Hammill and Roger paid New York City a visit over the holidays. In spite of the fact that Dr. Hammill attended three conventions while there, Mrs. Hammill says that they found time to visit Radio City where they attended a Betty Crocker program and "Strike It Rich."

Mrs. Hammill says rather ruefully, "We went to the 'Strike It Rich' program..."

DIANNE MATTHEWS AND CAROLYN MCCARTY
Opening the Leap Year Almanac we found Carol Jean very busily involved in preparing for an "Extra Special Date," so busy, in fact, that she had to find some new reports for her column.

Sweet on Candy
Sings the song "I'm Sweet on Candy" could apply to Dora Diana and Dorothy McClellan since Peggy Woodall and Colleen Knight brought back so much candy. This is discussed putting very rapidly according to reports.

When we asked Janet Batchelor for gossip, she wanted to know why she could not see the pictures Jean Wallace had taken in Dody Landson's room. Come on, Jeanie, show them to her!

We'd like to know why Martha Schmitt, Dorothy Dorch, Evelyn Bradford, Peggy Greene, and Phyllis Toles are wearing warts on their right arms.

Could it be Colene's horse, that Wade gave her, that is causing Donna Weber and her roommate to low sleep?

Bernie Young has such a soothing voice that Phyllis Mottler falls asleep at the sound of it.

Happy Year Composers

Leap year reveals a number of them. We are proud to say we have two great composers. They are Mary Youngs and Ingrid Rody. The song "If You're Married" by Dick Harris, W. P. Shiva, and Jim Duke.

New officers were elected in the Married Couples' Forum for the second semester. They are: C. L. Beson, president; Adeline Bender, vice-president; Violet Harris, secretary; and Lawrence Northrup, treasurer.

A social committee for the forum, composed of Eugene Wood, Fred Wilson, and Mrs. C. L. Beson, are already planning some get-togethers.

J. D. Frett has organized prayer bands which meet every Monday night and following this, Mrs. Eugene Wood is conducting a class in healthful cooking. She is teaching the Indies (and men, too, if they wish to attend) how to cook according to the Spirit of Prophecy.

We're sorry to see Bob Hayes graduate the Acciter staff. He has done a good job of writing this column, but it seems that between work and classes he doesn't have enough time, and so has resigned.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Law were visited recently by Mrs. McGraw, who came from California to visit them. They had a real reunion as Bob hadn't seen his parents in three years.

Mrs. F. C. McGraw visited her daughter and son-in-law, the Alvin Gehlerts, for a week. Mrs. McGraw is from San Antonio, Texas.

Because of illness, Mrs. Clyde Springfield and baby have remained in Louisiana since the Christmas holidays.

This chapel program marked the first in a series being sponsored during the "International Relations Week" by the local International Relations Club.

A brass quartet composed of Ted Dorch, Wayne Rindick, Gene Wine, and N. L. Krosgard played "Oh, Beautiful for Spacious Skies." Mrs. Mary Beson, second secretary of the IRC, and James McKinney, second semester president, participated in the devotional service which preceded the program.

Charles Hiss pointed out parallel characteristics of two opposing forces: Catholicism and Communism. Emergent Holy Spirit is the presence of Catholicism in international politics today by using the recognition which has been given to Generalissimo Franco's regime.

A Dash of Spice

as follows:
'I wish I had an apple on a tree,
Then I wouldn't have to stomp out the weeds.

Greetings to Grace Sindus, our new member from Glendale, California.

Could it be Joyce Cook has quit wearing her perfume lately? We have missed her "Forever Spring" and we have had some Dorothy Wheeler lately.

The girls wish to express their thanks to whom it may concern for our four new showers which were installed on third of Maudie Jones Hall during Christmas vacation. Due to the fact that Grace and Priscilla Baker have spent so much time in them, we are forced to plan a time limit.

Robbie on the Job

Say, Mary Charlin had a very mysterious phone call the other night. Who was it, Mary?

It seems that Ann Gleam got a new horn for Christmas. Because of her lack of practice, she decided to blow after lights were out. Three times she blew it, which brought the monitor boys on Jerry McKinnis' ranting.

When she was brought by Miss Stoneberry she wanted to know "what she had done." I wonder—Anyhow, she was very much relieved when she found out that Robbie was only joking.

Betty Caudle likes "charcoal bread." Right, Betty? Signing off—Carol Jean will report next time.

FRESHMAN

Candlelighting Ceremony Highlights the First Friday Night MV Program of Year

The candlelighting ceremony is seen from the platform of the tabernacle. The entire audience of 200 lighted their candles in only two minutes.

The candle flickered, then burst into flame. Quickly the light was passed to the others on the platform and they, in turn, lighted candles, passing the light to each member of the congregation. At first just a flicker—but the light grew until the whole tabernacle was lit with an awe-inspiring glow. It was the College-led MV society in their lights high.

For the first time this year, the MV society presented its program on Friday night, January 5, instead of on Sabbath afternoon. After Don Crook sang "Give Me the Bible," five student speakers—Ruby Martin, Bob McGunber, Lester Park, Helen Brazz, and Helen Wittichbe—gave different values of the Bible. Elder R. H. Went-land, Home Missionary Secretary of the Southern Union Conference, commented briefly on the value of a light shining in the darkness. Then taking the candle that was first litged at the Layman's Congress in Grand Lodge, Michigan, last summer, he approached the small table on the platform. On the table were an open bible and two lighted candles representing the light of God's word. As Elder Wentland began to pass the light to others, the Adolphus Quartet sang, "Go Ye Into All the World."

The meeting closed with the Advent youth of Collegedale marching out the center aisle of the Tabernacle-Auditorium, holding their lights high and singing "I'll share my faith, with others on his way." ...

Collegedale Forms Hamilton County's Second Junior Chamber of Commerce

Hamilton County's second Junior Chamber of Commerce was organized Sunday evening, January 6, at Collegedale, Tennessee. This was the local group's second organizational meeting in Southern Missionary College. The membership is composed of faculty, staff, and students of the college.

Craig Parrish, manager of the Southern Merchandise Agency at Collegedale, was elected president. He has been serving as temporary chairman of the group which is being sponsored by the Chattanooga Jaycees and expected to have its charter application ready for approval by the Tennessee Jaycees board meeting in Chattanooga, January 26-27. Roy Crawford, the former manager of the College Auto Sales and part-time assistant business manager, served as temporary secretary.

E. C. Meible, cashier and assistant treasurer, was elected as the first vice-president for external affairs. Dewey Urlik, business manager of Southern Memories, second vice-president for internal affairs. Roy Battle, director of the Medical Cadet Corps, secretary, and Winston Preston, shop foreman of the press, treasurer.

Others elected to the board of Directors were: George Goff, assistant business manager of the college; Robert Harless, manager of the College Auto Sales; Aubrey Liles, student office worker; and Roy Yeast, student assistant in the Day Processing Department.

The guest speaker, Mr. William S. Hagan, former president of the Chattanooga unit and now a national director, spoke on the aims and ideals of the organization. A constitution and by-laws were adopted by the Collegedale group.

The group set its first general meeting for Sunday, January 13, at 7:30 p.m. in the Hickman Hall lecture room. Among the reports will be that of the membership committee composed of Fred Samborn, Rubin Lopez, Ralph Smith, Carl Brown, and Alfred Mitchell.

Collegedale is the second Jaycee group organized under the administration of Raymond Spearman, Chattanooga president. The other members of the extension committee are Grady Jackson, Jr., state vice-president; Harold Mitchell, area director; Lester Llewellyn, local vice-president; and Jim Armstrong, state and national affairs committee chairman. He will be the contact man for the new clubs.

Chief George R. Pezerman was just about at his wick's end about the matter. Then an article in the "Listening Post" section of the Youth's Instructor told of a group in California who were having the same trouble and solved it in this novel manner of providing salt licks.

This article was first noticed by Art Carl Smith, whose husband is assistant maintenance foreman. She told her husband and he told the boss. The salt licks were constructed and installed, and now it is hoped that the animals will happily work on the salt and not on the sensitive telephone lines.

Floridian Wills 800 Volumes to Library

MARY ELIZABETH BEANS
Books are keys.
They are the fountain of wisdom.
Books are paths
That upward lead;
Books are gates
To land of pleasure
Books are friends—
Come let us read.

In just a short time a new group of books will be placed on the shelves for circulation; should you chance to turn to the files you will find the little gem written above. It is inscribed on the top page of Orson C. Warner.

The library of Southern Missionary College is the recipient of over 800 volumes which constituted the library of Orson C. Warner. Elder C. E. Wittichbe became acquainted with Mr. Warner at a campmeeting, and their mutual interests in books formed a lasting bond between them.

On one of his trips through Florida, Elder Wittichbe visited with Mr. Warner and he is looked over by his friend's book-filled library. He remarked "You should request in your will that Southern Missionary College receive your books, for they should be placed where they will be appreciated and enjoyed by many."

Mr. Warner died about a year ago, and he did will all of his books to Southern Missionary College. At the present time many of the books have been prepared to be placed on the shelves for circulation.

Yes, books are friends. As they come your way, they should be sought up, searched the titles—we passed just a bit. Although we do not know the great, his books tell a great deal about him. We would recognize that he was a student and a thinker.

As you begin the journey into a new world, why don't you become better acquainted with "your" invaluable friends—these good books? The books in the library are so easy to read, so to direct us. They are real friends. Come, let us read.

Trailer Life Brings Varied Occurrences

ERWIN CARL ELSNER
What could be more enjoyable than to awaken in the morning to the clinking of the garbage truck, making its daily (7) stop at the camp, placed so conveniently throughout the camp. Ah, yes! it is time to arise and put on the kettle, but alas, where is the water? Oh, well, it's only about a block to the wash-house.

The wash-basin is over and it's time to do dishes, but uh! oh, where is the water? Well, at least it takes only about twenty buckets a day to supply enough water for cooking and dishes.

Here it is time for lunch, but where is mama? I guess she tripped in one of those holes where a tree used to be, and maybe she is lying unconscious with a broken leg. Oh, no, here she comes.

Ah, lunch is over and the baby is sleeping. Now I can mop the floor, then mop, raising again and what's the use, when the mud runs right in your hair.

Well! here comes the maintenance man with a crack four inches wide, under the kitchen door. Maintenance must have decided it was time to get repairs when my last tank of butane lasted only eight days.

Supper is over and mama is wanting to do dishes, while daddy has gone to get you pumped it, water! Ah, another day has passed and while the soft strains of the tubernacle organ float softly through the air we realize it isn't such a bad life after all.

Senior Sketches, 1951-52

MARLENE HANBY
This freshman issue of the ACCENT continues the series of introductions of the members of SMC's class of '52. In this issue three more of the Century College and McMurry are being introduced. All are religious majors.

Lester Park
After spending two years in the U.S. Army, Lester Park decided that SMC was the next good place to stop. He is a native of California.

Besides grading Greek papers, and practice-teaching Bible doctrines and New Testament History in the Academy, he is assistant manager in the College store.

Before coming to SMC, Park worked as clerk in a drupstore, as automobile driver, carpenter, construction foreman, and contractor. He likes coin collecting and tinkering with automobiles as his pastime interests.

Park, with a Bible major and minors in history and education, plans to be a missionary or a dean of boys and teach Bible and history in a high school. He has a special interest in young people.

Some of the offices which he has held are: Sabbath school superintendent of tabernacle division; Sabbath school secretary; seminar board leader; member of the traffic and safety committee and voluntary police.

Mr. Park says that his wife should get half of his degree for being so patient and helpful to him, and Mrs. Park has two children, Denny and Tedy.

Did You Know?

Sherman Peterson

Sherman Peterson being setting at SMC took a medical laboratory and physics technician course at the Century College, McMurry in technology in Chicago. He also attended Emmanuel Missionary College in 1942.

With a major in religion and a minor in business, Peterson is anxious to begin a self-supporting endeavor without employing technical evangelism.

The offices that Peterson has filled while at SMC are: seminar band leader, superintendent of the Sabbath school, vice-president of junior class, vice-president of International Relations Club, Sabbath school teacher, and deacon.

Before coming to school Peterson worked as lab technician, carpenter, and also engaged in floor and wall tile making, in all business with his father. He likes photography and oil painting as his hobbies. He has also worked in the field of health.

Mrs. Peterson is key boss with their two children, a boy and a girl.

Harold Armstrong

Harold Armstrong, who claims St. Petersburg, Florida, as his home town, attended Oregon State College, and one year, he attended in Tallahassee, Florida. He was assistant dean of boys. He has served four times in the U.S. Navy, most of which time was sea duty.

Working in the maintenance and service department and staying keepers of the automobile, he has also been the one who has filled while at SMC are: vice-president of seminar, historian for career, and chairman of the Young Men's League on his list of hobbies.

Before coming to school Armstrong worked as electrician, plumber, civil engineer, and mechanic, and also on construction work.

As his future work, he plans to be a minister. Armstrong has a major in religion, a double major in history and education, and has been a member in St. Petersburg, Florida. In addition to caring for other home duties, he is kept busy with their one child, a son.

Campus Plants 2,500 Pansies

JAMES SCOTT
Two thousand five hundred pansies, and two thousand crocuses were set out by the campus department on December 19, in the beds in front of the Maude Jones Hall, the library, and Lynn Wood Hall. Mr. A. W. Spalding, father of the planter, said the department hopes to plant flowers in front of Tall Hall this summer.

Spalding said that the plants, including larch, was $80, and the pansies will bloom in the early spring. Carnas will be re-set for summer blossom.

Mr. Spalding revealed that his crew hopes to take out three of the trees in front of Tall Hall this winter and plant flowers in their place.

All students, workers, and faculty are urged to use the stepping-stones which have been placed in front of the dining room walk for their convenience in getting across there. Last year, 1951-52, Spalding said that some of the canna plants were broken down when the flower beds were used as shortcuts to destinations. Already steppes have broken the wire and some of the stakes that are around the new plants. "Students can have their own cooperation from everyone on the campus, our work in beautifying our campus is made possible," stated Mr. Spalding.

After a day of fasting and prayer, a large group of young people and some older ones met Sabbath afternoon, January 12, for an expression meeting in Lynn Wood Hall chapel.

At the end of the service Adolph Stender gave a short vespers talk.

OPINION POLL

GRAIG BAKER

HOW DO YOU FEEL ABOUT A RECORD LIBRARY WHERE YOU COULD RELAX AND LISTEN TO GOOD MUSIC?

I think it would be a good plan to have a record library if it were placed in a proper place where it would not conflict with studying. Harold Roberts.

A record library including religious music to be used on Sabbath at homes would be useful and relaxing. Norman Anderson.

I think a record library would be a good thing. Some students don't have radios and don't have the pleasure of listening to good music. Here the students could come, relax, and enjoy wholesome entertainment. Hollis Allen.

Does Christ—It would probably be a good investment if handled in the right way. There will have to be some supervision to keep equipment in good shape. It would give students relaxation and would provide an emotional outlet.

Lynwood Robinson—I think this is a splendid idea for relaxation and the enjoyment of good music. I am willing to help in doing all that I possibly can to make it succeed. Mrs. Alice—Nothing could suit me better. Good music is the most enjoyable thing I can indulge in. It really gets me in the mood for study. I might say it's my device for the day. I'm looking forward to this accomplishment and am sure there are others who feel this way.

Bob W—I think it's an excellent idea. Some way would have to be thought up in order to keep jazz Catholics from monopolizing the place. That would make it necessary to have enough players for the same few people at the same time. Earphones would be ideal, so that everyone could hear only his and his neighbor's music.

Emily Hoy—I would be a good idea. It would give a chance for relaxation in a worthwhile way. The records should be well chosen and then no supervision of what is played would be needed.

John—Music is very much a part of true education. I believe it would be a fine idea to have such a place where one could relax to good, uplifting music.

After Christmas Vacation

(With apologies to CLEMENT CLARKE MOORE) GEORGINA FULLER AND JOHN SHUFHELDN

Suit cases were scattered all over the beds And memories of Christmas danced in our heads. 'Twas the end of vacation, and as was the rule

Classes must begin all over the school. The school books were dusted and cleaned with all care—

In fear that the teachers, too, would be there. The girls with their kerchiefs, the boys with their caps

Were hunting and searching for other warm wraps. When out in the hall there arose such a clatter

We sprang to our feet to find out the matter. With pencils and school books we ran to the door,

And raced down the stairs onto the first floor. The falling of rain and the moody gray

Gave a feeling of sadness to the people around. The much to our surprise, as we entered the hall,

A sign greeted us with "Merry Christmas to all." But Christmas was over, and the New Year had started;

And the sign on the wall made us miss the Christmas that had started.

With tests soon coming, our dreams had to end. And over the lessons our heads now must bend.

So back to our classes we went with a frown. Rather discouraged to have to end all our fun.

But we went to our rooms all ready to study. With lessons unprepared, and brains and feet muddy.

The teacher was there, with books in his hand. Fatiently waiting for our dreaming to end.

A cherry smile, and a nod of his head. Soon told us all we had nothing to dread.

He spoke not a word, but went to his job. And started the lesson; then turned with a nod;

And lying his books aside on his desk. Settled down in his chair for a long day's rest.

Hammill Attends Language Meet

BILL INGRAM Dr. R. L. Hammill attended the Biblical Language Convention held in the Union Theological Seminary in New York City, December 26 to 29. The convention was composed of the National Meeting of the Society of Biblical Literature, the National Association of Biblical Instruction, and the Association of Teachers of Hebrew Languages.

Each day 10 or 15 lectures were given on various passages of the Bible were read and discussed by different professors of the leading universities of the United States.

Dr. Hammill also attended the annual meeting of the American School of Oriental Research. There, archaeologists gave accounts of the recent excavations in Palestine, Moab, and Trans-Jordan.

While in New York Dr. Hammill was accompanied by Mrs. Hammill and Roger, visited the Statue of Liberty and City Hall.

ACCENT ON THE ACADEMIC BACK TO SCHOOL

With the Christmas holidays behind us, everyone is back to school studies and all the formality of school life.

The holidays brought a joyful break in our routine. With these pleasant dreams still in mind, we returned and find ourselves face to face with semester exams. If they intend to bring our blood pressure up to normal, our nerves will.

Most of us do not realize the speed with which the exam comes upon us. The time to prepare is now—in the days before, time—not the night before.

Good luck!

Elder L. H. Rasmussen Visits Academy Speaks on Purposes of Education

Forum Concludes Semester Meetings

The first semester Academy Forum officers gave their final chapel program Monday, January 7.

After the scripture reading by Beth McKee and prayer by Bill Alexander, the Forum speakers gave their reports and brief summaries of what the Forum has accomplished during this semester.

Bonnie Brown, first semester Forum president, opened a discussion about how to get better attendance in study hall. Several suggestions in regards to this were made.

The Academy faculty is going to decide on a plan to follow which will cut down on study hall absences.

Rollins Announces "WSMC" Progress

The college radio station WSMC is nearing "on the air" operations, announced Harry Rollins, student manager of the station.

After the station's call letters, WSMC were recently officially released by the Federal Communications Commission through the Intercollegiate Broadcasting system, of which the station is a member.

WSMC is designed to service the whole community of Collegeville and will begin to broadcast as soon as the editorial and technical staffs are fully organized, states Rollins.

He further urges students to volunteer their services in making WSMC a success. They may contact Assistant Station Manager Ed Bice if they are interested in the programming and advertising staff. Frank McMillan, who heads the business staff, or Everett Erlane, head engineer, should be contacted.

In chapel last Monday students and faculty were treated in an opinion poll of the types of programs in which they are most interested.

Tobiasen Visits Union Headquarters

Mr. Leif K. Tobiasen of the division of social sciences represented Sandheim Missionary College at the annual meeting of the American Historical Association and the American Society of Church History in New York, December 28 and 29. He also visited the "Faith for Today" telecast.

The Roy Allan Anderson evangelists office in Carnegie Hall, and the headquarters of the United Nations. "It is my hope that a student delegation from the International Religious Club can visit the UN representatives this spring, observe the world quarters in action, and sit in on a Security Council meeting." Mr. Tobiasen said.

The secretary general of the UN, Mr. Trygve Lie, has invited us to see the UN building in New York City.

Asked about Roman Catholic influence in the UN organization, Tobiasen commented that the UN recognizes the Vatican as a sovereign state. Some UN committees have members appointed by the papal court, their committees were often attended

SA BENEVOLENT PROGRAM

Abigail Utterstrom (Ruby) arrived in time to be on the scene. Her usual fragrance identifying the tune was a high-toned lullaby with a real mellow around its neck for the occasion. Mary Leachy was a box of Deeth Bubby Bites, such an interesting concept!

Danny Lewis interrupted from late to make a special statement concerning the vote of the student Senate to give a special Roy Ligon. A beautiful electric shaver given by Arnt Runumgaard-Rand Incorporated, made a local record in 200 days, to now a polite introduction of Warm Springs Foundation in Springs, Georgia.

The brand-new prize, an Sanitox vacuum cleaner, was awarded to Carl McClure. He received the highest course average in the school.

The program was proclaimed "according to Larry Hulseby, business chairman." Inviting him were Danny Leachy, advertising manager, and Billy St. Louis, advertising manager.

52 Seniors March in Presentation Ceremony; Finney Speaks to Class

The senior class of 1952 was presented to the faculty and students of Southern Missionary College, Wednesday morning, January 16, at chapel. Elder R. E. Finney, editor of This Time addressed the group.

F. O. Rittenhouse, dean of the college, in his presentation speech declared that the seniors "are the fruits of the college." He then presented the class to President K. A. Wright who formally accepted it.

In his acceptance speech President Wright gave a brief history of the class and a few statistics of its consistency.

The class of 1952 is composed of 52 members. This is the first year that there will be three separate commencements. There will be January, June, and August graduation exercises.

Addressing the class, Elder Finney said that the "key to success is in giving concentration to things worth doing." Continuing he gave to the class a list of four "don'ts" that would help them in future success.

The Adolphus Quartet and Mr. N. L. Kroglund played the special music for the program.

This president is Robert Hage Ruby. Treasurers are Officer George Wally Welch acts as pastor, with Aubrey Liles and Ruben Lopez serving as secretary and treasurer, respectively.

McMurphy Joins Teaching Staff

Joining the teaching staff this semester is Elmore L. McMurphy, to assist in the religion and speech departments.

Mr. McMurphy is a graduate of Pacific Union College, and has served in pastoral positions in the east, mid-west, and west.

In 1944 he began his attendance at the seminary at Washington, D. C., where he received his master's degree in 1950. He has also had experience in division work, being master of ceremonies on the "Herald of Hope" program.

Mr. McMurphy will teach classes in religious broadcasting, public speaking, voice and diction, and fundamentals of Christian faith.

FUTUREVENTS

- Feb. 9—Elder G. R. Nash, Church
- Feb. 10-11—Elder W. A. Scarborough, Temperance Workshop

Feb. 6-13 Set For Courtney Week

Bill Brown
Courtney week will begin February 6 and continue through February 13, according to Donna Weber, secretary of the student social education committee.

Twenty souls have been chosen by the committee to determine the most courteous boys and girls. These souls, whose names are not revealed even among themselves, will observe in the dining room, classroom, the industries, and on the campus.

Two days during courtney week will be a "reverse courtney" period when the girls will perform the courtesies ordinarily done by the boys, and vice versa. This will give everyone the opportunity to see just how the opposite sex wishes to be treated.

Courtney week at SMC is sponsored by the student association and more specifically, the student social education committee, with Larry Hawkins serving as chairman.

Brooms "Sweep" Away Old Records

The broom's slogan, "To make a clean sweep of the South," met its highest fulfillment during the week of January 13 to 18.

All former production records were literally swept off the records when a total of 768 dozen brooms were manufactured in a single week. Sunday, January 13, was a record production for a single day set at 140 dozen brooms. Two days later, the shop surpassed its own record, producing 151 dozen for two consecutive days. "We hope to produce 1,000 dozen each week in the near future," the broomshop management states.

This shop is still carrying on its expansion and improvement program. The stitching machines are being overhauled; a new molder system is being installed to remove excess dust and to dispose of trash. Three new St. Louis mowers have been ordered to replace the old ones.

Marcell Connell, superintendent, reports that prospects for a good year in 1952 are apparent.

H. A. Miller's Songs Heard and Sung Around the World

Joseph songs, composed by Mr. Miller's master, and similar occasions. One missionary from the Gold Coast of Africa reports that the natives there are singing some of these choruses which have been translated.

An alumnus of SMC, Miss Lois Bowen, who is a former student of Mr. Miller, writes from her mission station in Addis Ababa, Ethiopia, about how eagerly her students learn his songs, especially the one entitled "Like Jesus." She says: "Professor Miller, your lovely hymns are doing their part in carrying the gospel of Jesus to all the world, and I know that kind of music will help my girls

This song also appeared at one time in the Chinese version of "The Morning Watch."

Here at SMC, the student body has memorized a number of Mr. Miller's choruses, and it has become a regular thing to hear them singing at the Friday evening vespers services such as "Turn Your Eyes Upon Jesus," "I Want To Be Ready," and "Let It Shine."

Through the pages of The Missionary magazine many of these choruses and songs have been carried to SDA workers in every land.

Evans Addresses Mid-Year Class

Steady and slow, step by step to the rhythm of the pre-revolution march, eight dignified seniors marched solemnly down the center aisle of the chapel in Lynn Wood Hall to be addressed and receive their diplomas and degrees on Saturday night, January 26, 1952.

I. M. Evans, president of the Alabama-Mississippi Conference gave the address. "Service" was the theme of the speaker. Service is the supreme need of the world at this time, was the thought of Elder Evans.

"If we do not have the sacred flame of service burning in our hearts, life will be dull and unmeaning. The thing which we need now is service. The greatest thing these graduated men and women can give God and man is consecrated Christian service."

Cleverly, an oration of the word SERVICE was presented to the audience and the honor roll.

S—Awards for service, the first and primary element that enters into service. It was pointed out that no great movement in history has ever succeeded without the sacrifice of Christianity is founded on sacrifice. The blood of martyrs has been the seed of the church.

E—Education, "because I said that education is what you know after you have learned, asserted Elder Evans. Never get the impression that you have achieved or completed your education."

R—Religion—is an essential of service. There is nothing that will so quickly and fill us with inspiration to do service of God as the ILL of Calvary.

"Have a Vision," counseled the speaker. "God will give you religion. It is the driving power of life. The ILL is service at work. The time to quit is when the task is done."

Kroglud Bringing 35-Piece Band in Coning Concert

The 35-piece SMC Band, directed by Mr. Norman L. Kroglud, will present an evening of entertaining music in the tabernacle auditorium on February 9, at 8:00 p. m.

Included in the program will be an array of the ever-popular band marches, some colorful overtures, and a group of folk songs, together with some renditions from the pens of contemporary composers waiting in the wings of modern America.

Donna Weber will appear as tenor saxophone soloist, playing with the band's accompaniment. A saxophone quartet, which includes the new baritone sax played by Richard Huff, will also be featured.

A special attraction on the concert will be the appearance of three guest conductors, including the non-musical staff, displaying new-found talent and vigor in band technique. Will's accompaniment. A saxophone quartet, which includes the new baritone sax played by Richard Huff, will also be featured.

Mr. Wayne Thurber will act as master of ceremonies, assisted by Mr. Charles Fleming.

A DROP OF INK...

Life is made up of a continuous series of partings and greetings; a series of giving-ups and acquiring. Some are happy; some, sad. Some are for the good; some, for the bad. Some are necessary; some, unnecessary.

The baby must sooner or later part with his bottle to greet a glass; he must give up his rattle to acquire a pile of blocks. He must lose his play pen in order to expand his territory of recreation.

And after a few years the child must part with his mother a few hours each day to greet a new supervisor, his first teacher. He moves up to a certain extent his little sister as a playmate as he acquires a larger scope of playmates from the 'gang' at school.

When the boy makes a transfer from the elementary to the secondary grades he must part with the one-teacher system and greet the many teacher system. If he goes away to an academy he must part with his own family, to move into a larger family at a boys' dorm.

If from the academy he goes into a vocation, the boy must part with his books to greet his tools. He must give up a teacher to acquire a foreman; or if he goes into business for himself, to acquire a group of pleading customers.

The boy may go off to college where as he matures he will part with many of his preconceived ideas to greet a greater scope of knowledge. Perhaps at college he will part with a dose circle of "pals" to acquire a mate.

And so it goes, from step to step, life is one continuous series of greetings and partings.

But the purpose of this editorial is not merely to display these common occurrences in life, important though they may be. Let us think of the one great parting of life and its opposite.

This parting is more important than any other parting or any phase of life. This parting arises from a necessity, it is unperceivable to him to live more abundantly, it enables him to be free. And simultaneous with this parting is a greeting.

This greeting is as necessary as the parting. In fact, the parting is no good without the greeting. This greeting is for the good of the one who greets.

This great parting is the parting of a sinner with his sins; the parting of a man with the ways of the world. This is the happiest parting and the happiest greeting of life.

Another parting of life bears great weight. This parting is opposite to the one mentioned above. It does not arise from necessity, but from neglect. It is not for the good of the one who parts, but for his eternal downfall.

As the other great parting, this is simultaneous with a greeting. The parting and the greeting go hand in hand. This parting is the parting of a Christian with his saviour, a parting of a man with the ways of the upright. This greeting is the greeting of a man with the greeting of a man with the arch deceiver. This is the saddest parting and greeting of life.

Yes, life is made up of a continuous series of partings and greetings; a series of giving-ups and acquiring. Some are happy; some, sad. Some are for the good; some, for the bad. Some are necessary; some, unnecessary.

May our parting of the last two be the happy one. May it be in the good. May it be the necessary one. Amen.

CAROL JEAN WHIGDEN

It seems like a long time since I've written this column. A lot has happened since Diane and Carolyn wrote it for the All-Freshman issue, but some things don't fit in a report of this type.

A few of our Maida Jones Hall girls have left during semester. We'll miss Barbara Nelson, especially, and our combined prayers and wishes for her speedy recovery ought to do a lot to help her get well.

Judging from the remark someone made when the jail band made this weekly visit, we think Robbie McKee will look better when she speaks next time. She had a lot of explaining to do!

Margaret Learns to Skate

Margaret Richardson is determined to learn to skate! "You should have seen Doris Dunne and her Young holding her up as they were rolling along down the third floor hall the other night."

Name Change?

There have been rumors to the effect that we may have the name of our dormitory changed slightly to give Jones and Maintenance Hall. The waters and painters haven't finished yet!

Barbara Flincy, Gloria Henry-Dudlow and Sue Neal were here for a few days, staying in Doris Maran's room. Doris wasn't here so it wasn't too crowded.

Peggy White and Charlotte Michaels are hungry all the time, it seems. At least they have a right to be since Doris Duke is always declaring our visions of wonderful concoctions that can be obtained only at home. That reminds me--at almost noon and deadline time, long.

Party for Marlene

Marlene Hisey was so tired one afternoon during team work that she lay down to rest awhile. Hardly five minutes later she was paged to come to the lobby. They had a good time to the kitchenette. Tina Benson, Pansy Carwell, and Jonquil Gardar were in cream, cake, and all the trimmings (including French fries). It was really a big surprise.

Welcome, Everybody!

We hope we have been successful in hanging out the welcome sign for our newbies. Anyway, here's a big 'Glad you're here' and 'Hope you stay' to Norella Smith, Beverly Harter, La Sina Harrison, Miss Becker,

ELAINE HELGON

The seniors of the mid-year graduating class, their wives, and families were entertained recently at the home of the principal and Mrs. Wright on the 14th. Miss F. O. Ruttenhouse was co-hostess. Other guests included the heads of the different departments represented by the trustees, Mr. and Mrs. Rupert Craig, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wutschick, and Dr. and Mrs. J. O. Rydenhouse.

Ladies of the faculty were entertained at the home of Mrs. Left Tothman, Tuesday night, January 22. The ladies enjoyed an evening of sewing, reading, and general visiting. Delicious refreshments were served by the hostesses: Mrs. R. C. Mize, Mrs. Fred Sanburn, and Mrs. Tobassan.

Elder B. M. Preston from Portland, Oregon, was recent guest of Miss Winton Pireton and family.

Mr. and Mrs. B. J. Hagan recently visited to Nashville to visit his brother, Mr. Good Hagan and family.

Friends of Elder and Mrs. J. Franklin Ashlock held open house at the home of President and Mrs. Wright on Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Ashlock who were married recently. Mrs. Ashlock is the former Miss Betty Lou Pruitt. Both she and Mr. Ashlock were students here last year and Jimmy will resume his studies here this semester.

CHARLES HART

Joe and Mary Mewer entertained two of the most recently wedded couples in their trailer home Saturday evening, January 19. They were Benny Harris and Betty Young, and John and Pat Harris.

The bath house and wash house, a trailer camp run by the new trustees, is out of cast point on the inside--also new shower, booths and some new shower fixtures. Thanks go to Murray Rogers, our capable janitor who is owed for this improvement, and to the Finance Committee who have graciously and promptly said to that request was fulfilled.

Down South

JAMES JONKER

The fellows in Talge Hall are getting down to business again as a semester began. This week we had a lot of outside work during exam week, and we talked Watson for leaving our lights on.

Here is a cordial welcome to our new dormitory students. New folks John Smith, Robert Beving, Ted Jones, Ray Lott, Howard Johnson, J. McGrath, Bill Strickland, who has been in Cubs, and Rolando Drazabala, who is moving back into the dorms.

We are sorry to see several old students leaving. Some are Paul Webb, Robert Plinnick, Paul Larry Mixon, Don Nevin, Jim Higby, John Kichore, Tommy Steller, Ray Nichols, Hollis and Harold Kerchman.

Matula Returns

And we welcome Mr. and Floyd Matula to the married men section of our residence hall. Mr. Mrs. Wally Wright have been out of this section.

Lovers of good music (?) who glad they are, may be glad to hear he has recovered his wicket. His Joe Tompkins saxophone rattle took some nasty numbers. But some does right well on the sax.

Ed Polon and Dennis Stoler had glad they are, by the way. They had their barbeques. Wonder who they prompted Richard Cox by? Tom? Guess the boys have to be with the proceeds returned.

Gene Scores High

In the opening basketball game of the season, a woodchuck team led one from the state and the other won by 16 points. Gene McKee was scorer with 16 points.

Sam Johnson is a familiar name, having the letter of commendation of Gray Stone and Lafayette College. He is a member of the team overworked boys have been some time for schoolwork.

Mrs. Dietz is Convalenscent at Sanborn Home

After a brief Christmas convalescence Mrs. Mary Dietz returned to her home on December 26 with monetary hospital. On January 11 she went to the hospital to remain in the hospital for a few days. Robert Sanborn of Collegeville plans to recuperate there, and confers with the faculty. Mrs. Dietz has also received many cards, letters, and gifts, but because she is unable to spend with her many friends.

Visitors on the campus last night and Tuesday were Mr. and Mrs. Velman from Shawnee, and Fred graduated from Bryn Mawr and is a former editor of the KERN ACCENT.

18 Appear in Music Recital

Several of our student students and J. D. Blotson, their interested mothers gathered in the chapel Sunday night, January 20, for a student recital.

Those who performed were vocalists: Wesley Elving, Virgil Carlton, Marsha Edgeman, Rev. Young, Fletcher Flikner, Norman Koyzer, Mary Ellen Cramer, and Marilyn Dudley; pianists: Elsie Simmonds, Jean Anderson, Dale Young, Layton Sutton, James McKenny, and Ruby Jean Lynn, organist Carl McCule, Helen Hoover, and D. Blotson; and violinist Lywood Stockton. These were students of Miss Mabel Wood, Mr. Wayne Theibert, Mr. Norman Kingstad, and Mr. H. A. Miller. Mr. Miller, music department leader, stated that such recitals are held only for the purpose of giving music students opportunities to become accustomed to public performances, but also to train audiences to listen to music appreciatively and understandingly.

Ernest Marinovic Comes to SMC From Chile; Is Teaching Violin

TED GRAVES

Ernest Marinovic, violin teacher, comes to SMC from Chile, "the show-stopping" of South America.

When he was 16 years old his mother became a member of the Seventh-day Adventist church. He recalled the story of how she worked to bring him the message she had heard.

"One evening a short time after her baptism Marinovic's mother introduced him to her pastor, Marinovic was a promising young violinist and the pastor could play quite well. The two began playing discs together and when the pastor began a series of meetings, he asked Ernest to come and play a duet with him. Ernest agreed on the condition that the duet come first on the program. After the duet he felt he would not be able to perform.

Marinovic is Baptized
Sometime later the minister asked him to play again; Marinovic agreed. This time, however, the pastor had a condition that he wanted met. The duet must come after the sermon. Eventually he entered our training school in Shillan, Chile, and was baptized when he was 21 years old.

While in school he graduated two summers and then graduated in the economic training of three years.

He accepted a call as dean in one of the Chilean Seventh-day Adventist schools when he was 25. One year later he was married. In 1930, the year of his marriage, an earthquake struck the town where he was teaching and he killed 40,000 people. The boys' school at the school was completely demolished but none of the boys were killed. The night before the quake they had all been instructed to take their beds out of the dorm. They slept outside that night.

New Classes Offered in Religion Curriculum; Yield Four Hours Credit

C. E. Witschbe, chairman of the division of religion, announces that new classes are being offered in the religion curriculum this semester. The first is a class listed as "Missionary Work in a Lower Division Class." It is a lower division class devoted particularly to the study of mission techniques, handling of the new evangelistic mission problems. The instructor of the course is C. E. Witschbe. This class, he states, is similar to the class, "History of Missions," at one time offered in the social science curriculum. However, since a course was needed to attract young graduates of the problems of mission life, the old course was revised, and is now being offered in the religion curriculum. The second course is listed as "Theology of the Old and New Testaments." The instructor of the course is C. E. Witschbe. ## Funds for Playgrounds

The Home and School sponsored a benefit spaghetti supper Monday evening, January 28, at the Collegedale dormitory school. The income from the plates selling at 50 cents each went to the purchasing of playground equipment for the school. Mrs. L. M. Nelson, leader of the Home and School. The mothers were the hostesses. The girls school children sold the tickets.

Who's Who Awards

Southern Missionary College's representatives to appear in "Who's Who in American Universities and Colleges" received their certificates on January 28.

Those receiving them were Wallace Welch of Madison, Tennessee; Robert Hegg, Collegedale; Layton Satterly, Ardmore, Oklahoma; Margaret Morley, Greensboro, North Carolina; Jordan, Tulsa, Oklahoma; Dewey Nick, Cedarburn, Georgia; Floyd Greenleaf, Melbourne, Florida; James Joiner, Knoxville, Tennessee.

25 Receive Colporteur Awards

The Colporteur Club presented W. A. Higgins, publishing secretary of the Southern Union, at the January 21 convocation. Mr. Higgins presented Colporteur scholarship certificates to those who conducted a successful summer of evangelistic canvassing.

Peter Donskey, president of the Colporteur Club, and W. L. Cronin, publishing secretary of the Georgia-Carolina conference, assisted in presenting the certificates.

From the college, 25 colporteurs received awards. They were: B. J. Barrington, Evelyn Bradford, Doll Brooks, Glenn Coon, Peter Donskey, Robert East, Charles Edwards, Norman Earl, Floyd Greenleaf, Norman Hall, Larry Hawkins, Delvin Latell, Curtis Jennings, Sam Johnson, Jerry Jones, Hiram Monroe, W. H. Patel, Robert Rogers, Walter Royle, Lynn Sault, Wilfred Stevens, Roy Vetter, and Ben Young.

From the academy two received awards: Edwin Bagwell and Ray Evans.

Janita Coble, an elementary education major, in telling her colporteur experiences advised colporturing during the winter holidays. She said that the colporteur ministry she brought a relative into the message.

Wilfred Patel, a theology student, told of his experiences during the summer he canvassed.

Questionnaires were given out to ascertain how many wanted to do this. The questionnaires showed that approximately a hundred students were interested in evangelistic canvassing, revealed Donskey.

"The club will officially begin its meetings in February," said Donskey. The first study will be "The Secret of Successful Salesmanship."

Neelson - Neal Play In Lycium Number

On January 19 in the Yberville Auditorium, the lycium series brought an evening of music by Neelson and Neal. The two pianists performed on their own two pianos, they presented a program varying in style from Beethoven's "Opus in G Major" to "Variations on Yankee Doodle," the latter being in the style of Bach, Beethoven, Chopin, Debussy, and Grieg.

They explained that all except one number on their program were original two-piano compositions. One selection, "The Andante and Variation" by Robert Schumann, was said to have been originally composed for and first played by Felix Mendelssohn and Clara Schumann.

Allison Nelson, who is by birth Australian, was formerly piano soloist with the Sydney Symphony Orchestra and the Philadelphia Symphony Orchestra, conducted by Eugene Ormandy. She is now Mrs. Harry Neal.

Mr. Harry Neal was, before beginning his career as co-artist with Allison Nelson, a concert soloist, having studied with Mignon Vengerosa. These artists returned on the campus for several days, vacationing and playing for the benefit of making a tour in the states of Georgia and Florida.

THE BETTER WAY

I'd rather love a woman than have one any day.
I'd rather see a should walk with me than merely show the way.
I'd like a better pillow and more willing than the car.
Fine content is conjuring, but example's always clear:
And the best of all the preachers are the men who live their creed.
I'd rather be a man than a woman, and I'd rather be a man.
I can walk your hand in action, but you long too long to say I'm in.
I can soon learn how to do it, if you'll let me see you do.
And the lectures you deliver may be very wise and true,
But I'd rather give my lesson by observing what you do.
I'd rather be a man than a woman, and I'd rather be a man.
But there's no misunderstanding how you act and how you live.

Senior Sketches, 1951-52

Peter W. Donskey

Peter W. Donskey is a son of Russian immigrants to America and speaks the Russian language in addition to English. He was born in California, but the Donskey family soon moved to Canada, and settled in British Columbia.

Donskey is presently attending his fourth Seventh-day Adventist College. He attended Canadian Junior College and then came to the United States. He enrolled in Malvern College, Washington Missionary College, and finally Southern Missionary College.

While here at Collegedale, Donskey has focused his extra-curricular activities around religious lines. He has taught in the Sabbath school, served as a leader of seminar band and a street literature band.

He has had a number of accomplishments as his success in the colporteur work. First canvassing in the British Columbia conference in Canada, he continued his work in the Southern Union. For a total of five summers he has canvassed. Crowning his efforts was a total of 100,000 copies of $4400 worth of books. Recognizing his talents, the Colporteur Union has him on promotion this year.

He holds as his ambition to be a minister of God in the publishing work.

Donskey's hobbies are music, reading, and the study of the work of a piano technician in Orlando, Florida, he has farmed, and has done carpenter work.

Mrs. Donskey is a graduate nurse and has several years experience in nursing work.

James B. Davis
James B. Davis began his education at Collegedale back in 1941, but interrupted in his plans toward the postponement of his graduation until 1952.

Davis was born in Bessemer, Alabama, the only southern-born member of the group of writers on this issue of the ACCENT.

He was graduated from McAlary High School in McCalla, Alabama. He came to Southern Junior College to begin his college career in May, 1941. The year in Europe was rapidly passing, and after the United States entered it, became apparent that Davis could not finish his education.

Consequently, he took his bas training with the Army medical camp, Fort Belvoir, Virginia, and spent 33 months of overseas service in the Pacific theater of war.

Returning to Collegedale, Davis reviewed his studies, this time with the aid of a G.I. bill, and after five full years of schooling over a period of twelve years, he is graduating with a major in religion and minors in history and education. His formal degree in religion he is in the Lord's work.

He has worked at various jobs and included among them is carpentering, bookbinding, woodcraft, and privately owned, he has worked in the woodshop while living at Collegedale.

Harley Robert Davison

Another veteran from the large group of writers in the senior class is Harley Robert Davison. He was born in Florida, but when very young, he moved with his parents to Colorado.

The members present enjoyed fried bananas and Spanish rice with beans prepared by a real Spanish lady, Mrs. Doris Draehgen, from Burns, Mrs. D. C. Ludington brought curry and rice, Mrs. Steve Hanson served everybody with a dish borrowed from the natives of Africa consisting of grapes, peanuts and "meat" meal.

Representing the same country, Mrs. W. B. Higgins made some lemon tart with which she served the boys. Kaffir tea which is a custom in South Devotion's interest in the broad out-of-doors found ample room for expansion on the western expanses, for the sun took definite steps in firming and brightening the day.

Spending his first three senior grades in public high school, Davison attended the college in California for three years and nine months here. Coming to Southern Junior College, he was in California for three years and nine months here. For three years and nine months he wore the Army khaki, 14 months of that time in England. This is Corporal Davison, he served as a laboratory technician in the 34th general hospital.

He is graduating with a religion major and history minor, but his education has not been confined to these two areas. His interest in agriculture has led him to spend a great deal of his time farming. For three years he worked in the Collegedale area and drove a tractor for one year. Formerly connected to Collegedale, he farmed in California. He has taken a number of courses to become either a colporteur-pastor or an instructor of agriculture. He is currently a student of Mrs. Davison is a graduate of Collegedale Academy and has taken a year and a half of the elementary teaching course.

Mr. and Mrs. Rene A. Alonso
Mr. and Mrs. Rene Alonso are one of the married couples who are graduating this year.

Alonso is a Cuban by birth, having been born in Gibara, Cuba. He knows the town of his birth his hometown.

His education before coming to Collegedale was in the United States. He attended Bucaramense Academy and Marii Academy. Here he has taken a course in his Antillas in Santa Cruz.

Finishing his place in the Lord's work, he served as a pastor in the West Coast Conference for one year. He was Sabbath school secretary and missionary voluntary secretary in the same conference.

Alonso's leadership has been greatly appreciated on the Collegedale campus. Here he has taken an active part in creating a Spanish atmosphere for the Collegedale residents who speak that language. He has been president of the Spanish Club, leader and teacher of the Spanish Sabbath school. In addition to these, he has been assistant seminar band leader and church deacon.

His main goal in life is to return to his country and continue preaching or teaching.

Mrs. Alonso, like her husband, is a native Cuban, her birthplace being Holguen, Cuba.

She has also attended the College in Antillas, receiving a diploma that fitted her for an elementary teaching position in Cuba. Coming to Collegedale, she has taken an active part in meetings and will receive her degree in elementary teaching with a minor in education.

Mrs. Alonso's hobbies include painting, reading, and embroidery. She is studying Southern Missionary College, she and her husband have both worked in the woodshop. Two children help to make the Alonso home a happy one.

Africa among the Dutch people. From India Les Vostov and Patricia Champlin, actresses in the nation's drama, they served a dessert of spiced rice and milk.

Another feature of the meeting was the display of handicrafts brought by these ladies from the lands they represented. Included among them was a beautiful sewing kit from New York that Mrs. Leif Kr. Tobiasson showed.

The club also had a dinner of American food prepared by the social secretary, Patricia Young.

Dr. and Mrs. Rae Gibson, of Greenville, Tennessee, were guests at the home with which she served the boys. Dr. and Mrs. Gibson were in the city over the week end of January.

OPINION POLL

LESTER BIBLE

What, in your opinion, is the purpose of the student association? Is it to promote student government, coordinate student activities, or public the faculty, promote but one phase of student activity such as MV, or what? Is it fulfilling its purpose?

"It is my opinion that the student association is to coordinate student activities. I believe it has and is fulfilling its purpose to the fullest extent."—John Gregory

"I think the student association is fulfilling its purpose as a coordination of student activities. As far as organizing the faculty is concerned, I think instead, it is doing a good job of coordination. Our school would be really lacking if it did not have the student association."—Dale Collins

"I think that the representatives of the association should bring up the fight for the ideas and rights of the students whether they themselves approve of them or not. The student association seems to work for the faculty instead of the students in general."—Donald Jones

"I think the student association is a good organization but I would like to understand more about what it does."

"Conley Jensen
"In my opinion the student association is an organization through which the students can have a say in the government of the school. Also it should coordinate student activities. As far as fulfilling its purpose— I believe it has done well in the past, but there always could be room for improvement."—Marilyn Parker

Med Schools Advise Admission Test

Candidates for admission to medical school in the fall of 1953 are advised to take the Medical College Admission Test in May, it was announced today by Educational Testing Service, which prepares and administers the test. These tests, required of applicants by a number of leading medical colleges throughout the country, will be given twice during the current calendar year. Candidates taking the May test, however, will be able to finish scores to institutions in early fall, when many medical colleges begin the selection of their most promising students.

Candidates may take the MCAT on Saturday, May 16, 1953, or on Monday, November 3, 1952, at administration to be held at more than 500 local centers in all parts of the country. The latest recommendations that candidates for admission to classes starting in the fall of 1953 take the May test.

The MCAT consists of tests of general scholastic ability, a test on understanding of modern science, and an achievement test on spelling according to F.T.S. no special preparation other than a review of science subjects is necessary. All questions are of the objective type.

Applications forms and a Bulletin of Information, which gives details of registration and administration, as well as pre-medical questions, are available from pre-medical advisors, or directly from Educational Testing Service, Box 592, Princeton, N. J. Completed applications must reach the E.T.S. office by April 26 and October 26, respectively for the May 10 and November 3 administrations.

Joiner Progresses On "Memories"

Plans for the 1952 Southern Accents are progressing well, according to the editor, James Joiner.

Olson Mills will finish being an individual portrait of the faculty, staff, and students this afternoon.

The pictures of club officers, student committees, and other categories will be taken within the next few days.

The covers have already been ordered. They will be made again this year by Kingscraft, of Kingsport, Tennessee.

"I think the purpose of the student association is to help the school to accomplish the aims of true education by helping both the teachers and students to fulfill their purpose here. I think it is beginning to realize its purpose more fully and so far, I think it is beginning to keep growing stronger and we will be doing very well."—Helen Jackson

"I think that the student association should be an organization that promotes a democratic form of government. It should work with the faculty to make SMC a better college."—Pat Champion

"The student association is of exceptional value to the students, as it gives them a voice in the offices directly related to this school life. As interested with all the student activities, it has authority which is respected by the faculty; this student problems and suggestions can be brought up in a very democratic way. In the short time I've been here, I have only the highest regard for the student association here of its work and our very fine officers."

"I think the student association is fulfilling the purpose for which it was organized. It promotes better understanding between the students and the school administration and co-ordinates student activities. Keep up the good work!"—Brian Kueper

It Happened At Collegedale

One year ago, Dr. Andrew Holt, vice-president of the University of Tennessee, addressed the largest annual class in the history of SMC. Sixty-two seniors marched during the annual presentation ceremony.

Two years ago, Bert Hubbard, national president of the American Society, presented his color film "Candle East," January 28, 1950. This was Hubbard's second visit to SMC.

Three years ago, The Dixie Co-Operative and operated by the students of 17 Southern Missionary College, merged with the college. Started February 1, 1949.

Four years ago, SMC experienced its largest snowfall in the Collegedale valley.

Five years ago, Seven SMC students appeared in It Was the Young Americans and College. They were M. C. Connell, J. S. Dannel, R. K. Kistler, E. F. Kistler, M. L. Riche, L. G. Sales, and W. F. Thibert.

New MV Office in Ad Building

The new Missionary Volunteer society office will be located in the Ad Building, said Dr. R. L. Hammill, MV adviser for the second semester. The new office is located in room 204 of the Wood Hall, and will be completed within the semester. Presently, cabinets are being installed for supplies.

The new office is a result of the work which a sub-committee of the Collegedale church board made a few weeks ago. This committee, after study of the Collegedale MV society, provided that an office be arranged for MV use exclusively. This office would provide a central location for secretaries, supply storage, and council meetings.

Hugh V. Leggett, president of the Junior year class, spoke at the February 20th service. James Bird presented illustrations from his own experience, Leggett presented the theme, "The Conquering Christ."

Survey Shows SMC Diet Habits

A survey made January 16 by K. M. Kennedy, principal of the elementary school in the College Cafeteria, revealed that on a whole SMC students were choosing a balanced diet.

"The main purpose of the survey was to show the relative percentage differences between boys and girls in their choice of foods for the one month," said Mr. Kennedy.

The survey showed that 43 per cent of the girls chose potatoes and gravy while 78 per cent of the boys chose it. On the other hand 37 per cent of the girls chose a salad while only 47 per cent of the boys did.

"These differences are interesting," said Kennedy, "they show that the boys use more starch called for by their heavy work, while the girls use salads instead, perhaps in regard to their figure."

feel that work was beneath their dignity now that they had gone education. C—Consecrated Christian Character, the speaker pointed out, if devoted to consecrated Christian service will help make anything else to take the issues of these perilous times. "And finally never lose."

"Be enthusiastic for your course. The definition of enthusiasm given is, getting the head, the heart, and the determination in the same place at the same time."

Elder Evans in conclusion stated that service is what it takes to fulfill the sin and motto of the class: I.M. Step by step. MOTTO: Always up.

Hugh Leggett, president of the class, gave the welcome; and Sherman Peterson, class pastor, gave the response. Dr. Kirtcherson, in presenting the members of the class, stated that there were three achievements this year to be mentioned. It is SMC's first accredited year; the first year to have over 500 students when school opened; and the first year to have enough candidates for mid-year graduation.

The graduates who received diplomas and degrees were: for bachelor of arts, Lester Eugene Fink and Anders Rife; bachelor of arts in theology, Harold Armstrong, Virgil Buschbaum, Hugh Leggett and Sherman Peterson; bachelor of science, Kline Lloyd and William Jones.

Miss Kibbe "Worship the professional and recreational on the organ. James Batcher sang "Friend of the Cross" and the Adolphus Quartet sang "My Task."

Others on the program were C. E. Banks, religious teacher of SMC, who gave the invocation; and Dr. Richard Hammill, religion and biblical language teacher, offered the benediction.

MV to Introduce Reading Course

Sabbath, February 2, there will be a preview of the 1952 reading course books, according to Ted Ferguson, associate missionary volunteer for the second semester. There will be five student speakers, two instrumental numbers, and one vocal solo.

The program will be designed to arouse interest in the books presented as well as to inform the audience about them.

On a recent trip to Washington, D. C., the M. E. Connells were entertained by Mrs. Martin Bird who was affiliated with SMC several years ago. The Birds send greetings to all their friends at Collegedale.

WANT TO GET INTO THE ACADEMY? DON'T GIVE UP; HIT IT AGAIN!

No one is licked until he gives up. Perhaps you have a two little boys fighting. One boy may be on the bottom and unable to move, but if he doesn't give up and keeps on fighting may still win. When one is learning to swim, play tennis, or anything, it will look at times as though he can never learn, but keeps at it, he is sure to learn. The same way in one's English and physics is hard for you, maybe it's geometry or algebra, and that's just not cut your assignments and make the grade, then try harder. No matter what you are doing, put it into it. If it won't bud at first, hit it again and hit it harder.

These students have had perfect attendance for the first semester and each was awarded $3.00 for this record.

New Students Come At Semester Close

The second semester is the usual change of students, the dropping of classes, and the adding of new subjects to our schedule.

At the beginning of the semester we welcomed new students. They are Betty Jo senior from Madison, Tennessee; Williams from Grayson, Tennessee; Milton Licon, senior; Collegedale; and James Peter Tampa, Florida.

Good attendance and scholarship were the aim of the student body. The aim of the student body was to have his first semester close.

Ex-Ca Student In Chicago

A former resident of Collegedale, Thomas Twombly, is making a home at the YMCA, Chicago, Ill., reading, and is employed with the A. L. Lines, Inc.

Mr. Twombly, who was recruited for residency at the YMCA, is an active participant in musical and social activities at the YMCA. He is a young man and woman with a wife recently in the choir of St. Paul's Episcopal Church, Chicago, Ill.

Twombly is the son of Mrs. A. T. Twombly, Gainesville, Fla.

Choir Makes Second Appearance

"Sun of My Soul" was the song of the choir at the dedication of Mr. Wayne Taylor, April 12, at the Ebenezer Collegedale church. This was the first appearance of the Wesley Bible, president of Music Club, of which choir is the choir is a member.

Other things of the group during the second semester.

Gins' Reception Sunday Night

Student Association Collects $228 in March of Dimes Drive

Two hundred twenty-eight dollars and fifty-two cents was donated by student and community residents during the March of Dimes campaign held on our campus the last week of January under the auspices of the student association. A large amount of the money was gathered under the leadership of Mrs. J. B. Pierson, who was the director of the Mother's March held from 6:30 to 7:30 Thursday night, January 31.

Captains under Mrs. Pierson were Mrs. Mary Gowdy, Mrs. Ray Olinstead, Mrs. J. B. Longley, and Mrs. J. T. Estes.

The Collegedale community donated part of the $50,000 raised by the Hamilton County chapter of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis. The foundation finances without charge treatment for those who contract polio.

Among those who have received aid from the foundation is Ray Edgemon, former student of SMC, who is now coeditor of the Folio Foundation at Warm Springs, Georgia.

Language Club Elect Officers

What is the very first thing a missionary must do when he goes to a foreign field? Learn a new language, of course. If you want to become acquainted with the different modern foreign languages, join the Modern Language Club. Meeting Monday, February 4, the Modern Language Club elected officers for the new semester. They are president, Bill Treanton; and secretary-treasurer, Elaine Higlom. One other member, Ruth Wheeler, was chosen to serve with the officers on the program committee.

The club has had many programs of films featuring the different countries, habits, industries, livelihoods and scenes of countries speaking French, German, and Spanish. The members can hear, Danish, the club sponsor, a bouquet of red tulips as a token of appreciation for her work with them and regret that she could not be present.

FUTUREVENTS

40 Join Master Guide Club

Forty people are planning to join the Master Guide Club, reports G. R. Coon, leader of the progressive class work. Twenty-five are making definite plans to be invited as Master Guides. Fifteen will work on the other classes.

There are twenty-five Master Guides on the SMC campus now. Coon states, and he hopes to double that number by investigative work. It is in the plans of the club that the new Master Guides will work with several juniors, helping them to accomplish their class work, before they receive their honors.

Smoot, Ammons Join Senate

Grady Smoot and Bob Ammons were elected chairman of the committee on scholarship and health last Thursday and Friday in Lynn Wood Hall, according to Layton Stout, secretary of the student association.

The committees study problems and questions with a view of bringing them to the student senate for discussion and recommendations to the proper authorities.

Some of the most assignments that the committees will work on will be improving of teaching and learning techniques of both students and teachers.

The scholarship committee will also study the assignment of large classes to several of the small rooms.

Plans are being made for the health committee to be in charge of promoting voluntary donations of blood to the Red Cross unit that will be on the campus March 25. The blood given to the Red Cross unit is used almost exclusively for overseas armed forces.

Dorm Government Goes in Effect

The new dormitory government plan went into effect Sunday, February 10, reveals Charles Morgan, president of the men's forum.

Twelve committees, two from each side of each floor, met together for the first time with Al McClure, vice-president of the men's forum, as chairman. Ex-officio members of the forum are the president of the men's forum, and the dean of the college.

The twelve committees elected by the forum members are as follows: Bob Ammons, Grady Smoot, Ferlie Wutcher, Bill Strickland, Bill Brooks, Nat Halverson, Jack Fauschus, Harmon Brownlow, Sam Gault, Jerry Koyan, and Kilgore, and Jackson Filler.

The council will study problems relating to discipline in the dormitory by bringing their recommendations and findings to the forum for vote.

"We hope that the dorm government will provide groundwork which will enable us to govern ourselves," says Ammons, a house manager. "The attitude in our hall," said Charles Morgan, president of the men's forum, speaking in behalf of the residents of Talge Hall.

College Band Plays in Year's First Concert; Features Sax Quartet

The College Band in song during its concert of last Saturday night. Professor R. L. Rittenbach directed the band at its first appearance of the current school year.

The College Band, under the direction of R. L. Rittenbach, presented its first concert of the year, Saturday night, February 9. Wayne Thurber acted as master of ceremonies.

The grand opening overture was the "Legion of Valor" by Frankfurter. This was followed by the "Rustic Dances," and the "Spirit of '76 March." Donna Welch, tenor saxophone soloist, played the following little waltz, "Valse Lyonnaise," with band accompaniment.

Best received by the audience were the group of Southern numbers, including "Best-loved Southern Melodies" arranged by Hayes, the "Blue Hill Fly," and "Moods Americana." The saccharine March concluded the section. During this part of the program the audience was taken back into the days of Stephen Foster and Robert E. Lee.

A special feature was the newly organized saxophone quartet. Members of the quartet are Aubrey Liles, first; John Gregory, second; Donna Welch, tenor; and Richard Huff, baritone. The baritone sax is a new acquisition to the band. It made its premier performance on the concert. They played the "Harmonics Overture," and the "Heart of America March." Their encore was the "Invercauld March."

The next feature presented the three guest conductors: E. C. Banks, J. Bischoff, and E. A. Peaker. They were each introduced by Mr. Fleming, Mr. Banks (Count Edward) appeared as an English gentleman with all the accessories and courtesies. He led the march "Officer of the Day." Mr. Bischoff appeared as a young Russian lad with high-water pants and a black wig. His direction was a satire of some of the idiosyncrasies of professional conductors. He directed the "His Honor" march; Mrs. Sherman Peterson took the piccolo solo part. Mr. Peaker appeared as the personage of the late German dictator, Adolph Hitler. He demonstrated his prowess on the "Foodifer March" as he paced the platform in the typical German "goose-step," while stately and precisely beating the baton.

After this humorous portion of the program, the audience settled down to the tune of Yoder's Loyalist song, "Hail, Alma Mater." The Adolphian quartet assisted the band in the rendition of this number.

Theme Will Be Valentine Day

The members of the Dasowalata Club will give their biennial reception Sunday night February 17, according to Catherine Brown, president of the club.

The reception will start at 6:30 in the college dining room. Jo Anne Rook is in charge of the decorating of the dining room. The room will be decorated to follow the pattern of Valentine's Day. The usual will be served in courses by twenty-five waitresses and twenty-five waiters.

Plans are being made for over 300 people to attend; reports Jessie Hawman, chairman of the food committee. During the meal soft dinner music will be played. Special guests are to be President and Mrs. Wright, Mr. and Mrs. Watrous, Mr. and Mrs. Fleming, and Dr. and Mrs. Rittenbach and Mr. McMurphy.

At 8:30 a program will be given in the college chapel. The program will also follow the pattern of the Valentine season. The theme of the program is "Sweet Heart." Ruth Christensen is head of the program; and Betha Grogan, Mrs. Warrman of the decorating committee of the chapel.

Mr. McMurphy, the new speech and Bible teacher, is helping the girls in the direction of the program. All are invited to attend, but only the balcony will be open to the community and married students.

Thurber Organized Male Chorus

The SMC Male Chorus has completed its organization and begun work on its repertoire. Twenty-seven members singing in the traditional four-part harmony for male voices under the direction of Wayne Thurber, the baritone, this musical group. The uniform of the chorus is the same as that which has been used formerly, consisting of white trousers and shirt, black jackets and bow-tie, and a red sash.

The chorus has already begun to make plans for its first scheduled off-campus appointment at the Youth's Congress in Asheville, N. C., on March 21. Other trips will also be made, as well as local performances. A Saturday evening program will be presented on the campus by the Men's Chorus in conjunction with the Women's Chorus on April 26.

Some of the representative composers whose numbers will be used are Joseph Haydn, Franz List, Sigmund Borchers, and Victor Herbert.

The officers are Floyd Greental, president; Jack Price, vice-president; Tommy Hedcock, secretary-librarian; and Dan Lewis, transportation manager. Doris Marsh is an accompanist.

Parker Elected Club President

The Home Economics Club elected their new officers for the second semester in their club meeting on February 4.

Marlow Parker was re-elected president; Virginia Boykin will serve as vice-president; Patricia Champion, secretary; Madge Canale, social secretary; and Patricia Clark, treasurer.

Juan Rodriguez Joins Church in Puerto Rico; Will Graduate June

Pedro Goli stood before a group of men and women. He was dressed in a military uniform. He was speaking to them from his own lips. No longer was he a staff sergeant. No longer would he be stationed in French Guiana but in Dutch Guiana as a private in the engineer corps.

Juan Meets Pedro

Pedro, by the wheels of chance, was now working in the same company of which Juan Rodriguez was a member. Juan, now freed in a Catholic home, thought all this about the Sabbath, the Bible, and carrying of arms was just foolishness.

As the days passed, Juan began to learn that perhaps all was not as it appeared. Little did he realize that Pedro would be the one to bring him the truth of the cross of Christ.

Pedro came to Dutch Guiana in an effort to help the one who had brought him the truth of God's love. Juan's friends had been convinced to attend the Sabbath. He had refused and was now in jail. Pedro hearing of this went to A. W. O. Field station in the Army in French Guiana. So it was that when he was asked for his help he had been summoned as he arrived in Dutch Guiana.

Juan Leaves Message

At first mere curiosity caused Juan and Pedro to talk. Soon Juan had accepted the Bible as God's word. The Voice of Prophecy Bible course was finished in very little time and Juan had given himself to Christ. Many problems arose to discourage Juan. The first was when Pedro was placed in jail. Later when he was given opportunity to be discharged from the army he was faced with a great deal of money to stay in the service. Juan's parents needed financial help but he would not give in. Through it all he remained true to the cross.

Discharged from Army

He was discharged and soon arrived home in Puerto Rico. All was well in the home again. He was born in 1919, the oldest of their eleven children. For his home-coming his mother had prepared every thing he liked to eat, including a great variety of pork. At the table he told his mother he did not eat pork any more. His mother rose and asked, "What has happened to you? You were absent for two years and three half years, and now you come back and don't want to eat what I have prepared for you!"

Soon Juan was married, and he and his wife were baptized. He was now conscious of his need of education and soon finished public school in Puerto Rico. His education was completed. Meanwhile, he was doing missionary work in his spare moments.

Coming to SMC

When the time came to enter Southern Methodist College, nine persons had been baptized and twenty persons were taking Bible studies in preparation for baptism as a result of his labors.

Plans to visit with this year, Juan, who will graduate this year, plans to visit in June. He will continue to prepare others to find their place in the kingdom Christ has gone to prepare.

Master Guide, Nature Clubs to Receive Charters; Officers Lay Plans

Two new student activity clubs have been formed on the campus, announced officers of the Nature Club and the Master Guide Club will receive their charters shortly after their respective meetings. The organization of the Nature Club came about after repeated inquiries by a few students who wished to join a club of this type and was one of the clubs meeting regularly on Monday mornings.

Wilfred Stuyvesant, president of the Nature Club, and the officers and members of the club, are planning many activities, some of which will be:

in conformity with Sabbath observance. Mr. Kuhlman, sponsor, reports that his attendance at the meetings called thus far.

The Master Guide Club, sponsored by the Rev. J. H. Fox, who was organized during one chapel period in which a number of speakers told of the advantages of being a Master Guide.

Progressive class work will be studied by this club which is open to anyone who wishes to join. Those who are Master Guides already will help to instruct the others and will also add to their own collection of vocational lessons.

The Master Guides will form the nucleus of a breadmaking program in the field progressive classwork. Most of the meetings will not be held on Sabbath because of conflicting activities, but a meeting time and place appropriate to the duties of the members will be reported by Glenn Cook, assistant M.V. leader.

Yost Calls For Religions Liberty

During the Sabbath church service of February 9, Rev. J. H. Fox, professor at the SDA seminary in Washington, D.C., called for more strenuous action in support of religious liberty in America.

Declaring the appointment of an envoy to Berlin City an unconstitutional act, he revealed other trends in both federal and local government towards a union of church and state. Dr. Yost urged each citizen to exercise his voting prerogative in opposing the enemies of religious liberty.

On the evening of February 2 the Home Economics Club had an evening of entertainment. There were three acts on the program, the first being a spaghetti supper prepared by the first semester club officers. The next feature was a scavenger hunt. Each couple was given a list of ten articles to get within thirty minutes. (Free time was given when Mrs. Rowland had his suspenders returned.) The third feature of the evening was a comic film, "Honky Donkey."

Charles Harris, Jr.

Charles Harris, Jr., commonly known as Buddy, has spent his 15 1/2 years of education in Seventy-day Adventist schools. He took all of his school work in Tennessee. Beginning in Nashville for the first night class he next transferred to Madison College High School.

Graduating from Highland Academy as president of his class, he went to Southern Methodist College where he has taken all of his college work.

Harris is taking his major in business with two minors, English and religion. Business has appealed to him and he has spent several summers as a salesman. He said he also is and has intended to defer his school expenses.

His extra-curricular activities have placed him in the positions of treasurer of the men's forum, and business manager of the SOUTHERN ACADEMY. It is his ambition to find a place in the Lord's work, especially in the business field.

Mrs. Harris, the former Ruth Deaton, is a former student of SMC attending from 1947-19.

Mrs. Dora Drachenberg

Although born of Italian parents, Mrs. Dora Drachenberg's birthplace is La Plata, Argentina, thus Spanish is her native language.

Mrs. Drachenberg came to SMC from Santa Clara, Cuba, where she was a teacher of the Spanish language and literature at Antillarum Junior College. Her husband is now president of the college.

SMC is the fourth Seventh-day Adventist college Mrs. Drachenberg has attended. She previously attended Antillarum Junior College, Argentina, Antillarum Junior College, Cuba, and Pacific Union College, Anguilla, C. I.

One of Mrs. Drachenberg's hobbies is reading. She has taught some in the Spanish department while attending SMC. She will teach in the Antillarum Junior College after graduation.

It is very seldom that anyone graduates with one of her languages. But this June Mrs. Drachenberg will receive a diploma with her son, Roland Drachenberg.

Millet Speaks on Armageddon

J. J. Millet spoke on "Armageddon" in Lynn Wood Hall chapel at the second Friday night ministerial semi-annual meeting of the semester.

Millet emphasized that all the world is lining up on two sides—God's side and the devil's side. God is gathering the remnant church, while the three unbelief spirits of Revelation 16 go forth to gather all the nations on the side of Babylon and her daughters. The speaker stressed that we are not to stop gathering for God.

The great issue in the final conflict, between good and evil, will be the Sabbath question, the speaker said. In the closing portion of his sermon, J. J. Millet said that the important point for us is to make sure that we are on the side of Christ.

Food Class Gives Demonstrations

The advanced foods class, under the direction of Mrs. W. B. Higgins, gave a series of six demonstrations as a project this first semester on how to prepare well-balanced vegetable meals.

The demonstrations were given at the Chattanooga Junior Academy for the benefit of the ladies who have recently joined the SDA church through the new school that Elder J. A. Dowd held last summer.

Mary Gowdy

One of the few women veterans of World War II to attend Southern Methodist College is Mary Gowdy. She served as a radio operator and telegraphist in the Air Corps. Her birthplace is in Flaton, but she calls Asheville, North Carolina, her home town. It was in Asheville that she taught school for one year before coming to this school. She has also taught in public schools for four years, teaching the third and fourth grades. She spent three years in a school where she was the only teacher.

In addition to being capable in the teaching profession, Mary has also had experience in office work. Working with Western Union, she was a telegraphist in the Moore General Hospital in Swannano, North Carolina. She has been a telephone operator with Southern Bell. Her work while attending school has included the dairy office, teacher in Monticenic, and the biology department.

In extra-curricular lines, she has served as secretary of the SMC Society, temperance society and vice-president of the Teachers of Tomorrow Club. Mary is graduating with a double major, a degree in both biology and secondary education; her minor is in Bible.

Rolando Drachenberg

Rolando is another candidate for graduation who is from the southern hemisphere. He was born in Chilian, but he calls Santa Clara, Cuba, his home.

His father is president of the Antillarum Junior College. Rolando attended school there before coming to SMC.

All of Rolando's schooling previous to coming to SMC was in Spanish. He speaks Spanish and he is learning to speak English. Many of his associates are endeavoring to discover that his native tongue is Spanish.

In extra-curricular activities, Rolando has been president of the Spanish Club, vice-president of the Science Club, and member of the Chilian Officers' Club. To be a chemical engineer is a Rolando's ambition. In preparing for his graduation, he has been majoring in chemistry and a minor in mathematics.

Ogliati Describes Defense Progress

Addressing the student body, February 1, Peter R. Ogliati, mayor of Chattanooga, described the progress of the United States in defense preparations.

Having recently traveled with a group of city mayors under federal invitation to various defense installations in the United States, he was an eye-witness to the progress of the Air Force, Army, and Navy.

Speaking of the new weapons and methods of warfare, Mayor Ogliati said that he believed we have had and need them, than do not have them and need them."

Temperance Contest Coming College Day

A new feature of the College Day program will be a temperance oratorical contest, according to Chester Jordan, president of the student association.

In a recent student senate meeting, it was voted to allow time for the contest during the welcome program on Sunday night. In place of the speeches made by the class presidents of attending academies, a representative from each school will give his oration on temperance.

Tabernacle Gets New Furnishings

Improvements are still being made in the tabernacle-auditorium. New doors have been placed at all the entrances of the main auditorium. The head of the stairs in the minister's room. New curtains have been placed around the organ and piano.

Seats, that are to be used for stacking chairs, are now being made by the maintenance department, and will be in use soon.

The pulpit has been refurnished to match the twelve new chairs that have been added to the return.

Crawford Tells Plans of WSMC

De-finite plans and hard work will still under way on the radio station, WSMC, according to Roy Crawford, the new station manager. Mr. Elmore McMurry has been named the sponsor of the station.

The plan now is to broadcast over an area reaching from the yellow house on the north end of the campus to the red house on the south end, and also eastward as far as the Wittschibe home.

Mr. Crawford explains that the purpose of the station is to provide music, news, and entertainment in programs that can't receive on regular broadcast.

and the importance of salts in the diet.
The students who participated were: Mrs. H. M. Johnson, Mrs. W. B. Higgins, Mrs. Jessie Hammen, Mable Mitchell, Margaret Motkey, Marjorie Parker, and Ruby Teasby.

Academy Senior Sketches 1951-52

Clyde Woolley
Clyde William Woolley hails from Greeneville, Tennessee, where he was born on October 28, 1934. He attended the church school at Greeneville, Tennessee, before he came to Collegedale, where he graduated from the eighth grade. He has been a student in Collegedale Academy since his freshman year.

Clyde has been very active in the Academy. In his junior year he was a reporter and now he is the associate editor of the Accent as well as the editor of the graduating class newspaper and is graduating as the vice-president of the senior class.

Clyde's ambition is to be a draftsman. He should make good in his chosen field, as he came out with first prize in his mechanical drawing class. Swimming and skating are his favorite sports, while he has a hobby of collecting guns and traveling.

With his pleasing and winning personality you can understand why his pet peeve would be stick-up people.

Barbara Jean Tompkins
On May 13, 1935, at the sunny state of Florida, Mr. and Mrs. Tompkins were the proud parents of a little blonde baby girl, Barbara Jean. As soon as Barbara was old enough, she began going to Forest Lake church school, where she graduated as first president of her eighth grade class. For two and a half years she attended Forest Lake Academy, and while there she was associate secretary of the senior division Sabbath school. It was the second semester of last year that we welcomed Barbara to Collegedale Academy.

Barbara has been very active in school activities. She is active in Sabbath school superintendent and secretary of the academy forms the first semester. She is now leader there for the Accent on the Academy and secretary of the senior class.

Her ambition is to go on to college and take the secretarial course. Her hobbies are music and cooking, but every day you notice skating or swimming she's ready to go.

If asked what her pet peeve is she will say, "I hate city people."

Barbara, we wish you all the success in your future work and always keep that bright smile on your face.

Mary Elizabeth Thomas
Mary Elizabeth Thomas first opened her big, brown eyes on February 7, 1934, in Morganton, Georgia.

Though the least in size in her class, Mary is far from the least in talents, intellect, and energy.

With her three academy subjects and four college hours, in all of which she makes top grades, she still finds time for the activities of the Ubers Club and is a reporter for the Accent on the Academy.

Mary's chief hobby, sewing, enables her to make almost all of her clothes, which she does exceptionally well. Another hobby is reading.

"Skiing, tennis, badminton, and almost any sport" take up the rest of her spare time.

Mary declares she has chief pet peeves, and they are her pleading, friendly way and can easily understand why.

Mary serves as Sabbath school secretary and Missionary Volunteer secretary at Pine Forest Academy, which she attended during her freshman and sophomore years. She is now treasurer of the Collegedale Academy senior class.

Her work in Pine Forest Sanitarium gave her some experience in nursing, her ambition.

Mary's pleasant personality and initiative will enable her to go far in her chosen life work.

Bill Ira Hawthorne
Bill Ira Hawthorne arrived in the world on October 11, 1933, in Tallahassee, Florida. He was born in Tallahassee, Florida, and it seems only natural that his hobby and favorite sport of the future will be fishing. After spending the first two years of his high school in Forest Lake Academy, he came to Collegedale Academy where he has been very busy as junior class president, Sabbath school teacher, a member of the academy forum, and finally vanguard-attorney of the senior class.

Bill has a very pleasing personality and we know he will go far in his chosen profession of dentistry.

James Thomas Alexander
Indianapolis, Indiana, was the place May 3, 1933, was the date, and James Thomas Alexander was born. Jim attended high school at Forest Lake Academy for three years and while he was there he served as president and treasurer of the Boy Club, treasurer of the Spanish Club, Sabbath school secretary, associate editor of The Mirror, and made-up editor of the Reflector, the Forest Lake year book, and school paper, respectively. Fortunately for a model student of 1952, he decided to come to Collegedale for his last year and to serve as president of the senior class and editor of the Accent.

Model railroads and swimming occupy his spare time when he is not studying for a model degree. It is hard to tell how far Jim will go but he says that wherever the top is, that's where Jim Alexander will be!

Floyd Leroy Mohr
Floyd Leroy Mohr was born July 10, 1934, in Puigueti Entre Rios, Argentina, where his parents were teaching. Before coming to Collegedale Academy, Floyd attended Glendale Union Academy, Southwestern Jr. College, and San Diego Union Academy.

His quiet, easy-to-get-along-with nature will fit him for the part of a student who has no pet peeves, except people, undependable.

Floyd likes most all sports, but his school work and outside activities require most of his time.

He hasn't yet decided exactly what his main ambition is, but he says he has always been partly partial to engineering and will probably look over the prospects before definitely deciding what he will choose.

The name that Floyd is sure you will be a success in whatever you do.

ACCENT ON THE ACADEMY

Alexander to Lead Academy Seniors; Associate Officers Assume Positions

Relaxing before another class are the officers of the Academy seniors. From right, they are James Alexander, president; Barbur Tompkins, treasurer; Mary Elizabeth Thomas, pastor; and Clyde Woolley, vice-president. Also pictured is Bill Hawthorne, secretarial officer.

Chapel opened as usual on Monday, February 4, with song, prayer, and announcements. Soon, however, we sat up and really took notice of what was going on. In walked a very distinguished-looking gentleman who introduced himself as an archaeologist just returning from Egypt. We were completely mystified as he told Professor Hest about a roll of papyrus tied with a gavel head, which he had safely tucked in his brief case. What could it be? Did it hold some precious secret?

We listened intently as the strange gentleman said he had been in an old Egyptian tomb and had read inscriptions that directed the reader to dig between the feet of the Great Sphinx, where he would find an altar with this roll of papyrus in its mouth. The secret of this interesting document was about to be revealed.

It had been written back in 1928 B. C. in ancient hieroglyphs. The archaeologist offered to sell the

From the Principal's Desk

We have pleasure in listing below the names of twenty-five students who have a B average or better for the semester just closed. These young people are worthy of commendation for this achievement. It is interesting to note that of this number have also been on the scholarship honor roll each period of this semester. This indeed no mean accomplishment. Note the names that are starred, for they are the star students this year.

Mary and J. B. Thomas are honored by a surprise birthday evening of February 5, 1952. They were "best friends" in Mary even give us a hint.

Many pleasant hours of socializing on the grounds were spent on the new floor. We were so glad to see old friends extend our hearty congratulations to Barbara Beckner by whom the new floor was made.

COURTESY IS PART OF SCHOOL

As Mary was leaving English class her algebra book fell to the floor with a resounding thud. After waiting a few seconds for two or the passing of two boys, she slowly bent over to retrieve the dropped book. But as luck would have it, her book tumbled out of her arms to join the algebra book and its mate from two doors away. Jack heard some noise, and was interrupted at Mary's service.

Jack reentered his class room, and at once noticed a broken her pencil. He politely asked her if she would like to use his, and she replied by saying he was very thoughtful.

This was just the start of a typical day for Jack. Watch in school corridors, and when you see him, tell how we appreciate his thoughtfulness. Jack should be easy to find.

OPINION POLL

Do you think it would be advisable to start a public campaign to raise funds to purchase a community fire engine? We would like to hear from you for Oglethorpe, Collegedale, and Apopka to enter on a joint project for this purpose.

It is a good idea. There is nothing in the way of fire protection for our vicinity closer than Chattanooga or Cleveland. A fire in this area results in complete loss. Would the fire truck lower insurance rates?—Gerald Hans, Religion Senior.

I think it would be advisable if all would want to cooperate. We have had no serious fires, but it is better to be safe than sorry.—Bob Marie, Treasurer, Student Association.

I think it would be an excellent project for the new Collegedale Junior Chamber of Commerce. It is the only organization to handle civic affairs. I think the Junior Chamber of Commerce should consider the possibilities of a community project.—Bob Hargis, Sten. Manager.

Absolutely. We ought to have a fire engine. Madison College has one with weekly fire drill. I think the few villages of this area need to pool their resources for this purpose.—P. H. Dowsley, Theology Senior.

I think that we should have a truck equipped with a 750-gallon booster tank and a pump to get water from creeks and other available sources. Collegedale should own the truck in case of fire in either Apopka or Oglethorpe, protection should be given them. However, I'm not in favor of the other communities assisting in the purchase of the fire protection would be real reasonable.—W. C. Young, Business Major, Sportsman.

In my favor of it because of the increase of population in Collegedale community, we need protection. The facilities which we have now are not so good. Not one of the three communities has any fire protection at all. A fire truck available to all would develop better public relations among us.—W. H. Ford, Public Relations Senior.

I have read of such a project in one of the western states where communities are some distances apart. First, insurance is very expensive. Second, damage annually, did little or none. Such a volunteer fire department and fire truck would be of great value to these three local communities. Protection from fire is necessary. I hope we do not wait till we lose many dollars or several lives and someone does something. Looks to me like it would be a very good project for the Junior Chamber of Commerce as a sponsor.—Chas Jordan, President, Student Association.

I think it would be a good idea, but it would be better for Collegedale to promote and own the project, and to serve the other two communities, thereby providing another opportunity for student labor. Property holders could save on fire insurance because of this added protection. This saving could be paid to finance the project. It would be a flat rate charge which could be a 100 per cent return in favor of such a project.—George Peterson, Business Management Senior.

It is true that many of our school buildings are protected from fire by the sprinkler system—so far as being effective fire protectors. Yet, there are many buildings here on the campus which have practically no protection. Naturally, the broom factory would be uppermost in my mind. Our maintenance, as you are very infamously in the event of fire, is very inflammable. We could get good fire fighting equipment on the scene of the fire quickly. It occurs to me that a good dependable fire truck equipped with water and water would be not only a great protection to our industries, but would also be of great service to the home and community homes.—Marcell Conwell, Brown Superintendent.

Collegedale Leads Drive for A Million Enrollees in Bible Course

One million enrollees in the 20th Century Bible Correspondence course is the goal of A. L. Carley, director of the school in Atlanta, and his corps of workers. The Atlanta school hopes to attain its goal by December 31, 1954. Leading the drive to enroll students in the course will be the Collegedale church, which is now canvassing the Chattanooga area with enrollment cards.

A church missionary committee composed of C. E. Witschke, Roy Crawford, Carl Smith, Mrs. Robert Northrop, Mrs. Conrad Finney, and Miss Mable Mitchell devised a working policy which divides the church into three age groups with possibilities of a fourth.

The first age group to organize was the "Mers," those who are 45 or above, who elected D. E. Pineda to head their organization. Charles Fleming leads the second group, those of 30 to 45 years of age, and overseeing the third group, formed by the MV society, is Fred Barber.

Under the direction of these three leaders, and their staffs of smaller group leaders, funds have been organized and territory assigned in which to secure enrollees. Because this is a church missionary project, designed to include all of the membership, the work is not limited to Sabbath hours, thus allowing each worker to select his own time and goal to reach.

The highlight of the new program came when E. L. Carley visited Southern Missionary College two weeks ago and officially launched the plan. Church members from the three age groups set their goal at 20,000 enrollees by February, 1953. The "Mers" and the "30 to 45s" have already accomplished some of their work, and church leaders are anticipating a greatly increased church membership in the Chattanooga area.

Fearing to Lead Week of Prayer

Elder Andrew Fearing will speak to the college students during the Spring week of prayer at Southern Missionary College, February 29 to March 8. Elder Fearing will conduct daily chapel meetings and union worship meetings each evening. He is president of the Nevada-Utah conference and a denominationally known evangelist.

Elder Fenton E. Froom, pastor of the Beverly Road church in Atlanta, Georgia, will direct the academy meetings.

Elder Archa O. Dart, union home missionary and Sabbath school secretary, will speak to the elementary school children.

The week of prayer will begin tonight and is under the joint supervision of the Collegedale MV society and the student religious activities committee.

Bendix Installed In Targe Hall

Boys will no longer have to rub their knuckles to get their clothes clean, reports the dormitory management. The men's forum request for a washer resulted in the installation of a Bendix Economat automatic washer in the first floor washroom.

The new washer is equipped with a spin dryer, and its rinsing, draining, and squeezed dryer are all automatically controlled. The washer can take eight pounds at a single washing, and two loads may be washed in one hour. A coin meter with a 25-cent-per-hour rate will help pay for the new convenience.

200 Join American Temperance Society

Marjorie Parker is seated at the temperance display during the campaign conducted by the Collegedale Temperance Chapter for membership in the American Temperance Society.

The hundred new members have joined the American Temperance Society as a result of a membership drive at SMC, according to Wesley Syva, president of the temperance chapter. Elder W. A. Schaffenberg, associate secretary of the American Temperance Society, visited the campus February 10 and 11 and counseled with the student officers of the temperance chapter as to their future plans.

Elder Schaffenberg also spoke in chapel during his visit at the college on the evils of alcohol and tobacco and the "degenerating moral effect" they are having on young people.

Ricks Supervises Dry-Cleaning Dept.

"You've tried the rest, now try the best," smiled Mr. W. R. Ricks, the new foreman of the dry-cleaning department in the Collegedale laundry.

With 18 years of dry-cleaning experience behind him, Mr. Ricks, with his family, has just moved from Norfolk, Virginia, to take up his new position in the Collegedale laundry. He has, during his experience, been connected with all phases of dry cleaning work—superintending, advertising, sales manager, route manager, inspecting, and teaching the fundamentals of dry-cleaning to new employees. Mr. Ricks has already effected improvements in his department which will reduce shrinkage in clothes. A vacuum-kill has been ordered for installation. This new equipment will purify the solvents by vaporization and condensation, thus removing all dirt and impurities collected from the clothes, and providing a constant flow of clean solvents into the cleaning unit. Other new equipment, when installed, will offer moth-proof service.

Mr. Ricks hopes to expand the business to include more service to the campus and to Anson and Ooltewah. The new location has been an advertisement for 19 years. Because of an refusal to work on the Sabbath, he has been forced to change jobs and decline offers for other jobs in large plants in Norfolk.

Mr. and Mrs. Ricks arrived at Collegedale February 20 and have made their home in apartment 2-1 on Camp Road. They have four children—the four "D's": Danny, seven, and in the second grade; Deborah, six; Dale, three; and Diana, two and a half months.

Twenty-five members were present at the first regular meeting of the Master Guide Club Sabbath afternoon, February 23.

The club has adopted its constitution and has received a charter as a regular club to be represented on the club officers' council, said Glenn Cook, president of the club.

The following officers were elected at the first meeting: Robert McCumber, first vice-president (religious); Roy Battle, second vice-president (recreational); Boba Barrington, secretary-treasurer; Lavene Notteloff, district secretary-treasurer; Glenn Carter, publicity secretary; and sponsor, Gerald Boynton, associate professor of Industrial Arts.

The club is broken down into four groups. A Master Guide is in charge of each and is responsible for helping those in his group fulfill their requirements. The group leaders are Ruby Martin, Robert McCumber, Elaine Sheffield, and Gladys Smoot.

W. Spaulding, Jr., superintendent of the gardens and fruits department, will aid the members in fulfilling their gardening requirements. Five members will start a garden this spring.

K. M. Kennedy, principal of the elementary school, will help the members fulfill their journal-keeping requirements. Four members will meet each week in the grade school to aid juniors in becoming friends and companions.

For three weeks, Mrs. Kuhlman, the school nurse, will teach the health and hygiene class on Saturday evenings.

Each Sabbath afternoon the nature club will conduct a nature walk. The first study will be that on trees.

The kindergarten Sabbath school will call on progressive Master Guides to tell stories. This will help to get their MV Honor in Christian story-telling.

In its February meeting the Tennessee State Board of Education, after inspection of the college and examination of its teaching staff, curricula, demonstration schools, and general scholastic achievements, took action officially "approving Southern Missionary College as a four-year college for the training of teachers" for secondary and elementary schools, not only in Tennessee, but also in the Carolinas, Georgia, Florida, Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana, Texas, Arkansas, New Mexico, Virginia, West Virginia, and a number of other states.

If virtually many that teachers trained in Southern Missionary College will be approved by accrediting and certification agencies, practically everywhere in the United States and in such overseas countries as recognize teaching certificates from other nations. Plans for this recognition have been under way for several years, paralleling the general accreditation program of the National Education Association by the Southern Association two years ago.

It is the first secondary teacher education at SMC which now has no difficulty in obtaining state board approval in the southern states and in other states maintaining a system of reciprocity with the state of Tennessee. This has been the goal of persistent efforts assisted by Glenn Finney, Jr., business manager, and backed by the college board.

Dr. Thomas W. Steen, chairman of the instructional division of education and psychology, and assistant professor Olivia Broderson Dean, director of elementary teacher education, with assistant professor Elva Gardner, have been organizing the teacher training programs which met all the requirements of the state board of education. ## Seniors Present Sidewalk as Gift

"The senior class of '52 is presenting to the school the gift of a 42-inch wide concrete walk from the side of the front step of the college library toward the side entrance to Lynn Wood Hall," said Robert Haeger, president of the senior class.

The walk was started by the maintenance department last week and is nearing completion. The senior class is contributing $100 for the project.

A single brick step will connect the walk with the entrance of the library. On the step will be the bronze words, "Class of '52'."

The senior class chose this as their project for organizing the needs of the students in having a shorter route from the library to the administration building," Haeger said.

A DROP OF I.N.K. . .

DEAR FELLOW STUDENTS:

As I told you to chapel last Friday we plan to produce the best annual in the history of SMC. I also told you it would be in your hands not later than Friday, May 16, 1952.

Your Southern Memories staff has worked very hard on this annual and we have much faith that you will do your part to help us.

However, our faith was greatly shaken last Friday when we received the total amount of forty-six (46) subs, nine of which were given by my fellow staff members.

May I ask you students, do you want an annual? We have solicited more than $2,000 in advertisements. Shall we return this money? It is all of our time and effort meaningless to you?

I make this promise: if 50 per cent of the student body will get one (1) sub besides the one paid on the activity fee, I will get one hundred (100) subs personally.

Friends, if we printed this annual for your pleasure only, it would cost you not less than $6.60. We are happy to solicit ads so that you will pay only $3.00 per copy for your annual. Why not take two (2) annuals for $7.00. This is only $.40 more than you would pay if you were accepting the responsibility yourself.

Let's get behind this, students. Let's show our school spirit. Let's accept our responsibilities and carry our part of the load.

Thank you very kindly.

Very sincerely yours,
DEWEY J. URICK, JR.

Mr. and Mrs. Burton Wright are here on the week end of February 15 to 17 with his parents.

Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Banks have two new acquisitions. They just moved into their new home on Hillside Drive last week, and they also have a new son. Legit children for Jerry Duane were signed January 15. Jerry will be three years old in April. He has lived in the Banks since he was six months old.

President and Mrs. Wright were in Washington last week end.

Miss Ruby Lee, former registrar, was on the campus February 15 to 17. A Bible discussion group has been organized by Mr. Fleming and others who are unable to attend a regular Wednesday evening prayer meeting. It meets in room 322 in the administration building.

Mrs. Albert Anderson has been chosen leader of the Vine Street Orange band which was recently organized.

The Gotts are moving into Mr. Bank's house on Ayrton Pike Road.

CAROL JEAN WHIDDEN

Maude Jones Hill has passed through the excitement of girls' quizzet and is reuming the usual quiet atmosphere. A few coarses still may have caught the SMC lockers refrigerator when the door is opened, but most of them are being removed to scrapbook pages as last vestiges of a wondrous evening.

One section of third floor will be forsone for a few weeks since the porter Parker Hill. We are glad to know she is coming back next year, though, to attend the academy again.

Wetkorn Sally Boyer, a new dormitory girl. An academy student, Sally has lived in the community previous to moving into Maude Jones Hill.

Myrna Traverses
Myrna Lee, our dormitory nurse, and the nursing department health service have been traversing these flights of stairs regularly since so many people have caught the Measles. Most of them cooperated in staying out of school at the first signs of a cold; in fact, some were almost too willing. The nurses' work has been much appreciated, and the latest reports are that Bernice Young and Myrna Lee have really improved their staying technique.

Recent visitors to our dormitory have included Jerry Holdridge and Art Butterfield, who came laden with books and new bags of peanuts. Matt, obtaining permission to do so they set up their roasting equipment in our breakfast room.

Martha Rodriguez had more avoiron than she could use. She was on the street on a diet and lost ten pounds. She went one day the Alonzo invited her out for dinner. When she returned she was shocked to find that the had gained back the ten pounds and more. It might have been the scales' mistake.

What would you like to read about in our dormitory report? Just tell us and we'll try to use your suggestions in our very next issue.

Fla. San Presents Chapel Program

In chapel Friday, February 15, a representation from Florida Sanitarium and Hospital presented a program under the direction of Elder J. M. Cox. Among the group were Miss Mildred Lane, who is one of the members of the Sanitarium staff; Arnie Dalsheim, male nurse from the Sanitarium, and Catherine Glahn, former student of Southern Missionary College and now student nurse at the Sanitarium.

Miss Bradley introduced the film, "Ambushes in War," which showed the procedure of a study training of a student nurse from the time she enters nurses training until she graduates.

The film was produced on the Florida Sanitarium and Hospital grounds and shows the Sanitarium in surgery and other hospital services.

This program is a regular function of the Public Relations Office of the Sanitarium, of which Elder Cox is director. It is designed to stimulate the interest of pre-nursing students in the Florida Sanitarium.

Girls Fete Boys in Reception: Present Music, Readings, Play

The 1951-52 Girl's Reception, sponsored by the Dasowakita Club, was held in the college cafeteria and in Lyman Wood Hall the evening of February 17.

Fifty waiters and waitresses served a three-course banquet, on the menu were noodle soup, tomato-cheese salad, mashed potatoes, green peas, pickled beets, vegetable pot-pie, ketchup pie and fruit punch.

A garden scene, at the entrance to the dining room, included a rose arbor, a rustic bridge, and ponds. The table decorations carried out a Valentine theme, while candles and suspended overhead lights gave a festive glow to the room.

During the meal dinner music was given by Mr. N. L. Kroegert, instrumentalists, Mary Ellen Carlson, vocalist, John Smith, violinist, and Donna Hoyer, saxophonist. The Dasowakita Club dedicated this year's reception to Dr. and Mrs. Floyd O. Fitzhugh as a token of appreciation for their guiding influence here at the college. Catherine Brown, president, presented them with a large potted plant.

"Sweetheart" was the theme of the night, with five medleys and songs from the banquet in Lyman Wood Hall chapel.

At the first half of the program were featured readings and musical numbers. Joyce Anderson gave "Carve Wood Must Not Ring Tonight," "Finger Must Be Tied Tonight," a parody to the preceding poem, was given by Donna Weber. Carol Jean Whiddlen, dressed as a plump Negro girl, gave the reading, "Encouragement."

Miller Renders Own Compositions

Harold A. Miller, head of the music department, rendered a program of his own compositions at the Monday night, February 25.

His first number was "The Sparrows," a pianistic interpretation of sparrows in winter. Miller composed a number one morning when one of his pupils at Mt. Vernon Academy didn't show up for a lesson.

A few of the other numbers were: "O, Lily' Lahn," "Here, Kitty, Kitty," "It's Spring," "The Fog Horn," and "An-See-Sa Fishing."

Student Committees Change Names

Dr. Richard L. Hannell, co-ordinator of student activities and sponsor of the student senate, reported to the student senate in its last meeting the suggestion of a special committee set up by the faculty to make recommendations to align more fully the work of faculty and student committees.

Suggestions affecting the student organization directly were the changing of the title of the student council to an health to have the same title as the corresponding faculty committee, which would be committee on health and recreation. Also that the student committee on recreation be renamed

MacPherson Visits SMC Med Students

DR. W. E. MacPherson of the College of Medical Evangelists at Loma Linda, California, visited the students in union prayer meeting Wednesday evening, February 13.

Following the meeting he answered questions from SMC's prospective physicians and dentists.

Dr. MacPherson spoke on John 5: "Ye shall know the truth and the truth shall make you free." His talk was centered around the differences between Christianity and communism.

"The question before us today," he stated, "is whether we will choose God or man." He quoted Mr. Whitaker Chambers, author in a recent Saturday Evening Post, as saying that "freedom and religion are inseparable; a man knows he has them, not because he can see them, but because he has faith to take hold of them, and because he knows they can't be destroyed by his faith."

Dr. MacPherson said the Western, or Middle East, world is representative of the condition of the world today in one sense because it has never shown what is good. He stressed that we must witness for our faith.

At the session following the prayer meeting, Dr. MacPherson told pre-medical and pre-dental students that the College of Medical Evangelists is entirely professional. All courses are offered in medicine, nursing, dietetics, physical therapy, and there are courses for technicians. A graduate course in the study of tropical diseases is offered.

Dr. MacPherson further revealed that at the last Fall Council of the General Conference, committee recommended to CME's board that a course of dentistry be operated. The board voted on the matter and passed it.

The plans are to admit the first class to the dental school in September. Dr. D. B. Dyer of Denton has been appointed dean of the school. Dr. Prince has three jobs (acting lab) at present: finding a faculty, working on recreation, and finalizing facilities to accommodate the coming classes. The classes will be limited to forty-eight.

James Conducts Prayer Meetings on Spirit of Prophecy

Elder J. S. James is conducting a series of studies on the Spirit of Prophecy for the prayer meetings in trailer camp. These meetings will provide information and personal-interest facts that are not found in our conventional books.

"I am not going to interpret the contents of the Spirit of Prophecy," said Elder James. "That is God's work in good, plain English." Instead he will present the human-interest aspects of the uses chosen as the messengers of the Lord.

Elder James is well qualified to present the organ and piano, and has his own in an Adventist home and his own in Mrs. E. G. White from Boston plays the organ and piano, and in Mrs. White's home at the dose of her work. While working there he gathered many of the personal facts which he is presenting in the prayer meetings.

The meetings will continue until the last of May. Everyone who desires to be more personally acquainted with Mrs. White is invited to attend these studies.

S103 Solicited For Ingathering

The first fruits of the annual Ingathering drive were seen last week and reports Pastor Horace A. Boyden Saturday night, February 23, several ladies made the first trip of the year, including to Knoxville and soliciting S103.

This week end groups are going to Anderson, Georgia, to solicit the field day for the school is set for April 1, Pastor Becker states.

Senior Sketches, 1951-52

Marie Wrenn-East

"Number Please." Have you ever thought about the owner of the cheer? That greets you when you get out of your lift the receiver of your phone?

Chances are about four to one here in Collegedale that it will be the voice of Mrs. Marie Wrenn-East. She has been an operator here for the last three years and at present is the "Chick" on the local exchange.

Although she was born in High Point, North Carolina, and claims as her home town Crossville, Tennessee, she thinks that Collegedale could almost call her its own. She lived here as a child when her father was building Lynn Wood Hall. She has spent six years here in academy and college and plans to graduate here.

Marie and Bob East were married during the Christmas vacation. They are making their home in the trailer camp.

Mr. East has been a church school teacher for five years in the Georgia-Cumberland conference, serving at Pough, North Carolina; Columbus, Georgia; and Altamont, Tennessee. She has been active in Sabbath school work, having held the office of preserver in the previous Sabbath school year. She is present and assistant superintendent of the tubercule division Sabbath school.

When asked about her hobby she answered, "Just whatever needs to be done." Upon further questioning she said that when she finds something that needs doing she makes it her hobby and thus gets it done the sooner. She says her ambition is to be the very best home-maker possible and to fill a place in the Lord's work.

Winifred Joyce Cobb

Winifred Joyce Cobb was born in Atlanta, Georgia. She wouldn't say just how long ago but it must have been at least sixteen years. She grew up in the family graduating from Atlanta Union Academy and now is planning to graduate from SMC.

She is a pre-med student majoring in literature and taking minor in biology and religion. This is a commendable combination; one that will serve her in good stead as she goes forth to minister to the sick and afflicted. She can point out the way to the One who is able not only to heal the body but save the soul.

Her training here has not been all books and theory. She has learned a hand at other things too. She has worked in the broomshop, the registry office and two years in the academy office. She has been chemistry laboratory assistant, and a checker in the kitchen and monitor in Maule Jones' class.

She has held offices in a number of different organizations about the campus. She has been parliamentarian of the Dasowakita Club, a Sabbath school teacher, a prayer band leader, a secretary of the tubercule division of the Sabbath school and a member of the student senate committee on health.

She follows music and art as a hobby. She plays the organ and piano, and has an interesting collection of scientific folders and postal cards.

Pat Champion

Have you ever wondered where all these appetizing aromas that so often pervade the atmosphere throughout out Lynn Wood Hall come from? If you should happen to be in a adventurous mood, certainly, just for the sake of it, let us lead you to the source of the tantalizing fragrances, it will lead you to the north end of the building to a room recently supplied room number 213.

It is the home economics laboratory presided over the efficient eye of Mrs. Higgins.

There too, peradventure, you would find the pleasing personality of Miss Patricia Hampson, better known as "Pat."

Pat was born in Lucknow, Indiana. She claims Calcutta as her home town. Her parents are missionaries in India.

Vincent Hill School, in India, was the place where she first started school. Next she went to Pacific Union College Preparatory School for her secondary education. After graduation she went on to Pacific Union College, after attending the school for a year, she came to SMC. She is a religion major and plans to become a Bible worker in the field.

Pat is not only a diligent student but has been very active in extra-curricular activities holding a number of offices during the past years. She has been Home Ec. Club Treasurer, Home Ec. Club secretary, deaconess, associate SMC club secretary. At present she is the secretary-treasurer of the ministerial seminar.

Next we went to the cafeteria and at present is employed as a reader in the Bible department and as an assistant in Mrs. Higgins in the home department. Besides all of these activities Pat still takes time out occasionally to indulge in her hobby of oil painting.

When asked what her ambition in life was the answer, "I have fallen in love with the Lord and I want to be a friendly Southern people. I plan to be a Bible worker in the Southern Union."

Walter Maurice Abbott, Jr.

Walter Maurice Abbott, Jr. is a student in the dental school. "We do not know how many times this letter but we believe it may give you some idea of a highly probable that he will use it many times in the future as he is a religion major and plans to be an evangelistic minister. He has had experience in this line in the past, having served as music director in an effort in Chattanooga and in two efforts in Opelika, Alabama. He has also followed the colporteur work for three and one half summers.

Maurice was born in Florence, Alabama, but claims Pensacola, Florida, as his home town. He has attended school at Pine Forest Academy, Collegedale Academy, and Southern Union University, all of which he has especially active in the student activities and MV work having held office in the student senate, student president, MV chorister, SC chorister, senior band leader, pastor of Colporteur Club school secretary, and superintendent of Triangle Club, vice-president of men's council, and ACCENT campaign chairman in the student senate.

He has been in the factory, maintenance, men's house, and the college store.

He spends his spare time wherever his interests are, fishing, boating or baseball.

He is the club officer's club officer. He has been very active attending their first senate meeting, have entered into many plans that face the student body and are the outstanding activities of the SMC campus. Jordan said.

He was a new committee member and was conferred. To the committee he was added. Torrey Mitchell, George Campbell, and Ronald Johnson, Lorenz Mitchell, and Faye Mixon were added to the committee. The new election committee added Jack Fawcett and the labor committee, Billy Straigt.

Married Couples' Forum Stages Barn Party: Over 200 Come

The barn party slows down long enough for refreshments.

Two hundred members of the married couples' forum gathered in the college barn for an evening of games and entertainment Saturday night, February 16. It was probably the largest gathering of the forum since its organization.

After the opening of the program by prayer and the singing of "Dixie," C. L. Beason, president of the forum, said plans were being laid to hold a social gathering at least once a month in addition to the regular meeting which is held monthly.

Those taking part on the program were Bob Haeg and his wife with their banjo and harmonica, the Collegiate quartet, Peter Donnelly and long enough for refreshments

along with Yoder with his guitar and mandolin, Carl Jean Whidden with his accordion, Larry Johnson with his guitar, Harry Danclow with his electric steel guitar, Fred Aulff and Danny Lewis with harmonica and mandolin, and Betty Collins and Mr. Hoar with appropriate readings.

After the serving of refreshments, the drawing for the door prize was made and Arthur Battelink, member of the Collegiate quartet, was the winner.

The party seemed to be enjoyed by all, even though they did have to sit on benches of soy bean hay," said Beason, president of the forum.

William L. Shirer Calls for Moral Strength to Combat Totalitarianism

"America needs moral power, declared William L. Shirer, national news commentator and journalist, when he addressed an audience of one of students and community residents, Saturday night, February 23, in the library auditorium.

Democracy and communism can exist together in one world, the speaker asserted. Communism can conquer democracy only when democracy is divided from within. Despite the weakness of capitalism, it has great strength and endurance, and only when communism realizes this strength can a peaceful settlement be possible.

"America has adopted its foreign policy for the containment of Russia and communism," Shirer said. "The Truman Doctrine saved Turkey and Greece from communism, and the Marshall Plan aided Europe. The North Atlantic Pact, opposition to Korean aggression, and the covering of Japan into a bulwark of peace are other points in the formation of America's foreign policy."

As strong as America is, she cannot "go it alone, the lecturer quoted from an American general. Thus the need of allies in both the Orient and Europe are necessary. There are questions regarding Japan's sympathy with the West, Shirer pointed out.

Having lived in Germany both before and after World War II, the speaker reports that Germany has neither learned her lesson nor changed her ideas about Nazism. American officials have conducted opinion polls throughout Germany concerning Nazism, and results show that Germans believe in Nazism was a good idea but poorly carried out. Many high-ranking in the post German government are former Nazis.

"Attacking America's failure in educating Germans against totalitarianism are two thirds of the German population and 94 per cent of educated Germans. In view of these facts, the rearmament of Germany carries with it many fears to European countries."

Despite these fears, Shirer said, Germany does embody several hopes. One is that Germany has adopted the Shuman Plan which will unite iron and coal industries of Germany with England and France and other European nations. Thus the contention over the Ruhr district will be greatly reduced.

Considering the problems in France and England, Shirer pointed to other questions by asking whether a rearmament which would break their economies, and make them more respectable to communism, would be the best policy. Can ideas be destroyed by force? Europe, he stated, is not so fearful of Russia as America appears to be.

"We are the last great hope of the free world," he declared. "America needs to stimulate more moral leadership in the minds and hearts of its citizens, from the lowest positioned person to the highest official."

Nurse Tells of Hospital Work

The Florida Sanitarium and Hospital was represented in the Friday evening vesper, February 13, by Elder L. M. C. Galt, public relations director, and Arne Dahlstrom, student from Florida Sanitarium.

Dahlstrom spoke of his experience as a student nurse and how the Lord can spread his work through nurses, giving every evening with the patients," he said.

Elder Cox preached on God's providing care over his children, giving tests and revealing experiences as evidences of this truth.

Students to Appear In Evening of Song

A program of local talent will be presented by SMC music students in the Lyon Wood Hall chapel on March 10.

Included in the evening's entertainment, which begins at 8:00, will be selections for piano, organ, voice, and instruments. Composers of classic, romantic, and modern periods will be represented in a wide variety of selections.

Professor H. A. Miller, head of the music department and co-ordinator of the program, states that the students promise some excellent performances of interesting music. The program will be presented not only for its entertainment features but for its educational and cultural values as well.

Those who will perform are students: Mr. M. H. Miller, Mrs. Frances Curtis, Mr. N. L. Kropfstad, Mr. Wayne Thurber, and Miss Maik Wood.

SA Considers Fountain for Gym

In the eighth regular meeting of the student senate, February 27, it was voted to present before the student association for referendum the proposition of contributing one-third of the cost of purchasing and installing a water fountain to be placed in the rear of the gym.

This motion was brought about by numerous requests of the many students who use the gym for skating on their many after activities carried on there, and Chester Jones, president of the student association in a recent Collegiate church board meeting, it was voted that the church would finance one-third of the total cost. The finance committee of the college has also voted to be responsible for one-third in purchasing and installing the water fountain.

McKinley Perform In Music Program

Mr. and Mrs. McKinley, a retired Baptist minister and his wife, presented an evening of gospel songs Saturday night, February 16.

They performed on several novelty numbers. The newest of these, was an instrument controlled by state, was worked by the distance of the hands from the machine to create different notes. No part of the human anatomy touches it.

Another feature was cocktail glasses converted into musical instruments. They were played by the musician's hand against the edge of the glasses which were partially filled with water according to the pitch desired.

Much of their music came from the trombone, saxophone, accordion, and the saw.

Carley Shows Mission Film

Mr. E. L. Carley, returned missionary from Africa and present director of the 20th Century Bible Correspondence course in Atlanta, was a visitor on the SMC campus over the weekend of February 16.

In the afternoon, Elder Carley showed a color film of Africa's wild life and Adventist mission stations.

A film entitled "First Missionary Journey of Paul" was shown at the February 23 MV meeting under the direction of Nat Halverson, associate MV leader.

THE SUN WILL SHINE TOMORROW

Here at Collegedale it looks like we have a day, a rainy day, and then another rainy day. There are reports to rainy days, however. For instance, we never need to worry about the groundhog seeing his shadow on groundhog day. As can tell you it will be cloudy then, but then there are others who claim around besides through a rain barrel. Certainly we can say that we have a hard winter. We have had an amount of warm and sunny weather. They say why do we hear saying they believe it rains all the time? Just pessimists, I think. I'm not listen to them for they don't know what they're talking about. What if it is raining today! The sun will surely shine tomorrow or the next, or the next, or . . .

Juniors Elect Kennedy President; Higgins is Class Sponsor

A special newcast on the presidential primaries for 1952 was presented in academy chapel on February 11, 1952.

News commentator John Durivick announced, "Here is Truman and vice-president Barkley have withdrawn from the presidential race since Senator Howard M. Kanenauer of Oregon and L. Ausherman have been elected candidates from the little town of Collegedale, Tennessee."

"Because secretary of state, Dean Acheson has housed so many pro-communists in the state department, he has been asked to resign. To take the place of the resigned secretary, Paty Fogg has been elected."

The voice on the radio continued, "It has been rumored that the treasurer, John Snyder, has been spending too much on milk coats."

Academy Senior Sketches 1951-52

Bonnie Josephine Brown

On June 25, 1951, Bonnie Brown arrived at Loma Linda, California. Her first four years of school were spent at Shigo Elementary in Lakona, Prince Georges, Maryland, and at the Parkersburg church school in Parkersburg, West Virginia. After the program from grade school she went to Forest Lake Academy where she was literary editor of the Harvest school yearbook.

Bonnie gets a lot of practice toward her ambition to be a speech teacher and, by the way, she will make a good one. We found that out when she was president of the academy forum here at Collegedale. Bonnie laughingly admits that her pet vice is the administrative council. She likes very much to swim and she also enjoys watching baseball and football. Her hobby is traveling, and when she is there, the sun will always shine brighter there.

Doris Elizabeth Duke

Doris Elizabeth Duke has been born in Atlanta, Georgia, September 18, 1934. For three years Doris attended Parkersburg intermediate school, Honolulu, Hawaii, where her father, who is president of the Civil Service, her high school years, previous to this year, were spent at Savannah High School, Savannah, Georgia.

While in Honolulu, she held the office of president of the school's economics club. In Savannah High school, she was the president of her home room and mathematics class. She was co-sponsor of the 1950 spring swing, treasurer of her home room and secretary of the Missionary Vespers Branch.

Flourisback riding and swimming take up her spare time. She makes a hobby of cooking which is one reason she has chosen for her career in Atlanta.

"With her sparkling personality we are sure Doris will go far in her chosen profession."

Benjamin Harrison Cobb

Benjamin Harrison Cobb Jr., better known to his classmates as Ben, was born on April 22, 1934, in Hillsdale, North Carolina.

Ben has attended Asheville Agricultural School, where he was president of the boys' club, Forest Lake Academy, and finally came to Collegedale for his senior year.

Ben tells us he has not any particular hobby, but he has his junior year at Forest Lake Academy. Ben had a chance to do swimming, his favorite sport, at Forest Lake. He says he does not keep him so busy he does not much time to enjoy it.

Ben's ambition will be to become a teacher and he will be doing so in the near future.

Peter Duichel

January 6, 1934, in Chesapeake, Md. and Mr. Duichel's new addition to their family.

Peter's first two years of high school were spent at Forest Lake Academy. Last year he joined at Collegedale Academy. While at Middlebrook, he was president of the student body.

After his afternoon when Peter was in his hobby, reading, playing the gym enjoying sports, fishing, or in his hobby of hill field spring baseball.

Peter is a very courteous fellow. Maybe that is why he was chosen to be president of the student body.

We are sure that you will take with your ambition. Ben, look!

Betty Jo Barnett

A very special addition arrived at Collegedale, Georgia rural on April 14, 1932. The new one other than blue-eyed Braxas.

Before Betty came to Collegedale, she attended Bible Institute in Cleveland, Tennessee. Betty's favorite sport is swimming. Many other pleasant hobbies are listed on the Brading High Traveling of hers, though she has no time to enjoy it. Betty's hobby, she says, affects all other students in the same way. She will be a swimmer.

Though small in size, Betty is a warm. She is a everyone.

She has chosen nursing as her profession, but she is at the top.

Best wishes, Betty! You will be a success!

Fearing Conducts Week of Prayer; Froom and Dart Assist

Standing on the lawn below College Drive are the week of prayer leaders. Left to right, they are C. E. Whitehead, faculty religious education committee chairman; Elder Fearing, college speaker; Elder Froom, academy speaker; R. A. Hammill, MV speaker; Wally Welch, MV leader; Elder Dart, elementary school speaker. Not pictured is John Harlan, student religious interests committee chairman.

Beginning Friday evening, February 19, Elder Andrew Fearing, president of the Nevada-Texas conference, and a denominationally known evangelist, introduced his series of week of prayer services, "Things Unthinkable." The other speakers during the services in the academy and elementary school were Elder Fenton E. Froom, pastor of the Beverly Road church in Atlanta, and Elder Archibald O. Dart, senior Sabbath school secretary.

Elder Fearing held his services during the week of spiritual emphasis every morning at eleven o'clock in Layton Wood Hall and each evening at seven o'clock in the tabernacle auditorium.

ATTENTION ALL HIGH SCHOOL SENIORS

Every high school and academy senior in Tennessee, North and South Carolina, Georgia, Kentucky, Alabama, Mississippi, and Florida are invited to be guests of the Southern Missionary College Student Association, Collegedale, Tennessee, April 20 and 21, 1952, for the annual Collegedale Day Celebrations. The pastor of the nearest Seventh-day Adventist church will provide transportation for which the senior pays $2; this balance is paid by the local conference. The college is happy to entertain the senior while he is on the Collegedale campus. Any high school senior who has difficulties in contacting the nearest Seventh-day Adventist pastor is cordially invited to communicate directly with:

Chester Jordan, president, Student Association;
Southern Missionary College, Collegedale, Tennessee;
Phone: Chattanooga 4-3323.

Gospel Salesmanship Course Offered: Over 100 Students Register for Class

A new one-hour course, "Gospel Salesmanship," has just been added to the college curriculum by SMC.

Center Opened for Welfare Work

The Dorcas Welfare Center, 700 Dodds Avenue, has recently been opened by the Seventh-day Adventist churches in the Chattanooga area. The purpose of the Center is to provide food and clothing for those who have suffered the effects of fire, storm, tragedy, or who have other needs.

The Center is open Monday through Thursday from 10:30 a. m. to 4:30 p. m. During these hours two persons are in charge, John H. Shell is coordinator of the Center.

In the near future classes in healthful cooking, first aid, and home nursing will be sponsored for those who are interested in furthering their knowledge along such lines.

Pastor Becker reports that it is the aim of the workers to contact the wealthy Chattanooga clothing stores, which will then be processed and given to the needy. With all articles of clothing given away, literature will also be given.

Clothing to go to the Center may be taken either to the Collegedale-Dorcas room or directly to the Center. "All donations will be appreciated," Elder Becker further stated.

The churches sponsoring the Dorcas Welfare Center are the Chattanooga SDA church, the Wildwood SDA church, the Standard Gap SDA church, the St. Elmo SDA church, and the Collegedale SDA church.

Thirty-three Jaycees Take Census; Parrish Urges Increase in Membership

The thirty-three Jaycees spent half a day March 9 in taking the Collegedale census, reports Grip Parrish, president of the Collegedale Junior Chamber of Commerce.

The records have not been fully completed as yet. By March 16 the findings of the census will be known. One of the reasons for launching the project was to aid the community in relation to civil defense. By having records on file, citizens of Collegedale will be easily contacted for volunteer work, for blood donors, and for Red Cross work, in case of emergency.

"The records will be valuable to the Jaycees," said Parrish, "in follow-up academic standards committee and administrative council. The request for such a course was submitted by P. W. Doney, president of the Colporteur Club, who has had extensive and successful experience in the colporteur work.

The course is designed to qualify prospective student colporteurs for their canvassing work. Doney states that the course should prove especially valuable to ministerial students, who are required to canvass for three months before their graduation.

Over 100 students plan either to take the course for credit or to audit it. Doney's records. The course may be audited free of charge or will cost one hour charge of credit at the regular tuition rate.

The course is under the supervision of Mr. R. M. Craig, associate professor of economics and business at SMC. Teachers will be the Southern Union Publishing Department secretaries. By this personal acquaintance between publishing secretaries and prospective colporteurs, a better relationship in the field can be achieved, Doney's further assets.

The class meets each Sunday evening from 6:30-7:30 in the library faculty room. Donorship students will be excused from their regular worship appointments.

Spiva Announces Oratorical Contest

Six contestants will participate in the oratorical contest, April 16, announces Wesley Spiva, president of the Collegedale chapter of the A.T.S.

The Collegedale A.T.S. is sponsoring the contest and has appointed J. J. Mink as director of the event. From the applicants, the best six will be selected to appear in chapel, April 16.

A board of three judges will render their decisions on the orations. Two of the judges will be from Chattanooga, and the remaining one will be a Collegedale resident. The judges will be so unfamiliar with the contestants," Spiva declared, "that they will have to judge them by numbers which they wear and not by their names."

The prizes offered for the winners are a fluorescent desk lamp with electric clock, first prize; a General Electric walk-in case or eight dollars cash, second prize; and a Browne Hawkeye camera or five dollars cash, third prize.

Event Set for April 20, 21

Academy and high school seniors in Florida, Mississippi, Alabama, Georgia, the Carolinas, Kentucky, and Tennessee are invited to be guests at Southern Missionary College April 20 and 21 to participate in the annual college day celebrations. Arrangements are being worked out by the student association through the student senate and its standing committees in coordination with the president of the college, Dr. R. L. Hammill is the official coordinator. The plans will be carried out under the general supervision of Chester Jordan, president of the student association.

The individual high school senior should contact his local district pastor who will provide transportation to Collegedale, April 20. The senior pays two dollars and the conference subsidizes the balance of the transportation costs. The college entertains the seniors and their chaperons while they are on the campus. The names of college day guests should be sent in to the conference educational secretary by April 1.

All academy seniors will be contacted by their local principals who will make all the necessary arrangements with the coordinator of plans at Southern Missionary College.

Student Committees Preparing
The chairman of the student committees preparing for college day, 1952, are Larry Hawkins, John Harlan, Grady Smoot, Roy Batten, Glen Gandy, Jack Price, and Bob Ammons. A number of sub-committees are being formed.

The budget is being worked out in coordination with Dr. Hammill and the student administrative council consisting of Chester Jordan, Arthur Butterfield, Lupton Sutton, and Jack Mast. Butterfield will be in charge of a special committee on registration.

In a recent faculty meeting, college day plans were discussed on the basis of plans approved by President K. A. Wright and Dean F. O. Babcock and prepared by Dr. R. L. Hammill. In the student senate meeting February 20, under the chairmanship of Art Butterfield, duties were assigned. Reports and plans will be completely formulated soon.

400 Attended Last Year

Last year more than four hundred visitors from all over the South were entertained college days. It is too early to predict the number of guests that will attend this year. Any high school senior who has not made arrangements for transportation to Collegedale, April 20 and 21 should contact the pastor of the nearest Seventh-day Adventist church or communicate directly with the president of the student association, Southern Missionary College, Collegedale, Tennessee.

Students Hear Dart in Club Meeting

Four elements in success of teaching were given by Elder Archibald O. Dart in the meeting of the Young Men's Club, Wednesday evening, March 13.

A good teacher must be able to instill in her students a feeling of security. She must make them feel that they must have responsibilities and a feeling of success.

A DROP OF INK . . .

Spring with its tantalizing breezes, its warming sun, and budding verdure has come to Southern Missionary College. Nature is making a new try at life.

Simultaneous with this new evidence of life has come another life-reviving program, a spiritual change—the spring week of spiritual emphasis. For one week, February 29 through March 8, Elder Andrew Fearing brought messages of hope, inspiration, and consolation.

“God and you are a dynamic!” Meekness does not spell weakness, said week Elder Fearing electrified the student body with his sermons and illustrations.

College graduates learned quickly to appreciate their guest speaker, and they attended both the chapel and evening services in numbers that few programs exceed. Not to be forgotten in their share of the week's program are Elders Fernon E. Froom and Archibald O. Dart, who directed the services for the academy and elementary school, respectively.

College-days will long remember this week of prayer and often give thanks for the ministry of their guest speakers. lg

On the Faculty Side

ELaine HIGDON

Mr. Ambrose Sahlin, Mrs. C. A. Williams, Mr. John Pearson, and Mrs. D. C. Ludington were hostesses at the February meeting of the ladies of the faculty. The patriotic theme was carried out throughout the evening, using small American flags as favors, red, white, and blue ribbons as favors, and a plastic cherry tree on a crystal plate as a centerpiece.

Mrs. Mary Zweig's mother, Mrs. Josephine Zweig, of Chicago, Illinois, has been visiting last for several days. Elder and Mrs. V. G. G. and I spent the week end of March 1 and 2 on the campus. While here they were entertained at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Rupert Craig. Others present were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Fleming and Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Pearson. Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Ludington honored Mrs. Frances Curtis with a birthday party on March 1.

Mrs. Zweig was presented a corsage of red roses in chapel on her birthday, February 29. On March 4, the student body sang “Happy Birthday” to President Wright.

Mr. Fleming went to Oakwood and Madison March 4.

Dr. Rittenbach attended an educational convention at St. Louis, Missouri, on Friday, February 29.

Elder Boyd E. Olson of Fort Worth, Texas, spent the week end of March 1 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ludington.

Fred Sanborn left March 8 on a trip through Michigan, Ohio, Illinois, and Indiana in the interest of Auto Sales and the College-Deaf Welfare. He will visit his home at Westville, New York, before returning to Collegeport on March 20.

A Dash of Spice

CAROL JEAN WHIDDEN

Maude Jones Hill has been bringing out this week with talk about making out this recent week of prayer. We've been standing way off in a corner, observing ourselves all through these past two weeks and what we've makes us want to get busy and stand things up. We girls have a big responsibility on the campus, and it's up to us to make sure that we don't sit down and gossip in our “hen parties.” Elder Fearing, our guest for the week, told us some plain facts, didn't he?

Visitors Come to Dorm

Other visitors to our dormitory have included some of the college-board members who stayed in our guest rooms, and Mrs. Phillips, Romaina's mother, Dorothy Dorlich came back for a little visit to catch up on everything.

We are already preparing for the College Days, April 20 and 21. We expect a heavy welcome in our western southern style to all the high school seniors who will be visiting with us here. Hurry up and find out the details. We're making plans for you!

Willie, the Guppy

Some people around here have never heard of Guppy. Can you imagine that? They're fish about as big as small minnows and they don't grow very large. Well, anyway, my mother guppy had four little guppies the other night and she's almost as proud of them as I am. They're about as big as an eyelash. One of them is named “Willie.”

Jo Anne Mack is performing her nightly ritual one evening last week but she made a drastic mistake. Instead of being happy, she had a good lather day of toothpaste.

We don't know what's going to happen to Mary Chaffin. Remember when we told you about her pocketbook? Well, it's all growing out and now she looks more St. Bernard than pocket.

WEEK OF PRAYER

tion and consecration. Some of his topics were: “The Reward of Faithfulness,” “One Million Dollars,” and “The Song of Moses and the Lamb.” He covered the doctrines of the church in a single sermon and pointed out the application.

The off-sending but durable statistics the ones at his “watchdog in life” are fundamental rules: “How to be early and get up early.”

In dietary habits, Mossadeh's “watchdog is moderation.” But as if that alone is not enough, he completely abstains, as he does also from pork.

“Notwithstanding the observation of these rules, I have had many illnesses,” he admits, “but I have been able to overcome them by observing special diets and getting extra rest.”

“Pure thoughts” help in preserving health, Mossadeh believes, inasmuch as “the mental state is more important in the preservation of health than physical.”

“Keep an individual, the premier necessities that every man is to not the architect of his fortune but the architect of his health.”

Mossadeh prepared his outline of personal health practices after a report made by J. D. Witt Fox, M. D., editor of Life and Health, an exclusive interview with the prime minister during his recent visit to the United States.

Dart Speaks at Home and School

Elder Archa O. Dart, union Sabbath school secretary, was the guest speaker at the home and school meeting, Monday evening, March 5. “A child rears father and better than a father,” said Elder Dart, “Let him know that religion is always cheerful.” After his talk, Elder Dart presented a film on child guidance.

The elementary school is being asked to capacity. “This is the largest attendance of the year,” said K. M. Kennedy, principal of the elementary school.

The skating down in the gym must be fine to watch, although Marjorie Stokely and Lavener Powell wish that so many people wouldn't watch them. Lavener says she is a floor-duster. Donna Dietrich says her knees haven't been the same color since they opened the gym.

And did you see Ruby Martin in chapel the other day? We know she'll never forget that illustration. Don't you think she could have pulled a little harder?

Ducks in Dorm

This dormitory is getting to be a regular farm! First Beverly Harter brought in a new-comer (duck) that we promptly named “Little Heronone.” For no reason whatsoever, she squawked at all hours of the day, but we heard her just the same. Beverly sent him home to her little sister where he can have plenty of water to swim around in. And now Ruthe Christensen has another baby duck. He waddles all over the place but pretty soon he'll get too big to keep.

Mildred Returns

Mildred Whittle came back here in school. Welcome home, Millie, we've been missing you.

Lillis Chason is in the Parkview Hospital for a rest. Well, what did you do to your poor roommate?

Improvements are coming out every all the time. We've just heard reports that a private parlor is being prepared for an art room; a new guest room has been added, too.

(Ed. note: This is a tab on the columnist.)

It seems that Carol Jean Whidden enjoys taking walks on campus. She goes to the creek by the railroad tracks; who could ask for a more romantic spot? By the way, she also seems to enjoy fishing in the creek. Was she trying her best the other day when we saw her? Oh, well, you had some good company, Carol Jean!

R. L. Hammill, sponsor, led in the organization of the week's programs with each assistant IV leader serving as a chairman of at least one of the meetings. The student and faculty religious interests committees with John Hartan and C. E. Wittschiebe, chairman, collaborated in extending the invitations to the guest speakers and arranging for prayer band membership and appointments.

In addition to the private invitations with each of the speakers, students and community residents attended meetings conducted by Elder Dart, dealing with child guidance and social relations.

Three Win in Safety Contest

As a result of the Pedestrian Safety week that ended February 29, a marked increase of carfulness by pedestrians has been notified, reports Alfred Marshall, student welfare agent, pointed by the Student Senate to work with the traffic and safety committee.

Winners chosen from the student body, the Jayces, and the traffic and safety committee gave out tickets to each of the hundred pedestrians. Each of these tickets was in recognition to work individual's following a traffic safety rule.

Pat Harris won the first prize of three dollars for receiving the most tickets. The second prize of two dollars was given to J. D. Bledsoe, Lester Riles got the third prize of one dollar.

COLLEGE DAY

Nicholas Chaij Joins Senior Class: To Be Argentine Union President

EMERY HOYT

Students of Southern Missionary College, private, who attend the class rooms, eat in the dining room, and visit on the campus with the future of tomorrow. Many of these future leaders are eagerly waiting to fill their first responsible position. Others have been in the world and are now preparing for their first service.

Nicholas Chaij, a second semester student, belongs to the second group. He has come to Southern Missionary College from Costa Rica. For the past three years he has been head of the Bible department at Colegio Vocacional de Costa Rica. Prior to this service Mr. Chaij has served as publishing department secretary, both in Argentina and the Antillean Union. The Antillean Union takes in Cuba, Haiti and Puerto Rico. Now he has been called to be the president of the Buenos Aires conference in Argentina.

Nicholas is a member of the 1952 graduating class. This class, according to Dr. E. O. Rittsner, college dean, is in three sections like a team. One section arrived in January, an other section will arrive in June, and Mr. Chaij is in the one scheduled for August. He is to receive a bachelor's degree in religion with a minor in Spanish.

Mr. Chaij states: "I am alone now. My family should come in four or five weeks. He is staying in Tule Hill, but will soon come suitable quarters for a wife; a 16-year-old son, Desidera, and a 10-year-old daughter, Selma.

Dart Tells Adult Traits in Chapel

"Are you an adult?" was the question asked by Fr. O. Dart, union home missionary and Sabbath school secretary, asked the college students in chapel on February 29.

Elder Dart, dealing with physical, mental, and emotional maturity, contrasted characteristics of a child with those of an adult. "Adults can make decisions using their reason over their emotions. Adults realize that what they do today affects tomorrow," he said.

"Adults think of others, while children think of self. Adults can control appetites and desires. Adults fear harmful things, while children fear harmless things."

Zweig Celebrates Rare Occasion

Last year marks several events of importance. Among them are the final elections and feminine proposals for marriage. Associated with these is another event which will be of great importance in ecclesiastical circles, can testify the value. This is a birthday party on February 29, which enables the group to celebrate at one-fourth the rate of normal people. This is an invaluable asset.

Members of her typing classes presented her a small gift and a corsage of red roses in the February 29 chapel hour.

Ten Added to Male Chorus

The male chorus has added ten new members, reports Wayne Tharber, chorus director. The chorus has purchased ten new uniform jackets, thus boosting its membership to 37.

Last week the chorus made its debut, singing "Service" by Cadman in the Sabbath church service. Next week the group will make its second public appearance, singing in the Carolina Youth Congress in Asheville, North Carolina.

Hooper to Enter Mission Field

Ralston Hooper's ambition to enter the mission field, cherished from his childhood days, has finally materialized, he tells the Southern ACCENT.

Mr. and Mrs. Hooper, with their two children, Dorothy, five, and Robert, two, will sail this summer for mission service in India. The Hoopers will enter the educational work in the northern section of India, teaching in the Vincent Hill School, Mussoorie, in the foothills of the Himalaya mountains.

Mr. Hooper, for three years instructor of industrial arts at Southern Missionary College, will receive his master's degree in "The arts" from Peabody College for Teachers in June. "The arts" is a curriculum which combines both the industrial arts and the fine arts. He took his minor in education.

Six Graduates Are In India Missions

Six Southern Missionary College graduates are now active as missionaries in the Southern Asia field. Those graduates are Elder J. A. Johnson, division of missionary secretary; a graduate of 1948; Mrs. Marcella K. Ashlock, a graduate of 1946; Mr. Forrest McVane, a graduate of 1950; Mr. William Forrest Zell, a theology graduate of 1951; Mrs. Dottie Mae Pierson, a graduate of 1950; and Mr. Thomas Ashlock, a religion graduate of 1950.

Johnson is present in Southern Asia, Elder Robert H. Pierson, a former Collegiate student and brother of the college farm manager, Mr. John B. Pierson, the division of general secretary, Elder J. Franklin Ashlock, served two terms as member of the SMC Faculty, Don C. Livingston, former chairman of the college instructional division of languages and literature, served many years as treasurer in the Southern Asia field.

Home Ec. Dept. Sees Hat Parade

Miss Sadie Dabroff of Brainerd presented "Spring Hat Parade" in the March 10 meeting of the Home Economics Club. Miss Dabroff is connected with Lewdon's Hat Shop in Brainerd, and she brought with her a variety of hats that were appropriate for different shaped faces. She also displayed an array of handbags and gloves to make the new spring suit complete.

Another event connected with the home economics department occurred on February 25 when the beginning foods class, under the direction of Marjorie Parker, entertained ten guests with an informal dinner. The theme of the dinner was Lincoln's birthday.

Higgins to Conduct Colporteur Meet

W. A. Higgins, publishing secretary of the Southern Union, and secretary of the Conference Publishing Society will be here March 21-26 to conduct the annual colporteur institute, said Peter Donney, president of the colporteur club.

Instruction will be given in gospel salesmanship. Those wishing to canvass will be interviewed by the publishing secretaries from Alabama-Mississippi conference, Carolina conference, Florida conference, Georgia-Cumberland conference, and Kentucky-Tennessee conference.

Opportunity will be given for all students to learn more about canvassing and the new salesmanship procedure at the recent fall district.

Senior Sketches, 1951-52

Aubrey Liles

Robert Hauge

Aubrey Liles came to SMC from deep in the heart of the South, Birmingham, Alabama. He was born there, and still claims it as his hometown.

Liles has attended various schools among them are Birmingham Junior Academy, Broadview Academy, and Southern Missionary College. He is graduating this year and is secretary of the senior class.

He has turned his hand capably at several of the trades offered here. First he worked in the woodshop and later at the maintenance, the college garage, and broom factory.

Being musically talented, Liles plays the saxophone in the college band, and he also serves as sergeant-at-arms of that organization. He is a member of the newly formed saxophone quartet.

In extra-curricular activities, he has been the treasurer of the Future Business Leaders of America and treasurer of the Triangle Club. Outside the school, Liles has worked as a salesman, bookman, and as a office worker with the International Harvester Company. He says his ambition is to be a future business leader of America.

Ruben A. Lopez

Wally Welch

Ruben A. Lopez, treasurer of the senior class was born in Puerto Rico in the little town of Santurce. He received his grammar school education in the public schools and graduated from junior high school in 1945 with the distinction of being the valedictorian of his class.

Then he came to Collegedale where he has held many offices and positions in both curricular and extra-curricular activities. He was valedictorian of his academy. He also held the position of sergeant-at-arms.

He has been vice-president of the Triangle Club and vice-president of the Future Business Leaders of America. In church work he served as deacon, assistant church treasurer, and financial secretary for the Sabbath school.

During his stay on the campus, Lopez has worked on the farms, dairy, maintenance, woodshop, and press. For the last three years he has been the accountant for the College Inn, Brainerd, Tennessee.

Lopez' ambition is to be an accountant at some sanitarium or hospital, or the treasurer of some conference. He enjoys his hobbies of photography and philately. Lopez was married last summer, and his wife, Delpha, is planning to become a registered nurse.

Robert Hauge was born in Lumbia, Ohio, but being a lover of sunshine and warm weather, soon moved to Florida. He now claims Sarasota, Florida, as his home town. He attended Sarasota High School, and came to SMC for his college education. He is the president of the senior class. One of Hauge's favorite pastimes is playing the banjo. His talent for music has shared many times on amateur and talent programs. Milled, his wife, also shares his interests in music, she being an accomplished pianist and poet. The Hauge's have two children, a boy and a girl.

Mr. Hauge, "as he is known at the college store, is an experienced salesman, having worked considerably in both real estate and grocery business. He is the manager of the college store and plans to stay here with the school after graduation, having accepted a position on the staff as assistant business manager, dealing specifically with Collegedale, Mercantile Enterprises, incorporated.

Mr. Hauge is a business minor and a religion major. This is in accord with his expressed ambition in life—"to do that work which the Lord has for me to do."

Wally Welch, pastor of the senior class, originally came from Fayetteville, Arkansas. However, he grew up at Madison College, Tennessee, and calls that his home town. He attended grammar school and high school at Madison, and then came to SMC to take the ministerial course.

Since coming to SMC, Wally Welch has been very active in extra-curricular activities. He has served as president of his freshman class, president of the men's forum, president of the Club Officers' council, chairman of the student conference on health and safety, and associate editor of the SOUTHERN ACCENT. This year he managed the subscription campaign for the Southern Accents and is serving his second semester as Missionary Volunteer leader. Last summer he represented SMC at the Parris Youth Congress.

Welch has worked in various places on the campus, including the broom factory, campus department, laundry, and he has been supervisor of the gym. He is a salesman, having volunteered for these summers and also engaged in other types of sales work. He says that his ambition is to enter that highest type of salesmanship, the ministry of spreading the love of God to the world.

Don Cossack Chorus to Appear in Lyceum Tomorrow Night

J. D. BELMONT

This is the General Pletoff Don Cossack Chorus with their director, Nicholas Kostelak. This group will appear tomorrow night in the Lyceum auditorium.

The General Pletoff Don Cossack Chorus, directed by Nicholas Kostelak, will appear here Saturday evening, March 15. The program, which will be in the Lyceum-auditorium, is to begin at 8:15 p. m.

The Cossaks sang their first concert together twenty-two years ago in the Cathedral in Prague in Czechoslovakia. They were exiles from the Don River country and were gathered together by Mr. Kostelak, who left Russia during the revolution. This began their musical wanderings which were called when they were invited to the city of San Francisco to sing at the San Francisco Exposition in 1915. They have been here ever since except for two long overseas tours to sing for American troops.

The Chorus has a varied, colorful program with selections from composers of many lands, offering halcyon anthems of the Czechs, Orthodox Church, haunting folk songs, and lustrious regimental songs.

This is their fourteenth anniversary concert tour of America. All twenty-six members are now American citizens.

National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis Announces Polio Pledge

From the public relations department of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis comes the polio pledge, explaining the scientific reasons for precautions that are recommended by medical and health authorities across the nation.

IF FOLIO COMES TO MY COMMUNITY I WILL REMEMBER TO:

Let my children continue to play and be with their usual companions. They have already been exposed to whatever polio virus may be in that group, and they may develop immunity (protection) against it.

Teach my children to scrub their hands before putting food in their mouths. Polio virus may be carried into the body through the mouth.

See that my children never use anybody else's towels, wash cloths, or dry drinking fountains, dishes, and tableware. Polio virus could be carried from these things to other people.

Follow my doctor's advice about nose and throat operations, inoculations, or teeth extractions during the polio season.

Be ever watchful for signs of polio: headache, fever, sore throat, upset stomach, stiffness and stiffness of the neck and back.

Call my doctor at once, and in the meantime, put to bed and away from others, any member of my family showing such symptoms.

Late County Heckle Store Clerks on Friday Afternoon

But I just want to get a few things. "Yes, I know, lady, but we're closed." "I'll only be a minute." "It's 1:15 now and sundown is only two and a half hours away." "That's why I'm late. I was cleaning the house for the Sabbath and forgot." "But lady, my house isn't cleaned."

"I'm only a minute. I want some whipping cream to put on my omelet." "But lady, our omelet is finished up."

"I really do need some liquid slide polish; wax takes so long." "My knee ain't shined either, m'am." "Can't you let me in?" "I'm sorry. We closed a four o'clock."

EGG EARLY

And so it goes. Why is it so impossible for people to understand the meaning of "closed"? It would have been a small task for our lady to have written her buying card, but it would have been a great saving of time for our poor store clerk.

Perhaps the reader feels that the clerk should be prepared for the Sabbath and be able to keep the store open until 4:30. That would solve nothing. The same lady would appear at 4:35. Further, why should the burden be placed on the clerk when the one who has been so busy all year. This reporter believes that we need more men and women with enough common sense to realize that "closed" means exactly that—and men and women will take upon themselves to buy their goods at the proper time and give the store employees the privilege of doing their jobs.

The great want of the world is the want of men; men who in their inmost souls tell their hearts that they do not fear to go home empty-handed if the store is closed; men whose consciences will not allow them to infringe upon the time of other men; who stand for correct time though the heavens fall.

Bagwell Leads Academy ATS

The Academy has actively taken part in organizing the College and University Chapter and has served the officers. Ed Bagwell serves as president and Doris Duke Fogg, The Treasurer is Favy Fogg. The members of the executive council include Pat Jacobs, Shirley Jones, Tom Mahan, and Jeanne Ardman. J. W. Bischoff is chapter sponsor.

Plans are being made for students to enter the coming-out oratorical contest. Judges, papers, and essays will also be entered. Those who enter the oratorical contest have a chance at the grand prize of $1000. This year, $200 to the winner with the best oration given in the union, second prize $1000, third prize $750 and $500. The winner for Collegedale will receive a scholarship.

The organization plans to give a temperance program in the near future and also plans a membership drive which, it is hoped, will add many more members to the academy chapter.

It Happened at Collegedale

On Jan. 10, 1936, President of the General Conference dedicated the science hall, naming it in honor of Earl E. Haskin, who was president of the Southern Union Southern Junior College became Southern Missionary College.

Dr. Luther Gable, nationally known radium-uranium physicist and member of the Society of American Medical Engineers presented his lecture "Atomic Energy, Black-light, and Radio" Saturday night, February 25, 1936.

The academy talent program proved to be one of the outstanding programs of the year. The various musical groups and skits were sponsored by Mrs. E. T. Watson and Miss Dorothy Evans, instructors in English and music.

Four years ago

Her Heydahl, leader of the Kootenai expedition, gave a motion picture illustrating his 4,000-mile, 101-day voyage from the coast of Peru to the Pole in the same manner. Mr. Heydahl, a Norwegian, was accompanied by four fellow Scandinavians and one Eskimo on his expedition.

The freshmen class of 1947 published the February 21 issue of the Southern Accent. It was the conventional color—green!

Five years ago

Twenty-five ex-soldiers, sailors, and marines formed the first Veterans club. Under the direction of Warren Oakes, the commanding officer, they gave a chapel program February 12, 1946, in honor of Abraham Lincoln.

Six years ago

Two fine ex-soldiers, sailors, and marines formed the first Veterans club. Under the direction of Warren Oakes, the commanding officer, they gave a chapel program February 12, 1946, in honor of Abraham Lincoln.

From Common Week of Prayer Speaks on Price of Leadership

Forum Conducts Week of Prayer Chapel Program

The Academy chapel program of February 25, was sponsored by the Music club and the Academy forum.

After devotions there was a very interesting and entertaining program with Edwin Bagwell, vice-president of both groups, as emcee.

A soprano solo by Miss Marinkovic, a violin teacher here at SMC, played his violin. He was accompanied at the piano by one of the academy students, Vladimir Ruffel.

"Love vs. Football" was a reading given by Lillian Evans.

Shirley Jones played "God of Our Fathers" on her trumpet. An organ solo was played by Helen Hoover.

The concluding part of the program was an amusing reading by Bonnie Brown.

Academy Senior Sketches 1936

Ray Edgerton Evans
Mooresville, North Carolina, has the distinction of claiming Ray Edgerton Evans as one of its native inhabitants. He arrived there on September 29, 1934. Before this past year, when he decided to come to Collegedale Academy, he went to school at Mooresville High School in Cheraw, South Carolina.

After his many years of hard study and deliberation on the subject of his life work he has decided to be a doctor. Baseball is his favorite sport and swag boys bring to introduce Ray as a member of our senior class.

Mary Sue Estes
Mary Sue Estes first opened her eyes October 6, 1934, in Huntington, West Virginia. She started her school days in Huntington, later coming to Collegedale where she graduated from the eighth grade. All four of her high school years have been spent at Collegedale Academy.

Mary has been a representative on the Academy forum and is now a teacher in the kindergarten Sabbath school.

Her ambition is to be a good housewife. Judging by her hobbies, cooking and sewing, she should excel in her ambition. She has been basketball riding and a fellow named Bill take up her part time.

Mary's sparkling and snailing personality has made her the "stuckup" people at her pet peeve. Mary, with your friendly smile and sweet disposition, we are sure you will have success in everything you do.

Lila Eileen Fuller
Lila Eileen Fuller, better known by her classroom name, made her first appearance, March 8, 1934 here at Collegedale.

All her academy years were spent in Collegedale Academy where she excelled scholastically. She is kind and friendly and very "slow to anger" so it's not unusual at all for her pet peeves to be stuck-up people and people with "hot tempers."

Mae and art are her hobbies and no doubt if you were to question her further she would add poetry to the list. This hobby she copied here to be a first rate poet of the future.

Georgiae likes most all sports, but is especially fond of swimming and tennis. Her ambition is to be a nurse and here I shall quote her, "to be chief cook and bottle washer and house-keeper." (We are not allowed to have at least one truthful girl in the senior class.)

With your winning personality and sweet disposition you are sure you will be a success in any field!

Elder Beverly E. Fromm of Georgia, spoke to the Academy forum during the week of prayer. The central theme of his message was "The Price of Leadership." "You Willing to Pay?"

During the week of prayer the student body many interesting messages. Among others, "Oh, What a Wonder!" "Roll is Called Up Yonder," "Only Jesus," which was sung for the week.

Special music was presented by the choir, the Soloists, and various soloists. A new quartet composed of Wilson, Wesley Elyon, Wayne and James Morgan made their appearance.

Elder Fromm's talks were full of inspiration and edification. He stressed the need for offered conversion to God.

Prayer bands conducted regular student leaders on daily worship periods.

Dorothy Lyons

Dorothy Lyons made her first appearance on the stage of February 5, 1935, at Nashville, Tennessee. She has been a high school student for the past three years.

She began her high school at Nashville Junior Academy. She is now in the senior class at Collegedale. She is very fortunate to be a student at this school.

Since Lyons has had her leg, she has been a member of the Academy forum, a page, ball, and a reporter for the Academy Forum.

Her hobbies are playing tennis, gymnastics, her pet, a friendly poodle, the blues, and her hobbies. Her pet poodle is named "Buddy."

Shirley Jo Jones
Shirley Jo Jones began her school in Sylva, Alabama, November 17, 1934.

CME Accepts Hughes, Stveysant, and Sutton For Freshman Class

Three SMC students received acceptance letters last week from CME's School of Medicine, according to Dean F. O. Rittenhouse.

Lawrence Hughes, Victor Stveysant, and Layton Sutton were listed among the 96 freshmen scheduled to enroll in the denomination's medical education center in August. The last included race women admitted.

In announcing the acceptances, Dean Rittenhouse pointed out that the ratio of students accepted and not accepted was the same on all denominational college campuses. SMC students were thus given the same consideration as were the approximately 150 qualified applicants.

SMC representatives are scheduled to begin their medical studies on CME's Loma Linda campus August 27.

With the announcement ended another year's work for the CME School of Medicine admissions committee and another one began. Admission committee members work 12 months out of the year emphasizing the study of the books, Dr. Harold Shovel.

To gather, file and send the application form filled out by each applicant, the evaluation statements from

Spanish SS Closes Tomorrow

The Spanish Sabbath school, conducted the first quarter of this year, will close tomorrow.

During last quarter René González has served as superintendent, Lilia Chiffon as secretary, and Mrs. Ruth Balfanz as pianist.

Mrs. T. W. Steen, sponsor of the Sabbath school, reports that attendance has numbered approximately 60 each week, with the offerings totaling about $10.00 per week.

The membership of the Sabbath school consisted not only of the large group of Spanish-speaking people, but divided into three groups for class study—academy, beginning college, and the advanced students. The persons who participated in the program spoke only in Spanish, but translated the mission reading into English.

The academy Spanish classes and the college intermediate class each provided a special program. "We feel," Steen stated, "that this Sabbath school affords a fine opportunity for students to become personally acquainted with the people and customs of the people who speak the language they are studying."

John H. Talge, SMC Benefactor, Dies

John H. Talge, for whom the boys' dormitory was named this past October 10, died the night of March 12 in his home.

Mr. Talge was a longstanding benefactor of Collegedale from the time when the school was established. He donated the floor of Maude Jones Hall and entirely furnished the two dormitories when they were completed.

Mr. Talge was born the son of an upholsterer in Louisville, Kentucky, August 19, 1867. He inherited his interest in furniture from his father and established the Talge Lounge Company. He later founded the Talge Mahogany Company and was its president and general manager when Southern Junior College was being organized.

Two years before the school was organized in 1914, Mr. Talge and his wife became active in the Adventists. At the time the college was founded, he became interested in the school.

The benefactor was named the John H. Talge Hall at the Founder's day program, October 10, 1951, in recognition of the outstanding help he afforded the college in the days it was struggling to survive.

$5,000 is Goal

Adrian Lauritzen, for fifteen years an instructor of music in SDA schools, will assume the chairmanship of the division of fine arts, beginning Feb-

At the student senate meeting of March 19 it was voted by the twenty senators present to support the suggested plan of raising subscriptions for the SOUTHERN ACCENT. As a result of their united efforts and those of other volunteers, over 200 $3.55 subscriptions have been received.

Realizing the value of the SOUTHERN ACCENT as an agent to influence prospective students of the Southern Union to procure a Christian education, the senators devised a plan whereby the last four issues of this year's SOUTHERN ACCENT can be sent to prospective students, ministers, and other workers who will be able to influence students to take their stand for Christian education.

Charles Fleming, business manager, and G. T. Gott, assistant business manager, have lent their support by making arrangements to place $355 subscriptions on the students' accounts.

Adrian Lauritzen, for fifteen years an instructor of music in SDA schools, will assume the chairmanship of the division of fine arts, beginning Feb-

March 1951, announces President Kenneth A. Wright.

The new staff member has completed a total of 21 years of music instruction. Aside from four years of private instruction, and two years at the MacPhail College of Music in Minneapolis, he has taught at Maplewood Academy, Hutchinson, Minnesota, and Union College, Lincoln, Nebraska, where he was chairman of the music department. He holds a master's degree of music education, and is now a doctoral candidate at the Chicago Musical College. His dissertation topic is "Some Psychological Implications of Rhythm Pedagogy in the Primary Grades."

Mr. Lauritzen's experience in the field of his dissertation topic comes from a particular interest in rhythmic activities and rhythm choirs. He also conducts institutes for elementary school teachers in methods of teaching vocal and instrumental music in the primary and elementary grades as a foundation work for subsequent secondary school and college experience.

His interests are not confined to instruction in music theory, voice, piano, and instruments, however, he has had considerable experience in evangelism and also devotes some of his time to college chapters of the Young Education's National Conference and the Hyatt Society of America. For the last two years he has served as educational director of the Temperance League of Illinois.

Mr. Lauritzen will come to Southern Missionary College after the purchasing of records and broadcasting equipment of the student association.

Two hundred approved with sixteen disapproving the allotment of $200 from the student association reserve fund for radio station WSMC. This fund will be used for the purchasing of records and broadcasting equipment.

He was heard ninety-nine, approved and twenty disapproved the allotment of $35 from the student association reserve fund to be used for the purchasing of records and the college an equal supplying one-third of the cost.

Five thousand dollars is the goal for the Collegedale Ingathering Field Day. April 1, announces Mr. R. W. Crawford, associate home missionary secretary of the Collegedale church.

Southern Union and local conference men will participate in the field day program, carrying stands as far as Atlanta and the surrounding territory. Over 400 Collegedale students and church members are expected to go out in the active ingathering work. Many others who assist carry on their regular work programs plan to donate their day's wages.

Among the conference and union men who will be here are: W. G. Anderson, O. D. Oari, W. L. Crofton, G. R. Nash, L. M. Nelson, A. P. Mabry, B. W. Woodham, H. E. Schneider, W. A. Higgins, V. W. Essick, Ward Scriven, and Ira

On Monday evening, March 31, at seven o'clock in the Lynn Wood Hall chapel, all band leaders and all those who wish to participate will receive their supplies, territory, and last-minute instructions. Each band will arrange final details as to the location of its departure on the following morning.

Colporters Hold Institute This Week

A. W. Higgins, publishing secretary of the Southern Union, the corps of publishing men of the Southern Union, and Elder E. E. Franklin, of the General Conference publishing department, conducted the annual colporter institute, March 21 to 26.

Elder V. G. Anderson, president of the Southern Union, opened the institute with a challenge to the students of SMC at the Friday chapel, March 21. Elder H. P. Evans, manager of the Southern Publishing Association, presented the important literature ministry in finishing the work.

Elder Franklin preached on the literature ministry in relation to the literature of the hour of earth's history at the Sabbath church service.

The eleven addressing secretaries who are not confined to instruction in music theory, voice, piano, and instruments, however, he has had considerable experience in evangelism and also devotes some of his time to college chapters of the Young Education's National Conference and the Hyatt Society of America. For the last two years he has served as educational director of the Temperance League of Illinois.

A DROP OF INK . . .

It is not the good beginner that makes success so much as the good finisher. Many things have been begun in the world but only a small per cent have been finished.

One can prepare a garden plot and plant seeds, but if he does not cultivate it, the garden will produce little. A good start has its places, it is important, but the finishing is what produces the goods.

Many gardeners may go as far as cultivation but when the harvest is ready, in luxury they let the fruits run in the field. A Bible worker may give one or two Bible studies and quit. No souls are won this way. It is the worker that gives every study to the finish that receives that for which he strives.

Many young people start college, but only 40 per cent finish. Only 40 per cent receive the harvest; only 40 per cent receive the goal which they had envisioned.

Most of the young people that drop out do so in their first year. It may be the result of discouragement. It may be the result of a financial problem or the result of a problem at home.

Yet, the sad cases are those who wait until the last hour, who wait until they have traveled the way almost to the finish line, who have seen the seed, cultivated the ground, but somehow do not reap the harvest of their education.

We have just passed the three-quarters mark for the year. Only one stretch to go. Most of us are here. Let us not give up the ship and fall now. Let us reap that which belongs to us.

If You're Married

MARVIN ROGERS

Reader, you have probably noticed the absence of this column for a few issues, but to get back in the groove, let's get on with the news.

You are probably interested in how Collegiate is growing so here goes for the new additions to the community: Dianne Young, a girl born to Mr. and Mrs. Ray Bunnell at 11, Theresa, a girl born to Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Barber, and Sherrill Ann, a girl born to Mr. and Mrs. Hub Byus on March 2.

Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Schriener have moved into the Hillsdale Apartments, formerly occupied by the late Dr. Galatius. The Galatius have moved into the Davis Apartments.

Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Abernathy have moved recently into trailer camp 2. Mrs. Carl Elmer and son, Steve, are to leave March 30 for Glendale, California. Mrs. Elmer will leave at the end of the second semester.

Mrs. Frank L. Jenkins of Lenoir City, Tennessee, spent several days last week here with her daughters, Mrs. Marvin Sulhany and Mrs. Marvin Rogers.

Mrs. Fred Goodwin, who is employed in Dayton, Ohio, was here last week visiting her husband and children with her daughter.

James and Glenda Foster were seen this day beginning their gardening. With the coming of spring many of our boys are expected to don their overalls and straw hats and begin their little plots.

garden and will not be here for the summer, arrangements must be made for someone to care for the garden.

The College Nursery will have four acres of strawberries to be picked for fruit this spring in the report according to Mr. Spaulding.

Six acres are planted back to grow new plants to sell. The strawberry plants are now in, and new plants, and new SMC nursery department has had two boys to fill the orders.

The nursery can also take of two acres of bayberries. Both fruit and new plants are expected from the bayberry nursery.

The student senate, on recommendation of Dr. R. L. Hammill, chairman of a special committee for the study of school picnics, voted to approve the proposed plans concerning year. The following recommendations were approved:

1. That the annual school picnic will be held in the autumn so soon after the opening of school as possible.

2. That the Usher's Club be allowed to have a picnic in the spring on a Sunday from 12 noon to dark.

3. That the senior class be allowed to have a picnic in the spring in which special guests may be invited. The date of this picnic is to be arranged in accordance with the dean.

4. That the administrative council set the date one day on which may be held the junior-senior picnic and a freshman-sophomore picnic, or separate picnics for the freshman and sophomore classes if they desire.

It was voted with the understanding that permission will not be granted for any other picnic functions that will take the students from their classes, study, or work program.

Our dormitory hasn't had so many visitors in such a short time since Miss Maude Jones was the dean of women. Board meeting, banquets, visiting parties, and our guests from the colportar institution have filled our cafeteria, our auditor, and our guest rooms to capacity.

Spring Has Sprung

Spring is really here. And for the second year let me quote our ever-remembered poem:

Spring has sprung, the grass has is "We wonder where the flowers in."

The creases and pangs plants in front of our dorm are cheerfully blowing in spite of the torrid winds blowing down upon them every afternoon.

Helen Sherrill reports that someone dipped the nightwatchman's key in some paste the other night—the can't now to remember the culprit's name.

Everyone faithfully called, "Man in the hall," when Miss Elizabeth Davids Packer nudged it into the hall. Baby Sister Ruth Blankinship was bubbly for the day.

Sharon Has Reunion

Sharon's reunion had a family reunion this week. Her brother, Billy, and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Susan, Donald, Johnny, and Ellsworth have had an enjoyable visit during the colportar institution.

You should see Joyce Cobb's latest creation in the field of partying. Dick makes us wonder whether or not modern art has a new concept.

Jessie Hawson was one of our faithful hosts when the girls were helped prepare the doctor's banquet. When the finished cooking she looked as if she had a combination of measles, pinkly lead, and rheumatism.

Someone told us that Margaret Motley has a passing fancy for playing cards, and she is very much interested in the rules of this game but Margaret says she is doing well.

Faye Mison complains that she has to attend so many committees that just doesn't have time to get into mischief, that's what she says!

Barbara Andrew is only half awake when she gets up every morning.

Various and sundry experiences happen to her but the other morning topped off everything that she brewed her teeth with a tube of green shamrock.

Did you see Margaret Richardson's purple neckties last week? Her microbiology lab partner, Eva Wheeler, can give a very exciting description of how those purple spots got there.

That board-up cats, in our dorm last week was of special interest to John Josephph David Bauer helped her to unstack a large radio which wouldn't work until Joan suddenly remembered to turn on the wall switch.

Betty Cattle was caught laughing until Dianne Swinney's door last Saturday night after the pictures in the tabernacle. Could she have been the one who licked the others?

Mary Ellen is Nursemaid

Mary Ellen Garden is having to play nurse-maid to Lynn Jensen since Lynn had an extra-special fall while sitting at the gym and broke her leg in three places.

After the Don Cossacks had given their lecture Monday night, Betty and Mary were very much impressed. She decided to try one of those flying leeches herself. After spending a week on bed Marked we were back again—her sprained ankle is now healed.

Test Week Appelle

One morning about 2:30 a.m. Rebekah McKracken, the lead monitor, was charged in front of the kitchenette, a box of pancake mix, and an electric stove had proved too much of a temptation for five hungry girls. It was during test week and as usual a few girls piled into the lobby and parlor to study after the 10:00 p.m. at 10:00 p.m. Needless to say, after those snippy raps were eaten there was more sleep for the students.

gunning at 1:00 p.m. It was felt by these student representatives that in view of fairness to all, no exception should be made to this rule. This recommendation will be discussed in the President's Council.

Student Committees Report Progress

The following recommendations and suggestions were made in the recent student senate meeting, according to Chester Jordan, president of the student Association:

On recommendation of the student administrative council, it was voted to change the phrasing of the constitution, 2, ELECTIONS, Section (a) of the constitution that reads "at least two weeks before elections the president and vice-president of the student association shall select for each office to be filled" to read "at least one week before the election. This recommendation was brought about in an effort to facilitate election procedure which has many times delayed by this outmoded regulation.

It was recommended by the health and recreation committee, chairman, Bob Ammons, that necessary improvements be made on the tennis court. The tennis court needs to be removed. This was voted with the recommendation that a metal net be secured.

It was voted upon the request of Mogen's forum president, Charlie Morgan, that a new lighting system be installed in the halls of Tallge Hall. This recommendation will be discussed in the forthcoming President's Council.

After much discussion it was unanimously voted that we recommend to the college officers, that workers' tables and workers' lines be done away with. This recommendation was made because of the exception of very few, each student eating in the cafeteria has either work, or class appointments being at 1:00 p.m. It was felt by these student representatives that in view of fairness to all, no exception should be made to this rule. This recommendation will be discussed in the President's Council.

Progress is being made, according to Roy Battle, chairman of the joint committee to work out the Monday night program for College Day. A vote was voted to accept the overall general plan suggested of a variety talent program.

Larry Hawkins, chairman of the social education committee, presented a new plan for morning dormitory worship. After much discussion and can of the proposal plan, it was voted that the plan be presented in the Board Forum for discussion.

It was noted that the plan is in short, is that each student will have a period for his own private devotion. Hawkins stated that the plan would go to the dormitory worship, the other to his room. The plan is not designed to increase worship attendance, but only to help students to make the time spent more profitable to each one concerned.

"Faith for Today" Visits Collegiate

A group of the "Faith for Today" television program presented a program Thursday evening, March 20, to the various churches and members surrounding Collegiate.

Appearing on the program were the quartet, Mrs. Fagel, who played her violin, and Elizabeth Taylor.

"Faith for Today" group visited Collegiate during an itinerary of the South. After their appearance here they attended the Carolina Youth Congress in Asheville, North Carolina.

Down South

JAMES JOHNER

Mid-semester exams are now over and the fellows in Tallge are settling down to the last term of the school year. We have appreciated having the fellows during test week, thanks to Watson. It helped a lot.

Rolando Has Chickens

Rolando Schriener came to town with the chicken pox, very firm. We had the many souls were affected, but only the area's much to catch them in fellow dormitory mates.

Layton Sutton, Larry Heston, and Wilfred Struppman are going to be in a dice. They are all being were accepted to Loma of the College of Medical Events for the fall term.

Gene McKracken received deferment and has returned to Wake County.

Olavi Wer and Eber Van on a fencing act—using odd in the benefit of our visiting nurse. It is hoped that they could each other.

Picnors Parties

It seems like we small to be over these days. Bill Bunnell, Curtis Orr always says, you think that floor lies the stars.

Wonder why Ronald Jones so much food from the table to the dorm? Betty said she had night snacks. Haste (in eating) just kidding. Ronald.

Bill and Mrs. Floyd Madsen moved out of the married in our dorm. Also Russell Fern of our single students, has moved to some new apartment.

The male chorus and the boys went to the Carolina Congress in Asheville.

Bill and Mrs. Floyd Madsen Ammons and Richard Cannon the ukulele. Joy Tompkins and Fred Todd the boys. They're a lot of the fellows who heard them in our night.

Well that's enough at this hope everyone has a fine spring.

We extend sympathy to Arvid and Mrs. Edna Madsen for his sister, Emily Elaine.

Campus Plans Spring Gardens

Spring is here. A young (single) man's fancy turns to love, but any痴 man young man thinks of planting a garden.

"Land is to be made available for gardens in the areas between Morning Side Drive and Camp Road," states A. W. Spaulding, Jr., head of the campus, gardens, and nursery department.

"Each garden plot is to be 30 feet by 30 feet. These are available to any one who will be a real gardener and keep out the weeds," pointed out Mr. Spaulding. "If one wishes to plant

Millett, Abbott Hold Week of Prayer in Chattanooga Junior Academy

J. J. Millett and Maurice Abbott pose with the Chattanooga Junior Academy and elementary students. It was with this group that SMC's two ministerial students conducted a week of prayer.

Spring week of prayer, March 10 to 14, in the Seventh-day Adventist Junior Academy of Chattanooga, was conducted by J. J. Millett and Maurice Abbott, theology students of SMC, on request of Mrs. Archie Fox, principal. Millett, known as "J" on the SMC campus, conducted the studies for the spiritual emphasis of the week. J. J. held an evangelistic effort of his own this past summer in Louisiana.

Maurice Abbott, who had the music and worship in song, also had experience this past summer in helping with the music in a similar effort held in Chattanooga by Elder J. A. DeWald.

"We did not cut classes, but we carried on full class work at SMC while serving the junior academy that week," asserted J. J. "Our time was too limited for all the requests for coming to be filled." About two hours was spent each morning.

Results of the week of heart searching was one baptism and one rebaptism. On Friday, the last day, the entire body of students, aged six to sixteen, came forward in recognition, according to Millett.

"It was inspiring to see even the little ones come forward and give their little hearts to Jesus," and J. J. with a smile and a look of satisfaction in his eyes.

All following the final meeting, Millett, Abbott, and Arthur Watrous, who had come along to take some pictures, played with the students on the play ground.

"The school in Chattanooga is certainly a fine institution," commented Millett. "It is staffed with excellent teachers, and the atmosphere of the place and the spirit of the students are good and wholesome."

ATS Sponsors Contests

BILL BROWN

Need extra cash?—A profitable vehicle for that "pore" on the ATS poster, folks know where you stand on the act and dry opinion!

The Collegiate chapter of the American Temperance Society wants YOU to enter YOUR jingles and YOUR posters in the annual poster and jingle contest from $10, $7.50, and $5; and jingle prizes are $5, $3, and $2.

Here are the rules and the procedure for judging:

1. The posters are to illustrate and visualize temperance ideas.
2. They are to be prepared for use on bulletin boards and other places where signs and notices are usually posted.
3. The poster should portray up-to-date ideas of interest on the act and dry issue, and they should be prepared in a manner that will attract the attention of the public.
4. No particular size of art is demanded. The size of the posters may vary from 12 inches wide and 16 inches high to 22 inches wide and 40 inches high.

5. A board of five judges, two faculty members, and three students, not entered in the contest, are to be selected and appointed by the executive council to determine the winning contestants.

6. The three winning posters will then be forwarded to the National Headquarters of the American Temperance Society at Washington, D. C., for entry in the National Contest.

Jingle Contest:

1. The jingles must convey a temperance message.
  2. They should not be over four lines in length.
  3. They should attract the attention, provoke thought, and arouse the interest of the reader.
  4. A committee of five judges is to be appointed by the executive council to determine the winning contestants.
  5. The three winning jingles are to be sent to the National Headquarters for entry in the National Contest.
- The contest is open to both college and academy students. You may submit more than one jingle or poster. But that rhyming cap on get that poster paint out!

SMC Music Groups Attend Carolina Youth Congress

The SMC Male Chorus, Adolphus Quartet, Southernites Girls' Trio, and an instrumental group, as well as a number of other students, attended the Carolina Youth Congress in Asheville, North Carolina, last week end.

Leaving the campus immediately following chapel Friday in a convoy of nine cars, the group arrived in Asheville to perform at the evening meeting. All the musical groups of Collegedale joined in the opening of the Congress with their rendition of music in keeping with the theme of the Congress, which was "Now is the Time."

The Congress was held in the Lee Edwards High School. The auditorium, with a seating capacity of approximately 1,800 people, was filled for the Sabbath services.

Most of the music for the entire Congress was presented by the SMC quartet. The orchestras and other numbers were played by the brass quartet composed of Ted Dorlich, Bill Strickland, Glenn Cook, and N. L. Krogstad.

Mr. J. J. Millett spoke at the Sabbath afternoon service, telling of his "Share Your Faith" experiences.

Beverly Heights Sanitarium, Mt. Pleasant Academy, Teacher Academy, and a number of church members of the Asheville community welcomed the Collegedale group by acting as hosts.

The musicians, directed by Mr. Wayne Thurber, performed at the closing service on Saturday night after which some returned. The remainder made the trip back to Collegedale on Sunday.

Sophomore Tests Given to 56 Students

Fifty-six SMC students completed the National Sophomore tests given here last week and 14 reports T. W. Secor, head of the testing and counseling service.

A large number of colleges throughout the United States participated in this examination. It is used largely as a basis for evaluating the work of the first two years. In some colleges, promotion to the upper biennium is dependent upon the performance of the students on this test.

The examination was prepared by the Educational Testing Service at Princeton, New Jersey, which conducts graduate credit examinations and a battery of freshman entry tests.

The test was divided into several parts including English grammar, vocabulary, expression, contemporary affairs, science, mathematics, and general culture. Five and a half hours were devoted to the tests.

The tests were scored by the college testing and counseling service and sent to Princeton, New Jersey, where the results will be compared with other colleges throughout the nation. As with these comparisons are made, i

Gerald Huan

Gerald Huan was born in Sacramento, California, and calls his hometown Loma Linda. He received a large part of his training at the schools of his home town, having attended Loma Linda grade school, Reiland's High School, La Sierra College, Walla Walla College, San Bernardino Junior College, and the University of Southwestern California. To finish his education here he came to Southern Missionary College.

Mrs. Huan, whom he married in 1948, is a graduate nurse. She received her training at Glendale Sanitarium and Hospital School of Nursing. For the last three years she has worked at the Edinger Hospital in Chattanooga.

Among Huan's list of jobs are service station "prize monkey," hospital attendant, grade school teacher, and an electrician and plumber's helper. His hobbies are gardening, woodwork, and collecting good books.

He has several choices of life work which are to be an academy Bible teacher, an educational superintendent, and finally a vocational and marriage counselor.

Beatrice Elaine Higdon

Beatrice Elaine Higdon comes to Southern Missionary College from the town of Gay in the neighboring state to the east, North Carolina. She now lives in Ooltewah and designates that as her home town.

She received her elementary training at the Ashtabula Elementary School, and then advanced to Webster High School. She attended junior college here and in North Carolina and then came to SMC.

Her favorite study and avocation is journalism, and it is along this line that she has concentrated most of her extra-curricular activities. She has worked as a reporter for the Clinton, a member of the Junior College paper, and again as reporter on the SOUTHERN ACCENT last year; this year she is a columnist for the ACCENT.

Other activities include being a member of the student committee on publications, a member of the student religious activities committee, Sabbath school secretary and teacher, and deaconess.

Her chief hobby is oil painting in which she indulges wherever possible. Being an English major and Spanish minor, her ambition is to teach English, preferably in a Spanish-speaking country.

Emory Hoy

From the land of a thousand lakes comes Emory Hoy. He was born in Meigs County, Minnesota, and grew up in Watertown, Iowa, where his home is now.

He attended school at Winterset and later went to Oak Park Academy at Nevada, Iowa. After graduating, he came to Union College in 1941. The war years intervened; and after a hitch in the Army, Hoy went back to school this time at Southern Missionary College.

He has been active in extra-curricular activities, having held the office of church deacon since 1950. He has been public secretary of the Teachers of Tomorrow Club, a Sabbath school teacher, treasurer of the International Relations Club, a reporter for the SOUTHERN ACCENT in 1950-51, and is the current feature editor.

He is majoring in elementary education and minoring in English literature and journalism. His work includes a special student in the state, and is taking early childhood education and assist at the preschool.

Although he has held many different types of jobs in the past, such as rubber worker in the vulcanizer, and unskipping, carpenter, artist, and report will be sent to Southern Missionary College, 1116 Long road, Ooltewah, and the college as a whole reacts with other institutions of higher learning.

chaplain's assistant in the Army, Hoy says his ambition for the future is to become the principal of an elementary school. At present he is employed in the work of an assistant forum in the finishing room.

Larry Hughes

Lawrence (Larry) Hughes has been attending Southern Missionary College since 1948, coming here from near Lake Arrowhead. He attended Orlando Senior High School in Orlando, Florida, and the Cherokee Junior High School in the same town. He also received his elementary training there. He was born in the sunshine state, in Daytona Beach.

Since coming to SMC, Hughes has been treasurer of the Career Club, participationist of the Triangle Club, Sabbath school superintendent of the chapel division, associate M. leader, and Triangle Club president. He also served as the chairman of the student union committee.

Hughes' favorite work is in connection with biology and associated subjects. He has had many years of his time working in the biology laboratory. He has recently been accepted for admission to the study of medicine and will scientifically be in the future. Among his many outside jobs, he has received a great deal of experience which will assist him in his life work. He worked in the Florida Sanitarium and Hospital during the summers from 1947 to 1950.

Jesse Hawman

Jesse Hawman comes to SMC from out west in Monte Vista, Colorado. He lives in North Carolina and is still loyal to Monte Vista as his home town.

An energetic worker, Jesse has been a member of the girls' honor and in the dining room.

He is majoring in elementary teaching and minoring in home economics. He lists her most hobby as cooking.

Jesse has already spent several years in the mission work of the United East African Union. She plans to return there after graduation.

Donald Kenyon

The son of a minister, Donald Kenyon is graduating with his goal and ambition of being a minister also.

Kenyon came to Collegedale after graduating from Asheville Agricultural School. Previously he attended Memphis Junior Academy. His extra-curricular positions include two years as a church sexton, vice president of the Triangle Club, and music director for the Sabbath school and M. V. society.

He is well fitted for his ambition since he possesses four summers. He has been a practicing knowledge of printing, construction, farm work, and woodwork by holding these jobs.

Mr. Kenyon is the president of the Rock Hill club and has been a member of the school. They have dedicated their talents to the advancement of the gospel.

Ruby Teachey

Newport News, Virginia, is a watched over the years of her infancy, grammar school, and high school days. She has also attended the home of Ruby Teachey, who is ending her fifth year at Collegedale—one in academy and four in college.

Ruby has taken an active part in the school activities, holding a number of offices. She has been secretary of the student association, secretary of the junior class, president of the home economics club, president of the young women's union, and a member of the Thursday Committee. She is vice-president of her senior class.

Her homecoming is in music and she is minoring in education and English. She hopes to be able to combine these two careers and make her own. She is getting some good practice now, being a teacher in the home economics department of the academy.

The Meaning of Our Flag

HENRY WARD BEECHER

The American flag means all that the fathers meant in the Revolutionary War—it means all that the Declaration of Independence meant—it means all that the Constitution of a people, organizing for justice, for liberty, and for happiness, meant. The American flag carries American ideas, American history, American feeling—beginning with the colonies and coming down to our time. It is our sacred heraldry, in its glorious targa, it has gathered and stored, chiefly, its supreme idea—divine right of liberty in man. Every color means liberty—every thread means liberty—every form of star and beam of light means liberty—liberty through law and law for liberty. Accept it, then, in all its fullness of meaning. It is not a pointed rag—it is a noble nation's history. It is the Constitution of the government. It is the emblem of the sovereignty of the people. What wonder, then, we instinctively turn up our hats, shout wild hurrahs as the old ensign of our Republic passes by.

Attending School Is a Privilege

How many times have you heard someone say, "How long must we wait until school will be over?" (Perhaps you have been guilty of saying that yourself.) Only a few more weeks of school, then what? Will we then be able to say that we are happy it's all over? We shall recall many pleasant memories of the past year and will soon find ourselves wishing it were time for school to begin again. How blessed we are, in this great land, to have the privilege of attending a school such as ours. cw

From the Principal's Desk . . .

There are many interesting observations to be made concerning the attendance and scholastic honor rolls for the fourth period which are presented below.

More than a third of those who are on the attendance honor roll each fourth period have been on it every period this year. One half of those on the attendance honor roll also appear on the scholastic honor roll. This shows the close relationship that exists between attendance and scholarship.

Early one half of those on the scholastic honor roll have had their names registered there every period thus far this year.

Of the thirty-two students whose names appear on these two honor lists, twenty-seven have been rated "A" or "B" in attendance by the faculty. There would seem to be quite a high correlation between attendance, scholarship, and citizenship.

Only twice more this year shall we present these honor lists. There is a chance for every academy student to appear on one of these honor rolls before the end of this school year.

OPINION POLL

Do you think a student consecration week, conducted similarly to a week of prayer with student speakers, is a practical project?

I am in favor of the plan. The religious organizations such as the Future Ministers Club, the ministerial seminar, and the religious activities committee could work in conjunction to make it a success.—Bill Strickland, junior religion major.

I would like to see student week of spiritual emphasis scheduled at the beginning of the second semester and make the spring week of prayer time the last nine week period of the school year.—Jack Perry, junior theology major.

I think the idea is a good one, because one always likes to learn what his fellow students have to say. Undoubtedly, students will feel more definitely a part of their own program.—Barbara Swanson, freshman arts and sciences.

I am in favor of the plan as approved and supervised by the elders of the church. Thus it will be in accordance with the regular church program, and will be more apt to have real spiritual value.—Ronald Fowdy, freshman biology major.

It sounds like a good idea. I think it would be well if the student consecration week were an additional week of spiritual emphasis, rather than a substitute for one which we already have.—Tom Stovs, senior theology major.

I think that it is an excellent plan. It would probably add to the religious atmosphere of the school. However it should not be a practice session for ministerial students, because that would decrease the attention and reduce the blessing which could be derived.—Doris Marsh, sophomore pre-writing.

I think that a student consecration week in which student speakers conducted the meetings during the regular school hours would be a good idea. This would be sufficient. This way we would not have to shorten classes or lengthen worship periods.—Julia Stovs, sophomore pre-theology.

I think a spiritual emphasis week conducted by students is needed, and should be tried. I think that a good theme of the week would be the "Value of Personal Devotion." A correct understanding and practice of one's personal communion with God gives the church strength.—Haley R. Dawson, senior religion major.

I think it would be a very good project. The students feel it as a definite part of the services.—Carol Stovs, junior elementary education major.

I believe that to have evening meetings would be better than to have both the chapel and evening services. It seems to me that a consecration week can be successful if it remains practical only, because there is a greater sense of reverence then.—Ted Voss, freshman pre-theology.

his college faculty, the problem is in the Medical College Admission Test. The transcript of credits, the letters of recommendation from the home community and the data of the successive interviews with a representative of the admissions committee, require a lot of time, effort and money, he commented.

When asked what he meant by "qualified applicants" Dr. Shepock said that in the first place it means a complete full four-year course in college ending in the spring. Secondly, the applicant must have a demonstrated loyalty and maturity as well as personal stability and stability and stability in the college course of not less than 3.5. ## CA Students Enter ATS Contests

The Collegiate Academy Chapter of the ATS is awaiting with great anticipation April 21. Although it started late in the year, its activities are well under way. Several students are entering the oratorical contest. Others will be entering some of the contests—jingle, poetry, essay, and cartoon.

The awards for the oratorical contest will be $15, first prize; $10, second prize; and $5, third prize. Prizes of $5, $5, and $2 are offered for the winners of the poster and cartoon contest, and the jingle contest awards $3, $2, and $1 to its winners.

The final awards of the Southern Union oratorical contest will be $100, first prize, $75, second prize, and $50, third prize.

The aim of the society, according to its executive committee, is found in Mrs. E. G. White's writings—"Of all who claim to be numbered among the friends of scripture, Seventh-day Adventists should stand in the front ranks."

IRC Organizes Book Relief Project

The International Relations Club is sponsoring a book relief project for foreign schools, according to James McKinney, president of the club. The plan is to collect English books and ship them to school libraries. The books are not limited to textbooks of English language, but any book which will include books on any subject. These volumes will serve the same purpose in foreign schools as foreign language books do in this country. McKinney says that members of the IRC are delighted to solicit students and faculty for these books.

Don Cossacks Bring Russian Song to SMC

Music from across the sea, and especially from Russia, was presented by the General and Dean Cossack's Chorus in the Collegiate Auditorium, March 15.

The group of men, dressed in their native Russian garb and directed by Mr. Nicholas Krotzkoif, opened the program with an all-American number, "God Bless America," by Irving Berlin. Following this was a song by Tchaikovsky, a well-known Russian composer. The remainder of the music was typically Russian. Some of the numbers were "Song of the Plains," "The People," "The People, O God," by Tschennikov, "Snowstorm" by Elgy, and a number of folk songs.

Two features were the sword-wielding and the gymnastic, both demonstrating agility in their native arts.

The Cossacks were originally a primitive and supposed people of Southern Russia and neighboring parts of Asia who were noted for their ability as horsemen or light cavalrymen, especially in war. Their homeland is in the region surrounding the Don Cossacks.

Academy Senior Sketches 1951

Ilia Jeanette Mayers was introduced to the world on January 3, 1933, at Wichita Falls, Texas; but she claims her home town is Richmond, Virginia. Before coming here Jeanette attended Richmond Academy, where she served as Missionary Volunteer leader and also as secretary. She is now superintendent of the Academy Sabbath school.

Friendily Jeanette likes everybody in general, and any one who knows her will tell you that her hobby is laughing. One can easily see why concerted people stand out as her pet people. Skating, talking, and driving are her favorite pastimes. Jeanette states that her ambition is to be a secretary. With her warm, sunny disposition, who wouldn't succeed? Good luck, Jeanette!

Wilma Jeanne Wallace

Brown-haired and brown-eyed, Wilma Jeanne Wallace was born, February 24, 1934, in Vicksburg, Mississippi. She must have been a wonderful baby because she still makes a hobby of sleeping. In her wakeful hours, however, Jeanne is very active. She likes to hike and to swim.

There is one thing about that she heartily dislikes—bossy people. But in the pursuit of her ambition she is likely to meet up with many bossy people. You see, she wants to be a secretary. Two years of her high school course were spent at Natchez High School in Natchez, Mississippi, and the last two at CA, Yes, the year in Jeanne's future looks very bright indeed.

Louis Thomas Mahr

Although Louis Thomas Mahr was born in Castle Hayne, North Carolina, he claims Wilmington, North Carolina, as his home town. No one knew at the date of his birth on January 11, 1934, that he was destined to be one of the greatest draftsmen of our music. (At least that's what he claims.)

Tom received his entire academy schooling at Collegiate Academy. It seems that Tom spent his first two years studying, but in his junior year he was sought after of that class and at present he is a member of the executive council of the Collegiate Academy chapter of the American Temperance society and is wintering with cars and swimming occupy all of Tom's leisure time. And here's a scoop—we are recommending Tom as a congressional candidate. His excellent reputation as a filibusterer in our student forum discussions in chapel. Anyway, we're here you, old boy!

Audrey LaVerne Poe, 12, is a native of Richmond, Virginia. She is a member of the Southern Baptist church, deeply personal, her a pleasant person with whom acquainted.

During her high school at Verne has attended Atlanta Academy, Douglassville High School, Collegiate Academy, junior and senior years.

Music has a big place in her life and she has made it a hobby, though her mother's swimming team a close second.

Conceded people irritate merely, for she herself is to all with whom she comes in contact.

Nursing has always been and she has chosen that for her. Best wishes go with Verne.

Over 300 Celebrate College Day; 16 Win Temperance and Scholarship Awards

Over 300 senior students of academies and high schools throughout the Southern Union were received as guests of Southern Missionary College during the annual College Days, April 20 and 21.

At Butterfield, director of the registration program, reported that visitors

During the past four years, the College Day event has attracted an increasing large number of guests. In 1948, with Laurence Scates as president of the SA and Dr. Andrew Schrie as coordinator, 247 guests registered. In 1949, under R. C. Mizelle and Dr. Schrie, the number increased to 282. 1950 witnessed an increase to 389 under Kenneth Manning and Mr. Leif K. Tobiasen. Last spring Joe Lambeth and Mr. Tobiasen hosted 398 College Day guests to set an all time record.

began arriving Friday afternoon and continued through Sunday night. Dining halls and villas residents provided accommodations for the visitors. The College Day reception occurred Sunday night in the tabernacle-auditorium. Six of the attending academies entered the temperance oratorical contest with Barbara Eldridge of Forest Lake Academy winning first prize, $100. Robert Fulghum, Mount Pisgah Academy, and Bonnie Brown, Collegedale Academy, won second and third prizes, $75 and $50, respectively.

Monday morning, the guests divided into several groups, touring the campus and observing SMC's industrial and service departments. During the chapel program President Kenneth A. Wright awarded $50 scholarships to ten seniors. Those receiving the awards were Jan Pennington, Asheville Agricultural School; James Alexander and Barbara Tompkins, Collegedale Academy; Patricia Ann Rosenthal and Malcolm Crofoot, Forest Lake Academy; Academy Joyce Shinklev, Highland Academy; Beesler Zollinger, Little Creek Academy; Ann Jensen, Madison College Academy; Patsy Strzes, Mount Pisgah Academy; Myra Franklin, Pine Fork Academy.

Personal interviews with members of the teaching staff were arranged Monday afternoon. Following the conferences, the visitors were taken on an excursion to Point Lookout Park, atop Lookout Mountain. This is the site of

New Hall Will Stand North of Girls' Home

The ground-breaking ceremony for the planned music building for SMC was held during the chapel period on April 21. In an address which was prepared by Mr. H. A. Miller, head of the music department, and read by Mr. E. J. McMurry, professor of speech, it was stated that this addition fills a need which has long been realized. The address pointed out the fact that fifty per cent of Collegedale students are studying music of some type. It was stated that the ministry of music has long been closely allied with the preaching of the gospel, and that this building will be used in the training of musicians for its propagation.

Mr. Charles Fleming, business manager of the college, acted as master of ceremonies at the ground-breaking service, which was held at the site of the proposed building, just north of Student Missionary College. The occasion was provided by the college band, directed by N. L. Krogsrud.

The ground-breaking was factor driven by Elder V. G. Anderson, president of the Southern Union.

Board Reports Summer Plans

President Kenneth A. Wright received the action taken by the recent meeting of the board of trustees, March 10.

E. C. Banks, associate professor of religion and evangelism, will serve as acting chairman of the division of religion beginning in June during the absence of A. W. Witschke. Witschke will take graduate work at the Seventh-day Adventist Theological Seminary.

M. E. Moore, recently elected principal of the Mount Pisgah Academy, will be added to the board of trustees. W. B. Higgins, now principal of Collegedale Academy, was elected to be a member.

Dr. T. W. Steen will direct the session of summer school here from June 16 to August 15. Degree will be conferred upon summer graduates the evening of August 14. Fall term of 1952 will begin September 15.

Frank Fogg and C. N. Smith were elected as lay members of the Collegedale Academy advisory board. The Collegedale elementary school will also be added to the advisory board. The lay members: Mrs. L. M. Nelson, Carl Brown, and F. T. Loren.

H. H. Kuhlman, associate professor of biology, E. L. Mohr, professor of physics, and George J. Nelson, professor of chemistry and mathematics, were authorized to attend the quadrennial science teachers sectional meeting at Walls-Walla College, August 16 to 23.

Schrie Announces Fall Registration

Doctor Ambrose L. Schrie has been declared by the college faculty senate, that, in as far as possible, all medical examinations, all counseling on choice of curriculums and courses, and all registrations for next year for students now on the campus will take place before the middle of May in order that the members of the faculty and the administrative officers may be free to give their very best attention to new students (especially to freshmen) at the opening of the fall term.

An important part of this program as conducted in previous years will be in fall swing before May 1 for all students currently enrolled at our college who expect to return in the fall. Dr. Schrie announces that it has

"Strive to Excel," Advocates Union President In Message to SMC

More Southern Missionary College graduates are employed in the Southern Union now than ever before in our history. Five hundred more individuals were baptized in 1951 in the Southern Union than in any other year. That means that graduates of Southern Missionary College are having a part in the greatest soul-winning movement ever experienced in the Southern Union.

We are using Southern Missionary College young men and women in the ministerial, educational, clerical, secretarial, publishing, and medical phases of our work. We are justly proud of the product of Southern Missionary College. We could not get along without them.

Now I want to appeal to those who are still in training at Southern Missionary College. Do not be satisfied with the average. Strive to excel. We have come to strenuous times, and we must be qualified to do great things for God. In order to fill successfully every place in the work of God at home and abroad, get a fund of knowledge that will qualify you to meet the master minds of the world. Generate in your own soul leadership and enthusiasm so that others may be attracted to this message.

We commend you for your past attainments, and recommend that you "strive to shine thyself approved unto God, a workman that needeth not to be ashamed, rightly dividing the word of truth." 2 Timothy 2:15.

Boytowns Coming to SMC; Will Join Religion Division

Dr. and Mrs. P. C. Boynton—formerly Ruth Beck from Bristol, Virginia—are both graduates of Southern Junior College—class of 1938. They were married in 1939 and went to Union College, Nebraska.

In 1941 Mr. Boynton received his B. A. degree in religion from WMC in Washington and immediately entered the ministry in the Carolina conference.

While engaged in district pastoral and evangelistic work there, the Boyntons received a call from the General Conference for service abroad; and after two years of special study at the SDA Seminary, they left for the Near East.

Since 1946 Mr. Boynton has been the principal of the Itean Training School which is the SDA academy in Pres. Mr. Boynton is also on the staff.

Their full term of six years was completed last summer. Since returning to the United States they have been in Washington where Mr. Boynton is receiving the master of arts degree in the department of archeology and history of antiquity, at the Seventh-day Adventist Theological Seminary.

The Boynton's add this personal note: "We and our two children, Sue Ann and Paul, are looking forward to being with our friends again at Collegedale and throughout our southern homeland."

SMC Offers Wide Labor Opportunities

While many of our Seventh-day Adventist colleges in recent years have advanced their enrollment figures by their large enrollments, to limit the amount of labor which they can offer to students, Southern Missionary College, while increasing its student enrollment steadily, has continued to expand its industrial program and to offer even more labor per student than in the past. It is interesting to note that the total volume of business done by Southern Missionary College during the six months ending December 31, 1951, exceeds that of any other Seventh-day Adventist college. This means that Southern Missionary College can offer unusual opportunities for students to work a large portion of their way through college.

During January and February of this year students of Southern Missionary College averaged 60 to 70 per cent of their total charges during this period of time. Labor rates have gone up steadily during the last five years and, compared with the increase in the cost of living, our labor rates during this period of time are proportionately high in advance. The records show this year that there are more students working more of their way than ever before in the history of the college. From the industrial standpoint the college can continue to provide a large number of students who find it necessary to work a large portion of their way through college. This means an unlimited number of students who must work only a small portion of their way.

An analysis of the types of jobs which the college has to offer shows that students may receive a very practical training in the following: literature, bookkeeping, accounting, clerical work, stenographic work, filing, reading papers, bookbinding, electronics, etc.

A DROP OF INK...

"Character has a cash value..." declared President M. S. Eisenhower of Pennsylvania State College as he reported the recent study prepared by the Carnegie Foundation...

Such an announcement comes as no surprise to Seventh-day Adventist educators, who for a generation have emphasized character training as the supreme objective of all true education...

With so many bewildering cross currents in the field of modern education it is not high time for those who believe in Christian education to arise and say so?

F. O. Kinkadee, Dean Southern Missionary College

Recorded in 11 Samuel 18:20, and onward, is one of the most interesting experiences in the Old Testament. Job said unto him [Ahimaaz], Thou shalt not bear tidings this day...

So today, my friend, there is King's business to be done, but neither you nor I can qualify without the training and experience that will enable us to make the Message real and personal.

Over thirty-five years ago God planted a training school just for you, Southern Missionary College, to help you, my friend, read, understand and follow God's blueprint for your life of training and service.

Kindly consider this a personal invitation to enroll in Southern Missionary College either June 10 for Summer School or September 14 for the Fall term...

Credit for this progress is very widespread. The professors that provide training, the board of trustees upon whom the final responsibility for the conduct of the institution rests, have made this achievement possible.

The fellows in Tallahassee were happy to see all the visitors they have here for College Day. They hope all of them will be going back with us next year.

Loel Tompkins was really excited over night. He was going to the high school picnic on Saturday. His dad had just won a new Cadillac in a raffle conducted in Orlando.

The measles struck Orlando, Fla., on Tuesday night. The students of the dorm, and Bill Swann, our side of the French dorm, came down with the red rash their faces.

The bandits keep coming. Dean Wilcox's cat, had its hind legs torn since it visited Mrs. Successful last night. The music performed it is in more than one training now.

Senator Keffer is leading Dr. Eisenhower in the presidential all the fellows wearing "Eli Gator" shirts. I like the look of wearing "I like the look of your argument. Wouldn't you?"

Bob M. Curber and Jack P. two happy boys who the Grand came up from Orlando for a visit. Nurses' training does have conveniences, dent boys.

Did you ever drink a must of orange juice? We are trained for it one night in aateria.

Harold Robinson, an ex-Member of the Senate, is being elected a faster turnover of the College Store. Bill Stubbs had a time as third floor bookkeeper.

Graves, Whidden, Dubberly Win In ATS Oratorical Contest

Ted Graves, Carol Jean Whidden, and Maude Dubberly were awarded first, second, and third prizes as winners of the oratorical contest sponsored by the Collegiate American Temperance Society.

The six contestants, Maude Dubberly, Ted Graves, Bob Law, Newton Mackey, Willy Welch, and Carol Jean Whidden, gave their seven-minute temperance speeches in the college chapel, April 18.

SA Offers Wide Range of Leadership Opportunities

President K. A. Wright in counsel to the student association has said, "I have been much impressed lately with the possibilities on this campus for the development of intelligent, informed student opinion on all problems related to college welfare."

It is through the student forums that just such opinions can be and are formed.

The four forums are the voices of opinion of the student association. Each college registers a member of the student association. He is represented on the governing body of the association by at least one, if not more, student senators.

Every student is a member of at least one of the four forums. Many students serve as members of the seven standing committees, that deal with problems related to the overall college life and organization. Each student is represented in the senate by his individual class president, by his club officers' council president and secretary.

Other members of the senate are the administrative officers of the two publications, the MV leader and the four executive officers of the student association.

The student senate, the voice of the student association, as authorized and empowered by President K. A. Wright, is to study all the problems related to the welfare of the college and the students, and to present requests and make recommendations to the administrative officers of the college.

To what extent has the student association of Southern Missionary College accomplished this task? Each year over 75 per cent of the students take a active part in the leadership of the many varied activities of the student association and Collegiate church-side their regular classroom assignments.

Implementation of ideas, plans, and projects is one of the chief activities of the student association. Each year the student association sponsors the planning and execution of plans for the annual College Day. The housing, interviews, registration, programs, and the two day activities are wholeheartedly supported by the students of the association. Other activities include two benefit programs each year. This year in one of them they gave away free, free to contestants, over $600 in prizes. The all-school picnic each fall is also their project. The Monday chapel program is administered by the student senate of student association activities.

The seven standing committees and the four forums continually bring suggestions for improvements to be made for the betterment of college life both scholastically and spiritually. The student association owns and operates a career center radio station, WSMC, and is a member of the national IBS.

The station has recently assumed its regularly scheduled broadcasting time and will shortly serve the complete Collegiate daily.

Domitory improvements, such as automatic washing machines, and the March of Dimes campaign, highlight recent accomplishments.

The two publications, the SOUTHERN ACCENT and the Southern Alumnus, are the chief vehicles of the student association. Opportunities for journalistic experience are unlimited by these publications.

The Southern Missionary College student association has pioneered the way in cooperation among our sister college student associations. In December, 1950, the first inter-collegiate workshp was held with seven of the eastern Adventist colleges participating

Census Shows 1,026 Live in Collegedale

The final results of the Collegedale census taken by the local Junior Chamber of Commerce reveal that the Collegedale community numbers 1,026. This number does not include the students living in the resident halls.

Roy Blatte, the secretary of Jaycees, states that the census information will go on file for future reference work. The census not only included the number of people, but their church affiliation, occupation, business address, and whether they own or are renting their homes.

The census was under the direction of Aubrey Lays, chairman of the census committee. Lays reports that five teams, equally divided from the Jaycees roster, and led by its own captains, worked its assigned territory. The territory included to the south, Brown's Camp Road; west, Robinson's Corner; north, Aikman's on Tallant Road; east, Hickman Apartments on Apison Pike.

In reporting the census results, Blatte pointed out that the information can be of great value in an emergency involving civil defense. To supplement this, he hopes that blood types may be secured of Collegedale residents and the number of rooms and beds in each house tabulated to accommodate possible patients.

on our campus in October of 1951.

The second annual inter-collegiate workshop was held at Union College with nine participating.

Workshops were held with regional meetings after the meeting next year at Union College is held. All Adventist colleges are expected to participate.

The student association and the student senate have accomplished these things in that it was not by one individual member's ability to "swing deals" but by the wholehearted cooperation and willingness of students and faculty to unite in joint committees to face the task of teaching the youth of our nation to the best of their ability.

Willingness, cooperation, and hard work make for the success of the student association at Southern Missionary College.

Senior Sketches, 1951-52

Don Martin

Don Martin is another who comes to SMC from the biggest state, he was born and raised in Graham, Texas.

He received his elementary and high school education in Graham. Like many other students, the war years interrupted his studies and took him abroad to England, Ireland, and France for 27 months. He spent four years and four months in the Army Air Force.

After leaving the service he went to La Sierra College and later came to SMC for graduate work.

He has worked on the farm at La Sierra, in the plowing mill at SWCC and has been doing carpentry and upholstery since being here. He has served as Sabbath school superintendent, deacon, and seminar board leader. He was also Sabbath school teacher and assistant Sabbath school superintendent.

He is a religion major and plans to be an evangelist.

His wife, Geraldine Williamson Martin, is from Dallas, Texas, and attended SWCC and later graduated from prompeter school. They have three children—David, B. Gerald, V. and Marlo Renee, 5 months. Martin's hobby is reading and working.

Margaret Motley

Miss Margaret Motley was born in Greensboro, North Carolina, and still lives in that city her home town. She received her elementary and secondary education there before coming to Southern Missionary College.

She has had a number of offices during her stay here at this institution. She has been the secretary of the student association, the general Sabbath school secretary, women's forum president, and secretary of the Future Business Women's of America Club.

As a secretarial major she put her schooling into practice as she works in the capacity of secretary for Dr. A. L. Sabree and Dean F. O. Rittenhouse.

Her ambition in life is to be an efficient secretary and a help in the denominational program. Her hobby is sewing.

Van McGowan

One of the highest dwelling units that SMC has is the domicile of Van McGowan. He lives in one of the two uppermost apartments in the Hillside Apartment Court.

Van was born and reared in Hancockville, Alabama. He attended the public high school there and later went to drama school at the University of Alabama where he learned sheet metal work. This enabled him to hold a job as sheet metal worker in the ship yards and Army Air Base at Mobile, Alabama.

The war years took McGowan to the Central Pacific, where he was in 19 months of three years in the Navy. During this time he attained the rating of radioman second class. He was awarded the Bronze Star for action in the two Japs campaign.

McGowan has been active in extra-curricular work, having been a reporter on the school paper in high school, and later a finance officer of the Veterans Club at SMC. He has also served as president of the Future Business Leaders of America during the second semester of last year and the first semester of this year.

His wife, Jane, a two-year graduate from the secretarial course at SMC, is now secretary for the manager of the Southern Mercantile Agency.

Other than being a radio operator, McGowan has no other talents or special talents. His hobby is radio operating. He wants to become a business manager of a Book and Bible House in the future.

Book Price

From the wide open spaces of Texas comes Arthur Jackson Price. He was born in Dallas which is still his home town.

Before coming to SMC he attended North High, St. Joseph Academy, Jesuit High, St. Joseph Academy, Jesuit High, all in Dallas. Since coming here Arthur has been active in many ways in the curriculum and in extracurricular activities. He has worked in the book shop, wood shop, and served as treasurer of the book bakery. He has been Missionary Volunteer leader, vice president and president of the ministerial seminar, prayer hall leader, seminar board leader, and a sunshine band leader.

Miss Price is a graduate of Grayville Academy and graduated from Southern Junior College in 1942. She has been instructing in ceramics art in the Apalos Guild. The Prices have three children, two boys and one girl.

Price says that his ambition is to be a minister, missionary, and evangelist. He may well become all three, as he will connect with the Kentucky-Kentucky conference upon graduation and will work in connection with an evangelistic effort under Elder L. P. Knecht.

He has various hobbies, among which are ceramic art, coin collecting, golf, and horseback riding. He served with the U.S. Navy during World War II for almost three years. He saw action with the USMC and was a mine sweeper, in Okinawa waters.

He has worked as a coordinator and general contractor, a real estate dealer, and salesman.

Ruth Rife

Ruth Mangold Rife, one of SMC's Spanish-speaking students from Argentina, will graduate this year, completing her work for a degree in educational education.

Miss Rife is the daughter of missionaries to South America. Her travels have taken her over a large part of South America. She was born in Ecuador and educated in the River Plate Junior College in Argentina. For 15 years she taught in Argentina and Uruguay and directed technical training in Chile, Cuba, and Central America.

She has not been long here at work to teaching, however, for she has had experience in nursing since 1934. With her husband she is now in Dallas. She is a graduate of the SMC mid-year class last January, she plans to return to the Andean Union where she will devote her talents to the training of workers.

Johnny Ryals

A man with two majors and two minors is Johnny Willm, Ryals. His majors are history and biology with minors in religion and education.

Ryals is a native Mississippian, acquiring his secondary schooling in that state. He graduated from Wayne University, Detroit, Michigan, he returned to the Southland to complete his college education.

His interest in mechanical lines has stimulated his work as a transmission repairman in the Southland. He is a mechanical worker, all in Detroit. While at Southern Missionary College, he has the honor of being vice president of the maintenance department for five years.

His extra-curricular activities took him into the IBC as vice-president of the MV as assistant leader. Through out his busy college career (he has worked his entire way) he has still found time to pursue his hobbies—nature study, jodeling, and reading and collecting poetry.

Clyde Springfield

Coming from SMC from outside the Southern Union, Clyde Springfield will graduate with a business major and religion minor with the 1952 class.

A veteran of two and a half years in the United States Army during the year day, Springfield resumed his education in 1948. While attending the University of Oklahoma he was secretary and president of the married couples forum, publicity secretary for the IBC, and assistant secretary of the church school division.

He has been employed in several of the oil fields in Oklahoma, Texas, and Wyoming, and has had the broadest background, and press. His

ACCEPT DUTY OF THE GRAPE

College Day Again

As the clock on the wall slowly ticked off the minutes, days and months, we again found ourselves nearing that day of days when we are privileged to join with senior academy students from all sections of the Southern Union.

Most of the students here at Collegedale are well acquainted with the College and its activities, but many of the visiting students were not. Each Collegedale Academy student was proud to do his part in making College Day a success by answering questions, showing people around, or just being friendly.

How CA-ites Spent Spring Vacation

AN ACCENT reporter, curious to know the spring vacation activities of several of the students, questioned them on the matter. Here they speak for themselves:

"I traveled Georgia and Florida with the Chapel singers—more fun!" Bonnie Brown.

"I went to Indianapolis, Indiana, all vacation to have a good time!" Iris Drown.

"I went back to the farm and helped my dad with the planting." Alex E. Underg.

"I stayed at home and enjoyed not having to go to school." Mary Nelson.

"Worked part of the time and just rested and enjoyed my (?) the rest of the time." Mary Lites.

"I went home to visit my folks in Deforia, Spence."

"I went to Florida and caught up on some swimming." Clyde W. Holsley.

"I went home to Richmond, Virginia." Jeannie Mayers.

"I went home to rest up before the mad rush that comes at the end of the year." Stanley Jones.

"I went to Florida to visit my sister." Don Jacobs.

"All during vacation I worked, ate, and slept and enjoyed being out of school for a while." Wynne Sudduth.

Wentland Appears In Academy Chapel

Elder R. H. Wentland from the Southern Union Conference office spoke to the academy students in chapel on Monday, March 31.

He told them of the importance of ingathering. To quote him: "Ingathering supplies a part of our basic training in our Christian education. It is no easy job to look for Christ; it takes strength and a backbone to go work for God. The way to success is to work and pray and then let God do the rest. Remember that you are not going out for yourself; you are going out for God and He will not let you down."

With this inspiring message the students of the academy went out on field day and aided the college in more than reaching their goal.

Kennedy Leads Music Club

The music club of Collegedale Academy, which has presented several chapel programs, has elected their new officers for the coming semester.

Howard Kennedy was chosen president. The vice president was named Edwin Bagwell, Julie Brown was elected secretary.

The auto mechanics class and the physics class went to the Buick, Olds, Cadillac, and Pontiac plant in Atlanta, Georgia, on Friday, April 14, to see first hand how the principles they learn in class are applied. It seems that this way of going to school is very popular with the students and is an effective way to teach.

Academy Has Colporteur Institute

The colporteur institute, led by Elder W. A. Higginis, the publishing department secretary of the Southern Union, presented to Collegedale Academy many reasons how the colporteur work can help in spreading the gospel and strengthening one's faith. It also helps to develop one's personality and ability to meet people.

The experiences given by the colporteurs, who are met and encouraged by many of the academy students to spend this summer in the canvassing field. Ray Evans and Ed Bagwell told some of the experiences from the work which proved that colportering can be worth while.

Summer Session Opens June 16: Large Variety of Courses Offered

T. W. STEEN
F. D. BETHENHUSCH
On many college and university campuses this summer the student enrollment will be higher than during the regular academic year. Products Dr. J. W. Steen, director of the summer session. In some cases, it will be more than double the regular enrollment. Last year at SMC, 224 students were in attendance. Applications now being received suggest that it will be still higher this summer.

Over half of the entire staff and faculty have been retained for the summer session, and more than forty courses will be offered. "The classes here are still relatively small in the summer and some individual help is given to the students," continues Dr. Steen. "Summer session students are usually serious-minded persons who know why they are here, and are capable of a large amount of self-direction. During this period of busy nine weeks, June 16 to August 15, it will be possible to earn at least eight semester hours of credit. This is one-fourth of that earned in a full school year."

The summer session director points out that this year, like to others, there is no school program by improving the summer opportunities; others want to make their load lighter during the regular school year, and still others can only attend a short period each year. For all these reasons the summer session is a great opportunity.

the vigorous battle during the Civil War.
Monday evening the College Day events climaxed with a talent program in the laboratory-auditorium. Featured were the program De Steen's twenty-ninth numbers, and group readings by the men's and ladies' choruses. The theme for the evening was "Come On Down To Collegedale," led by Mr. Wayne Thurber.

Academy Senior Sketches 1951-

Doris Shepherd Letchworth
Doris Shepherd Letchworth was born June 9, 1932, in Stearns, Kentucky.

She has attended CA all four high school years and served as Sabbath school teacher and prayer band leader. Doris loves swimming, skating, and playing Gypsy and concert piano and is friendly to everyone.

Her ambition is to become a stenographer. At present she is well occupied at keeping house for her husband, Bill, who says she tops in that line.

Best wishes go with you, Doris, and we know that you will succeed in any field you choose.

Maude Duberly
Maude Duberly, known to her friends as "Dubby," opened her eyes on October 8, 1913, in Bailey Grove, Florida, although she claims Jacksonville, Florida, as her home town.

Maude's school days have been spent in Jacksonville, high school, where she was a reporter for the school paper and secretary of the Social Science Club. She then went to Mt. Pugh Academy, and her junior and senior years have been spent at Collegedale Academy where she is now Sabbath school secretary. Maude chooses diving as her favorite sport but says she likes all sports, and anywhere something is "cooling," she's sure to be there because she likes fun and lots of it.

Storms, thunder, lightning ("because they scare me"), and hurricanes, she declares, are her pet peeces. Her hobby is sewing. We are sure Maude will go far in her chosen profession, which is either a dietitian or a missionary. Success to you, Maude.

Joel Edwin Bagwell
Joel Edwin Bagwell was born Greenville, South Carolina, March 23, 1931.

His high school life has been at the Asheville Agricultural school and at Collegedale Academy. He is a member of the Southern Union, and he has been very busy during the summer months for various times. He has a Sabbath school teacher's certificate, a school superintendent, vice president of the music club, vice president of the Academy Forum, secretary of the single club, and president of the American Temperance Society for the Academy.

Ed's big ambition is to be a laboratory technician. He has laboratory courses in both chemistry and physics. He has also taken extra-curricular activities like photography and basketball. He has been in the state of Georgia for the first two years of his July saying that this boy is going to be a doctor.

Elise Ann Simons
Elise Ann Simons was born in Chicago to the home of Mrs. M. Simons because on that day she met her father for the first time.

Elise began her education in Chicago, but later moved to Miami where she attended Miami Junior College for the first two years of her tenth grade, she attended Fairleigh Dickinson for one year and then returned to her home town of Collegedale Academy.

Elise has done other things like Academy. She has been a student assistant Sabbath school class, typist for the Mt. Pugh Academy for the student fund. She has also been a member of the Elsie's hobbies and the other piano, which she says does not get her. Lately she has an odd skating. She also has a very good pet peeve which is men.

Marchie Lee Edgemo
Marchie Lee Edgemo was born October 8, 1931, in Columbus, Georgia.

Marchie is a loyal "Col" because, as she says, "Collegedale is all that there is for me." She has a record and very few CA members have been able to make it as well.

Marchie has served as a member of the Academy club. She has also been a member of the Academy club. She has also been a member of the Academy club. She has also been a member of the Academy club. She has also been a member of the Academy club.

Marchie's ambition is to be a musician and her pet peeve and efficiency will go far for her a success.

Students Sell $71,742.50 in Bonds

Southern Missionary College has not only produced future leaders from her halls, but she has also produced a large number of student colporteurs. Lists to carry their message to the ends of the Southern Union. These men in order to do a part to help, to gain the rich experience to reap the fruit of their labors. The student colporteurs have sold $71,742.50 in bonds for the Southern Union. The student colporteurs were: Mr. E. J. McMurphy, staff sponsor. We are a member of and licensed by the latter College. Broadcasting System.

Broadcasting over BMC's new radio station are Elaine Higdon, script writer, Ed Brice, chief announcer, and Bonnie Brown, announcer.

WSMC Initiates Daily Broadcast Interviews College Day Guests

Southern Missionary College students will no longer watch dramatically for radio programs according to management of WSMC. Collegedale's first radio broadcast unit, broadcasting from rooms 322 and 322A in Lynn Wood Hall, the station launched its initial program last Sunday night at 9:45 p.m. when Ed Brice and Bonnie Brown, station announcers, interviewed College Day guests.

Bill Brown, station program director, reports that four and a half hours of daily broadcast will be devoted into three sections—the morning, 6:00 to 7:15 a.m.; the midday, 1:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m.; the evening, 7:30 to 7:00 p.m. "Our station will utilize all college talent which we can secure and will fit into the program," asserts Mr. E. J. McMurphy, station sponsor. "We are a member of and licensed by the latter College. Broadcasting System."

Beginning from the latest essentials, the summer session director points out to a large organization sponsored by the student association. The speech department supplied its equipment and rooms; the student association appropriated $200 which the school matched dollar for dollar, and interested members of the science classes engineered the project to a success.

Ray Crawford, general manager, Everett Eakin, chief engineer, and Frank McMillan, treasurer, have worked to equip Collegedale with a carrier current system, making possible the reception of the programs in all parts of the village. This phase, they believe, will be accomplished in the near future.

Hammill Assumes SMC Deanship in June; Got Doctorate from Chicago

Richard L. Hammill, professor of Biblical languages and religion will become dean of Southern Missionary College June 1, announces President Kenneth A. Wright. The new dean has been on the SMC instructional staff since 1946 soon after his return from foreign mission service.

Dr. Hammill's experience in ministerial and educational work began in 1936 when he graduated from Walls Walls College and entered the Washington conference as a ministerial intern. Until 1940 he performed pastoral and evangelistic services, at one time organizing a new church of 48 members.

Entering the Malay Union in 1940 as an evangelist, he settled with his family in Tourane, Annam, a central province in French Indo-China. However, when the Japanese invaded that area he transferred to the Philippine Islands and S. B. Smith school secretary with headquarters in Manila.

The entrance of the United States into the war caused the internment of his family, first in the Santo Tomas prison camp and later in the Binas camp in Luzon. An interim liberty period of nearly two years between internments allowed him to teach in the Bible department at the Philippine Union College. After his release, Dr. Hammill resumed his duties as a graduate student at the Theological Seminary with a master's degree in Biblical languages. In 1946 he enrolled in the University of Chicago, graduating in 1950 with his doctorate work in the field of Old Testament and Literature. Dr. Hammill has already assumed some of his new responsibilities and will fill the Deanship left by Dr. P. O. Rutenbaur. Dr. Hammill is currently serving as coordinator of student activities and sponsor of the school. He is acquainted with educational work and is well qualified for his new assignment.

Student Religious Activities Centers Around Missionary Volunteer Society

Religious activities form an integral part of collegiate life, declared Ted Graves, the associate MV leader. Although there are many separate religious organizations on the SMC campus, he points out, the larger portion of church work and religious life is promoted by the Missionary Volunteer Society.

Wally Welch leads the Collegedale MV society and under him are many individual leaders. There are not only the associate and assistant MV leaders but also the leaders of the several bands within the MV circle.

Wright Speaks on Examinations

President Kenneth A. Wright presided on "Examinations" at the Sabbath church service, May 3.

"There are five sides to every person," he said, "what his mother thinks he is, what his father thinks he is, what his girl friend thinks he is, what the fellows think he is, and what he knows himself to be or what he really is."

"Let us examine ourselves and see if we measure up to God's standards," he concluded.

FUTUREVENTS

- May 9—MV Mother's Day Program, vesper.
- May 10—Pastor Becker, church.
- May 10—Open night.
- May 16—Home Economics Program, chapel.
- May 16—President Wright, vesper.
- May 17—Epitaphal and Dedication Service, church.
- May 23—Men's and Women's Chorus, hymn.
- May 23—Dr. Hammill, chapel.

30 Give Music Recital in Chapel

A program of music presented by the youngest music students of Collegedale attracted an audience last Sunday, May 4, 1952. The youngsters performed in the Lynn Wood Hall chapel.

The thirty students who gave their piano recital were pupils of Miss Mabel Wood, Mrs. Frances Curtis, and Mrs. Margaret Secor. All are elementary school students.

Mr. and Mrs. Ramiro Alonso to Teach In Costa Rica Vocational College

SMC Pushes Better English Program

On page 42 of SMC's new college catalog students and teachers will find the broad outlines of a very important college-wide, all-year program to improve in English speaking and writing. A faculty-student committee will supply the administrative and instructional dynamics to carry the intent and full participation of every teacher and every student on the campus. Dr. Richard L. Hammill is the executive secretary.

Dr. Solarie spoke in chapel last Friday, indicating the need for a continuing and a very dynamic attack upon common mistakes in speech and writing. He said the obvious first step is to make a complete and inclusive survey of the mistakes commonly (and frequently) made on the campus. The committee will then provide constructive help to all our students collectively and, on request, to individual students who have been helped to become aware of bad language habits and who desire to overcome them in the best possible way.

The announcement was made that on Wednesday, May 7, every faculty member and every student will be asked to bring to the chapel a list of the more common mistakes he has recently noticed in speech and in writing, such as outdoor term papers, class themes, and examinations. This practice of collecting such mistakes will be continued at weekly intervals at the end of the current academic year. Dr. Solarie, with the assistance of some members of the department of English, will then classify all errors into major and minor and will issue a small pamphlet which will contain the mistakes such across some very practical helps.

The details of other aspects of the committee's plans will be announced periodically in the college assembly and the columns of the SOUTHERN ACCENT.

13 Get Teachers Of Tomorrow Pins

Thirteen Teachers of Tomorrow Club candidates received their pins and were commissioned into the organization by taking the teacher's pledge at the Teachers of Tomorrow banquet, April 22. They are: Mrs. Bernice Baker, Mae Becker, Mrs. Annetta Boland, Mrs. Velma Boyd, Helen Carter, Mrs. Mary Crain, Mrs. Dolly Fillman, Henry Hoyt, Marjorie Mills, Mrs. Ruth Ruffel, Mrs. Iona Strawder, and Ruth Wheeler.

5 Senators Take Major Positions

Arthur Butterfield, sophomore pre-med major, became the 1952-53 student association president April 29 when school-wide balloting gave him and his three associate student executive officers positions in next year's student senate. Butterfield is the current vice-president of the student association and was formerly chairman of the social education committee and freshmen class prey.

John Harris, the class president of last year's freshman class and associate MV leader for the first semester of 1951-52, will assist Butterfield as vice-president of the student association. Harris is now in his second year of a theology major.

Florence Russell, a junior secretarial science major, held the plurality vote which placed her as next year's student association secretary. Previously, she served as Club Officers' Council secretary.

Charles Morgan, presently providing over the men's forum, won the balloting for the treasurer's position. Morgan is a freshmen theology major with one semester of senatorial work already behind him.

These four newly-elected students form the student administrative council.

Reynold Floyd Greenleaf as editor of the SOUTHERN ACCENT will be James Joiner, the current editor of the Southern Memorial. Joiner is a junior business major and has repeated two years on the ACCENT staff. Frank McMillan is coming to the ACCENT staff as business manager. This year he served as treasurer of the newly formed radio station, WSMC.

Lower Division Has Picnic at Local State Park

A hundred and fifty freshmen and sophomores filed into 25 cars, 2 pickup trucks, and the college store truck Wednesday, April 30, and headed for Harrison State Park for the freshman-sophomore picnic. All thoughts of school were left at Collegedale as thoughts of games, boats, water, and sun danced in the eyes of the picnickers.

There was something for everyone to do from such simple activities as sea-sawing and swinging to hinder activities as keeping an outboard motor in running condition. Many joined in the softball, volley ball, and badminton games; some went for hikes; a few ventured into the wild waters of an inlet; while many just lay around on blankets and played pool.

For a change the cafeteria staff did not take the responsibility of the food preparation and serving. A committee of students prepared the food, another served it, and another cleaned up. The menu included potato salad, baked beans, carrot sticks, celery sticks, olives, potato chips, grape punch, curlets, and apple pie with peach cream.

Gladys Smoot, associate editor of Southern Memorial, will move up to the editor's desk to head next year's annual publication. Assisting him as business manager will be C. L. Beason, the twice-elected president of the married couples' forum.

A DROP OF INK...

Glancing through the file of former issues of the SOUTHERN ACCENT, one can easily trace the progress of Southern Missionary College, both as a college plant and also as an institution fostering a wide area of student activity. The development in these two fields has been nearly simultaneous. When on May 26, 1946, Colledge graduated its first class of four-year seniors, SMC had experienced its highest enrollment in history.

Continuing its enrollment increase in 1946-47, SMC dedicated its new A. G. Darrin Memorial Library which gave the campus a much-needed and well-organized attraction. Within a few months the first student senate organized with thirteen members, which immediately formed committees to investigate and promote its business.

From that date, college expansion featured a new science hall, tabernacle-auditorium remodeling, and industrial expansion. Within the same years, student activity settled into a period of development, quick at first, but receiving its big push in 1949-50 when the student senate reorganized, becoming the officers of a student association under a new constitution.

On the Faculty Side

BARBARA HICKON

The ladies of the faculty met at the home of Mrs. E. C. Banks, Tuesday night, April 29. Miss Betty Corner gave a demonstration on cooking and illustrative slides. ### Fifteen Missionary Letters Reveal Problems and Needs of Foreign Life

EMERY HORN

Missionary letters direct from the missionaries to local friends in Colledge are being read in the Sabbath school services, according to Henry Helsey, Sabbath school superintendent of the tabernacle district.

Fifteen airmail envelopes were given out in February to those who would write to personal friends serving in foreign missions. Six letters have been received which have been read in the Sabbath school by the persons who wrote for the correspondence. The seventh letter is here and will be read tomorrow, May 10.

Inquiries were made concerning three delicate topics, pointed out Helsey.

If You're Married

MARVIN ROGERS

Let's drive down across the tracks and see what changes have been made.

J. R. Stanley has moved in where Bob Haage lived. Let's stop for just a minute and tell Mrs. Stanley the strawberries are ripe again.

Well, let us move back up Apison Pike to the store. James, be careful, don't hit those people crossing the road. Why don't you have gettin' with their new addition to the family.

New Additions

That's Judson Fuller and J. D. Bledsoe standing in front of the post office. We'll be hearing about them next fall in this column.

Jim and Betty Lou Ashlock live there in that little brown house. Jim spent last Monday night with me because his grandmother came down from Graysville and he had to give her his bed to sleep in.

James, drive back out College drive and stop in front of the library. I want to take this in to the library office.

75 Youngsters Have Mystery Trip

About 75 Colledge elementary school children figuratively played "hooky" last Wednesday when they piled into two Chevrolet coaches they carried them on the mystery trip which they had awaited since January. All the children and their parents who had attended all the Home and School meetings except one since January were the ones favored with this mystery tour. The places were kept secret until one but the Home and School officers knew about it until the buses arrived at their destinations.

The Home Economics club members and their guests took supper, Sunday evening, May 4.

Burgers, coke, and punch were served from the picnic house in the valley behind the administration building. Larry Johnson rendered the entertainment with his singing and guitar.

Down South

JAMES JORDAN

Carol Jean Whitman, who is the column about Miss Whitman's flower picnic, came down only once to see her. She says she has had it recorded (Drachberg's Poor Call) but had her column ready to go.

Leap Year Party

The leap year party at Apison one of the best programs of the college. It was held at the Club. It really got on a good entertainment for us. Richard and the most backward of the boys. He was escorted by Dick Lee.

Bob Roberts and Dan J. Gabb were in a contest eating 100 apples in 10 minutes. They ate 100 apples in 10 minutes. They were eating the apples.

Softball Organized

Four softball teams have been organized, and games are planned for this week.

The captain is Jack Johnson Harris, Joe Taylor, Harry Danielson, in their uniforms.

Congratulations to Art and Charles Morgan, the new association president and secretary in the South Georgia district from the South Georgia fellows.

Spring Suburbs

Lots of suburbs can be seen the schedule of pinks? It also has brought some of the people to the step at the suburbs.

The boys serenade the other Friday night. They are doing right well with it when Heber Vetter went to it. What in the world was the other end of the campus to know.

Home and School Association Stage Pet and Hobby Show; 19 Win Prizes

LYNN SAULS

The Collegedale elementary school was literally turned into a pet and hobby show from 7 to 6 o'clock Sunday afternoon, May 4, when the show, sponsored by the pet and hobby show sponsored by the Home and School Association.

The children began the show with a parade around the college circle. The band was playing; streams of brightly colored crepe paper were blowing from the decorated bicycles peddled by smiling young boys and girls; ducks quacked as the decorated wagons in which they were conveyed lit the bumps; dogs barked in the excitement while the cats with ribbons around their necks kept still with open eyes pinned on the dogs; horses walked slowly onward—the pet and hobby show was on.

Dwaid Chaffin, fifth grade, drew the first prize of the parade with his two ducks and chicken in his decorated wagon. Cindy and Connie Perdue, who drew the second prize with their wagons displaying the Collegedale preschool. Jim Bob Davis won the third prize with his decorated bicycle.

After the parade, the pets were displayed on the lawn of the school. There were cats, dogs, ducks, chickens, ponies, calves, and goats. Jack McKee drew first prize with his Pomeranian puppy. The Beckner dog, second prize, was a cat that could hold a bottle and drink milk from it. Mrs. Ira Curtis got third with her cinary.

The hobbies and collections were on display in the building. From the primary group Jimmie Kennedy won first prize with his match collection; Bonnie Jean Boynton took second prize with her post card collection that represented each of the 48 states; and Susie Mielke got third place for her needle work.

From the junior group Marilyn Nelson received first prize with her doll collection. Judy Garbarth took second with his homemade electric controller. Myrna Woolsey got third for her embroidery work.

For the adult grand prizes Mrs. D. C. Ludington took the first prize for her flowerings. Mrs. Carl Smith took second for her shell craft. The home collection of Clymora Anderson took third.

For the children's grand prizes Judy Garbarth received first prize for her Gashcraft. The doll collection of Marilyn Nelson took second. The embroidery work of Myrna Woolsey took third.

Five food booths were stationed in the basement of the school where young, home-made cakes, pies, salads of different varieties, pop corn, and burgers could be purchased. Supper was served from 6:30 to 6:30.

"The show cleared over $60," said Mrs. Albert Anderson, who had charge of the Hobby Show. "It will be used for playground equipment."

SS Leaders Conduct Child Evangelism Meet

The child evangelism institute was held at Collegedale for the benefit of the division leaders in Sabbath schools throughout the nearby territory. April 26, 1952, Elder A. O. Dart, Union Sabbath school secretary, Mrs. Dart; Miss Louise Meyer, General Conference secretary; Mrs. S. B. Hare, General Conference associate Sabbath school secretary, were on the campus to conduct the lectures and workshops.

Lectures were given stressing the importance of the work for the children. Demonstrations were made to show how the efforts for the children could best be carried out. The institute covered the scope of child evangelism in the home, in the Sabbath school, and in the church.

"The time to bring our children to Christ," said Elder Dart, "is when they are young. If the children and youth are not brought to Christ, the Sabbath school is a failure."

Lectures and workshops began Sabbath afternoon, April 26, and lasted through Monday evening, April 28. A session was held Saturday night and three sessions were held on both Monday and Tuesday.

A few of the lectures were entitled: "The Early Years are the Most Important"; "Training the Child to Worship"; "Nativity and Child Evangelism"; "Music and Child Evangelism"; "Basic Principles of Successful Sabbath School Teaching"; "Fundamentals of Bible and Primary Evangelism"; and "Fundamentals of Cradle Roll and Kindergarten Evangelism."

The institute was conducted through the institute have been touring the Southern Union and holding Child Evangelism institutes in centers throughout the territory.

Foreign Students Swell SMC Ranks; Latin America Sends Largest Group

A larger influx of foreign students has swelled the enrollment of Southern Missionary College each year, the registration statistics show.

This year, eleven countries sent students to SMC, the largest group coming from the Latin American continent—Argentina, Cuba, and Puerto Rico. Among the students from their countries are ordained ministers and veteran denominational workers.

There are Mr. and Mrs. Rene Alonso from Cuba. For several years, Mr. Alonso has been a pastor. Sabbath school and Missionary Volunteer secretary in the West Cuban conference. Mrs. Alonso has also served in the denominatory teaching field.

Also Mr. and Mrs. Andres Riffel, former workers in the Inter-American division and South America, are students. The principal of the Central American Vocational College in Costa Rica, graduated from SMC last January and is now connected with the Antillas Union a home missionary and Sabbath school secretary. Mrs. Riffel also has spent many years in the teaching and medical work.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Alberro have done much of their time to SDA work in Argentina. Mr. Alberro is an ordained minister, and Mrs. Alberro has many years of work with a successful Spanish teacher.

From Chile comes Ernest Marinkovich, a former coalface employe. After graduation, another student, Nicholas Chaji, will return to Argentina to assume conference responsibility.

From Jerusalem comes Fawzi-Abu-El-Haj; Australia sends Rossa Jensen, Harold J. Harding; the SMC of the European student, basing from England—Lebanon yields George Gager; Juan Rodriguez and Elizabeth Hernandez from Cuba; Glen Cairns, Rolando Draehoberg, Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Harper, Rene Gonzalez, and Martha Rodriguez from Cuba; Glen Cairns, Peter Donesky, and Mary Young from Canada; and Oon Drachengren from the SMC campus has increased this year, yielding a rich assortment of books, customs, and languages to Collegedale students.

Senior Sketches, 1951-52

William Hancock

William Hancock was born in North Carolina and reports that Randleman is his home town. He attended the Hazel Cross Grammar School and Asheville Agricultural School. Then he went to the North Carolina Academy where he graduated from Southern Missionary College.

Hancock, who is a religion major, has entered most of his extra-curricular activities along religious lines. He has been a seminar band leader, the president of the Colporteur Club, vice-president of the Stenp Club, a prayer band leader and a temperance society officer. He has worked in the college store and in the maintenance department.

Hancock's ambition is to be a publishing department secretary or a pastor. He is particularly talented at public speaking and salesmanship, according to his wife, who is herself an experienced colporteur and public school teacher.

He has spent many years in the publishing book and a short time in pastoral work, and after graduation will connect with the Texas conference publishing department.

David Krebs

Another senior from the "Sunshine State" is David Krebs. He was born in Miami and still maintains that as his home town.

Dart attended Forest Lake Academy, later he went to Emmanuel Missionary College. He is finishing his work here of Southern Missionary College after a brief term of service in the United States Army. He has been active on campus, having held the offices of vice-president of the Triangle Club, secretary of men's forum, and having worked as a reporter for the SOUTHERN ACCENT. He has worked in the laundry and accounting office. He is majoring in economics and minor in mining and in Bible. He wants to be an accountant or an office manager. Fishing is his chief hobby.

Marion Parker

Marion Parker was born in Bartow, Florida, and until this year lived in Orlando. She now calls Collegedale her home town. She received her elementary schooling in Florida and at Forest Lake Academy at Forest Lake. She next attended Southern Missionary College and then went on to Washington Missionary College for two years. She is here for her senior work.

Marion held a number of offices in her school years. She was social secretary of the Home Economics Club at WMC, social secretary of the Music Guild at WMC, and social secretary of Natural Science Club at WMC. She is now president of the Home Economics Club at SMC.

Marion has worked in the medical department of the General Conference and in the home economics department here at Collegedale.

Her major is home economics and she is minoring in secretarial science, and education. Her favorite hobbies are collecting recipes and snapshots. She is now teaching and has an opportunity in the college and has an opportunity in the college and has an opportunity in the college.

Boiler Room Gets New Coal Bin

A new coal bin built on the east side of the boiler room will facilitate working conditions, says Mr. Charles Fleming, SMC Business manager.

The new coal bin, still in construction stage, is so designed as to allow the coal trucks to drive on top and empty their loads from the roof. The reason for building the new bin, Mr. Fleming says, was to get rid of the boiler room work faster and easier, but to remove the coal pile from the showing of the dog picture in the boiler room. "We will to plant shrubbery and a lawn around the boiler room," he explained. The bin has a capacity of 300 tons and will soon be ready for use.

ment to teach next year at Forest Lake Academy in the secretarial science and home economics departments.

Juan Rodriguez

Juan Rodriguez was born in Puerto Rico, but his home town is San Juan. He received his secondary schooling at the Colegio de las Antillas, in Santa Clara, Cuba.

Rodriguez has been active in religious activities since he came to Southern Missionary College. He has been a church member, Spanish division Sabbath school superintendent, and Sabbath school teacher.

While working his way through college, he has worked in the maintenance department, doing painting and painting.

Rodriguez is graduating this year with a religion major and has a knowledge of history and Spanish. Among his hobbies is photography and he lists among his aims that of doing missionary work and giving. He has an ambition to become a minister.

John Stanley

John R. Stanley Jr. was born in Okalochee in the "Sunshine State" and will maintain that as his home town. He attended Forest Lake and Okalochee and later went to the Early Years Academy.

John is one of the chief planners in our maintenance department and has worked there most of the time he has been at Southern Missionary College. He is a veteran of World War II and saw service in the Philippines.

J. R., who is locally known, has worked at several places as paper filler and electrician helper. He says his hobby is fishing.

He is training for the ministry and would like to preach at church in secondary school.

Mrs. Stanley is a school teacher, having taught in Florida for three years and in Tennessee for two years.

Thomas Stone

Thomas Stone was born in Greenwood, Missouri. He first attended church school at Wicksburg. Later he went to Chestnut Hill School near Portland, Tennessee. He finally came to Southern Missionary College where he will be graduating from the ministerial course.

Tom has worked in various places around the campus having been employed in the garage, the dairy, wood shop, and the maintenance department.

He spent 28 months in the service of his country, 20 of them being in the European theater. He was a medic, acting first as a company aid man and later as a sergeant of a battalion aid station.

His wife, Stella, is a graduate of Collegedale. Tom is a member of the SMC while Tom was stationed at an army post in Durham, North Carolina. He has had experience in various types of mechanical work, such as the fitting and the carpenter, plumbing and electrical trades. He plans to be an evangelist.

Ushers Club Has Annual Picnic

As the majority of Collegedale students were out on their spring break, Sunday noon, May 4, the food committee of the Ushers Club were being out on their picnic and they had prepared during the morning.

They preceded the 60 members of the Club to Harrison Bay State Park where the annual Ushers' Club Picnic was held.

The activities were started with a traditional picnic lunch which would open the picnic. The picnic was held at the 60 of 125-foot pool was opened for the 1952 season. The ushers took the opportunity to make a list of it. It included a list of water, boats, sun, and base ball, supper was served and the group returned to Collegedale.

It Happened at Collegedale

One year ago—The college store launched its grand re-opening featuring a re-mediated basement day, April 24 and 25. The student store had a new deep freeze. Sales for the opening day amounted to $2,902.57.

Two years ago—Mrs. Lambeth called a plurality vote and became the student association president for 1950-51 to May 3, 1950. Raymond Woolsey and David Henriksen, both associate editors of the SOUTHERN ACCENT, took over executive positions of the SOUTHERN ACCENT and the "Southern Memos" respectively.

Three years ago—Nearly 300 academy and high school seniors visited SMC for the annual college day, April 24 and 25. The student senate, with R. C. Mizelle as president, directed the series of events.

Four years ago—in a Spanish setting, the college faculty entertained the 1949 graduating class. The formal banquet was held in the college cafeteria.

Five years ago—Elder Carlyle B. Haynes delivered the dedicatory address of the new S. Daniels Memorial Library on May 14, 1947. Other guests for the occasion included David Lockman, president of the University of Chattanooga, and E. F. Hickman, chairman of the college board.

Six years ago—Southern Missionary College students offered to donate one dollar each to the famine relief agency, benefiting Western Europe. They also restricted themselves to a 24-hour fast in connection first-hand the European famine situation.

Dart, Hare, Meyer Appear in Vespers

Three speakers, Elder A. O. Dart, Union Sabbath school secretary, Miss Louise Meyer, assistant Sabbath school secretary of the General Conference, and Elder E. B. Hare, associate Sabbath school secretary of the General Conference, conducted the Friday evening vesper service, April 25.

Elder Dart stressed the importance of entering children at the proper way. He pointed out the responsibility the church has for its children and the children of the world. "Too out of these three boys and girls in the United States have no religious training—some of them are lost."

Miss Meyer demonstrated the importance of the right kind of teaching for the younger children. She showed how to teach with pictures, songs, and dramatizations.

Elder Hare talked on the "Ones that make a person what he is." The chief of one that are comes through heredity, one that is by environment, and the other three by the will.

"We cannot change our heredity now as we could our environment," by the action of the will we are the arbiters of our own destiny," he concluded.

SA Budget Makes Final Balance

"The student association will balance its budget," reported Clot Burt, SA president, after last Saturday night's benefit program.

The "Tender Years" netted $171.35 for the unbalanced SA budget. Jordan says that the amount will cover the sum needed and leave a surplus for next year.

ACCENT ON THE ACCADEMY

KEEP LOOKING UP

Keep looking up, not down at your difficulties. We all have obstacles in our way and somehow we must overcome them. If we try to surround them all at once we will soon become discouraged and give up, but patiently overcoming them one by one we grow stronger and are better enabled to face the future with a smile.

The highest hill may be climbed by patiently ascending step by step; the toughest job may be accomplished by continuous effort. The perfection of our lives is not gained in a day but by the patient work of a life time. cw

"Chapel Songs" Present Religious Program in MV Hour

A program of sacred music was presented by the Chapel Singers at the vespers service on Friday evening, May 2.

The program opened with the "Call to Worship" familiar to the ears of Collegedale worshipers. This choral setting was arranged by Mr. Wayne Thurber, who is director of the choir. They sang a variety of selections from the works of Noble Cain, Will James, Christopher, Stearns, Carl, and Ringwald.

Featured also were the Songwriters Trio, composed of Marilyn Dilow, Mary Ellen Carlsen, and Frances Hamby; and the Adaption Quartet, composed of John Thurber, Don Crook, Wayne Thurber, and Jack Vazey. The trio sang "How Lovely Are Thy Declinings," "All In An April Evening," and "Thanks Be To God." The

Smith Demonstrates Fire Prevention

"Many people lose their lives just because they do not use common sense," stated Mr. Carl Smith in his talk on fire prevention during academy chapel. There are certain rules which may mean the difference between life and death.

He told of several different incidents in which people lost their lives because they became so terrified that they did not stop to think straight. Mr. Smith showed the students three different types of fire extinguishers and how they are to be used.

A fire drill concluded the meeting and the students were timed to find out how long it took to empty the chapel, only 45 seconds! Someone in the near future another fire drill will be given to find how rapidly the entire building may be emptied.

Junior-Senior Picnic at Watts Bar

April 28, 1952, the day of the junior-senior picnic, dawned bright and clear. Between the hours of seven and ten several cars left, bound for Watts Bar, the site of the picnic.

One of the main features of the day was the dinner at noon. There were many good things to eat, topped off with cherry and apple pie à la mode.

After lunch some played ball. The latter part of the afternoon was spent in boating and swimming.

For supper hamburgers, (knock), with all the trimmings were served.

Academy Senior Sketches 1951

Virginia Shepherd

Virginia Shepherd, born December 1, 1933 in Stearns, Kentucky, Jennie has spent three years at Collegedale Academy and one year at Forest Lake Academy.

Some day Jennie plans to be an air lines hostess or a beautician. Every one who knows Jennie has no doubt that she will make a success in life.

While Jennie has been here at Collegedale, she has been a very fine Sabbath school teacher. Her favorite sports are swimming and horse back riding. Her pet peevs are gossiping and untruthful people.

Jennie, as we look at your past there can be no doubt about your success in the future.

Eugene Carl McCallian

Eugene Carl McCallian was born December 20, 1934, in Cobalt, Wisconsin. During his academy years he attended Mr. Pugh Academy, Deko Academy, and Collegedale Academy. Eugene likes to get things done well and has a pet peeve of hearing people say, "I don't care."

His favorite sports are basketball and wrestling while he enjoys singing as well as doing anything to be become a surgeon upon pursuing a career. Your success is inevitable.

Dorothy Virginia Miller

Dorothy Virginia Miller, known as Beth, was born 1934, in Grayville, Tennessee. Beth has spent her first four years in Collegedale Academy. She has been very active in various activities. She was of the Daughters Club, school secretary and also a member of the Academy Sabbath school. She was the vice-president of camp form.

Swimming and skating are favorite sports. In her spare time she enjoys her hobbies (cooking) and with her sparkling personality can understand why her parents are so concerned people.

Beth, we feel sure you will do your chosen career, a business future. Success to you.

A Junior Hopes

"May I have one of your cards, please?"

"Surely, if you'll give me your name."

These "conceited" seniors extra busy these days get many body signed and exchanged. This was secured very much because something (or is it just made up) had happened.

Sunburn isn't all that's there. Mesas and mumps have over and several of their heads caught up in curly hair. LaVerne Powell, and Chloë You'll extend our invitations to you kids! Class you will be well in time for picnic—and also, I might mention—that small item.

They all seem extra busy over those pretty class parties being having lately. Oh, well they can afford to be so since seniors in the academy still lifetime. Just think, juniors will "take their place and will be just as concerned as they are." A hopeful.

Millet Innovates Pop and Craw Fishing Bug

J. J. Millet, who for five years has tied flies for fishermen, has once again introduced another of his innovations to the public. This time it is a cork-baited bug with a hollow front and heavy handles, and flows for a tail.

"What makes it new," explains Millet, is the rubber backing immediately behind the body which gives it the effect of having backbones.

Millet calls his new fishing fly the "pop and craw" and has marketed it for one month. "The demand keeps growing," he grinned, "and outlets in northern Louisiana and southern Arkansas have kept me busy."

The new fly is designed to attract all pan fish and bass. During the number 7 hook used. Millet stated that fishermen have taken three-and-a-half-pound bass with it.

Two years ago he introduced his new stream master to the market. A few days ago on the junior-senior picnic he satisfied himself by catching his limit at Watts Bar with his own fly.

Millet manufactures four types of bugs and sells them out to four main jobs in El Dorado, Arkansas; West Missouri; Louisiana; Baton Rouge, Louisiana; and Algiers, Louisiana.

This year he has produced over 10,000 bugs and nearly half of his business is transacted by mail. One of his successes came when he first received an order from Montgomery Ward in Baton Rouge.

"The fishermen reported," asserted Millet, "that he has produced with one bug. Another announces his catch of 24 bass on a single pop and craw."

"Much of the credit for this successful business," he smiled with satisfaction, "must go to my wife. She does two-thirds of the work."

Norwegian Visits SMC

Professor Fridtjof A. Isachsen, University of Oslo, Norway, SMC campus Sunday, April 14.

The foreign professor's purpose visiting and speaking at the Tennessee Valley Authority field of study in economic and social history. He is interested in the history derived from such a system as the one which Missionary College has.

Food Class Gives Series of Dinners

These dinners have been the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jones. We hope that they have so kindly been here. "I have enjoyed the experience," she said, "while the hostess put in a busy time and brought to the table."

THE SOUTHERN ACCENT

Volume 7

Southern Missionary College, Collegedale, Tennessee, May 30, 1952

NUMBER 16

Former Students and '52 Senior Will Assume Mission Work

Students of Southern Missionary College, former and present, are being called to serve as missionaries in foreign lands.

Fred Velman, class of '51, who has been serving for the past year as a ministerial intern in Branswick, Georgia, has been called to another service in the Near East.

Velman is taking Elder Moke's place on the side of Cypress in the Medfieldman, according to Mr. George Pearson, father-in-law of Fred. The island is 40, miles wide and 100 miles long, and is 60 miles south of Turkey. Mr. Moke was in charge of the Seventh-day Adventist work on that island. Fred will take his place as well as serve as an evangelist. Mrs. Velman also is a graduate of SMC. She finished a two-year course in secretarial science, and served for four years as secretary to Mr. C. E. Wierschke, chairman of the department of religion.

Fred Velman made many contributions to the school life here at SMC. He served as vice-president of the student association, chief of the Southern Accents, and Missionary Volunteer leader. As one of the delegates to the Peace conference in Europe, he represented the student association. The Velmans leave August 1, 1952.

Another prominent missionary in our midst is Jessie Eweman. She is finishing an elementary teachers course and is planning to sail for Cape Town, South Africa, October 17, 1952. That will be the first leg of her return trip to Tanganyika, East Africa. Jessie has already served there in the Home Training School for four and one half years. Will she resume her duties as head of the Girls' Training School.

In addition to this responsibility she will teach English and be librarian. Jessie is here from the mission field to complete her education. Her home is in Colorado.

Butterfield Presides Over First New Senate Meeting; Ratifies SA Budget

The new senators led by newly elected President Arthur Butterfield met for their first session on May 17, the newly-elected student senate, with sixteen members, convened in the Hackman lecture room with Arthur Butterfield presiding.

The new senate passed approval on next year's student association budget, scheduled to handle $2,800 in student activities. Appropriations from this sum to WSMC, the Southern Ac-

Church Elects New Officers

Officers for the summer and next fall have been elected by the church board and will assume office at the beginning of the summer session.

Leader for the summer MV society is Adolph Skender, a junior theology major. Associate leader is C. L. Reason with Fred Wilson as assistant leader. Faye Mison has been elected as secretary; Joan Hedgepeth as associate secretary; Don Krayon, music leader; Rose Schroeder, organist.

The MV officers who will take office next fall are Ted Graves, leader; Bruce Wood, associate leader; Ferdinand Wutke, Bob McComber, and Arnold Cochran, assistant leaders; Pat O'Day, associate secretary; Jack Price, music leader.

Sabbath school officers for both the summer and fall have also been elected. Bill Brown, will lead the tabernacle division this summer, with Elmer Taylor, associate superintendent, and Mary Ellen Garton, secretary.

Floyd Greenleaf has been voted to head the chapel division this summer. Assistants are Kenneth Harding, Roy Batts, and Dale Collins; secretaries are Rose Schroeder and Mable Mitchell.

The church has also elected John Harlan to be superintendent of the tabernacle division beginning this fall. Bill Stunkard will be his associate with Marge Canlas as secretary.

Lester Riles, will head the chapel division beginning with the fall term, with Carl Jean Wridgden as his associate superintendent.

These groups of officers will be supplemented by associates when the church board takes further action. All student church officers serve a term of one semester.

49 Seniors March Tomorrow; 13 Professional Seniors Among Group

The graduating class takes time out from marching practice to pose for the "Accent" photographer.

Harold A. Miller Receives Dedication Of Southern Memories

Wilson Coming As Taylor Hall Dean

Maurice Wilson, class of 1951 of Walls Walls College and former student of Southern Missionary College, was a guest with his wife on the SMC campus on the week end of May 17.

President Wright announces that Mr. Wilson will be dean of men for the summer term. While attending SMC, he was a member of the Crusader Quartet. He has a major in music from Walls Walls College.

IRC Sends Books To Foreign Schools

English-speaking schools abroad will soon receive books to bolster their libraries, according to Gerald Haun, vice-president of International Relations Club.

Haun says that the IRC members have been collecting the books all sent from faculty members and students. The volumes total 100 and will fill about fifteen boxes.

The shipments will be divided into thirds, one section going to the Gold Coast, West Africa; a third to Vincent Hills College, Mussoorie, United Provinces, India; and a third to Tanganyika, East Africa, the same mission where Jessie Eweman, SMC senior, will locate. The Collegedale church will supply a large portion of the postage.

Over Half of Seniors Secure Employment

Well over half of tomorrow night's graduating class have secured employment, reveals Dr. F. O. Rife, college class sponsor.

Rene and Waldino Alonso, instructors, Colegio Vocacional, Costa Rica.

Virgil Beauchamp, missionary, Inter-America.

Nicholas Chaji, president, Argentine consulates, South America.

Peter Donasky, ministerial intern, Carolina conference.

Marie Wrenn-East, elementary school teacher, Georgia-Cumberland River.

Robert Haege, assistant business manager, Collegedale Mercantile, Inc.

William Hancock, assistant Book and Bible House manager, Texas conference.

Jessie Hawman, missionary, Tanganyika, Africa.

Faime Hight, instructor, Forest Lake Academy, Maillard, Florida.

The 1952 Southern Memories is dedicated to Harold A. Miller, head of the SMC music department, announced Dewey Uick, Southern Memorial business manager in a recent chapel period. Mr. Miller is the composer of many gospel choruses and ranks among the best in the country in this field. Among his outstanding contributions to campus life is his song service each Friday evening. Mr. Miller is loved by all, especially by his own music students.

He received his master of music degree from Boston School of Music, University of Rochester, in 1941. He got his bachelor of music degree in 1937 from Otterbein College and has held his present position since 1945.

With best wishes and warmest regards the Collegedale community will remember him.

13 Win Prizes For Sub-Getting

Top sub-getters of last fall's SOUTHERN ACCENT campaign received their prizes during a recent chapel hour.

A DROP OF INK . . .

This issue of the SOUTHERN ACCENT writes the final page of volume 7, 1951-1952 school year. With this last issue of volume 7, we who form the present staff extend our best wishes to all subscribers. We have endeavored to present the news as we saw it and convey to students, friends, parents, and prospective students factual stories, life, and events at SMC, which we are confident have been an accurate and distinct picture of Seventy-day Adventist education.

The faithful service of this year's staff which has made possible the SOUTHERN ACCENT has been greatly appreciated. Bearing a heavy share of the editorial duties has been Lynn Sauls. The columnists, Carol Jean Whidden, James Joiner, Elaine and Barbara Higgins, Bob Huey, and Marvin Rogers have brought to ACCENT readers the personal news of SMC's faculty and married and single students. The group of reporters who have attended meetings, interviewed people, and observed events to write news stories have formed the backbone of the staff.

The typists, Doris March and Jackie Bennett, have rendered hours of exceptional service to keep the ACCENT on schedule. Charles Harris has handled the SOUTHERN ACCENT finances while Florence Rozell has spent countless hours in maintaining working order in the circulation files.

It is our sincere hope that you readers have enjoyed following SMC's events as much as we enjoyed publishing them for you. We hope that by reading the ACCENT you are better acquainted with the Seventy-day Adventist education which we have experienced. fg

On the Faculty Side

BARBARA HEDDON

The Ladies' Community Club met at the home of Mrs. D. C. Ludington, Thursday, May 15. Mrs. Ludington gave a demonstration on flower arrangement and growing African violets.

New officers for the Club were elected for the coming year. They were: president, Mrs. R. G. Bowen; first vice-president, Mrs. J. T. Whitaker; second vice-president, Mrs. Roy Olinick; secretary, Mrs. Gurfad Sikes; assistant secretary, Mrs. Selton Lorenz; treasurer, Mrs. S. James; janitor, Mrs. Winston Prentiss.

Mrs. and Mrs. A. E. Pender of Wilmington, Illinois, are guests of Mr.

and Mrs. E. A. Pender.

Mrs. and Mrs. James Pogus and their two children were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Norman L. Kropst of Richmond.

Mrs. E. C. Banks was hostess of the Apollas Guild at their last meeting for this year on Tuesday evening, May 13. Dr. Charles Belander of Camp Fickett, Virginia, was the week-end guest of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Anderson. Belander, Mr. Anderson's nephew, is a graduate of PUC.

Dr. F. O. Rittenhouse, Dr. R. L. Hamman, and Mr. Rupert Craig were in town on Thursday, May 15, attending to school business.

Associate Editor Sauls Declares Reporters Are Backbone of Staff

The publishing of an issue of the ACCENT is a complex activity. It's success depends upon many factors and people. The subscribers are needed for they finance the paper. There would be no need of a paper without any subscribers.

The campaign leader is a necessity, for he must organize a subscription campaign and encourage students to solicit ads for their paper. A business manager is needed, one who can see the ACCENT operates within its budget.

Published bi-weekly during the school year, except for vacation periods, by the Student Association of the Southern Methodist College, 2001 North Carolina Street, Raleigh, N. C. 27601. Second-class postage paid at Raleigh, N. C. Post Office Certificate Number 78, 1912. Established May 1911. Subscription price is $1.00 per year, the lowest rate. One year, $1.00. Single copies, 10c.

A circulation manager is necessary to see that the subscribers receive their copies in one piece.

The press, the photographers, and the typists are all necessary agencies, while the editor performs a vital part in arranging everything in the right manner.

All of these are important, but the backbone of the ACCENT is its corps of reporters. Without the work of the reporters, the ACCENT would be almost a blank sheet of paper. It is the corps of reporters that gather and bring the news for the 3,500 subscribers every two weeks. Constantly they work—not for money, nor for popularity, nor even for recognition—but they are motivated by the spirit of service.

Our hats are off to our reporters and column writers and we are appreciative upon their willingness to carry the main burden of ACCENT work.

Hannum Comments on Idolatry

Dr. R. L. Hannam, dean elect, addressed the student body last Friday on the subject of idolatry.

Dr. Hannam illustrated that today life is so complex and people must be so versatile, that it is very easy to become idolatrous.

One of the main reasons people are disappointed in life is that they do not put first things first. "We do not realize that we are bought with a price," he pointed out, "that our blood is royal blood, and the only way to true happiness is in Christ."

No matter what anyone says, dormitory life is fun! Right now it's rather dull, due to the inevitable circumstances which, the close of school brings in the form of tests. The academy senior girls brought home many tales of love concerning the pre-graduation "reunion" they had in history, Bible, doctrines, and Spanish.

Loma Linda Girls Of course Pat Clark and Shirley Smith, accepted in the Loma Linda College of Nursing, and all the rest of the pre-arranging students are still walking around on little pink dots every time they think of nurses' training. But next year about this time they'll be thinking of good old Maude Jones Hall, too.

Much success to Mary Katherine Andley and Joyce Cobb, who just received their letters of acceptance into dental school. A few short years from now they'll be able to write Dr. Anderson in front of their names.

We were so glad to have Mrs. Charles Correll, formerly Joan Haddock, to visit us again, with her baby, Cheri, now almost three months old.

Summer Plans Our summer plans are many and increasingly varied. Ruby Martin and Mae Becker are going to camp in Union City. Laura Ruth Hancock isn't sure of just what she'd like to do. Billie Jean Marable goes to stay at SMC and take a course in chemistry. (Look out for it experiments in the lab the way she does in the kitchen.) Benny Young and Mary Young plan to go home and work—for a change. Helen Bartz is planning to attend school here at SMC before teaching school next year, and Phyllis Price is going to plan—just plan.

The south end of second floor seems to be blessed with unfortunate experiences lately. Lylian Whinn wanted to hang her hair for a long time, finally sent to the cleaners that morning, only to find that someone had washed it 20 shades of tan, yellow, beige and all, and stuffed it into her mother's dresser drawer. Then, Lynne Jensen almost mildly let the cold water running in the bathroom.

Students Display Musical Talents

Twenty music students displayed their virtuosity in a recital in the Lynn Wood Hall chapel, May 14. This was the final recital of the year, announced H. A. Miller, head of the music department.

Those who offered vocal renditions were Anne Phillips, Helen Wittschiebe, Rose Schroeder, J. D. Bledsoe, Faye Mison, and Marilyn Dilow. Organists were Joyce Cobb, Ed Logan, and Buddy Baily. Carol Smith, Marjorie Campbell, La Verne Poole, Carol M. Clark, and Elizabeth Smith, Rose Schroeder, and Ruby Jean Lynn performed at the piano. The woodwinds were represented by clarinetist Dale Collins and John Gergory, and saxophonist Robert Rogers.

These were the students of Mrs. Frances Curtis, Miss Mabel Wood, Mr. N. L. Kropst, and Mr. H. A. Miller.

MY Dedicates Program to Mothers

A Mother's Day Program, dedicated to all Christian mothers, was presented by the Missionary Volunteer Friday evening, May 9, in the Tabernacle Auditorium.

After Stewart Cook sang "The Wonderful Mother of Mine," Pat O'Day read the proclamation by which "The Wonderful Mother" was proclaimed the Sunday in June. The dedication to all mothers, the oldest and youngest, was given by Mrs. Sarah McFragout, 92, and Mrs. Anna Jabe, 109, were honored with songs.

A Dash of Spice

CAROL JEAN WHIDDEN

She heard it bubbling out of the lavatory onto the floor but she was day-dreaming about next year's colors already. We hope it didn't go through—her room is above the parlor.

Thanks to Grover Many thanks to Grover Edgmond, head of the service department, for cleaning the first and second floor porches and for inspecting the fire hoses. We appreciate the prompt service given to us this year by the maintenance and central heat department, too.

Miss Stoenbacher told us that our private parlor will be completely re-decorated and furnished during the summer months and that the main parlor will be more adequately decorated and furnished than we. A dormitory room is to be set aside as a prayer room for next year. From the reports of other colleges which have made prayer rooms available to the students, we are sure that this will prove a successful venture in our own Maude Jones Hall.

Graduation is Thrilling College graduation is a thrilling time of the year. From the tassel to the hem, the graduate is sophisticated—refined—well, maybe in other places, but not in our dormitory. Ruby Tschey still runs down the hall, still eating flying. Helen Hoover and Lois Highsmith, professional seniors, are working to get some delayed assignments prepared. Margaret Metley feels that after the last four years she will come to the "best day of her life," so far.

Jessie Williams is looking forward to returning to the mission field in Africa. Mary Allen and Edna Corcoran, Rosilyn Hastings, and Jeanne McWilliams have decided that a rigorous school year will be their goal. As they graduate from the professional senior, or two-year course, they are looking forward to the recreational life for which they have been trained.

We have tried to rightly represent the different phases of the year. Good-bye! This year, giving you only a glimpse of the highlights. Best of luck to next year's reporter—it's a great life!

The story of the first woman to receive a pension because she was a mother was narrated by Mike Petrick.

The effect of a mother's prayers on the life of a man was illustrated by the story of John Newton's conversion and the later work he did.

Portrayed last on the program was the story of a train-station clock which saw the last moments of an old forsaken mother who had been on her way to the poor house.

WMSM Signs Off Until Fall

WMSM, the student association's newest student project, has officially signed off for this year. For next year the school term will begin, reports Roy Crawford, station manager.

WMSM, he stated, has successfully broadcast daily programs since October, Day, April 21. The programs have included news and music from 5:30 to 6:30 p.m. and a special broadcast lasting one hour to sundown on Fridays. The station also featured some of the chapel program.

The main project for the summer, Crawford says, is an extension of lines to enable those who live in the out-cities of the country to hear WMSM's programs. The station has recently purchased $100 of transcription stock from New York; increased its stock of recording tape; and is working on tape many songs of the Adelphton Quartet.

We have big plans for next year, and we have organized to start out with a bang. Crawford predicts, "We will have tried the project and work that broadcasting at SMC will know."

Feonoids' Wins

Jack Feonoid's softball team won three straight victories over a round-robin schedule. The team, captained by Joel Taylor of Hills, Donelson, and John Feonoid had identical records of one win and two losses. An all-time record of six wins by All-American Ray Quelling is being set. Feonoid planned to finish the season having a little trouble last night, May 17. What in the name of God McClellan doing to him? Feonoid was just too excited, graduation with the academy. Ray Quelling is a good player, at least it seemed to the others, but he devoted all of his own time to his girl friend's team, to a man who is through, he says.

4000 Subs for Ammon

Bob Ammons, Frank McClellan, are hoping to see 4,000 Acres of corn and get on the way, for those who bring three back.

Benny Young was running the north door on his way when he came right down to Bandit's kittens. Poor lady, know what hit it? It was a beautiful couldn't restore it for! He broke his wrist and a year ago he was in the hospital. Dale Roberts and Chassee to it that George Gipe, and sometimes George goes voluntarily, it comes in.

Forum Ethics Offer

The officers of the next year are: President, Bill Alexander; president, Hamson; vice-president, Ed Rogers; secretary, Gordon; treasurer, army, Buddy Baily; pastor.

Here's a nice farewell to all who are leaving at the end of the year. In the summer, the seniors will gather others will transfer to other colleges, but will return in September to you all.

And speaking of farewell, my last column after a year of writing "Down South" which was, as corner than Illinois, was, anyway, we are all good-bye. Good-bye to you, Charlie McGinn.

Children Solicit $600 Ingering

The Collegeville elementary school is ingering field day on Tuesday, May 14. Although the school has been closed, the stories had been worked out in advance, $600 in ingering. The program, educational, art, and sports of the school.

Each two children were given a list of 100 papers, which were largely passed to students, freely given of the help the young boys.

Each child was to freely give, required for a list. In some drivers helped in chaperone, tertiary program ingering.

The main project for the summer, Crawford says, is an extension of lines to enable those who live in the out-cities of the country to hear WMSM's programs. The station has recently purchased $100 of transcription stock from New York; increased its stock of recording tape; and is working on tape many songs of the Adelphton Quartet.

We have big plans for next year, and we have organized to start out with a bang. Crawford predicts, "We will have tried the project and work that broadcasting at SMC will know."

The married couples led Harry Hulseby to preside over the first annual student service in 1952-53. Hulseby, a member of the first class, was assisted by Bill Straight, president; Mr. John Hulseby, treasurer; David Mayer, treasurer.

Music Dept. Gives Final Lyceum

Various groups of the SMC music department presented a program at the Tabernacle Auditorium on Saturday evening, May 17. The program featured:

Faculty Honors Seniors at Banquet

The faculty honored the '52 senior class and their wives or husbands with the annual senior banquet Sunday evening, May 11, at the college cafeteria. Mrs. F. O. Rittenhouse was the overall chairman for the planning. The foods committee was in charge of Mrs. George Nelson. Mr. and Mrs. Falton Hooper took care of the decorating. Mrs. Rupert Craig was responsible for the invitations. The flowers were arranged by Mrs. Sahrne.

After the guests were assembled, Mr. Norman Krogstad gave a solo on the baritone euphonium. Mr. E. J. McMurphy, Bible instructor, sang two songs.

Mr. Clark, dean of the College of Medical Evangelists was a guest speaker. Dean F. O. Rittenhouse presented the four-year seniors and Miss Mary Zwig presented the two-year seniors. Bob Hege, president of the class, gave the response of thanks.

Wright Addresses FLA Seniors

President K. A. Wright addressed fifty graduating seniors at Forest Lake Academy on May 23, in delivering his commencement address. President Wright returned to the school where he served as principal for five years, from 1937 to 1942.

On May 28, he spoke before the Carolina conference workers meeting at Blue Ridge, North Carolina.

Becker Baptizes Fourteen

The Collegedale church added to its membership Sabbath May 17, when pastor H. R. Becker baptized the wife of a baptism for fourteen people. Among these were several from the elementary school. Some of these groups were experiencing re-baptism.

The baptismal class which resulted in this service, originated during the

Naturers Camp At Chillhowie

On Friday afternoon, May 9, fourteen students left from the store for Chillhowie, a resort and lake on the top of a mountain overlooking Lake Okeech. This excursion was under the auspices of the Nature Club, with Dr. R. L. Hamill accompanying the students. Two cars and a truck transported them and the food to the mountain, and for equipment they took two tents, a food tent, and a rubber raft.

Despite the rain, the group conducted their own Sabbath services, having Sabbath school and church on the camp grounds with Dr. Hamill preaching the 11 o'clock service. Several married couples from the college that were camping out on their own joined them.

Sabbath afternoon the nature lovers took a hike to the falls and the peak of the mountain where they surveyed a grand view of the countryside. Saturdays night the group entertained themselves by boat riding, swimming, and roasting marshmallows.

Camp was broken up about 10 o'clock Sunday morning. They all report that they had a wonderful time, despite the fact that they had rain in their eyes, tears in their chapslets, and rain in their potatoes.

Senior Sketches, 1951-52

Dewey Urlick

Dewey J. Urlick, Jr., a member of Phi Kappa Phi in American College and Universities, will graduate with a major in business.

He has had much experience in his major, finishing the first two years in assisting and managing the finances of the Southern Menories. This year he broke all previous records by securing nearly $3,000 in advertisements.

Urlick graduated from Cedartown High School in Cedartown, Georgia, and then joined the U. S. Navy. For two years he served aboard four aircraft carriers—Shangai-Led, Anitcomb, Bostre, and Princeton.

Returning to school, he became, over the period of four college years a Sabbath school teacher, junior class treasurer, and a student representative on the government committee.

Urlick has accepted a position with Professional Business Management in Atlanta and will be associated with W. L. Burkner. Immediately after graduation he will assume duties there.

Duane Swanson

Duane Swanson, an industrial arts major, has plans in his future to enter the field of architecture. His experience in this line includes self-employment as a draftsman and carpentry work.

Swanson is a surgical technician with the Army transport command traveling on ships from New York and Europe. He had the distinction of crossing the Atlantic Ocean 16 times.

During his several years at Southern Missionary College, which included a stint at Galloway's Academy, he has worked three years as a broom stickler in the broom factory. His hobby is closely related with his chosen line of work, for he collects samples and information concerning building materials.

Wilfred Stuyvesant

Wilfred Stuyvesant, one of SMC's three medical students who have been accepted to enter CME this fall, is graduating after spending his first year at Collegedale.

Stuyvesant is a Californian in birth, but has taken his education in the east and north, previously attending Madison College and Washington Missionary College. Throughout his career, he has participated in extra-curricular activities, being a student association representative, American Temperance Society vice-president, Nominating Club president, Missionary Volunteer assistant leader, and church deacon and Sabbath school teacher.

His love for the out-of-doors is evident in his hobbies, which include hiking, boating and camping, along with radio and photography. In his leisure time he is concerned with his nature, taking his major in biology and minor in chemistry.

Stuyvesant's aim in life is to be a missionary doctor. He already has had experience in this field, having worked in a sanitarium.

Walter Suberland

Walter S. Suberland, another student who has come to Southern Missionary College to take his bachelor's degree, will graduate with a major in chemistry and a minor in biology. He is a native Tennesseean and took his education before coming to SMC at Madison College.

Suberland has worked in the medical profession as a technologist and X-ray technician. His wife is a registered nurse, still working at Madison College Sanitarium. He also has no difficulty, with this support and experience, in accomplishing his life ambition—becoming a doctor.

Among his hobbies are flying, music, philosophy, and art. He is a veteran of one year of occupation duty.

Layton Sutton

From Ardmore, Oklahoma, comes Layton Sutton, a first-year student who will enter the College of Medical Evangelists this year.

Sutton graduated from Southwestern Baptist University and then came to Southern Missionary College to complete his undergraduate work. While at SMC he was editor of the school annual, the Mt. Hope, and has been associate editor on two staffs of SMC's Southern Evangelist. Last year he served as chairman of the student publication committee. This year he was student association secretary and was elected to appear in Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities.

Sutton has worked as a surgical assistant in a hospital and also has cooperated, which gives him needed experience for his ambition—to become medical missionary. For recreational pursuits, Sutton follows music, philosophy, and mineralogy.

Corps Leave for Canvassing Field

When the school year has been completed, a corps of students will leave for the five various canvassing fields of the Southern Union. The names of the co-leaders and the conferences in which they will work are here given:

The Alabama-Mississippi conference will include: Robert Ammons, Elmore Brooks, Stewart Crook, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Dale, Charles Edwards, Archie V. Elmendorf, Ake Eskridge, and Charles Winkley.

ATS Presents Prisoner at Bar

The Prisoner at the Bar was presented by the Collegedale chapter of the ATS at the Floral Crest SDA church, Saturday night, April 26. The group was led by Wesley Spivey, who finished the part of prosecuting attorney. This program was well attended by both the members of the church and by many non-Adventists who helped to fill this large church.

That the program was well received, Kenneth Harding reports, is evidenced by the fact that the following Sunday the membership of the church pledged to purchase immediately a single sign which it is hoped will be placed on Highway 11 close to Trenton, Georgia.

This was the first presentation by the present cast of "The Prisoner at the Bar."

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Fowler, Richard M. Harris, Charles Hughes, Robert Beard, J. Edward Brice, A. W. Gahala, Chester Jordan, Thomas Stone, Walter F. Wright, Melvin D. Yode.

Convening the Florida conference will be: Barbara Ann Anderson, Wayne Coulter, Norman Ray, Earl D. Edwards, James E. Hester, Norman M. Cumber, Nell Pugh, James Pierce, Dale Roberts, Richard Sheppard, Janet Tompkins, and Charles Winkley.

Eight SMC students will locate in the Georgia-Cumberland conference: Robert Beard, J. Edward Brice, A. W. Gahala, Chester Jordan, Thomas Stone, Walter F. Wright, Melvin D. Yode.

Kenneth Tennyson conference will have: Wallace Blair, June Cates, Patricia Champion, Verda Lee Fletcher, Howard Hutchinson, Delbert Johnson, Norman D. Dancy, E. M. Coy, Ted Nowo, Elmon Roy, James E. Savage, John W. Schrieber, Jr., Helen Smith, Grady Sisson, W. W. Swayze, and Charles Winkley.

ACCENT ON THE ACADemy

Reminiscence . . .

Our 1951-52 school year has drawn to a close, and with it close we are a step closer to our goal.

As we look over the past school year, we find many things that have made deep impressions on our minds; picnics, programs, and classwork have all become a part of us.

It has been a great honor and pleasure to work with the ACCENT-ON-THE-ACADemy staff this year. Next year I am sure another fine group will support the ACCENT.

Have a good vacation!

Academy Graduates Senior Class From. Rittenhouse, Tobiasen Speak

The 1952 commencement exercises of Collegiate Academy began Thursday night in the College Auditorium, when the seniors held their class night program.

Audrey Henson played "Marche Aux Flambeaux" as the seniors marched in Floyd Mohr, the class pastor, offered the invocation. The senior pastor, Mary Sue Estes, welcomed to the program the parents, teachers, and friends of the graduating class.

John Alexander, president of the class, gave his address, after which a quartet of girls—Maude Dabbler, Bonnie Brown, Lyane Jensen, and Marjorie Edmond—sang, "I Love a Little Cottage."

Clay Woolsey, vice-president of the senior class, presented the class colors to Howard Kennedy, president of the junior class.

The history and future of the class members was given by Bonnie Brown and Doris Dale. Bob McKee and Kenney Shepherd read the class will. "Euse Simonsa played a piano solo, "Nocturne in F Flat" by Chopin, preceding the tribute to parents, by Delores Spence and Ben Cobb, during which each senior pinned on his mother a corsage of red roses.

The class gift, a set of the Confessio of the Ages Series, was presented to Collegiate Academy by Bill Hawthorne, sergeant-at-arms.

The valedictory was given by Mary Thomas, treasurer and valedictorian. E. T. Watson, the class sponsor, offered the benediction.

Friday night, May 23, 1952, Elder F. E. Frown addressed the seniors during their consecration service, which took place at 7:45, Dr. F. O. Rittenhouse delivered the baccalaureate sermon. The two programs were highlighted by special music by Johnny Harris, the Southwestern Trio, Janet Butcher, Charles Knudde, and E. J. McMurty.

The commencement program was held Saturday night, May 24; Ledt Kr. Tobiasen gave the commencement address, and W. H. Higgins, principal of the academy, presented the diplomas.

Seniors Picnic in Cumberland Mills

Seventy-three seniors dined into Collegiate Tuesday evening, May 13, as the academy seniors returned from their picnic in Cumberland Mountain State Park.

The day's activity began with the discovery of the children's slides, swings, and see-saws. Some of the boys sat on the paper as they went down the slide to make the ride spicier. If you don't believe it worked just like Mary Estes how soft the ground was!

A volley ball game was soon started, however some of the girls were ousted playing down the hill. Bill Hawthorne says the north wind played against his side.

After a huge dinner they stood in a circle waiting patiently for a couple of the boys to chop a slab of ice cream from the container, which was almost too hard to chop!

Then most of the class wrapped their blankets about them in an Indian fashion and watched the Eskimos who were brave enough to face the picnic hot horse shoes. One player mistook Mrs. Estes for a horse shoe pole.

Later in the afternoon more of them came out of hibernation long enough to try a ball game. Most of them seemed to get plenty of exercise chasing balls or striking out while the experts stood around and caught flies.

After a good supper they all headed back home to end the big day with a picture. The Second Chances.

Spalding Plants New Flower Beds

President it is to be the most prominent flower on the SMC campus this summer and fall, predicts A. W. Spalding, Jr., head of the campus department. It most likely has nothing to do with the 1952 presidential campaign, he adds.

A flower bed in front of Talge Hall is now filled with red cannas, a flower known also as president.

Scillet sage or solvia plants have been planted around the edges of the beer set out around the campus beds on the north end of the campus.

The last mentioned flower beds are on both sides of the point on the Apison Pike and College Drive forks. Mr. Spalding states that the cannas will bloom in about six weeks and will continue blooming until frost.

The pansy beds that adorn the area in front of the library and the science building are also to be set out with cannas when the pansies are gone. The bright little faces of the pansies seem to be a general favorite with Southern Massachusetts College family. Mrs. M. Anna Mizelle diligently cared for the flowers until the fractured her leg on the way to the picnic.

Some of these flower beds were formed last summer and planted with cannas. Two weeks ago the campus department planted corresponding beds in front of Talge Hall.

Mercantile Has Office Shake-up

A change has been made in the offices of the Collegiate Mercantile Enterprises, Inc., according to Charles Hamill, business manager of SMC.

Mr. Robert Hage, scheduled to graduate tomorrow night, has been hired by the assistant manager of the Collegiate Mercantile Enterprises, Inc., which consists of the store, the garage, and the creamery. Hage has been serving as manager of the store, and Ted Graves will take the vacant spot. In his new position, Hage will be responsible to Mr. Fleming only, and will act as coordinator.

Mr. C. S. Parrish has received a call to the United States Army, leaving open a vacancy in the office of the Southern Mercantile Agency. Roy Crawford has been chosen to fill this office. He has recently served as assistant business manager of SMC.

Line Coming for Next Year Lynnem

Rupert M. Craig, faculty program committee chairman, reports that book orders for next year will include another appearance of Francis B. Line.

Mr. Line has presented a novel of his illustrated lectures on the SMC campus, this year showing his color film on the Columbia River. Next year he will show his "newest and best" production, the "Seven Wonders of the West" on November 8.

A showing of films and two softball games entertained the students Saturday night, May 10.

The films were "Dust or Destiny" and "The Noise of the Deep." The softball games were telecast productions of the Moody Bible Institute depicting the marvels of creation both in the human body and the oceans.

Announces Intent to Run for SMC

Campaign manager Bob O'Connell has announced his intention to run for SMC for the 1952-53 C.F.R. in chapel last Monday night. O'Connell's campaign will bring in a large percentage.

All students, old or new, who are interested in this election should be ready to vote on September 20. It will be held in the gymnasium, and Frank Mohr, manager, and Alfred Molloy, election manager, are planning to be eligible.

The boys will comprise girls in the campaign on the basis of 1000 votes. The school members students on the list of the married women on the list.

All students who are returning next year may subscribe before they

Work Begun on Music Hall

The evaporation for the foundation of the new music hall has been completed, reports L. L. Younce, the maintenance department. Included in the pre-execution process of clearing was the widening of the road behind Maude Jones Hall.

Present plans are to have the building completed and ready for use by the fall of 1953. The new music hall will be the same order as the two-story brick Hackman Hall science building. Student labor will build most of the music hall, under the direction of Mr. George R. Pearman.

Adelphians Sing in 20 Programs Per Month; Make Final Appearances

Clara Hildebrand

For the past two years Southern Missouri College has sponsored the Adelphi Male Quartet, whose members have served as representatives of the college and of the Seventh-day Adventist church. This month marks the close of the quartet's appearances.

They have sung for numerous gatherings and occasions in localities throughout the eastern part of the United States. Television fans have seen and heard them on the "Fifth Hour Today" telecast. Radio listeners have heard their harmonies on a number of stations, usually on religious broadcasts. Attendance at camp-like meetings and at youth's gatherings throughout the South have heard their voices warm at their listening to such appealing songs as "In the Garden," "Song of Heaven and Homeland," and "Lead Me to Calvary."

In Chattanooga, those four have become so well known that many of the business men call them by name upon meeting with them on the sidewalks. In this neighborhood they have performed for many business and professional men's clubs, as well as assemblies. Churches of almost every denomination have heard their messages.

An average of twenty programs a month, or two programs every three days, have come from their repertoire. All the SDA assemblies in the Southern Union conference, and some in other conferences, have been hosts to the Adelphians.

Discipline and managing the quartet is the baritone, Mr. Wayne Thibout, instructor in voice at SMC. Jack Veasey, bass, is a freshman music major. His hope is to attend the College of Theological Studies at Chattanooga. Thibout, first tenor, is a sophomore religion major from Keene, New Hampshire. Don Crook, second tenor, is a junior religion major who lives in Collegiate.
